

Surprised Wife With Twins (Ivan and Jennifer) Chapter 422

Georgia raised the corner of her mouth slightly. She looked at him, and deliberately mentioned, "I heard that Jennifer will also come. She would bring her husband with her, right? After all, Mr. Marsh won't be reassured if Jennifer comes alone in your presence."

Spencer did not say anything and walked towards the banquet hall.

Georgia almost stumbled because of him. "Ah!" She hurried to keep up with him.

His pace was so fast that she couldn't keep up with him.

As soon as they went out, they met the reporters who had been waiting for a long time.

"Wow! He's coming!"

"Mr. Lawrence and Georgia are a perfect match! They must be in relationship."

Countless cameras came over and the clicking of cameras was endless.

Georgia leaned against Spencer with a smile.

Spencer's face had no extra expression. He went straight outside and did not intend to stop.

Georgia had wanted to be interviewed by the media but now she could only follow him.

The reporters followed them all the way but did not disturb them.

Her smile became more and more brilliant. The couple inside and outside the play was very similar. It seemed that they were truly in love in the reality. This was her ability. She just shamelessly stuck to him.

A Lamborghini drove over.

Ten minutes later, it stopped outside the banquet hall in a domineering manner. This car was the most luxurious in the parking lot.

After all, it was not a dinner party for the upper class. It was just a celebration party after the filming.

The director's car also stopped at the same time. As soon as he got out of the car, he saw Mr. Marsh, StaRise, and the assistant.

The director's eyes lit up. He felt extremely honored!

He quickly went over to greet them, "Hello, Mr. Marsh!!" He had been so used to big events, but he was extremely excited at this time.

They stopped. He had put his arm around Jennifer's shoulder since getting out of the car. They were very affectionate.

"Mr. Marsh comes here is simply an honor for us." The director was happy from the bottom of his heart. "Thank you very much."

"I'm just here to accompany my wife. I don't know about this banquet." Ivan told him, "The media don't write about it, and you don't advertise it."

The director was embarrassed and instantly understood what he meant. He just smiled and didn't know what to say.

Jennifer had a smile on her face the whole time.

Then everyone stepped inside with Pippa accompanying Jennifer. It was Pippa's first time to attend such a banquet, so she was looking forward to it.

After entering, they found it was actually quite a grand occasion.

She turned to look at the man beside her, took his arm, and hugged him. "Thanks for accompanying me to a party like this."

Jennifer knew that his time was precious. Because he could make a lot of money every second.

"It's my honor to accompany you. I'm very happy to do this for you." Ivan whispered in her ear.

When Pippa saw the smile on their faces, she was touched by their love again.

It was really the first time for Ivan to attend such a crew banquet, so some reporters took photos of it, and photos and videos also quickly spread out.

It also generated a wave of publicity for the unaired film.

Naturally, Aubree saw it and was very unhappy.

She didn't know why he was getting worse at his choice of girlfriends ?

At the glee feast, Georgia, who was dressed in quite a noble way, held Spencer's arm from beginning to end. Spencer treated this as a social engagement and did not take special care of her or even look at her directly.

Ivan put his arms around Jennifer's shoulders and looked up to see the two people coming at them.

When they were only a few feet away, they all stopped at the same time.

Ivan and Spencer looked at each other.

Jennifer saw Georgia and suddenly felt a headache. She was instantly in a bad state.

Some memories she didn't want to recall were actually playing in her mind like a movie...

Especially when Georgia raised the corner of her mouth, that smile which was full of viciousness and calculation was still fresh in her memory.