

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 293

Georgia was pissed off. "I am caring about you!"

"I don't need that." He drank with a cold face.

"If something happens to you, our drama will be affected!" Feeling humiliated, Georgia said indignantly, "Actually, I don't care about you, I care about the crew!"

Spencer ignored her.

Georgia was rejected. What an actor! She thought.

Spencer was nice during work.

But off work, he was cold. They had no interaction. He even asked her to fuck off. That was too mean.

Not far away, the girls looked to this side from time to time and whispered.

"Is that Spencer, the man that our little princess likes?"

"It seems to be him..."

"Oops, I don't understand why would such a proud actress take the initiative. She must like him a lot."

"But he doesn't seem to welcome her."

"That man is so handsome; this is his first drama. He had just entered the entertainment industry but he is already very popular. I followed him on Instagram."

"This drama will be a hit and he'll be famous."

"He looked like a good match for Georgia. Maybe they can date in reality."

At this time, Georgia, who had been rejected, walked over with a smile. She had controlled her feelings.

"What's going on? Did he break up with someone?" asked a girl.

"Don't gossip about others," Georgia instinctively protected Spencer. "He doesn't even have a girlfriend. Girls, let's keep drinking!"

Although she seemed to be having fun with the girls, Georgia never moved her eyes from Spencer.

Two hours later.

Spencer got up and left. He lost his balance when he stood up. It seemed that he was drunk.

Georgia followed up without even saying goodbye to her girls.

Spencer drank a lot of wine, but he was still sober.

It was late, he had to go home.

Seeing him get into his Volvo, Georgia immediately got into her car, fastened her seat belt, fixing her eyes on him.

When he drove, she started the car too.

Georgia didn't drink much, so she was very sober.

But she was so worried about Spencer.

She followed him all the way. Fortunately, he wasn't fast.

She was escorting him, and most importantly, finding out where he lived.

She didn't understand why she liked Spencer so much.

The colder he was to her, the more she was addicted to him. What a challenge! She must be sick.

She followed him to the seaside...

Did he forget his way home?

Just when Georgia was wondering, a beautiful seaside villa came into view. She saw him driving into the villa and stopped the car in the yard.

Georgia parked her car outside the courtyard and lowered the window, looking at the brightly-lit villa with amazement.

How beautiful! The architectural style was very special.

She knew that he was rich. But she was still surprised by the villa.

Tammy quickly came out when the car door opened. Spencer felt sick and threw up.

In the living room, Jennifer saw Tammy beside the car.

She knew Spencer must have drunk again. And he drove after drinking. Jennifer went out

"Mr. Lawrence, are you drunk again?" Tammy was freaked out. "You can't drive after drinking! It's so dangerous!"

At this moment, Georgia saw a girl coming out of the living room. Against the light, she could not see her face clearly, but she was sure it was a young girl.

Her chest tightened slightly, and she saw the girl come to the car and helped Spencer out, then they entered the living room.

Georgia was in a trance for a long time.

Who was she?

Spencer had a girlfriend?
