When they saw it, they suddenly felt their blood boiling. They were incredibly heated up!

Jack raised an eyebrow as he immediately went for those three. Those three were terrified when they saw Jack coming for them and attempted to scatter.

However, Jack was already prepared. He activated the laws of space and suddenly disappeared. When he appeared again, he was already in front of Morrison.

Morrison was so scared that he almost cried when he saw Jack. He widened his mouth, wanting to scream, but his terror had seized all his strength, and he was not even able to make a single sound.

Jack smirked, not intending on attacking. Jack merely stood in front of him.

Morrison held his breath, looking at Jack doubtfully.

Why was Jack not attacking?

However, the moment the thought surfaced in his head, he felt a cold chill from behind him.

Morrison turned around only to see a sticky tongue with cold energy around it shooting toward his waist.

By the time he raised his weapon, the tongue was already wrapped around him. Morrison felt an unbearable icy frost starting to spread from his stomach to his whole body. He did everything he could to struggle, but he failed to free himself.

The tongue continued going around his body.

The long tongue was like vines that were holding Morrison firmly in place!

The icy tongue was not just full of cold energy, but poisonous as well. Morrison's whole body was frozen solid, and his face was completely pale. His hands shivered slightly, and it felt like all the blood in his body was frozen.

Jack saw that Morrison was unable to escape and immediately turned to look at the other two. Jack had told Dagda and the others to hold the other two back and leave one to himself.

Dagda and the others did their jobs very well. The eight of them were split into two groups, with four stopping Goran and the other four stopping Reyes. However, compared to how easily he had dealt with things, the situation there was more complicated.

After all, they were not as quick as Jack was, and were not able to force their opponents to be exposed to the beasts.

To quickly resolve everything, Jack shot forward and immediately rushed over to help the eight of them.

He sent Reyes and Goran right into the range to attack the beasts. With Jack's help, everything was resolved incredibly quickly.

Jack did that because he wanted the three of them to get a taste of their own medicine.

Did the warriors from second-grade worlds not want to let the beasts fight the warriors from third-grade worlds until both sides were heavily injured?

Hence, Jack would let the three of them die to those beasts, but not that easily!

When the three of them were about to lose their lives, Jack dealt with the beasts, letting them live. At that moment, the three of them no longer had any ability to fight back. They were not far away from death!

Jack tossed the three of them on the ground, coldly looking at them.

At that moment, they had already lost all hope. Jack took off his mask, and when they saw his face, they were shocked.

Goran had been completely burnt by balls of fire, but his throat was still fine.

When he saw Jack's face, Goran shouted crazily, "It's you! It's actually you!"
