

No.1 Supreme Warrior by Moneto

Chapter 3646

There were only two ways to explain what that man was doing at that moment. Either he was really crazy, or he was overconfident in himself, thinking he would actually beat everyone with his meager skills. Maurice could not help but let out a cold laugh at that. At that moment, he only had one thought in mind. He wanted a complete victory. He wanted to show that man his place so that man would realize how much of a joke his thoughts were.

It was obvious Maurice was not the only person who thought that way.

Case took a deep breath.

There was anger and mockery in his eyes, "Brat, I've seen many people who're filled with confidence, but it's my first time seeing anyone with as much confidence as yours. Even those people who love to brag about themselves would never dare to say they would be able to take on nine opponents at once!"

"We're no slouches either. Including me, three of us can form world avatars! If we attack with our full might, even the strongest warrior in the Whirling World would have to run!"

"Who do you think you are? You just happened to have some skill, and you've already forgotten your place. I'll show you how vast the world is today!"

"That's right, let's show him how much of a joke his thoughts are!"

There were a lot of agreements at that moment. Everyone had their fists clenched tightly, already thinking about Jack being completely beaten up by that.

At that moment, the red-haired warrior had already snuck over from afar. Even though the fog had obscured sight and sound, it was not like no sound could come out at all.

The red-haired man waited patiently like a thief. He was worried he would be killed by any of the strong warriors, but also eager to take advantage of the situation. He had been lucky enough to actually stumble upon this place after wandering around.

Earlier, Jack had been talking to Case and the others, and in their anger, they had been incredibly loud. The red-haired man happened to hear them, and he hurried over toward the source of the noise.

He did not dare to get too close, worried that he would be noticed. He merely hid by the side.

The red-haired man looked at the tension on both sides and lamented to himself, "This guy is just crazy. He thinks he can defeat nine opponents by himself?"

The red-haired man felt that anyone who had heard that earlier conversation would be asking the same thing as well.

At that moment, Jack had a calm look on his face. He showed no emotion at all as if what was about to happen had nothing to do with him.

Case and the others were already used to Jack acting like that.

They thought that Jack was actually just putting on an act and that Jack was actually incredibly anxious.

Every time they saw

Jack's calm demeanor, they wanted to rip that fake mask off.

They finally had the chance. They were incredibly eager to step into battle.

Right before they fought, Jimmy suddenly shouted out, "Hey, did you see Octavius at all?!"

Jack looked at the anxious Jimmy and smiled, "I did see him. He was the one who told me the location. Otherwise, I wouldn't have found you so quickly."

Everyone widened their eyes at that. Jimmy shouted out, "You're just a load of crap! Even if you caught Octavius, there's no way he would be threatened by you into giving up our location!"
