

No 1 Supreme Warrior

Chapter 3573

It was actually Jack, the unbeatable warrior that was beating all the warriors from second-grade worlds.

He had heard about Jack, and the other party's various exploits were known to them. Ever since Jack appeared, not a single warrior from a second-grade world had ever beaten Jack.

Jack was like a curse. All the warriors from second-grade worlds that had faced him had lost.

Before entering Chaos City, he even told his fellow disciples, "I hope I never meet Jack in my lifetime. That guy is a complete anomaly. His skills can't be underestimated, and whoever meets him will just be unlucky."

Reyes had said casually, "The Whirling World is so big, and the third-grade worlds only managed to produce one Jack. We won't be so unlucky to cross paths with him!"

Yet, it seemed like they really were that unlucky!

Jack looked at their complicated expressions and smiled, "You know who I am?"

The three of them were speechless. They did not just know the other party, they had constantly heard of Jack. His face had already been spread around all the second-grade worlds. Practically every warrior from a second-grade world knows him.

He was already regarded as a star of calamity in the second-grade world.

Jack took a deep breath, looking into the distance as he said calmly, "You warriors from second-grade worlds always seem to have a superiority complex. You never see others as human at all. Now, I'll leave you to the eight of them."

The eight of them were incredibly eager.

If Jack had not appeared, they would not have been able to leave this place alive, and they would have been tortured until they died as the warriors from second-grade worlds extracted every last bit of value out of them.

Just thinking about that, the eight of them were absolutely furious and filled with hate.

Hearing that, Goran and the others were terrified. They knew that the eight warriors would not let them off easily, and they would be slowly tortured for a long time. At that moment, the three of them wanted to kill themselves.

Jack immediately understood what they wanted to do from their expressions, and raised his sword to sever their limbs. They would not be able to commit suicide with that. He smiled before turning around to look at Dagda and the others.

At that moment, Dagda was full of admiration and respect for Jack. In their eyes, Jack was an unbeatable god and the hope of all the warriors from third-grade worlds.

Jack nodded Dagda, "I'll leave these men to you. I still have other things to do, so I'll take my leave."

Dagda felt a sense of pity when he heard that. They still wanted to stay with Jack. After all, it was incredibly hard to meet someone as strong and talented as him. Furthermore,

Jack also saved their lives. However, they merely expressed their thanks in the end. It was because they knew that they were just people who Jack had happened to save by chance.

For Jack to spare the time to talk to them was already something they were grateful for.

After five minutes, Jack finally stepped into the deepest parts of the inner region. It was even more of a barren land there, and the smell of blood was even thicker.

He pulled Rudy out of the Mustard Seed and told Rudy about what had happened earlier.

Rudy said emotionally, “We gained quite a lot this time! You gained another seventy-one golden keys! On top of the twenty-eight from before, you have ninety-nine total! My god, you managed to get even more than before so quickly. If you use the golden keys at the stage of the Nine, you’ll definitely be able to get something much better than last time!”
