

No 1 Supreme Warrior

Chapter 3772

Edgar had thought about that as well.

He said with some exasperation, “Just let them fight, I guess. I want to see how strong that guy is too. From Hamish’s stance, he’s probably a little stronger than your average warrior.”

“He can help us test out this guy’s skills. Ten seconds is not very long, but not short either. I made that decision not to show that guy some mercy, but because I was worried that he would go back on his words!”

“However, that decision isn’t really that good for us. We still don’t know how strong the beast they’re facing this time is. If the two of them aren’t in a good condition after the beast dies and that guy is skilled, then the situation would be very bad!”

Those words served to wake Nymm up!

None of them expected things to go so well. If they had known that the guy would have signed up by himself without the need for any plans then they would not have tried to use a plan that was a disadvantage for them.

However, there was no way they could take back what was already said as the situation would not change anymore.

Edgar narrowed his eyes and continued, “Earlier, I already told Sandra to make sure to act according to the situation. Our mercy will be based on the situation, the brat is the most important thing.”

If the guy was just a brainless and crazy man that insulted Star Continent, Edgar would have been angered, but would not be that interested. However, ever since he managed to produce so much purple gold from his storage, Edgar was immediately very intrigued.

He wanted to find out what kind of background the man had, and how he amassed such a large fortune.

They were talking about twenty pieces of purple gold!

On top of that, he even took out two pieces in the last battle, so that was twenty-two pieces.

He was sure that purple gold was not the extent of Cindy’s riches as well. Nymm might actually have been right, and the man had found some ancient treasure to sell. Otherwise, there was no way he would be so generous!

The three rewards on the large scroll were worth 300 million spirit crystals in total. That was the equivalent of thirty pieces of purple gold. That guy had taken out twenty pieces just like that, so he’s probably incredibly rich!

They needed to beat the guy up to an inch of his life and cause him to go mad. Then, he’d have his men drag the man away.

No one would dare to stop them. Once the masked man was in his hands, they had plenty of cruel methods to get the masked man to speak!

Bang!

Hamish waved his ax and slashed at where Cindy was, immediately causing the ground to split open.

Hamish was attacking very fiercely, but he was not fast enough. Even if Cindy did not use the laws of space, Cindy was still able to avoid it.

Hamish clenched his teeth when he saw that he had missed. In his eyes, Cindy was just a piece of trash that only knew how to brag. There was no way Cindy could be strong at all.

Anyone could enter Violet City if they were lucky enough anyway. After all, one only needed to get some good teammates to get through the Seven Deaths Array. Luck played a huge factor.

Hamish had actually been lucky to enter as well, so he felt like Cindy was the same!

“How dare you run! Let’s see how long you can do that!” Hamish shouted angrily, slashing down with his ax again!

Cindy raised an eyebrow, not dodging this time.
