

No 1 Supreme Warrior

Chapter 3793

That was already the most Jagoan could do.

Star Continent had always done whatever they pleased. Other than what was happening, he never had to make any concessions. Even when Jagoan said all of that, he felt a pain in his chest.

The feeling of being wronged crept up all over his body.

He hated Jagoan to the core at that moment, but there was nothing else he could do. That was the only way he could minimize their losses.

Jagoan could not stop himself from laughing when he heard what Jagoan had to say.

He looked at Jagoan with a mocking expression, “Don’t you think what you’re doing is such a joke? Do you think I care about your rewards? If I didn’t have the skills, would you have let me off with a bit of compensation?”

“You say that we’ve only had verbal Spats?! It’s true, but you wanted to kill me for that. Don’t tell me that you came on the stage with me with plans of only teaching me a small lesson in those ten seconds...”

Jagoan was so furious his hands trembled. He was not able to answer Jagoan at all.

From Jagoan’s perspective, it really was a complete mockery. Everything Jagoan said was right. Jagoan did not know how to answer at all!

The spectators were about to applaud Jagoan at that moment.

Everything Jagoan said felt like vindication to them. If he was not strong-willed enough, he could have been dragged along by what Jagoan said, but Jagoan was not someone like that. He would not fall for what Jagoan was offering.

A warrior from a third-grade world scoffed and said, “Jagoan’s one of those people who think that he’s the only one allowed to throw his weight around. No matter what he does to anyone else, he’s in the right. The moment someone fights back, he will think they’re at fault. He sure loves to talk. He says it’s not a threat, but does he think we’re all idiots?”

“Isn’t this just how Star Continent usually operates? If they offend someone they can’t afford to, they will try to weasel their way out of it. The person usually wouldn’t want the trouble, so they forget about it. It’s just so scummy...”

“Unfortunately, it doesn’t seem like this guy cares about that. He probably feels like Star Continent is beneath him. It makes sense too, if I had his skills, I wouldn’t care about Star Continent either! Anyone who causes him trouble will have his wrath upon them. It’s not like he’s weaker than them at all!”

Jagoan felt like he was about to go crazy from his anger.

He raised his voice, “Jagoan White! That should be your real name, right?! I’ve heard of this name. As long as I look into it, I’ll find out everything about you!”

“I know you won’t be afraid of us with your skills, but you have things you need to do as well. Isn’t it a waste of time to be fighting us? As long as you let the two of them off, everything will be easy to talk about!”

Jagoan raised an eyebrow as he looked at Jagoan arrogantly. Even at this point, Jagoan was still speaking as if he had the advantage over Jagoan.

Even though it sounded like Jagoan was trying to negotiate, he was not giving Jagoan any room to do that. He was merely trying to make Jagoan give up just by taking one step back.

It was just a complete joke!

Jagoan scoffed and said, “If you have the skills, then come at me. However, I’ll make things clear. As long as you continue to come for me, then make sure you’re always alert. I won’t hold back on my revenge.”