Jack laughed, remembering how reluctant Octavius looked right before he died.

Jack had let Octavius live for a bit longer because he wanted to show Octavius that Octavius deserved what happened and also because he wanted the answers Octavius had.

The two he had killed before Octavius had been very stubborn. They had killed themselves while Jack was distracted. To prevent that from happening, Jack had made sure to sever Octavius' limbs so he had no chance.

In truth, Octavius had folded before Jack tortured him for too long, telling him everything.

Before Octavius died, he even remarked that he deserved what happened.

Jimmy looked at Jack hatefully, wanting to rip Jack apart, "You're a liar! Octavius has always had a lot of willpower. There's no way he would have done that. You must have gotten the information from someone else and you're just trying to smear him! I won't fall for it!"

"Listen here, I'll definitely get revenge for Octavius! I'll make sure you pay the price. I'll have you go through the torture that's a thousand times worse than what Octavius went through!"

Jimmy was practically shouting all of that. He absolutely hated Jack. He wanted to rip Jack apart. Jack scoffed, not caring at all.

At that moment, there was nothing else to say. All they could do was fight! Everyone was incredibly focused.

Case's hands started to move as countless seals formed in the air. A massive tongue appeared. The tongue was covered in a disgusting liquid, and there were countless thorns on it. On the tongues were various seals that looked disgusting and sinister.

Jack frowned, wondering what kind of technique it was to bring out something like a tongue. It looked like part of a monster's body. He wondered where Case learned something like that.

After Case finished that, he summoned up all his true energy again.

A blurry body formed behind him. The body looked like a dog with a lion's head. It looked like a beast, but it was too vague to tell.

Jack raised an eyebrow, seeing that it was Case's world avatar. Even though world avatars were manifestations of the laws of the world, it was closely tied to everyone personally. Everyone would form a different world avatar. Case's world avatar was the figure of a beast. On top of the technique he was using, Jack wondered what attributes the world avatar was.

However, it was not the time to ask any questions. The moment Case took action, his fellow disciples did as well. None of them held back as they summoned up their full strength!

They planned on dealing with Jack in one blow.

Jack took a deep breath, finally feeling some pressure that had eluded him for so long. He formed seals with his hands, and gray seals started to resonate in the air. A round ring the height of half a person formed. Countless seals circulated the ring, containing dense soul energy.

That was the storm god rank technique, Soul Burst Ring! Soul Burst Ring was still Jack's most powerful attack.

A storm god rank technique was not something a regular technique could compete with.
