

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 289

A faint hint of coldness appeared in Ivan's eyes. He commanded, "Send Ms. Collins to the hospital."

Two security guards helped Catherine into the car.

Ivan's cold eyes swept over the onlookers not far away and they quickly dispersed.

Mya was in a good mood. She said to her subordinates, "You guys did a good job, let's go!"

"Yes, Miss."

They left.

Mya also turned around, and she walked toward the café downstairs of the Marsh Group.

Ivan looked at her and followed.

Two minutes later.

The café, which seemed to have been emptied, looked really peaceful. The soundproof was good enough. Ivan and Mya sit by the window.

The truth was, no one dared to come here at the working time when Ivan was there.

"You went a little bit too far today." Ivan leaned back to the chair, looking at her disapprovingly. "She is also the vice president of the company, yet you made such a scene here. Is reputation nothing to you?"

"The reputation of whom? There isn't any subject in this sentence." Mya took a sip of her coffee and chuckled softly, "Do you care about the reputation of the company, or her?"

Ivan looked at her with his typical cold eyes.

She took another sip of coffee. "You mean this is the wrong place? Then I'll change the place next time."

Mya looked up at Ivan's black eyes. She didn't understand what he was thinking. But he didn't seem to be very angry.

"You don't know, but actually, she started it." Mya explained seriously, "She hired people to beat me up yesterday. If it weren't for those people who were too lame, Jennie and I would have suffered much more!"

Hearing the name Jennie, Ivan felt his heart throbbed for a second.

He knew what happened yesterday.

So, he wasn't very angry today and he watched Catherine being slapped in front of everyone without standing out.

Mya was thirsty after eating too many melon seeds.

She put down the silver spoon, lifted the cup, and finished the bitter coffee all at once, like a heroine.

Putting down the empty cup, Mya stood up and said, "I admit that I went a little too far today, but I also did it for Jennie!"

Looking at Mya's back, Ivan thought of Jennifer.

It broke his heart to think of what Jennifer had done.

But then, when he thought of how Jennifer and Spencer had brought people to Emerald Bay to take Alfie and Diana away, and the thought that she wanted to leave Arkpool City for good, his face turned a little colder

The thought of her always put him in a bad mood. When he thought of her deeply, he felt his head was about to explode. He loved her so much that he hated her.

Damn this amnesia!

What happened before the accident?

Ivan didn't drink the coffee. He got up and went outside

He controlled himself not to think about Jennifer so he wouldn't get upset.

The news of Catherine being beaten spread over the company. After all, many people saw it.

"At least a hundred slaps!"

"Her face is swollen. Her mouth was bleeding. It must be so damn hurt."

"Most importantly, that was a terrible humiliation! How shall Ms. Collins face us? I bet she will lose her confidence after that."

"Who was that woman? She was so arrogant!"

"They say she is the mayor's daughter."

"Oh, make sense now..."

"Mr. Marsh's reaction was also very strange. He watched his fiancée being beaten but he didn't do anything."

Finnley stopped and listened to all the arguments
