

No 1 Supreme Warrior

Chapter 3792

Everything Jagoan said echoed in everyone else's hearts.

Ever since the Whirling World opened, Star Continent's warriors did whatever they wanted. They grouped and made sure that anyone who offended them would suffer.

Everyone slowly got used to it, and it became an unwritten rule to not offend the warriors from Star Continent unless absolutely necessary. That was also how the warriors from Star Continent ended up acting this way.

It was like what happened that day.

The moment they entered the Capture Hall, they acted as usual, making others give up seats for them.

Normally, that would be a challenge to any warrior's honor. However, most warriors were not able to do anything about it. After all, Star Continent acted too much like tyrants, and they never relented.

The moment they had their sights on a person, that person would be constantly targeted until they were forced to leave. However, they had stumbled upon a tough opponent this time!

Jagoan took a deep breath as he composed himself.

He had never felt as angry as this before. Every time he talked to Jagoan, Jagoan felt like he would explode the next moment. Even if he'd already seen how strong Jagoan was, he still almost lost control of his anger.

"So you're insisting on facing us until the end? Think about it clearly... I'm not threatening you, I'm just trying to reason with you."

Jagoan brought up a reason which amazed everyone else.

They finally saw the day that Star Continent would reason with someone else. Before this, they had never been reasonable at all.

In particular, those warriors that were high up in Star Continent did things without fear, doing whatever they pleased.

It was something that really caused the average warrior a lot of grief, but they were actually trying to be reasonable that day.

Jagoan sneered, "You're trying to reason with me? What reason is there to be talked about? Didn't we already agree to everything before this? Ten seconds to fight. As long as I can walk away from the stage, everything between us is settled. Could you have forgotten that? You made things very clear just now!"

Jagoan's face darkened, feeling a sense of panic.

Jagoan was right, Jagoan had said all of that. However, he never knew that the other party was so absurdly strong before this. Something as strong as the three-headed silver python had been dealt with so easily, let alone Rowan and Jagoan.

Even if Nymm was there to help them, the three of them would still be no match for Jagoan. Furthermore, that agreement had been targeting Jagoan. That was because Jagoan had thought that ten seconds would have been more than enough to beat Jagoan to an inch of his life.

Jagoan would just be a piece of meat waiting for them to slaughter. Yet, the situation had drastically changed. They had become the prey instead.

Jagoan clenched his teeth, "Of course, I remember! However, just think about it. If you really attack, then you will really make an enemy out of Star Continent! Even if we've had our verbal spats, there have been no actual losses."

"As long as you don't attack, I'll assure you that things will be cleared between us. It'll be as if we've never met! If you aren't happy with that, I can offer you a huge reward too!"
