It never expected the stranger in front of it would be so strong.

No wonder the man had been so confident, not even showing any emotion when he revealed himself. The intense explosion heavily injured its whole body. It was just barely alive at that moment, and it knew that it would not remain alive for that much longer.

Right at that moment, a crack could be heard next to it. It moved its head with great difficulty and saw Jack pushing down on the rock that was on its body.

Jack still showed no emotion as he knelt next to the tiger, coldly looking at it, “Did you feel like you were the smartest one ever when you made that plan with those shameless and despicable guys? You’re the final winner. How do you feel now?”

The tiger's whole body twitched as it opened its mouth, trying to say something. However, nothing came out.

The tiger's last impression of the world was the man calmly pulling out a gray sword from his storage space. The sword was aimed right at the tiger's throat.

After a day, Jack and Rudy arrived at Cloud City. The whole time, Rudy had been talking without stopping. He was just too excited. Killing the tiger, Jack had actually been awarded fifty golden keys.

On top of the two hundred and twenty-six golden keys from before, Jack had a total of two hundred and seventy-six keys.

He put all of those keys on the biggest stage of the Nine without any hesitation, redeeming it all for treasure.

Rudy widened his eyes, "So, the supreme soul wisp should be worth a lot, right?"

Jack nodded. His keys had managed to get him a small bottle of supreme soul wisp. Even he did not know what that was used for. That was his first time hearing of it, and even the memories of the ancient heroes yielded nothing. However, it was definitely something incredibly valuable.

Two hundred and seventy-six golden keys would definitely have given him something priceless!

Jack took a deep breath, suppressing his excitement.

They looked up at the massive Cloud City. After they left Chaos City, Jack, and Rudy immediately headed toward Cloud City.

There were many challenges in Cloud City, but they did not catch Jack's eyes at the moment.

Nothing was as important as him forming his world avatar. His target was Cloud Valley which was within the city.

Cloud Valley was deep in Cloud City. He had heard that there were various challenges one had to go through to get to Cloud Valley. The only way to qualify to enter Cloud Valley was to pass those challenges.

Rudy turned around and looked at Jack. He knew better than anyone what Cloud Valley meant to Jack.

Forming a world avatar was the most important thing for Jack at that moment. Possibly because he had been in Chaos City for too long, but Rudy felt a bit uncomfortable when he entered Cloud City.

There were so many people in Cloud City, and everyone no longer looked at each other with alarm and murderous intent, but just calmness.

They were not allowed to fight in Cloud City without reason. Even though the warriors of the third-grade world and second-grade worlds were still not friendly with each other, no one fought within Cloud City. Everyone had their matters and goals to attend to.

Jack walked past the crowded streets and went toward the northeast. Cloud Valley was in that direction.

The moment he stepped into Cloud Valley, Rudy was shocked to notice that Cloud Valley had even more warriors than Cloud City did.
