

No 1 Supreme Warrior

Chapter 3701

Adrian and Yolanda exchanged glances before they sat to rest as well, not daring to slack off at all.

Before this, they thought that Sandra would be the primary target and that the two of them would not affect the situation that much, but it did not seem to be a certainty at this point. No one knew what would happen in the next round.

All three of them sat and rested for a whole half an hour before they got up to continue.

This time, no one wasted time with words. They were on full alert as they faced the next challenge.

When Sandra walked another seven steps forward, all three of them held their breaths at the same time.

Their eyes were wide open as their gazes darted everywhere, trying to observe every little change in their surroundings. However, they were surprised to notice that it was quiet around them.

Nothing changed at all, and they could not even hear a peep. It was so quiet that it seemed like nothing happened. However, the three of them would not be so stupid to assume that the Seven Deaths Array was broken. Anything could happen at any moment, so they remained vigilant.

Time slowly ticked away.

Five minutes passed without anything happening. The three of them were starting to lose their patience.

Could the array not have been activated?

Would they need to keep advancing to activate the next array?

Various thoughts surfaced in their head. The three of them were a bit indecisive for a moment.

After a while, Adrian frowned and said, "It seems like there's a problem. Let's advance. Surely we can't keep staying like this."

The moment he said that, Yolanda cackled and said, "Are you daft? The Seven Deaths Array isn't made by children. There's no way it can be broken or have problems so randomly. The array is already activated. We just need to wait."

"Stop being such a brash fool, got it? You want to keep going forward? What if something happens? Are you going to take responsibility? Why did I get a teammate like you? It's one thing if you're useless, but you're even giving such horrible suggestions!"

Yolanda seemed awfully angry, and his words grew harsher as he spoke. Sandra could not help but raise an eyebrow as he looked at Yolanda strangely.

When did that guy get such a hot temper?

Even though Yolanda had quarreled with Adrian before this, most of the time, Adrian had been the one to start it. Even if he was fighting back, Yolanda would usually just resort to mockery.

This time, he was practically fuming. It seemed like he had accumulated too much anger and started to lose control.

Adrian already hated Yolanda a lot in the first place, but he never dared to do anything because of Albert. This time, however, Yolanda's words were just too unbearable. Adrian immediately exploded.

Adrian gritted his teeth and shouted back at Yolanda, "You're getting too full of yourself, you dog! I didn't bother with you before this because I can't kill you right now. I can't believe you took that as a sign to pompously talk to me like that!"

"Yolanda, listen well. Once we get out, I'll make sure you're begging for mercy! I'll beat you half to death before I skin you alive and take your Heartblood. That will be the last bit of value you'll ever produce!"

Heartblood was a very sensitive topic to the warriors from third-grade worlds. After all, many warriors from third-grade worlds had been tortured to death for it. The death count was immeasurable, and it was something they were very sensitive about.

Adrian's words hit Yolanda where it hurt. Yolanda could no longer take it as he turned around and raised his sword, aiming right at Adrian.

"Alright, come on then! Let's see who gets who's Heartblood in the end! Don't think I'm afraid of you just because you're a bit stronger, Adrian!"
