When he was struck by the shockwave earlier, he even wondered if he would die on the spot!

At that moment, he heard a raspy voice behind him, "Case, are you alright?"

Maurice barely managed to get up from the ground as he spoke to Case.

Case took a deep breath and tried to use his true energy to stabilize his injuries. After checking his body with his senses, he found out that they were only light injuries. He would be fine after a few days of rest, and he could still fight.

"I'm fine, what about the rest of you?"

Maurice checked on himself as well. He wiped away the sweat on his forehead, "I'm fine as well... I can still fight..."

After he said that, everyone else fell silent.

Everything that had happened had not just struck their body, but their spirits as well.

Nine of them had been fighting against one person, but both sides had been sent flying. That guy's technique actually held such devastating power.

Even the nine of them together were just an even match. it was just horrifying to think about.

Who was that guy?!

How was he so strong?

He definitely was someone who stood at the peak!

"So he was not bragging..." Jimmy's voice was heard from behind.

He was on the weaker side, so he had been sent flying the furthest after being struck by the shockwaves. His injuries were slightly worse than the others, but it was still manageable.

Everyone fell silent again. Jack was strong, but no one expected him to be this strong! Jack was so strong even nine of them together could not kill him. Even though they saw Jack being blown away as well, they did not know how Jack was at that moment.

They wondered if he had only suffered light injuries like them.

If that was the case, then they were in a bad situation.

Case took a deep breath as he said seriously, "This guy is tough... He's ten times tougher than I expected!" He was not exaggerating at all. Jack really was much stronger than he had imagined. He thought that he would only see people at that level in level one cities.

Case gulped, finally realizing what kind of person he was up against!

"Who is he?!" Maurice asked.

Someone that strong was just horrifying.

Why was he in Cloud City and why was he fighting them?

Someone that strong should already be fully fixated on the Radiant Hall.

Why was Jack in Cloud City?

Case took a deep breath, saying with a stiff expression, "That's not something we should be discussing right now. We need a plan! No matter what, we've already made an enemy out of this man. Either he dies, or we do. Even if he's that strong, we still need to survive!"

"Thankfully, we have the numbers. If we were just one man short, we'd all probably be dead! Listen here. No matter what, we can't lose! I know you're scared, but even so, you have to toss that fear aside!"

Case was right. The situation they were in meant that neither party would be leaving this alive!.

There was no alternative!

They had to leave this place alive, they could not die here! Even if Jack was someone at the top of the top, they had to face him.

Case relaxed slightly when he saw that everyone was fired up. They could not let fear take over, or they would all be done for.
