

No 1 Supreme Warrior

Chapter 3678

“You think too highly of yourself. You seem to think that Violet City is like your backyard. Do you think you can just enter as you please? Stop joking around. Even many second-grade-world warriors failed and were tossed out.”

“With the three of your skills combined, other than the one from a second-grade world, the two of you should be proud of yourselves if you manage to stand firmly on the ground when you’re tossed out!”

Lourain started to laugh as he pointed at Geena and said, “Do you hear that? This is what everyone thinks. Stop thinking so highly of yourself. With your skills, I don’t even know if you can protect yourself. Who do you think you are, saying you’ll lead us to victory?”

“You!” Valentina was so angry that he wanted to rush over if it were not for Geena grabbing him.

These people were crossing the line!

Geena raised an eyebrow before he patted Valentina on the arm, calming Valentina. It was not like they could attack these people anyway, arguing with these people was meaningless.

He coldly looked at them before he turned toward Marth, who had been quiet the whole time. In truth, he could tell that Marth did not trust him either.

Marth felt like Geena was bragging as well. After all, from Marth’s perspective, it was hard to believe the other party.

However, Geena had been so straightforward purely because he did not want to waste any time. Once they were attempting the challenge, they would know everything. It was just a pity that Lourain did not know when to quit.

Geena said coldly, “There’s no meaning in staying here other than wasting our time listening to all this nonsense. I have no time to waste. I don’t care if he’s coming or not at this point. Do you want to try it with me right now?”

If he could enter with just Marth, Geena would never have bothered staying. He deliberately raised his voice for Lourain to hear.

Sure enough, Lourain jumped. “What do you mean?”

Geena took a deep breath. “Aren’t you very confident in yourself? Since you are, prove yourself with your skills. Why are you wasting so much time talking and trying to get everyone to berate me? Do you think it makes you look talented? I think you’re just nervous. You’re too scared to attempt the challenge right now in case you end up exposed!”

Geena’s subtle instigation was useful against Lourain. He was never a particularly intelligent warrior anyway.

“That’s a load of bull! Since when was I nervous? You two are the ones who should be nervous. If you want to go, let’s go now! We’ll see the truth. Let’s see if you can still brag after that!”

After Lourain said that, he started to march toward the Seven Deaths Array.

Geena took a deep breath, finally relaxing. If they continued to argue, it would waste even more time.

Marth remained silent this whole time as he looked at Geena with a meaningful expression.

It was not long until he, too, walked forward toward the Seven Death Array as well after glancing at Geena once more. The two of them were in front while Geena walked behind.

While everyone was distracted, he put Valentina into Mustard Seed.

Mustard Seed was the only thing that could cheat the laws of the Whirling World.

Mustard Seed’s special storage space could fit over a thousand people. There was still a lot of spare space. With Valentina in Mustard Seed, Geena could bring Valentina along without being restricted.
