

Surprised Wife With Twins Chapter 473

The kids felt sorry for their mother and their mother felt the same way about them.

Jennifer didn't have the heart to blame them now. She held them into her arms and felt bad. She failed as a mother.

She rubbed their heads and kept putting in good words for Aubree, "Grandma's a nice person, you just don't know her."

She wished the kids could love their grandma.

The kids had grieved for a father and a grandma.

They had missed a lot of love from family and she wanted to make it up to them.

In the Kelsington Bay.

Aubree had been in a bad mood since the kids left.

She always got absent-minded looking at the socks the kids had worn and the glasses with which the kids had drank.

At dusk, in the Emerald Bay.

Under the setting sun and in the warm breeze, the kids were playing in the yard and sweating all over.

Marry took them for a shower.

Half an hour later.

Alfie and Diana changed into a set of new clothes.

Alfie was wearing a blue romper while Diana was in a blue dress, both with a pink heart on it and they both wore a pink cap.

"Mommy, where are we going?" Alfie asked.

Jennifer had told them she would take them somewhere after they took a shower.

"To Rowan's."

The children were very excited and clapped their hands happily, "Great!" They followed Ivan and Jennifer out of the living room, happily got into the Lamborghini.

"I haven't seen Rowan for a long time!"

"Mommy, I miss him a little bit." Diana looked very cute.

"You will see him soon." Jennifer smiled at them.

In the back seat of the car.

Alfie looked at Ivan, who was next to him, and said, "Daddy, can I sit on your laps?"

Because Diana was sitting on Jennifer's laps.

"No," Jennifer grabbed Ivan's hand that was reaching out to Alfie, "Daddy's injured."

Alfie frowned and looked at Ivan worriedly, "Daddy, you got hurt?"

"I'm okay," Ivan smiled and let Alfie sit down his laps, "It's nothing. Besides, I didn't hurt my legs."

"Where did you get hurt?" Alfie was still worried. "Does it still hurt? Mommy is a doctor, have you let her check for you?"

"Mommy has checked for me and she said I will be fine," Ivan said in a gentle voice.

"Daddy, is there anything I can do for you?"

"I'm fine, honey," Ivan rubbed Alfie's chubby cheek and said, "How was your stay at grandma's?"

"Grandma was very nice to us," Alfie shared their experiences at Aubree's.

When they were about to arrive, Jennifer said to the kids, "I will introduce a new friend to you later."

"A new friend?" Alfie looked at her curiously, "Is it Rowan's girlfriend?"

"Who is it?" Diana asked, "Is she beautiful?"

"No," Jennifer answered, "It's daddy's younger brother, your uncle."

"Uncle?" Alfie looked at Ivan in confusion, "I thought grandma only has one child."

"Is he daddy's cousin?" Diana asked.

"No." Jennifer explained, "They have the same daddy, but different mommies."

Jennifer had discussed whether they should tell the truth to the kids with Ivan.

She thought if they lied, the kids would keep asking questions and it would be awkward.

Moreover, the kids would grow and know the truth someday.

The kids were thinking about her words. Same daddy but different mommies?

"Different mommies?" they asked at the same time.

