

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 310

In the Emerald Bay.

The beautiful villa stood under the sunlight, and at every corner of the house revealed delicacy.

The kids had gone skiing.

On the grassland, Ivan was sitting on the armchair, drinking tea in the breeze and appreciating the cloud and the sky.

Marry stood beside him. Looking at his frown, she wanted to say something several times, but stopped on a second thought.

“Do you have anything to say?” Ivan wasn’t looking at her, his eyes were still fixed on the sky.

Such insight impressed Marry.

She bowed respectfully, plucked up her courage, and said, “This morning, when Mrs... Miss Brooks was cooking your noodles, I asked her a question.”

“Ivan turned to look at her and asked gently, “What did you ask her?”

“I asked her why she left with Spencer outside the emergency room.” Marry’s voice was tinged with nervousness.

Finally, the question that had been bothering Ivan for so long was going to be answered.

Ivan looked at her. “What did she say?”

“She only said that you were going to get married soon, did it matter to you.” After Marry replied, she lowered her head.

Hearing this, Ivan frowned and felt pain in his chest.

Did it matter to him? How silly she was! Of course it mattered.

His eyes darkened and somehow, he felt a bit agitated.

After a while, his phone rang and Marry turned around to leave. It should be a work call. She shouldn’t stay here anymore.

Ivan picked up his phone and looked at the caller ID. He answered the phone and placed it near his ear.

“Mr. Marsh, we have gotten you the surveillance video you wanted. It has been sent to you on e-mail.”

Ivan then hung up the phone.

He started to get twitchy.

What would the truth be?

He was looking forward to it, but at the same time, he was a bit scared.

He suppressed the surging emotions in his heart, opened his e-mail and clicked on the surveillance video that was as long as 10 minutes.

Then, he saw that outside the emergency room stood several people, Jennifer wasn't one of them, neither was his mother.

After a while, Aubree showed up in the video, dragging Jennifer.

He felt nervous.

"If my son died, I will let you die with him!" Aubree said with hatred in her eyes. "You would not live alone!"

It was when Ivan noticed that Jennifer wasn't wearing any shoes, but was barefoot in a patient's clothes, looking fragile.

"It's Ivan in there? What happened?" Her voice was filled with fright, as if she had no idea of the car accident.

Then, there was a dead silence.

The light of the emergency room was on and no one answered her.

Aubree stared at her with hatred. It seemed that she really wanted to kill Jennifer.

After a while, Ivan saw that the door of the emergency room was opened from the inside and Catherine, covered in blood, came out.

She was looking into space with no strength that all, she looked like a walking corpse.

"How is he? Why are you out here?"

Catherine murmured, "The doctors are still trying to save him, but Ivan has lost all consciousness."

Ivan sat on the armchair and he had been paying attention to the expression on Jennifer's face.

It was obvious that she was extremely worried. "How... What happened? Why is he in the emergency room?" She was scared.

At this time, someone spoke, "Mr. Marsh came to New York to find you. When he saw you crossing the road and was about to get in a taxi, he got anxious and rushed into the traffic regardless of his own safety. He just didn't want to see you disappear in front of him again."

So, that was how the car accident happened?

For the first time, Ivan got to know the truth.

He could risk his life for her? How important was Jennifer to him?

In the surveillance video, Ivan saw that. Jennifer was shedding tears and he felt sorry for her.

“Why don’t you just go to hell?” Aubree’s sudden scream made Ivan nervous.

Then, Aubree made a crazy move...

Slap!

Ivan felt pain scorching in his heart, his face livid.
