Chapter 3549

The bald man sneered as he said, “Then, take out everything you have in your spatial storage, and I’ll consider letting you. go.”

The white-robed man’s eyes widened when he heard that.

Normally, even if a warrior were to die, they would not take out their fortunes from their rings. It was a final form of dignity for the warriors, not leaving anything behind for their opponents even if they died.

When a warrior dies, their spatial storage would collapse, and their opponents would get nothing. The white-robed man clenched his teeth in refusal! The bald man raised an eyebrow, not surprised at all.

He scoffed, “Since that’s the case, then we’ll slowly have fun. Honestly, I’m very interested in collecting Heartblood.”

Those words felt like a bucket of cold water being poured on the white-robed man. He felt like his whole body was frozen. Since the Soul Sword was in the white-robed man's body, Jack allowed the bald man to do whatever he wanted.

He looked at the Flaming Rhino. At that moment, the beast was already dead, and its massive body was on the ground.

Jack walked over to the Flaming Rhino, and a faint golden glow was slowly condensing above the Flaming Rhino. Eight golden keys formed, causing Jack to raise an eyebrow as they fell into Jack's hands.

Killing one rhino had given him eight keys. Sure enough, the inner region was the main event of Chaos City.

Jack looked up and saw where the black-masked man was fleeing toward. Earlier, the two of them had run away in opposite directions.

He only attacked the white-robed man, not bothering with the black-masked man.

At that moment, the black-masked man was already gone.

Rudy looked on as Jack looked toward the direction where the man had fled and said curiously, "Why didn't you kill him just now?"

Those two warriors from second-grade worlds were insignificant ants to Jack. They were not worth being afraid of at all, even two against one. However, Jack had let the black-masked man go and only dealt with the white-robed man, which made Rudy curious.

Jack turned around and smiled, "The white-robed man was targeted because he kept on trying to challenge me. The black masked man did not do that. It's fine to let him go. After all, this is Chaos City."

Rudy nodded as Jack was right.

It was not a regular city, Chaos City was full of death. Regular warriors were grouped with masters. Anything that happened there would not be strange at all.

That guy never crossed the line, so it was fine to let him go. Even if he managed to guess Jack's true identity, it was still fine.

After all, Jack's name was already known everywhere. Adding one more story to his name was no big deal.

Not only had the Flaming Rhino rewarded Jack, but its body had great uses as well. The core could be sold for a high price, and the skin was good material for weapons. It was just as valuable.

Jack briefly tidied up the scene.
Ten minutes had passed, and the bald man was done as well. The white-robed man was already dead, and he had died a horrible death similar to the warriors from third grade worlds who were tortured to death.
