

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) novel

Chapter 30

The children quietly left the room, turned off the lights, and closed the door.

Snuggling in Ivan's arms, Jennifer suddenly felt unreal when she thought of his perfect persona who was not attracted by women.

She got married to the commercial king who was very famous in Arkpool City.

"What are you thinking?" The man said gently.

"I'm wondering if your mother will trouble me." Jennifer thought of his mother's attitude that evening. "Or will it affect the children?"

"This is not the thing you should consider." He said coldly, "You just need to abide by the agreement and be Mrs. Marsh."

It was late at night...

That night, Jennifer was listening to his heartbeat, while Ivan was smelling the faint fragrance of her body. They both slept soundly.

The next morning.

When Jennifer woke up, she found that he was also awake, but still didn't move.

Did he wake up much earlier? Did he just not want to disturb her?

"Morning." Jennifer lifted her head, seeing his perfect face. Her voice was melodious, though a little hoarse, because she just got up. "You don't need to inject nutrients today. Let me go down and cook noodles for you."

He didn't refuse.

As she got up, she said, "The butler told me about your situation. Since you are used to the food I cooked, I will cook it for you when I'm free. This is a wife's obligation. You don't have to be too moved or think more. I just want to make the family better. If you can eat with the children, they will be very happy."

Then she went out.

Ivan was lying on the wide and soft bed with a frown. It was really strange that he didn't dislike this woman.

But he didn't let his guard down.

"Daddy, have some noodles!"

When Alfie rushed into the master bedroom, Ivan had already changed his shirt. His beautiful face was without any defects, as if it was the most beautiful masterpiece in heaven.

Seeing his son come in, Ivan buckled his wrist and bent down to pick his son up.
"Where's your sister?"

"She is in the kitchen with mommy. Mommy cooked noodles for you!" Alfie put his arm around his neck and said, "Daddy, come with me. I have a gift for you. It's a return gift for our robot!"

Alfie struggled to get down, then pulled Ivan to the children's room.

He handed the tablet to him. "Daddy, I stayed up late last night to help you upgrade the company's defense system. I promise that except me, the person who can break through this defense has not yet been born!"

Looking at a long row of codes displayed on the tablet, Ivan was moved. He pretended to be calm, while he was very shocked.

He could understand this string of code, which his programmers couldn't write.

Ivan couldn't help looking at his son a few more times.

Alfie smiled like a flower. "Daddy, I hope you can love mommy well in the future. It's not easy for her to raise us in these years."

Bending down to pick up Alfie, Ivan gave him a deep kiss on his small face and then carried him downstairs.

After four bowls of tomato and egg noodles were placed on the table, the four sat down.

When Ivan picked up the chopsticks, the children were happy, and so was Jennifer.

Jordan looked at the scene that Mr. Marsh finished the noodles in the bowl, and there was no sign of nausea. He couldn't help smiling.

After breakfast, they took the schoolbags from Mary and the four got in the car happily.

Let's go to the new school!

This kindergarten was one of the best private kindergartens in Arkpool City. The children who could be here were not ordinary people. They were all children of powerful or rich families, who were born with golden spoons.

Ivan's whereabouts were kept secret. He asked the class teacher to talk about something about entering.

Unexpectedly, they were photographed by the media. Since Ivan took his wife and children to the mayor's daughter's birthday banquet that night, many paparazzi had followed him closely and wanted to dig up some news.

Therefore, the fact that miss and the young master would attend Bright Star Kindergarten was soon reported.

Ivan and Jennifer sent the children to see the class teacher together

In a vintage Kelsington Bay villa.

Aubree threw the newspaper heavily on the tea table. She breathed heavily with anger, who didn't sleep last night!