Chapter 3061

“That’s right, there is no limit to the black iron bet. There’s no guarantee you can even see one in a whole month. Many people would get instigated by the black iron bet and throw away their whole life savings, trying to earn a big sum.”

“One to seven odds is far too alluring. If Arne wasn’t making such a big fuss earlier, quite a few people might have bitten the bait and put a lot of spirit crystals on Lucius. Then, they’d really be suffering great losses!”

“That’s right, I almost put all my life savings on Lucius. After I heard what all of you said, I was lucky enough to realize my mistakes. I placed my bet on the beast. Even if the odds are only one to two, it would still double my spirit crystals! It’s still a good thing...”

Just as everyone was busy discussing, the Thousand Feathered Beast suddenly fell from the air. With a bang, the beast’s massive body heavily slammed onto the stage, causing dust to fly everywhere!

As it flew in the air, the beast still had the strength to constantly cry out, but after it fell to the ground, it could only manage small frills. It seemed like it was dealing with a great deal of pain!

The beast constantly rolled on the ground. Its feathers and massive body shook. Jackie let out a cold laugh as he raised an eyebrow. He knew that most of the beast’s soul had already been eaten. No matter how much it tried to fly, it would be pointless!

Jackie raised the sword in his hand as countless strands of black energy condensed on the tip of his sword. He summoned his strength and slashed at the beast. The crowd heard a slash, and the blade pierced through the beast’s throat.

Blood suddenly shot out, staining the whole arena with the blood of the beast. The smell of blood filled Jackie’s nostrils, but he remained expressionless. After all, everything had been within his calculations.

Destroying the Void was a soul attribute technique. After mastering it, Jackie was already well versed in controlling the technique. He no longer wasted any energy on destroying physical flesh, but only focused on rotting the soul. Even though the Thousand Feathered Beast was still trying to fly upward, its soul had been constantly ripped apart and dissolved!

Slowly, the beast could no longer hold on after most of its soul had rotted away thus falling from the skies!

That scene stunned everyone there. Arne's smile froze on his face as he widened his eyes, staring at the corpse of the beast in disbelief!

How was that possible?

Why did the Thousand Feathered Beast fall from the skies?

Why did it constantly roll on the floor and cry out?

Why did the beast not avoid Jackie's final strike?

With how fast the beast was, as long as the beast wanted to, the blade would have only struck the ground. It would not have been able to harm the beast at all. However, the beast looked like it was in such excruciating pain that it could not pay attention to its surroundings at all.

Everything that had happened was out of their expectations. It had happened too suddenly as well, causing the spectators and the warriors to all be speechless. Everyone was first stunned before they started to look at each other in confusion.

What happened? How did things progress to that stage?

Before Jackie dealt the final blow, there had been no wounds on the beast at all. Other than those few cries, it had been flying upward. There did not seem to be anything odd about it, but even despite all of that, the beast seemed to have had all its strength drained from it as it fell heavily from the air.

"What exactly happened? The beast was clearly fine, so why did it suddenly fall from the sky? Why didn't it dodge the attack? Who can tell me what happened? Isn't everything too sudden? I feel like Lucius was cheating!"

"I don't understand either. Lucius clearly looked like he lost, but how did things suddenly change? Could Lucius' attack have some other effects? We might not have seen the beast get injured, but it actually was!"

"Could it be a soul attribute attack? If it really was, then the outer injuries might not have been obvious. After all, those techniques attack the soul!"

The discussions could not stop. After all, everyone was far too shocked at what happened.

Chapter 3062

Some managed to guess, but most of them were still trapped in confusion. All of them frowned, anxious to know the answer. The passionate discussions did not stop things from going on as they should. After being sure that the beast was dead, the masked caretaker walked up the stage steadily.

He raised his hand and waved, "Challenger, please exit the stage. The stage needs to undergo maintenance. The second match will commence in five minutes."

Jackie nodded as he turned around and left the stage. He looked around at the passionate crowd. At that moment, even the calmest warriors were deep in discussions.

Jackie had planned to return to the spectator stands since Rudy was still there. Yet, when he saw how thirsty everyone was for more information, Jackie immediately changed his mind. He did not want to bother talking to them at all. They could assume whatever they wanted to. After all, only one match had ended.

After three battles were all done would those people stop insulting him. Jackie knew very well that even though he had won the first battle, those people with sinister intentions would still be incredibly focused on belittling and insulting him.

A lot of people would probably just say that he got lucky, and that his luck would not keep on holding out.

Winning the first out of three did not mean anything. Only by winning all three in a row would he be able to truly prove his strength.

Thinking about that, Jackie let out a light laugh as he turned away, not even bothering to spare a second glance at the audience.

The warriors in the audience were about to go crazy. They had thought that Jackie would return to the spectator stands during the break. Then they would be able to get some answers to their questions. Yet, Jackie did not seem intent on returning at all.

He merely stood on the stage quietly looking at the caretakers cleaning up the stage as he waited for the second match to commence.

The warriors on the spectator stand pulled their hairs in frustration, really wanting to know the answer. They had complicated moods in their hearts.

"So in the second last attack, the beast really was injured. That's why it kept on crying out as it flew, we just couldn't see the wound!"

"I think so. Otherwise, Why would it suddenly fall from the sky as it was flying? It must have been too heavily injured to continue. Furthermore, when Lucius dealt that final blow, the beast would definitely have been able to dodge it if it still had any ability to react!"

“Even I would have been able to avoid that attack, let alone the beast, but Jackie still managed to pierce its throat, killing it right away. This means that the beast did not have the ability or awareness to avoid the blow at all. It was already so heavily injured that it only knew how to cry out in pain!”

“That’s right. After it fell from the skies, it kept on struggling on the ground. If they did not have wings that restricted its movements, it might have been rolling all over!”

“It looks like it must have been hurting. Was it really a soul injury?”

“Do you even need to ask? Of course, it’s a soul injury. If it was a physical one, none of us are too blind to see the wound. There are so many people here, no one saw any wounds at all. They only saw the bird falling from the sky!”

“So there’s only one conclusion. The beast’s soul was injured. Lucius is a soul attribute warrior, that’s why we did not see a wound. The technique should be at a high grade as well. Otherwise, there’s no way the beast would have lost all awareness after falling and even get pierced in the throat!”

After all that discussion, everyone slowly got their answers. They started to understand that Jackie’s technique was a soul attribute technique. This soul attribute techniques or warriors that specialized in them were a minority on Hestia Continent. Only warriors that were talented in that department would choose to train in them, and even those who were talented would sometimes give up midway. That was because the soul attribute was far too difficult to learn and master.

Chapter 3063

Many masters had failed in front of soul attribute techniques. They never expected that Lucius was a soul attribute warrior. It seemed like he definitely had some talent.

Initially, everyone was incredibly curious about Jackie. When Jackie started the black iron bet, they felt like he was just crazy and attention-seeking. They were then convinced by Arne’s words that Jackie was just someone greedy for pride and attention.

Everyone started to change their opinion toward Jackie. They felt like he had started the black iron bet because he actually was talented and skilled!

Those who had wanted to take a gamble and bet their spirit crystals on Jackie slowly started to have a change of heart.

“I think that Lucius might actually be able to win...”

“I think that things don’t always happen how you expect them to. Everyone might have bet on the wrong side...”

At those discussions, the spectator stands erupted again. That was because almost everyone there had placed their bets on the beasts. It was not an ordinary bet either, it was a black iron bet with a limit of a million spirit crystals.

Everyone felt like they would definitely win, so quite a lot of people placed their entire life savings on the beast. They felt like they would be able to double their fortunes. After Jackie won the first match, they started to get worried. Yet, the more that was so, the more manic they got. The moment someone said that Jackie might win, those crazed gamblers jumped out immediately.

“What kind of nonsense are you saying?! So what if he won the first match? Don’t forget that this isn’t just one round! You can’t just be sure after one match, he needs to win three in a row. What’s the point of winning just one!”

“That’s right, it’s just the first battle. Can those idiots who are trying to hype Lucius up just shut your mouths? Didn’t you all bet on the beast as well? What good would Lucius winning get you? Your spirit crystals would all be gone!”

“Can’t you just be more patient?! That brat might have won earlier, but he was lucky enough to choose a weak beast in the first round! There’s no way he’d beat any of the stronger ones!”

“That’s right, that beast’s defenses were just too weak! He was lucky enough to win thanks to that one weakness. He’s a soul attribute warrior, there’s no way he’d be able to beat any beasts that were defensively stronger!”

“I’ll curse at anyone who says anything so depressing again! I don’t care which clan you’re from!”

“Everyone knows that soul attribute warriors fear defensive capabilities the most, and beasts are even stronger in defense than warriors. It’s just that that beast was a long-range attacking one.”

“Its power came at an amazing speed. In terms of its defenses, it was weaker than other beasts. That’s why it died so quickly!”

“You’re right! That guy only managed to win in the first round thanks to his luck!”
