

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 358

Jennifer asked in a whisper, "Why don't you take photos with them? They are our guests."

"As a married man, I should be disciplined and keep my distance from other women." Ivan said, "No one knows what these photos will be used for. If they have any ulterior motives and give them to the media, it will cause trouble for us."

Hearing this, Jennifer understood what Ivan meant. He was so thoughtful.

"Given they are our guests, I didn't give them the cold shoulder. That's enough"

Under the sunlight, Jennifer outshone any precious jewels in the world. Her bright eyes looked as attractive as the starlight when she smiled.

Wherever she went, she remained the focus in the whole hall.

On the contrary, Georgia was not that popular in Spencer's villa.

Georgia sat on the gazebo, picked up the bottle, and poured wine into her glass, saying in a relaxed tone, "The best way to forget a woman is to have a new lover. It's useless to leave it to time. Time won't heal your trauma."

Spencer's expression was calm and indifferent.

He faced the wind, raised his head, and took a sip of the wine in his glass, not wanting to talk about this.

"Why not date me?" Georgia leaned back in her chair and looked at Spencer boldly, with a smile on her lips, "I like you!"

Spencer was not surprised. He was confident of his own charm.

He didn't appreciate being liked by a superstar. Instead, he examined the wine in his glass. "Your wine tastes good." Spencer changed the subject without even looking at Georgia.

Georgia was a little stunned at Spencer's deaf ears.

Spencer put down his glass and got up. "I'm a little tired and want to take a nap." After saying that, he took a step inside, "Tammy, see Miss Clarke off for me."

With a long face, Georgia watched Spencer's back until he disappeared from her view.

Georgia thought she shouldn't have talked about this.

Otherwise, Spencer would have spent a little longer with her.

Tammy stood not far away and watched Georgia, just waiting for her to get up and leave.

Georgia picked up her glass, raised her head, and drank the wine in one sip. Then she got up and walked out in a terrible mood.

As a playboy who was good at flirting with women, Spencer was actually stuck with Jennifer, a married woman with two kids.

Georgia really can't understand what love on earth was.

Ivan and Jennifer's wedding was trending on the Internet home and abroad.

Almost everyone around the world was talking about the wedding, so the Internet quickly went down. All the programmers had to work overtime.

After all, given Ivan's power and status, his wedding deserved such attention.

Moreover, Catherine attended the wedding in a wedding dress, which was another trending topic.

Knowing what Ivan gave to his employees, the others were very jealous.

As what happened at the wedding was posted on the Internet one by one, more and more people commented.

It was a general idea that Jennifer beat Catherine in both appearance and temperament. What was more, everyone could tell that Ivan did love Jennifer.

The sunset was enchanting in the evening.

Ivan prepared the dinner on a luxury cruise ship that could carry more than one thousand people.

The villagers joined the dinner as well. Although they looked out of place on the ship, they were all bursting with confidence and got great hospitality.

Ivan took them extremely seriously.

As the night fell, the sky was lit by twinkling stars. The railings around the deck were decorated with lights, which made the ship shine all the way on the sea.