When they said that, no one dared to continue the discussion.

The more they talked about it, the more ominous it felt. Moreover, they felt like the matter was just too crazy.

At that moment, the red-haired man's voice was heard again. "Case and the rest have all died... Those skeleton badges were all theirs... All fifteen of them died to him..."

The moment that was said, everyone fell into a strange silence as their gazes turned to the man once more.

The red-haired man was looking at Nathalia's back with an expression of fear and reverence. The emotion in his eyes was incredibly complicated. However, everyone could see the deep fear he had. It was not fake, it was true-born.

Everyone finally understood what the red-haired man said earlier.

The red-haired man said that they would not believe it if he said it but that they would understand soon.

He was right.

Before Nathalia arrived, they would have thought that the red-haired man was crazy if he said that Nathalia killed all 15 opponents on his own.

No one would ever believe that, but that absurd truth was right in front of them.

They had to believe it, even if they did not want to.

A man with a large head sputtered, "I know you're not joking, but isn't this just too crazy? One against fifteen? How did he do that? Even without the restrictions of the Whirling World, it'd still be close to impossible!”

Even though the truth was plain for all to see, it was very hard to believe after thinking about it. It felt like a dream.

Just like the large-headed man said, even without the restrictions of the Whirling World, Nathalia was definitely no older sixty.

No matter how strong he was, he could not have been unbelievably strong unless he was a monster!

The red-haired man took a deep breath and smiled bitterly. “If I hadn't witnessed it myself, I wouldn't believe it either... But it's the truth. Even though he didn't beat all fifteen of them at once, he managed to face nine by himself and killed them all...”

After that, he paused, thinking about what Nathalia had said to Case before exclaiming, “He’s not an idiot... He killed six of them first before he killed the remaining nine!”

As he said that, he even started to struggle to breathe. Even though he was saying that, he felt like it was absurd. If he had not witnessed it all, he would have thought that the other person was dreaming to say something like this.

It was just too much!

When everyone heard what the red-haired man said, all of them gaped and fell into a short silence again.

Were they mistaken?

One person dealt with nine opponents at once!

Even though he did not do something crazy and killed all 15 opponents in one go, nine people were still a lot. All of those opponents had been above-average warriors.

Just a single one of those warriors would be a difficult opponent for anyone else.

Yet, even with all nine of them together, they failed to beat Nathalia and ended up dead instead. Just thinking about it blew their minds.

The more they thought about it, the more surreal it all felt.
