

Surprised Wife With Twins Chapter 462

Jennifer knew that he lied because he didn't want her to feel bad. She didn't say sorry because she knew if she did, Spencer would feel even worse.

However, deep inside, she had apologized to Spencer millions of times.

"I'm sorry." After Spencer's wounds were bandaged, he looked at everyone and said sincerely, "It was all my fault. I almost got you killed."

"Stop apologizing," Ivan said calmly and had regained his usual composure. "We were doing everyone a favor by getting rid of Hanson."

"Yes." Rowan agreed, "Everyone, get into the car. Go home and change your clothes. You don't want any infection."

Ivan helped Jennifer into the car and Spencer sat next to them.

The three of Ivan's men got in after them.

Ivan picked Jennifer up and let her sit on his laps.

"Does it hurt? Will I hurt you?" Jennifer was worried.

Ivan held her waist. "My wound's on my back, not my thighs."

Rowan drove the car.

When they arrived at Rowan's house, they saw a Limo parked in the yard.

"It's Mrs. Marsh." Rowan looked back and reminded Ivan.

Everyone in the car was stunned, including Ivan. What a bad time!

At the gate of the house, Aubree, who had been waiting, stared at the car.

Why hadn't anyone got out of the car?

Everyone looked in a mess. Jennifer looked at her messy hair in the mirror and felt flustered. She had finally started to patch things up with Aubree, she didn't want it to be ruined.

Ivan grabbed her hand and helped her out of the car.

Rowan got out of the driver's seat. Then, everyone followed them and got out of the car.

Except for Rowan, everyone else looked like refugees.

Seeing them walking over, Aubree looked at them in disbelief.

She had a lot of questions on her mind.

When she saw Ivan, she was frightened.

Jennifer and Spencer were next to Ivan. Looking at them, Aubree was furious. It must be because of them that Ivan got hurt again.

“What were you doing?” Aubree asked in a harsh voice, “How did this happen? Were you fighting again? What was it about this time?”

It was obvious that Spencer was the most badly hurt here, but all she cared about was Ivan and she was pointing fingers at Spencer.

She looked at Spencer with disgust.

Ivan stopped in front of Aubree. “Mom, you should go home first. We need to treat our wounds now and we don’t have time for you.”

As he said, Ivan walked into the house.

Just as Aubree turned her head, she saw Ivan’s bloodstained back and was startled.

She grabbed Spencer’s arm and shouted, “Was it you?” There was hatred in her eyes.

Before Spencer could answer, Ivan had grabbed Aubree’s hand and said to Rowan, “Treat Spencer’s wounds first.”

It was obvious he cared about Spencer very much.

“Okay.” Rowan looked at Spencer, indicating him to keep walking.

If it was in the past, Spencer would have retorted Aubree now. But at this moment, he felt very calm and didn’t want to argue with her at all.

He followed Rowan into the house.

Ivan’s cold attitude towards Aubree just now really hurt her.

Didn’t he care about her feelings at all?

“Mom,” Ivan said to her, “It’s complicated. I will explain it to you later. You should go home now.”

After Spencer left, Aubree looked at Jennifer and wanted an answer from her.

But Jennifer also didn’t look well.

Aubree thought for a while and looked back at her son. “Come home for dinner tonight.” After that, she left.

