

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 351

It was probably the happiest moment of Jennifer's life, and the guests all looked forward to it.

Alfie and Diana were not here, so the wedding didn't have a flower girl or a ring bearer.

Instead, Mya, who was in a beautiful dress, and Finnley, who was in a suit, made an appearance and opened the ring box for Ivan.

Ivan took the ring and got down on one knee, putting the ring on Jennifer's ring finger, which meant a lifetime commitment.

The priest said, "The ring is both a binding of your vows and a symbol of your love."

Jennifer took another ring from the box and put it on Ivan's finger.

The hall resounded with applause, which reminded Catherine of what was going on.

The priest said,

"Ivan Marsh and Jennifer Brooks, you have exchanged rings, and I now pronounce you husband and wife!"

The priest's words caused even more thunderous applause!

"God has bound you together, and no one can tear you apart for any reason!" The priest was impassioned. "Whoever tries to get in the way will not end well!"

Hearing this, Catherine frowned, and then she took a step towards the stage!

She also wore a white wedding dress and was carefully dressed as a bride.

"Now the groom may kiss the bride," the priest said.

All the guests in the audience stood up and once again gave tumultuous applause!

The more enthusiastic the applause was, the sadder Catherine was.

Ivan gently held up Jennifer's face, gazed at her with great affection, and slowly kissed her. In response, Jennifer closed her eyes happily.

Under the light, they kissed each other, which was a fine sight for everyone at present.

Catherine stepped onto the red carpet alone in her wedding dress.

She took two glasses of red wine from the tray in a waiter's hand and walked quickly towards the stage with cold eyes!

"Look! Who is she?" Some villagers said in surprise, "How can she attend a wedding in such a dress? That's too impolite and inconsiderate."

The other guests and the reporters also noticed Catherine!

In an instant, everyone turned their eyes to her and the reporters all directed their cameras at her!

On the stage, Ivan and Jennifer stopped. They looked through the bustle of guests at Catherine, who was walking towards them in her wedding dress.

With two glasses of red wine in her hands and a smile on her face, Catherine walked along with a spring in her step.

Finding that Catherine had only Ivan in her eyes, Jennifer slowly turned her eyes and saw Ivan's long face.

Half of the reporters followed Catherine while the other half aimed the cameras at Jennifer and Ivan

"How can there be two brides?"

"My goodness, Miss Collins is here!"

"What's going on here?"

There was an outbreak of muttering at this. Some admired Catherine's courage, while others thought she was foolish.

Catherine walked onto the stage, as cool as a cucumber.

She fixed her eyes on Ivan and stood in front of him. "Congratulations." Then she handed over a glass to him, "A toast to your long and happy marriage."

With cold eyes, Ivan didn't reach out to pick it up.

Jennifer was a little embarrassed. With cameras clicking all around her ears, she smiled and wanted to leave them alone on the stage.

However, Ivan put his arm around her shoulder and looked at her with deep affection, which gave her great confidence.

What Ivan did almost killed Catherine, but she still had a smile on her lips.

"What? Everyone's blessings are received, so you can't turn down mine." With a wider smile, Catherine continued, "Don't worry about the wine. I didn't spike it."

Catherine's words reminded Ivan of what happened seven years ago, so he was soon overwhelmed by disgust.

Jennifer didn't want to embarrass too many people, so she tugged at the corner of Ivan's coat as a reminder. If Ivan didn't drink the wine, he would be regarded as unforgiving.