

Surprised Wife With Twins Chapter 471

Alfie and Diana were her life. Although she had always given them much freedom, she was worried knowing that they might be in danger.

"I'm going with you," Ivan went after her, "Be careful!"

Pippa also followed them. "Wait! Since Madam has locked the room, it means she doesn't want you to find it. In that case, will she admit that she has taken the kids away after we arrive? What if she transferred the kids somewhere else?"

Her words made sense. Jennifer and Ivan stopped.

The driver had opened the car door for them.

"Get into the car first," Ivan said to Pippa and Jennifer. Then, he got into the car as well.

The Lamborghini drove to the Kelsington Bay.

Jennifer could never stay calm when it came to the kids.

Ivan thought about it calmly, "There are two questions. Did the kids come back on their own or did my mom bring them back? How have they been in the Kelsington Bay?"

Thinking of what Madeleine had told her on the phone, Jennifer said with certainty, "I think they came back on their own."

It was a hidden farm; Aubree shouldn't be able to find it.

"Let's take another vehicle," Ivan said to the driver, "Drop us off at the next intersection. We are taking a taxi there."

Jennifer understood what he was thinking.

He was worried that Aubree might hide the kids if she saw their Lamborghini.

Ten minutes later.

A taxi stopped in the yard in front of the Kelsington Bay.

Through the windshields, they saw the kids running and flying kites in the yard.

They were overjoyed.

Seeing the kids' smiles and the way they laughed, Jennifer was finally relaxed. At least, they weren't abused or confined.

At this moment, Aubree walked downstairs and saw the taxi through the French window. She wondered who it was.

When she reached the living room, she saw Ivan, Jennifer and Pippa getting out of the car. She was nervous. The kids were still playing in the yard!

She immediately walked out.

Alfie and Diane caught a glimpse of Ivan and Jennifer and were stunned in place, looking at them.

“Daddy! Mommy!”

They threw away the kites and ran towards them.

Jennifer looked stern.

She was a bit angry. “Why did you do this?”

The kids knew they had done something wrong and both looked at her.

“The most important thing is that they are safe,” Ivan breathed a sigh of relief, squatted down and carried the kids up in his arms.

“Put them down. Your wound...” Jennifer was worried and took the kids from him. “You have made a mistake, kids. Have you thought of what might have happened? What if bad guys caught you?”

“I’m sorry...” Alfie lowered his head.

Diana also felt sorry. “We just wanted grandma to like you.”

Behind them, Aubree stopped upon hearing this.

Jennifer felt bitter sweet looking at the children.

She failed as a mother. She got the kids to worry for her.

Aubree walked over.

“Grandma...” Alfie and Diana held her hands.

Jennifer and Ivan looked gentler.

However, Aubree was a bit unhappy. The kids came here for a purpose?

“I’m sorry, Mrs. Marsh. The kids have made you troubles,” Jennifer apologized, “Thank you for taking care of them.”

“What are you thanking me for?” Aubree frowned and refuted, “They are my grandchildren.”
