

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 350

Aubree's eyes widened in horror.

She saw that the woman in the wedding dress next to her son was Jennifer!

And Ivan, such a noble person, was greeting a group of villagers...

Aubree saw the villagers disperse happily. They enjoyed the food and drink without hiding their joy. They were so real.

Then she heard the wedding song. It was so romantic.

She saw Ivan put his arm around Jennifer's shoulders, and the two of them stepped onto the red carpet paved with rose petals.

Somehow, Pippa smiled unconsciously looking at their backs.

Her long-depressed mood suddenly lit up.

When she turned around and saw Aubree's expression, she quickly controlled her smile.

Aubree's face couldn't be more unpleasant.

Hundreds of reporters were doing broadcasts of the wedding.

There were also a lot of overseas media, all of which are partners of the Marsh Group. So, Aubree had to control herself.

The guests were all looking at them enviously.

This was probably what love looked like. They kept responsibilities in their heart, and love in their eyes.

At the end of the red carpet was a large stage surrounded by flowers, and on the background was a proposal photo that Ivan and Jennifer took when endorsed for Alice's ring. The priest was standing there waiting for them.

Jennifer felt like she was in a dream. His memory was restored, which reassured her a lot.

Ivan clenched her hand, and everything around became ethereal, only she was real.

The bridesmaids were also a beautiful scenery to watch. They were all beautiful people.

Mya was very envious of Jennifer. They were finally together. They must be happy in the future!

"Be careful." When going up the steps, Ivan carefully reminded her and put his arm around her waist.

He was very protective.

The reports were very competent. They captured every detail.

Jennifer felt warm. After getting on stage, she saw the blessed smiles on the faces of the guests.

When she withdrew her gaze, she caught a glimpse of Aubree, who was standing not far away.

Their eyes meet, and Jennifer could see the coldness in Aubree's eyes

Jennifer quickly looked away, trying to ignore Aubree.

Catherine didn't come, and it was the best ending.

She didn't know the red Bentley was speeding up to the venue.

Ivan stood face to face with Jennifer, holding her hand and listening to the priest's guide.

When the priest began, everybody stopped talking. The venue became solemn and sacred.

After the introduction, the priest came to Ivan and asked, "Mr. Marsh, do you take Ms. Brooks for your lawful wedded wife, to live together after God's ordinance, in the holy estate of matrimony? Will you love, honor, comfort, and cherish her from this day forward, forsaking all others, keeping only unto her for as long as you both shall live??"

Red Bentley stopped, and Catherine, dressed in a wedding dress, quickly got out of the car. She saw the two people who were taking the oath on the stage at the end of the red carpet.

"I do..." Ivan's magnetic voice came into Catherine's ear, which put her in a momentary trance.

She stared at them coldly, her blood condensed.

Linda walked around her and grabbed her arm, "Ms. Collins, let's go!" It wasn't a good idea to mess around on such a grand occasion.

Catherine stood still, staring coldly at the scene. No one knew what she was thinking. Maybe she was picturing herself standing at Jennifer's place.

"Ms. Brooks, do you take Mr. Marsh for your lawful wedded husband, to live together after God's ordinance, in the holy estate of matrimony? Will you love, honor, comfort, and cherish him from this day forward, forsaking all others, keeping only unto him for as long as you both shall live?"

"Of course, I do." Jennifer replied, "I, Jennifer Brooks, take Ivan Marsh to be my wedded husband, till death do us part."

"Now, then, please exchange your wedding rings in front of God," the priest said.

Catherine's heart stung a little, and she took a deep breath, unable to restrain herself any longer.