

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 417

The warm sunlight fell down on them and the air was filled with the fragrance of flowers carried over by the breeze. Their hair and clothes were blown gently.

They looked really happy.

“Diana, you are good at chess! You win again!” Aubree said to Diana.

“There are two reasons for that!” Alfie explained, “I have got a smart Daddy!”

How sweet was he!

Aubree looked at him and asked curiously, “And the other reason?”

“Mommy has taught me very well!” Diana blurted out with a bright smile.

Aubree was stunned, and then smiled.

In the simply-decorated CEO’s office in the Marsh Group.

Wearing a black tailored shirt and sitting at his desk, Ivan had just signed a document and picked up his phone.

In the recording studio.

The phone screen in Pippa’s hand suddenly lit up. Although it had been muted, she happened to see it.

She stood up and took the phone to show Jennifer, between the two was a soundproof glass.

Jennifer was recording. When she saw the lit-up screen, she gestured Pippa to answer it for her.

Pippa answered it and said in a low voice, “Hello, Mr. Marsh.”

“Where is Jennie?” Ivan’s deep voice came.

“She’s recording. What do you need?”

“When will you finish?” asked Ivan, “I will come and pick you up.”

“Maybe late tonight,” Pippa told him truthfully, “The director just came and invited us to attend the celebration party tonight and Miss Brooks has agreed to go.”

“Celebration party?” Ivan was surprised, but he couldn’t stop Jennifer from going, “I see. I will go to the party with her. I will come to pick you up to find a dress. When will the recording be finished?”

“Soon now. It might take about half an hour.”

“Okay, wait for me there.”

With that, Ivan hung up the phone.

Spencer was the lead actor, so he would surely be there. No, he couldn't let Jennifer stay alone with him!

No way, he was Jennifer's boyfriend! He would go with her!

At the door to the office, Linda knocked on the opened door. "Mr. Marsh." Then, she walked in. "I need your signature on this. It's urgent."

Ivan looked at her and then made a call. However, it seemed that the line was busy right now.

He took over the file and said to Linda, "Stop everything you are doing now and go find Mr. Spinberg from the Spinberg Group. He's in the club right opposite here. Tell him I can't make it this afternoon because of an emergency and I will have to cancel my meeting with him."

Then, he started to review the file.

Linda had to memorize everything he had said.

'In that club opposite here ... Mr. Spinberg ... cancel the meeting...' It was the first time Linda had ever been assigned to such a task, and she had never been face-to-face with a CEO.

She had never been asked by Catherine to do this before.

She could handle it if Mr. Spinberg was a kind man, but if he was a hot-tempered man...

"Have you heard what I just said to you?" Ivan asked.

"I have, Mr. Marsh." Linda told herself that this was a challenge for her and she had to handle it well!

She took the file that had been signed and walked downstairs.

In order not to waste more time, she intended to go to the club right now.

After she sent the file to the Financial Department, she walked into the elevator again. There were two female employees in there with her.

"Have you heard of it? We are going to be partner with the Spinberg Group soon!" one of them shook her head and sighed. "I really don't know what Mr. Marsh was thinking."

"I know! The Spinberg Group has a bad reputation because of its CEO, Mr. Spinberg. I heard he has slept with a lot of employees of his."

"Maybe Mr. Marsh doesn't know about it or read any gossips."

"Or maybe he didn't care. After all, he's not making friends, but partners for benefits."

The elevator door was opened.

The two employees left, leaving Linda alone in shock.
