

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 253

"Follow me, you won't live here anymore." Aubree said, "He doesn't remember you anymore. He can't take good care of you. And if he puts his hatred for Jennifer on you, no one can protect you."

The children were frightened.

Alfie tightened Diana's hand and put his hand on her shoulder,

"Alfie..."

"Don't be afraid, I am here."

At this time, the custom Lamborghini stopped in the courtyard at the night, a large black umbrella propped open, and Ivan got out of the car.

"Mr. Marsh, your mother has come." The driver whispered.

Ivan also saw Aubree's car in front of him.

He felt strange to Aubree. He remembered nothing about her.

But he believed Rowan's words. No one would dare to pretend to be his mother.

Upstairs, Alfie and Diana couldn't understand why Aubree wanted to take them away.

"Where are we going? Kelsington Bay?"

"Or are you going to send us to Sunshine Village?"

They asked while putting on their shoes and rushed straight out of the children's room!

They ran downstairs while Aubree wasn't paying attention!

"Alfie!"

Aubree chased out. At the corner of the stairs, she saw the man entering the living room.

Aubree stopped in shock when their eyes met.

"Daddy!"

The children had already run downstairs. They pounced on Ivan, hugging his thighs as if they had found a rescuer.

Ivan held the child's shoulder and watched Aubree walk down.

Ivan was surprised to see Aubree here.

Aubree was also surprised to see Ivan.

“Daddy, we don’t want to leave you!” Alfie looked up, “We’re used to living in Emerald Bay! We’re not going to Kelsington Bay or Sunshine Village!”

“Daddy...” Diana felt insecure and hugged him tightly, “Mommy doesn’t want us. You don’t want us either, Daddy?”

So, Aubree was here to take the children away?

Why?

Ivan crouched down, grabbed the children’s shoulders, and said in a gentle voice, “Alfie, Diana, no one wants you to leave, have you eaten dinner?”

Aubree was shocked to see that Ivan remembered the children.

“Yes.” The children nodded.

Ivan said to Marry, “Take them to play chess.”

“Yes, Mr. Marsh.”

Then Marry took the children away.

Aubree went downstairs in guilt. How could he remember Alfie and Diana?

“Mom.” Ivan felt nothing facing this strange woman. He was polite yet distant. “Did you come for me or the children?”

Aubree quickly replied, smiling, “I came to see you. They said you went to the company. I talked to the children, I wasn’t driving them away. It’s just that... If they want to go to Kelsington Bay, I can take them with me. It’s a big house anyway.”

Ivan had doubts in his heart but he didn’t make it clear.

Children wouldn’t lie.

“I’m fine.” He said lightly, “Tomorrow I’ll start working. The company is all right, please rest assured.”

Ivan shook his head. “No, I’ll talk to her tomorrow when I have time.”

“Great.” Aubree smiled. She was really happy.

Ivan taking initiative to talk to Catherine was a turning point!

She looked forward to seeing them become closer and get married.

Aubree didn’t stay long, “Then rest early, I’ll go back now,” Ivan felt strange about her, she should not force him to be close to her. She had to take it slowly.

“Well, be careful on the road.”

Ivan took an umbrella and sent Aubree to the car, watching the car drive away.

There was a hint of sadness in his deep eyes as he saw the people around him were strangers.

Every moment as long as he calmed down, he felt empty.

Ivan entered the living room and saw the two children. They were standing by the stairs looking at him.

Two minutes later, in the living room on the second floor.

“Who is your mother?” Ivan peeled an orange and separated it in two, then handed them to Alfie and Diana.