No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3901-Taios took a deep breath. "Something is wrong! There's something wrong with this whole thing. The more it's like that, the more careful we need to be. Even if it might end up being a farce, it's better than sacrificing your lie for no reason!"

The longer they spent in the Whirling World, the more careful everyone was. After all, the reckless warriors had already ended up as corpses.

Even though they had done some rudimentary observations and found nothing surprising apart from Lourain's strange expression, they still needed to pay attention to it.

With a frown, Cayden said, "I'll go test him out!"

Taios nodded in agreement.

Cayden stepped forward and looked at Jack coldly. "Brat, you talked as if you were the strongest man in the Whirling World just now. If I didn't know any better, I would've thought you were among the strongest warriors in the world! What gave you the courage to speak to us like that?"

Jack raised an eyebrow as he sighed helplessly. He thought that the other four would have lost their patience and attacked after what had been said, and he would not need to waste so much time. Yet, that person had to come out and say all that nonsense.

He felt quite helpless in that kind of situation. However, if he initiated the attack, the other four would immediately sense danger and might turn around to escape.

Jack did not want to miss out on any chance to gain experience. Even though those four were definitely not that strong, having more experience would be good for his future battles. It was because of that that Jack frowned and tolerated all the chatter.

"You'll know how strong I am after fighting me," Jack said in a calm tone.

They could not sense any emotions from him.

However, the more he behaved like that, the less confident the others got.

If Jack's tone had any emotion to it, they would have thought that Jack was just putting on an act. However, his calm tone made it appear as if he was just speaking the truth.

Was that not too absurd?

Could a normal and unassuming warrior from a third-grade world be someone that stood at the peak?

Cayden took a deep breath, then clenched his teeth and said, "You're speaking more and more arrogantly. I merely said that you were a warrior that stood at the peak, but to think you'd actually pose like one! Aren't you worried that your words will get you into trouble?!"

Jack raised an eyebrow. He noticed that Cayden sounded a bit worried as he said that. It was as if Cayden was worried that something would happen.

Jack smiled, "Are you wasting so much time talking because you're afraid?"

Those words struck Cayden right in the nerves.

He practically jumped up like an angered cat, glaring at Jack as he said, "Brat, do you have a death wish?! How dare you say I'm afraid? Open your eyes! There are four of us, and we're strong. You only have two on your side! If the four of us can lose to you, we might as well just die!"

Although Cayden spoke in such a frantic and urgent tone, Jack found it to be quite amusing.

He felt like Cayden was just saying all that out of guilt. It was because Jack's words hit Cayden right where it hurt that triggered him to react like that. However, Jack did not say all of that just to rile Cayden up.

Jack merely wanted to stop wasting time on the pointless conversation!

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3902-Lourain was a straight-laced man. He could not tell that Cayden was trying to hide something and felt that the other party was being truthful. He was merely amused by their exchange.

At that moment, he had handed the stage to Jack.

He stood by the side silently, but the expression on his face became more and more interesting. His lips were curling up as he tried to force it down. There was mirth in his eyes, but he quickly composed himself.

Lourain was trying very hard to keep his expressions under control, but he was failing badly at it. The more they acted that way, the more Taios and the others felt uncertain. Cayden was more or less the same.

Cayden could not hold back any longer and said, "Since you wish to die, I'll grant you your wish. However, I'll be frank with you. What you said earlier has thoroughly offended me. I won't let you have an easy death. I'll make sure to slowly torture you and collect your Heartblood for money!"

It did not matter if those two actually had a plan or if they were just putting on an act. He would know once he attacked! After making that decision, Cayden's hands started to flip around to form seals.

There was a thunderous roar in the air as countless seals started to form.

Four balls of lightning that were the size of half a person started to emerge from the seals. The balls of lightning were letting out countless threads of electricity as they crackled.

Cayden clenched his teeth as he glared right at Jack. "My Lightning Destruction is a lower ultimate god rank technique! It's more than enough to deal with you ants from a third-grade world!"

When Jack heard that, he perked his eyebrows as he turned to look at Lourain.

Lourain's technique was a lower ultimate god rank technique as well. Lourain had just barely learned the technique, and the person in front was more or less the same.

The two of them could only be considered between average and above-average in terms of strength.

Jack started to form gray seals, and 60 Soul Swords appeared in front of him. In just a flash, those 60 Soul swords fused into a massive one.

Cayden let out an angry shout as he pushed forward. There was suddenly a loud explosion as if a thousand lightning bolts were descending at the same time. A flash of purple lightning shot at Jack's head.

Lourain was next to Jack. He could feel the power emanating from that bolt of lightning. If he was the target, he would have needed to face it with his full power to block it. Even though a month had passed, the two of them had practically advanced at the same pace.

He had barely improved, and Cayden was the same.

With that in mind, Lourain suddenly lamented that he could clearly feel the difference between him and the strong after witnessing their strength for himself. It caused him to yearn for power even more.

He was in a hurry to improve himself. If he had a chance, he would exchange all of the spirit crystals he had for resources to improve himself.

As he thought about that, the Soul Sword clashed with the purple lightning. The wide purple lightning looked quite strong, but it was split into two the moment it clashed with the Soul Sword!

That purple lightning was not able to hold up against the Soul Sword at all!

After the lightning was slashed into two, the Soul Sword did not weaken at all. It pierced right through the lightning, causing countless strands of lightning to branch out as it was split apart.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3903

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3903-The gray energy completely swallowed up the crackling lightning. It did not even last a second before it was completely consumed, turning into pure energy and dispersed into the air.

To the warriors there, a lower ultimate god rank technique was already quite powerful.

However, for someone like Jack, it was just as fragile as a bubble. On top of that, Cayden had not even mastered his technique yet. He was only at a rudimentary level of mastery. Jack would eat a sock if a technique at that level was able to withstand Destroying the Void.

The four of them watched as Lightning Destruction was split apart by the opponent's technique, unable to slow it down at all.

Cayden stopped breathing at that moment. He was stunned in place as his whole body froze.

He only started to react when the Soul Sword was right in front of him, but it was already too late. He had only taken a step back when the Soul Sword pierced into his chest. The pain completely dispersed all rational thought

He had never felt such pain in his life. It was far more painful than anything that could affect the flesh. It felt like countless ants were devouring his soul. Cayden cried out in agony as he crumpled to the ground.

Due to the overwhelming pain, he could not even control his body anymore.

He looked like a worm that was writhing on the ground, rolling around constantly. Just the sight of his writhing caused everyone else to tremble. At that moment, the whole place fell silent. Cayden's cries of agony were the only sound that could be heard.

Taios and the others stood in place with widened eyes, not even able to think anymore. Lourain's lips twitched. He was incredibly grateful that he did not burn his bridges with Jack back then. Otherwise, he would have suffered the same fate.

Taios felt a severe chill down his spine and spread throughout his whole body. He felt like he had been thrown into a room filled with ice!

Suddenly, all of his suspicions were gone. No wonder Lourain's behavior was so strange earlier. The more Cayden blabbered, the stranger Lourain's expression was. It was as if Lourain was watching a fool.

Thinking about it, Taios would have probably behaved the same way if he was in Lourain's position.

He would have similarly called the other party idiots for being arrogant!

That plain, unassuming man was absolutely among the upper echelon of warriors and possibly even in the top hundred of them. Just thinking about that caused Taios to gulp. They were really in trouble this time!

Taios started to breathe frantically. He wanted to beg for mercy but quickly swallowed those words. He clearly remembered everything he had said and done earlier. Not only did he threaten that person, but he even mocked that person for originating from a third-grade world!

Most importantly, Taios claimed that he would kill the guy. If his position was switched, there was no way Taios would let the offender off.

Thinking about it caused him to shiver. He swallowed his words because he knew that he would not be spared no matter how hard he begged!

So, he only had one course of action!

Taios' hands shook before he suddenly shouted, "Run!"

Running away was all that he could do. If the four of them fought together, they might have a chance, but they would only be evenly matched at most.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3904

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3904-However, one of the four was no longer able to fight, and the opponent was not alone. Lourain was still standing by the side.

There was no way Lourain would sit idly by if a fight broke out. With that, their chances of winning were practically zero!

The four of them would die there, so all they could do was flee. The further away they escaped, the better.

The three of them ran in separate directions, and there were only two opponents. As long as they were fast enough, they would have a chance to survive. He turned around to run the moment he shouted those words.

However, he heard that person exclaim, "Stop! We can negotiate!"

Those words caused Taios to freeze and slow down. His breathing was frantic as his heart thumped rapidly. Even though he suspected it to be a ploy, he still stopped regardless. That was because it did sound like there was still room for negotiation.

That would mean that there was a higher chance for them to survive.

Taios clenched his teeth, then turned to look at Jack. Previously, the way he looked at Jack was filled with disdain.

That was a problem with all warriors from second-grade worlds. Whenever they see a warrior from a third-grade world, they would always act like they were superior. They felt like warriors from third-grade worlds were no match for them. However, at that moment, Taios' gaze was only filled with fear.

After all, that person was nowhere near as plain and unassuming as he seemed.

Earlier, he had completely incapacitated Cayden with just one move.

Cayden might not be as strong as Taios, but the difference was not that large. Taios would not fare any better than Cayden if he fought. With that in mind, his whole body stiffened as his fear grew.

However, no matter how scared he was, he clenched his teeth and said, "What is there to discuss?"

Jack raised an eyebrow, "I'll give all of you one chance. The three of you attack me together. I'll give you a chance to unleash everything you have. Lourain won't interfere."

The moment that was said, Taios' group completely froze.

Various thoughts flashed through their minds. It sounded like they were being given a chance, but they were not idiots. They had said plenty of nasty things earlier.

Normally, a warrior at that person's level would definitely not spare them after such provocations. There was no way they would be given a chance for no reason.

Taios frowned. He was fearful, but he took a deep breath and looked at Jack seriously.

He looked like he was trying to read Jack's mind. However, no matter how hard he stared, he could not see anything. It was a decisive moment. If the three of them fled immediately, there was no way to tell who would live or die. After all, they were not that far away from each other.

Taios immediately regretted being so close to them before this.

At that point, even if they ran, they would not have much of a chance. That was because they did not know if Jack had any speed techniques that would stop them from fleeing!

Taios clenched his fists tightly as he narrowed his eyes, nodding emphatically. If they fled right then, he would most likely be the first one to die. After all, he was the one who started everything. He was the one with a grudge against Lourain. He was also the one who had said all those nasty things.

If he was on the other side, he would surely kill himself first! Since that was the case, it was better for him to try fighting. He looked at his fellow disciples behind him. The two of them exchanged fearful looks with each other. Nevertheless, they, too, knew that running away meant a higher chance of dying.

Since the other party has offered for Lourain to stay out of the fight, the three of them would not be too weak if they could work together and fight three-on-one.

After some contemplation, the other two nodded in agreement. Taios took a deep breath, and there was a flash of hatred in his eyes!

He shouted, "Let's get him!"

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3906

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3906-If Taios had not been distracted at that moment and had remembered the image plate clearly, he would not have failed to recognize Jack's attack.

If he had recognized Jack, he would have definitely fled no matter what Jack had said.

Jack was a warrior that stood at the peak. Even if there were six of them, they would still be no match for him, let alone with just three of them.

He still remembered how his fellow disciple had assured him that Jack was even ranked highly among the warriors at the peak. Even regular warriors at that level were no match for him.

His fellow disciple had told him to watch his words and make sure never to get on Jack's bad side. At the time, he never bothered listening to those words at all. He felt like his fellow disciple's words were quite amusing.

Taios and Jack were completely different people.

How could he ever be rude to a warrior at that level?

Was he suicidal?

Yet, fate was cruel. Something that he thought was impossible actually happened. Not only was he rude to Jack, but he also mocked and ridiculed Jack to such an extent. Everything he said just made things worse. The moment he finished that thought, the pain swallowed up his sanity.

That soul-ripping pain was something he had never felt before. It was so painful that even breathing was difficult. The three of them collapsed to the ground and were all consumed by pain, just like Cayden had been. They writhed in pain, completely forgetting about their dignity.

Lourain took a deep breath as he watched everything play out. He could not help but lament that he was actually the luckiest person there. He had offended Jack before this, but he was lucky enough to get out of it without suffering this kind of pain.

There was naturally no way Lourain would be sympathetic toward the pain those three were suffering.

If he did not have Jack with him and bumped into the four of them, what awaited him would not be much better than what they were going through. Furthermore, Cayden had said firmly that he would make sure to torture Jack to death. It was only natural that he would end up being tortured by Jack.

After five minutes, Lourain collected the Heartblood from the five of them. The Heartblood was worth quite a lot of spirit crystals. There was naturally no way Lourain would let the chance slip. After all, they were about to do the same as well.

The two of them continued their journey to the center.

On the way, Lourain said earnestly, "You sure are easygoing! You let Marth go off alone just like that. Aren't you worried that he'll sell your secrets?"

That question had plagued Lourain for a long time.

Marth had decided to move alone back when he was at the inn. Marth felt like the Toman Battlefield was too risky, and signing up was not worth the risk at all, so he did not plan on following Jack and Lourain.

Marth bid his farewells with an indifferent look, making sure to be very careful with his words. He was worried that Jack would not let him leave alone. Yet, Jack had been incredibly carefree, not wasting any time before he agreed to let Marth off.

Lourain was really curious about why Jack agreed to it so readily.

Was Jack not afraid that Marth would sell his information to the warriors from Star Continent for some rewards?

Even though Lourain knew that Marth was incredibly fearful of Jack, that fear was just a feeling, after all. It was hard to say if Marth would cave when faced with a huge reward.

If Lourain were in Jack's shoes, there was no way he would let Marth move around alone. He could not understand what Jack was thinking.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3907

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3907-Jack turned to look at Lourain. "Let him reveal my secrets if he wants to. I think that some things about me have already been revealed to those who want to know them anyway. Even if he exposes my secrets, the secrets won't be worth much. After all, he doesn't know anything other than what I did in Violet City.."

That was why Jack had allowed him to leave.

After entering Violet City, Jack had not allowed Lourain to leave and made sure Lourain was by his side because he had just entered the city. He had not been that familiar with the city yet.

At that time, he did not trust Lourain at all and knew nothing about Lourain. If he had just let Lourain walk around the city, it could have caused trouble. However, the situation has changed.

He was already essentially exposed. Everyone already remembered his techniques. Even if he changed his looks, he would not be able to hide anything the moment he attacked. Even if Marth announced everything that he knew about Jack, it would not affect him too much.

Lourain nodded thoughtfully. It really was as Jack had said. In truth, Lourain and Marth did not know that much about Jack.

The biggest secret was just that he had passed the Seven Deaths Array in the golden difficulty and that he had changed his looks when he went to the Killing Hall after leaving the Capture Hall.

Lourain did not know anything else. It was like Jack said. He would not be able to expose any secrets even if he wanted to.

The Toman Battlefield was in an isolated space. If one looked down at the Toman Battlefield from above, one would notice that it was a large circle. All of the warriors who were sent into the Toman Battlefield from the outside world would only be sent to its fringes.

Those areas would disappear in a day.

The whole Toman Battlefield would shrink in half. In seven days' time, the Toman Battlefield would have shrunk seven times. The only part that would not disappear was the central area. The central area's geography varied greatly.

There were mountains and plains at the same time, and it was full of tall grass. If one was not inside and merely looking from afar, they would feel like the area was full of life. However, the moment they stepped inside, the feeling would immediately disappear.

The area was just too full of death, and it was incredibly chilling. Some people would immediately start crying out.

At that moment, in a valley of one of the deepest positions in the central area, Desmond frowned as he looked at his tea in front of him. Seymour was next to him but was a lot calmer.

After a moment, Desmond sighed, "Thirty-three pieces of purple gold! I could have done so much with that! Yet, I need to waste it all here. Just thinking about it makes my heart ache!"

Seymour looked over to Desmond and smiled, saying, "It's not like you were complaining before this. Why are you only regretting things now?"

The amount of purple gold everyone needed to contribute had already been set early on. The two of them contributed 16.5 purple gold each, making it 33. It was equal to one hundred and 65 million spirit crystals each. It really was quite a painful sum.

Desmond's lips twitched, "Even though I already knew how much I would need to give, it's different when you actually give it. It feels like cutting my limb off!"

As he said that, Desmond had a twisted expression on his face, but Seymour merely laughed helplessly.

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3905-He started to form seals with his hands the moment he said that.

NEXT

The two behind him started to act at the same time as well. A vortex of energy I to form around them, and the air itself started to crackle as various energies condensed together.

At that moment, the three of them were prepared to give their all and put their lives on the line. Jack was an incredible threat to their lives!

If they did not go all out, then they would surely lose their lives. Incredibly powerful waves of energy started to fill up the area. Lourain frowned as he took a few steps back when he felt the energy.

With his skills, he could end up being pulled into it if he had stayed.

Jack looked at the energy-filled air and did not even blink. He started to form seals, and a broken blade appeared in the air. He was going to use his storm god rank technique, Soul Sky!

When Taios saw that broken blade, his whole body froze. He felt a great sense of familiarity from the blade. However, due to the urgency of the situation, he quickly dismissed the thought!

Jack pushed forward, and the broken blade shot forward like an arrow, shooting right at the three of them. The three of them used their techniques at the same time, clashing with Broken Soul Blade in the air.

Lourain merely heard an incredibly loud sound as the techniques clashed against each other violently!

However, the three other energies were quickly ripped apart by Broken Soul Blade!

Just like before, the three of them were not able to stop the Broken Soul Blade at all, even after they had put everything they had into the attack. It did not even last a second! Their techniques were practically dispersed the moment they clashed.

The three of them widened their eyes with disbelief. They never thought that they would be sorely outmatched, even when the three of them were working together. It was as if the combined attack between the three of them was ripped through like a piece of paper!

That sight was deeply etched into their minds.

Right after that, Broken Soul Blade pierced through their body, and they felt their souls rot. At that moment, they finally understood why Cayden cried out in such anguish.

That pain was indescribable. It was worse than death. At that moment, Taios happened to realize why that technique looked so familiar. He had seen it before.

At that time, he had not signed up for the fog battlefield. He had just entered Cloud City with his fellow disciples not too long ago and was drinking tea in an inn. One of his younger disciples pulled him over to look at an image plate with a mysterious look on his face.

An image plate was a special little plate that could record images. His fellow disciple activated the image plate mysteriously as the man talked about a mysterious person that had appeared called Jack.

Jack was mysterious because he was clearly a warrior that stood at the peak, but no one had noticed him before. He was only noticed when he entered Violet City and caused a massacre.

Back then, Taios had asked out of curiosity, “If he’s a warrior at the peak, why is he hiding? Is he someone special?”

The other man shook his head, “I don’t know about that. He’s just mysterious. He loves to change his looks as well, putting on a different disguise everywhere. Unfortunately, the technique he uses has already been recorded. Many people remember it. Even if he changes his looks, he’d be recognized the moment he attacks.”

Taios nodded as he looked at the image plate. However, back then, he had not been fully paying attention. Even though he had seen how Jack had slaughtered everyone in the Capture Hall, he could only vaguely remember it.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3908

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3908-“Think about it. This is already an easy way in for us. Without this opportunity, it would be even harder to execute the plan. There will be even more holes that we need to plug, and we could lose a lot of men. It’s far better to spend some purple gold to save ourselves the trouble.”

Desmond sighed helplessly. He understood it even if Seymour had not said that.

It was an incredibly rare opportunity that was basically hitting the jackpot, but he felt like it was still too high of a price!

Seymour said, “These rules are already incredibly favorable for us. Not only did we get the chance to enter the Toman Battlefield again, but we also got to pick where we were transferred to. Those regular warriors are all still in the outer regions, and we’re already in the best position. The purple gold was worth it.”

In order to attract even more warriors to sign up, they had spread some rumors that the Toman Battlefield was not going to be opened for another two months.

Of course, that was just a lie. No matter how talented or skilled they were, they were nothing in front of the Whirling World. There was naturally no way they would be able to change the rules of the Whirling World. However, it was not like there were no benefits for them.

As long as everyone in the top hundred rankings in the Toman Battlefield was willing to open it up, all the warriors in the whole Whirling World would be able to participate, and those in the top hundred rankings will be freed of restrictions from the laws of space.

It was probably a way to reward them, or it might be just a whimsical thing.

After those hundred people agreed to open the battlefield, they would get a second chance to enter the Toman Battlefield. They would be able to spend purple gold to freely choose where they get transferred to as well. With those rules in place, it made their plans much easier.

Things that would have been incredibly difficult to achieve would then become a piece of cake. However, there was a payment that needed to be transferred to where you wanted to.

Everyone needed to pay three pieces of purple gold to be transferred to where they wanted to. If there were too many people, the price would be too high. Even warriors at the peak would balk at the price.

After the whole plan was set, they finally decided that only 66 of the ones who were allowed to enter the Toman Battlefield a second time would do so. The others had other arrangements.

Those 66 of them could choose where they wanted to be sent, but it would take 198 pieces of purple gold. As the leader of this operation, they would be able to get even more resources after the plan succeeded. They would naturally have to pay up even more, or it would be insufficient to convince the others.

In the end, it was decided that of the 66 people, other than Seymour, Desmond, and Triton, another warrior at that level, the others would only have to pay one piece of purple gold each.

Those that would benefit the most from the plan, in the end, would pay the remaining 132 pieces of purple gold.

Thankfully, the two of them were not the only leaders. The other warriors who stood at the peak were not joining, but they had contributed a lot to the plan as well. Even though they could afford 33 pieces of purple gold, it was still quite a painful sum to pay. After all, 33 pieces of purple gold were equivalent to 330 million spirit crystals.

They might be from large and rich clans, but that number of purple gold pieces was still a huge sum. In order to complete the plan smoothly, they were forced to pay a large amount of their fortunes.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3909

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3909-Desmond sighed, "We must make sure this plan goes off smoothly. If we make any mistakes, then everything will be much harder in the future. The two of us will be blamed."

Seymour nodded. He naturally knew the severity of the matter.

For the sake of this plan, the two of them had plotted for many days. They were unwilling to miss out on any details.

Seymour said solemnly, "I've made arrangements. The moment Jack is spotted, the plan to target him will commence."

Desmond nodded. Even though he had never seen Jack before and never had any conflicts with Jack, Jack had become a sore spot for the both of them.

At that moment, footsteps were heard.

The two of them looked over and saw one of Desmond's fellow disciples rushing over, "Desmond! Triton is here. He says he wants to talk to you two about something!"

Desmond raised an eyebrow, immediately understanding why Triton was there. Triton was also a warrior who stood at the peak, but he was weaker than the two of them. Even though he took part in the plan, he was not one of the leaders. He was just one of those who supported the two of them.

Before they entered, they had already assigned Triton a task. At that moment, he should be guarding the Toman Mountain with his men.

Desmond sneered, "It looks like his patience has run out. It's good that he's here. It'll spare us some trouble. Compared to us, he's actually Jack's enemy."

Desmond nodded and said to his fellow disciple, "Let him in. We'll have to talk to him about this eventually anyway."

Triton was an incredibly tall man, and he looked quite decent. However, there was a vicious look about him. He walked right inside with a cold expression.

Desmond and Seymour did not get up but instead waved for him to sit in the empty seat. Triton sat right down, and Desmond raised an eyebrow, thinking about what to say. He was interrupted by Triton before he could speak.

"No need for pleasantries! Let's go straight to the point. How are you planning on dealing with Jack?"

Desmond exchanged looks with Seymour. The two of them did not say anything. Triton was not surprised by their silence.

He scoffed and said, "I know what the two of you are thinking. You should already know about the two of us. You want me to be at the helm, right?"

Desmond shook his head and smiled before he said, "That's not true. You won't be the only one who will need to be mobilized against Jack. The two of us can't just stand by and watch. After all, he's a huge problem. I heard that your fellow disciple, Randall, is quite strong. He can be considered as one of those at the peak."

Even those at the peak had large differences between them. Randall was a warrior who stood at the peak, but he was nothing in front of Desmond. It would be very easy for him to deal with Randall.

Triton scoffed, "He's not really a fellow disciple. We came from different clans, but you know how close we warriors from the Star Continent are. The fact that Jack embarrassed the Star Continent means that I will definitely deal with him myself. However, the two of you will need to come too! Don't use me as cannon fodder just because of our grudge!"

Desmond raised an eyebrow as he pursed his lips and shook his head, disagreeing with Triton.

In truth, Triton was right. Desmond and Seymour really were planning on having Triton charge ahead. After all, Triton really did have a bone to pick with Jack.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3910

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3910-They had never faced Jack themselves before and could only try to determine Jack's true power through the image plates. Furthermore, the three of them all had tasks to perform on the Toman Battlefield.

They had no way of knowing when they would be able to locate Jack. After they did, someone would need to lead the charge.

Whether it's to obstruct him or to follow him, they would need a warrior that stood at the peak to do it. Before they figured out Jack's true skills, the person who leads the charge could very well end up heavily injured or even die if they were not careful.

Even though the risk of losing their lives was very low, it was still not something to be callous with.

The image plate showed how Jack had fought the beast. However, they had never been to the Capture Hall before, so they had no way of determining how strong the beast was. On top of that, it was just a recording on the image plate.

They were only able to look at images. Without being there for themselves, they had no way of personally sensing the power Jack was showing, so they had no way of determining how strong Jack was at all. They could not tell if they were able to confront Jack alone.

Triton had always been confident in himself, but it was not blind confidence.

Jack's skills meant that he would be an incredibly difficult opponent. If Triton led the charge, he could very well become cannon fodder. Desmond and Seymour were very cunning people and might end up stabbing Triton in the back if he was heavily injured.

After all, resources at the peak were limited. Without him, they would be able to get more.

Desmond sighed and said, "Don't think of us so badly. None of us think of you as cannon fodder. For safety's sake, it's better if the three of us act together to deal with him."

After he said that, he paused for a moment, composing himself before continuing solemnly, "Jack is someone that must absolutely be dealt with for us. Don't worry. The moment we find out where he is, we won't hold back."

"However, you have to know something as well. We have an incredibly important task. We can't leave this cave for no reason. You have much more mobility in that regard. I know you don't want to be the one charging forward force, but the moment we find Jack, you'll definitely be the one to get to him the quickest..."

"You won't have to attack him right away. Just make sure to notify us. We'll hurry over as soon as possible. Even if he wants to fight you, you must make sure to avoid him. That way, you'll be safe, and we can deal with Jack easily."

Hearing that, Triton raised an eyebrow.

His goal had been to tell the two of them that he would definitely not be the idiot to rush ahead!

It was very possible for both sides to end up heavily injured if that happened. Then, if Seymour and Desmond arrived after that, the two of them would just take advantage of the situation.

Triton nodded, "I have to make another thing clear as well. Don't blame me if this guy uses some special method and manages to avoid my pursuit."

Desmond frowned upon hearing that, but he still nodded calmly.

Triton slowly stood up, "You know I'm the one who is least likely to let Jack off. As long as there's a way, I absolutely won't let him escape. However, I can't do anything if he has some trump card up his sleeves. I won't just throw my life away either."

Desmond and Seymour nodded again after they exchanged looks.

At that moment, it was incredibly quiet in the cave. Other than the sounds of their faint breathing, all there was left was the awkward silence. The three of them could feel how unhappy each other was. Triton did not want to stay in that awkward atmosphere for too long.

He bid his farewell before he turned around to leave.

Looking at Triton's silhouette slowly disappearing, Desmond could not help but scoff, "That guy sure is sharp..."
