

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 269

She could not stop him even by pressing the door with her body. She had no choice but to compromise.

She stepped away.

And Ivan got in.

He had already known her well thanks to Finnley. Her behavior in the western restaurant today showed that she was being real and she wasn't afraid of the powerful. Most importantly, she did not lie.

Mya gave him a disdainful look, turned, and walked towards the sofa, taking off her shoes and sitting cross-legged, like a child.

She didn't make tea for him, nor did she want to talk to him.

Ivan closed the door and sat down on the sofa opposite her.

She reached out and grabbed the snacks, then she leaned against the sofa and ate casually, "What are you doing here? Are you coming for your clothes? How much is that suit?"

Ivan leaned forward slightly. "Who is Jennie?" He asked, putting his elbow on his knee and interlocking his fingers,

Mya froze for a while before turning to look at him "What did you say?"

"Three months ago, I had a car accident in New York and was in a coma for a long time before I was out of danger." Ivan told her, "When I woke up, I lost my memory and didn't even know my mother."

Mya's eyes widened in shock.

"So, who is Jennie?" The man looked at her with sincerity in his eyes and asked again in a gentle voice.

Mya took a long time to recover, then she said, "What about Alfie and Diana?" She put the snacks down, put on her shoes, and made tea for him, "Do you remember them?"

"I only remember that they are my kids, but nothing else," he said earnestly. "I'm quite unfamiliar with them as well."

She thought about it for a while and she got an idea, "Okay, let me show you a video first." Then she took out her phone and flipped through it, "Wait a minute."

"What video?"

"The video of you coming to my house three months ago." She said while searching for it, "Your hand was injured and bleeding a lot. You came to me and asked about Jennie's whereabouts. You were so distraught at that time. Actually, you were going crazy."

She handed over the phone, "Here."

Ivan looked at the video and listened to those conversations. His brow furrowed gradually.

"You really love her." Mya told him, "You don't love Catherine, trust me."

He raised his eyes, and they looked at each other for a while, then back at the video again.

"Jennie has only appeared in your life for nearly half a year. I don't know how you guys got kids but she lived with the kids in Sunshine Village alone and raised them by herself. It seems that the kids miss you and want to have a father like other kids, so they found you.

"Jennie is a great person. She is the woman I admire the most in my life. She cured my grandpa. She is a famous pharmacist and a famous designer. She is rich, but she has been helping the poor in the village and leading them to become rich through hard work.

"At my birthday party, I saw you brought her there and that's when I knew you were together for the first time. Since then, you have always brought her by your side. You love her very much. Every time you look at her. there is light in your eyes."

He didn't remember all the things she said.

"Then... What about Catherine?" Ivan handed her the phone, frowning slightly, "She also showed me the album and said we were childhood sweethearts."

"Then I'll show you my photo album as well." She opened her photo album, found the poster of their endorsement for Alice, and handed it to him.

The girl in the photo... He realized that he had seen her.

"What's wrong?" Mya felt that his expression was a little strange.

He closed his eyes, thought about it carefully, and suddenly remembered that rainy day.

On the side of the road outside the company, she didn't have an umbrella and walked towards the traffic. He rushed over to save her...

"Jennie... was that her?" Ivan was in a trance for a moment.
