

No 1 Supreme Warrior

Chapter 3748

If they got lucky and got rewarded with three Life Points, then they would be able to get a treasure.

The worst treasure was the Rainbow Snake gallbladder. Even that was worth seventy or eighty million spirit crystals. That was enough to increase their fortunes several times over!

Rowan and the others were anxiously looking at the massive scroll. The victory was already within their expectations. The results from the scroll were the most important thing.

Rowan took a deep breath and said, “There should be no problems! Edgar was the most important person in that battle just now. The others had been completely useless. I feel that he deserves nine Life Points!”

Nymm took a deep breath, starting to look serious as well, “He probably won’t be able to get nine Life Points. After all, he had not launched the most important attack himself. The others had attacked together with him. However, no matter what, he should have seven life Points!”

Nirina frowned as he looked at the scroll silently.

At that moment, the results were far better than any judgments could be.

Edgar looked over at the scroll. He looked calm on the surface, but his heart was beating erratically.

That result was incredibly important. Bringing the Heartgrass back to Star Continent would not only increase his fortunes, but they would also bring a lot of pride to Star Continent. It would be something he had contributed too as well, so even his clan leader would have to look at him more highly after that.

Edgar mumbled, “I should get at least seven! I did very well in this battle!”

Benita raised an eyebrow and looked over as well.

Under everyone’s expectant looks, the scroll finally revealed everyone’s results in golden letters.

Edgar’s name was at the top of the list, and there were five right after his name. Quite a few people widened their eyes in surprise at that.

Edgar had only been given five?!

The results had exceeded the expectations of most of the warriors there. Quite a few of them felt that Edgar had been incredibly important in that battle. Even seven Life Points would not have been an exaggeration, yet he had only gotten five in the end.

“He only got five?! Edgar did so well, even seven Life Points would have been fine. I can’t believe the standards of the Capture Hall are so high! Honestly, it’s not really a surprise. There have been so many geniuses entering the Capture Hall, and most of them only got five. Only an incredibly small number of them have gotten seven! Those are really geniuses among geniuses!”

“Edgar is still some distance away from that level, but he’s already done very well. Five Life Points isn’t something a regular genius can get. He’s put in at least half the work for this battle!”

“I’m not convinced!” A warrior from Star Continent shouted.

After looking at the result, his heart completely sank. Even though Edgar would not have given him anything even if Edgar got seven Life Points, he could have still bragged about it.

That was something that would bolster the reputation of the whole Star Continent!

Earlier, he had been bragging so much, wanting nothing more than to tell everyone that Edgar had completely trampled over Seymour Flint. Yet, he had been viciously slapped on the face by the result.

A warrior from a third-grade world next to him looked at him coldly.

There was a hint of mockery in his tone, “What are you unconvinced about? Are you trying to say that your judgment is more accurate than the Capture Hall’s judgment? Are you saying that you’re the one who determines the rules? Are you questioning the rules of the Capture Hall or the whole Whirling World?”
