No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3931-Of course, he could not voice such suspicion. After all, he was a leader, and if he was not confident, he would never be able to lead his subordinates to accomplish their tasks.

Desmond turned to look at Pascal. "How long has it been?"

Pascal looked at the array in his hand. "It's been fourteen hours..."

Desmond frowned as he looked at the top of the Vermillion Tune Formation. There were large red letters that showed '117' on the formation.

The number indicated the progress of the warriors that were carrying out the tasks. At that point, they had captured 117 people alive.

If they wanted Heartblood, they would need to make sure that the captives were alive. Then, they needed to use the cruelest methods to obtain as much Heartblood as they could.

Desmond took a deep breath and said in displeasure, "They only got a hundred and seventeen people in fourteen hours? What are they doing? How did the first day yield so little?! It's not like it's a hard assignment!"

Desmond got angrier as he spoke. His mouth dried up a little as he stared at the Vermillion Tune Formation with widened eyes.

He looked like he was about to glare a hole into the Vermillion Tune Formation.

Looking at how angry Desmond was, Pascal said in a hurry, "Actually, the results for the first day aren't too bad. After all, the participants were sent everywhere, dispersed during the first day. The Toman Battlefield is still very large right now. Even if they want to get more warriors, it's just too far and dispersed. That's why they're struggling."

Desmond knew that Pascal made sense, but Desmond was just plain unhappy. He felt like they should at least be at double that number in 14 hours.

117 people were just too few. they had a long way to go until they could reach their goal.

He was incredibly anxious at that moment.

Looking at how things had gone to the wayside, he felt incredibly impatient, but there was nothing he could do about it. The more anxious he was, the more helpless he felt.

Various thoughts surfaced in his head, and he suddenly thought about something.

Desmond turned to look at Draymond, who was behind Seymour. "Has there been any news on Jack?"

Draymond shook his head. He had two tasks, and one of them was to follow Jack. Even though there was no indication that Jack had signed up for the Toman Battlefield, it was pretty much a guarantee that Jack had entered and was somewhere on the Toman Battlefield.

Jack was both familiar to them and completely unknown as well.

He was like a timed bomb that could cause their plan to explode at any moment. If he noticed something, no one knew what he would do. They did not know if he would disrupt their plans!

Draymond's answer was to be expected. After all, it had just been 14 hours.

***

At that moment, the Jack they were all thinking of was facing a group within some hills. The ones they were facing were Maxcus' group.

The three of them looked incredibly pale, and even their legs trembled.

Maxcus did not even dare to look at Jack. He was filled with fear and shock.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3932

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3932-They had only been hiding behind the hills as observers, not daring to step in at all, but the three of them did not expect that Jack would rush to them after be dealt with Tanner's group.

They had only been hiding behind the hills as observers, not daring to step in at all, but the three of them did not expect that Jack would rush to them after he dealt with Tanner's group.

The three of them were stunned. After all, none of them expected that they would still be noticed despite the distance.

The three of them only realized their error when Jack rushed over to them with his sword in hand.

Right after that, Lourain arrived as well. His eyes widened in shock when he saw there were people hiding there. They truly underestimated Jack's perception!

Jack was a soul attribute warrior. After training in that attribute for so long and absorbing so many treasures, his soul was as strong as one that had gone through a few hundred years of training. It was several times stronger than the soul of a regular person.

The stronger the soul was, the better one's perception would be!

Even warriors at the peak did not have a perception at Jack's level. The moment those three even saw Jack, Jack had felt them. He was merely preoccupied with Tanner at the time, which was why he did not do anything.

The moment he rushed over, Maxcus and the others were caught off guard. Maxcus gritted his teeth tightly, but not out of anger. Instead, he was just too anxious and hopeless.

Jack was too strong. He was no match for Jack at all. Even the three of them together would be no match for him, let alone himself! Yet, with how the situation was, Jack might not even let him off if he begged.

He did not want to die here and did not want any conflict with Jack either.

He summoned up all his courage and pushed back the fear in his heart. "Sir Jack, we're not here to cause you trouble. We just wanted to help you. Of course, it sounds a bit stupid now, but that's all I'm thinking!"

Jack raised an eyebrow as a strange glint flashed in his eyes.

He looked at that guy closely, wondering if the man was an idiot or deliberately showing all his cards by calling his name right away.

Maxcus saw the look in Jack's eyes and immediately knew what he was thinking.

He thus mustered his courage and said, "I swear that I won't tell anyone about you. I know what you're worried about, but you can rest assured! I and my fellow disciples will make sure we keep your secret! Even if we die, we won't spread any news about you at all!"

Jack narrowed his eyes as he evaluated Maxcus.

Maxcus seemed sincere at that moment, not daring to try anything at all. That was because he just felt like Jack was too terrifying.

Jack was so terrifying that his whole body was shuddering. Not only was Jack stronger than everyone, but his perception was also horrifying.

The three of them had thought that no one would notice them if they hid behind the hill. After all, there had been at least a kilometer from them. The three of them even slowed down as they got closer.

They felt like even the warriors at the peak would not have noticed their hiding spot unless they were specifically looking, which was why they were astounded they were discovered.

Maxcus had been completely cowed by Jack and did not dare to think of tricking him at all.

Jack raised an eyebrow. "You said you came to help me, didn't you? Tell me, then, how do you plan on helping me?"

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3933

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3933-Maxcus had a wry smile on his face as he told Jack and Lourain what happened to them.

After hearing Maxcus' explanation, Jack's expression started to ease. From what Maxcus was saying, it was likely that Maxcus was not lying. If it really was as he said, Jack could let him off.

Just as Jack was thinking about it, two green demons and two crimson demons with straight postures started to quickly head toward them.

The four demons were incredibly quick and much more agile than regular demons.

Brock held the mask on his face as he turned to look at the other green demon.

“Hey, Lenny! You know how we are! Don’t even think about pulling any tricks. Since you said you wanted to work together, make sure everything is fair and above board. Otherwise, don’t even bother with ‘working together’. I’ll get you if I ever find out you pulled something!”

Lenny had a green demon mask on as well. Underneath the mask, his expression was a bit twisted as he tried to hold back the disgust in his heart. If it was not for the situation, he would not have wanted to work with these two.

Brock was someone who was famous for his bad temper. Furthermore, he was from Star Continent. He loved to throw his weight around, constantly talking about his home continent as if he was better than everyone else just because of where he was wrong.

If not because of that, Lenny would have fought Brock. The two of them did not like each other at all, but they were forced to work together. Even if Lenny hated Brock to the core, it was not the time to bring that out.

“When have I ever pulled any tricks? We’re working together right now. If it’s just me and Lazlo, we wouldn’t be able to beat all of them. Without the various restrictions, we would’ve been able to deal with those people.”

“However, we aren’t allowed to kill them this time. Our goal is to capture and bring them back alive. Since there are so many of them, we’re just worried that we might let one slip. If the news gets out, it’ll be a disaster! We’re just working with you for safety’s sake.”

If he was not afraid of botching the job, he would not have wanted to work with those two at all!

Brock raised an eyebrow and said with a laugh, “Is this task that hard that it needs the four of us working together?”

Lenny's lips twitched in exasperation.

Was that not just obvious?

If it was not hard, why would they have asked for help for no reason?

They would end up having to split the rewards evenly, too! He would be an idiot if he was just working together so they could split the rewards!

Lazlo could no longer stand it. As Lenny's elder disciple, he knew of Lenny's temper and that Lenny did not like Brock as well. If the two of them continued to argue, Lenny would probably end up fighting Brock on the spot. Then, their relationship would just completely sour, and working together would be out of the question.

Lazlo said, "It will be quite hard. There are nine participants."

Lazlo briefed Kent and Brock, telling them what they had seen.

There were three people hiding in the dark.

Meanwhile, two others were fighting against four. When they saw the situation, Lazlo immediately decided to leave the area to look for help before they dealt with that group.

Only that way would they be able to deal with everyone without the news getting out. They advanced very quickly because Lazlo was worried that those people would leave.

After a few moments, the four of them finally reached their goal.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3934

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3934-At that moment, Jack had been thinking about what to do with Maxcus when he suddenly felt a strange movement.

He could sense the arrival of four men on the hill next to them.

The geography was quite complex where they were, and there were many hills and valleys that obstructed one's sight-which the newcomers took advantage of to hide.

The ones who had arrived were Brock and the others, who were disguised as demons. Lazlo was after Jack's bunch.

At the time, they had been quite far away from Jack and the others, having been almost twice as far away as Maxcus.

They just happened to be waiting there for someone else and witnessed Tanner's group rushing in front of Jack.

Right after that, they saw Maxcus' group arriving quietly before hiding behind the hill.

Seeing a total of nine warriors gathered in one area, both Lazlo and Lenny were ecstatic. After all, they only managed to capture six men even after being there for so many hours, which was embarrassing. Other than those who were working together, they did not know how everyone else was doing.

Only the Vermillion Tune Formation would display the results. Even without seeing the results of anyone else, they felt embarrassed just looking at their own.

The three of them captured only three men each, far from their most basic goal. Even though it was just the first day, their initial haul was quite an impact on them. Thus, when they saw nine warriors at the same time, they got so excited that they almost danced.

However, Lazlo quickly calmed down. Even though they encountered nine participants at the same time, it did not mean all nine of those participants were theirs to take. After all, there were only two of them, and there were nine on the other side.

Even though none of those nine were a match for them individually, it was hard to say anything if they banded together. Even if the two of them managed to beat all nine of the participants, it did not mean that they would be able to stop all of them from escaping.

The moment someone escaped, it would cause a chain reaction.

The fact that they were disguising themselves as demons would immediately start to spread. Then, the whole plan would be affected. They would have to shoulder the blame and would be punished seriously once caught.

To prevent that from happening, Lazlo immediately decided to go and look for help. Even though they would have to split up the rewards in the end, it was better than having the whole plan affected and becoming criminals. That was why they were shocked to notice that there were only five out of the nine left when they got back.

Lazlo's lips twitched. "I thought we were fast, but four of them still left in the end.."

If this was the case, the four of them would only be able to get one each. They did not know how they would split the odd one out, but it was better than nothing.

On the other side, Maxcus was still trying to assure Jack of his integrity.

At that moment, Jack suddenly interrupted him, "Wait. If it's about working together, I don't mind."

The moment that was said, Maxcus and the others were stunned. Even Lourain was confused.

Why did the topic suddenly shift to working together?

How was Jack even willing? Could they have missed something important?

Jack showed no emotion when he saw how confused everyone else looked.

He maintained his calm as he said, "I saw you three just now. Something similar just happened."

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3935-When that was said, the other four were even more stunned.

They could understand each word, but as a sentence, they could not understand what was being said at all.

Jack looked at their confused expressions and added exasperatedly, "If you've forgotten, just try and remember what happened just now."

The other four slowly started to understand after being given the hint. Jack's perception was very strong. He noticed very quickly that Maxcus' group was hiding.

Jack said that something similar happened, which told them that there was another group hiding somewhere.

The few of them exchanged looks with each other, and they felt their hearts starting to beat faster.

Jack frowned, not even turning his head around. He could feel that the group that was hiding was behind them and to the left.

To not startle his opponents, he did not want to look their way. He told Maxcus and the others because he did not want his identity to be revealed again. It was one thing for Maxcus' group to have guessed who he was. If he thought about it, he could still continue the matter.

However, if he allowed Maxcus to continue speaking, his identity would be heard by those that were hiding, which would only complicate things.

Maxcus understood what Jack meant at that moment and quickly stopped the earlier topic. However, they found themselves at a loss for a topic at the same time. There was silence, but it would seem too intentional if that was the case. He wondered if the ones in hiding would get suspicious.

Just as Maxcus was feeling conflicted, Jack spoke up again. "Did you not hear what I said? I said I agree. We can work together for now, though I want to ask something before anything happens. Did you have any other plans before you entered the Toman Battlefield? Did you set yourself a goal?"

Maxcus felt much more relaxed with Jack's guidance.

He immediately continued the line of conversation, "We didn't really have a solid goal. After all, we're not that strong. All we can do is pace ourselves, carefully. We're doing our best to make ourselves some spirit crystals while trying to stay safe."

Jack nodded before he tried to find more topics of conversation.

He was just trying to stall for time. Even though he did not know who was hiding from them, Jack decided to drag things on to see if there were any movements on their side. If they were just hiding for no reason, he would leave them alone. If they made any moves, however, Jack would immediately react.

At that moment, Brock and the others had gathered and observed Jack's group. Since Jack had reacted in time, they did not hear anything about Jack's identity at all.

Lazlo felt like it was about time.

He was just about to get the others to attack with him when he heard Brock say, "Looking at how they're acting, they'll probably be talking for quite a while. Since we're here, we'll be able to react the moment that prey does anything. Let's just talk about what we'll do with the extra person right now."

Lazlo's lips twitched. He wanted to slap Brock at that moment. He wanted Brock to realize that even if they wanted to talk about how to split the prey up, they still needed to capture them first.

From what Brock said, Lazlo knew what the other party was thinking.

Brock had always been a selfish person, always making sure he got the most benefits from any situation. He was trying to take the additional man for himself. If the others did not agree, he would overturn the earlier agreement. Brock was absolutely capable of doing something so immoral.

Lenny was no idiot. He had seen through Brock's little trick as well and was already angry at Brock in the first place. The moment he heard that, he could no longer hold back.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3936

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3936-Lenny scoffed and said, "What? You're planning on taking that man for yourself?"

Brock did not hesitate to nod.

Lenny could not stop himself from sneering, "I can't believe you actually said that. No matter how you look at it, either Lazlo or I should be the one to take him. We found those people, and we were the ones who suggested working together!"

“The two of you just happen to be with us. Other than that, you haven’t contributed anything. I really don’t know where you got the guts to say that you want that man for yourself!”

The more Lenny spoke, the angrier he got. He felt Brock was being absurd and shameless.

Anyone with a shred of integrity would not have jumped up at that moment to say that the additional person should be theirs.

After all, no matter how you look at it, the two of them should not get the additional person at all. Lenny and Lazlo were the ones who started everything. Even though Lenny’s words were a bit harsh, they were incredibly logical. However, Brock did not care about that at all.

He scoffed as he narrowed his eyes and said, “So what if you noticed them first? You only came to us for help because you couldn’t handle it yourselves. If you could, why would you need us? So, the two of us are absolutely crucial. Without us, you would not have even dared to attack! Hence, I should get the additional person!”

Lenny was incredibly frustrated when he heard that.

What kind of logic was that?

Sure enough, Brock was absolutely shameless as he could make out all sorts of excuses.

Lenny’s face reddened from the anger. He wanted nothing more than to rush over and slap Brock in the face, but he held back in the end.

That was because he knew very well that Brock would not change his mind even if he beat Brock up. It was just that Lenny could not stand it. Brock was really crossing the line to make up such an absurd excuse.

Kent merely stood by the side, pretending he did not hear anything as he allowed Brock to do whatever he wanted.

Brock scoffed and continued, "What? Am I wrong? You two need me, but I don't need both of you! Of course, we should be benefiting more from this. If we knew that you were so insincere with asking us for help, we would never have worked with you. We're just asking for one person, but you're already looking at us like this! It's as if we did some unforgivable crime!"

Lenny was stunned, not knowing what to say. He had seen stubborn folk before, but never anyone that stubborn. Lenny was incredibly frustrated.

He said with a look of exasperation, "Brock, just listen to what you're saying! You're trying to find an excuse for robbing us? You speak as if we've wronged you so badly! Fine then, let's forget about working together! You can get lost right now! The two of us can't deal with nine people, but we can definitely deal with five!"

There were only five warriors left there. The two of them would not have that hard of a time dealing with the situation.

Brock and Kent were no longer necessary. Lenny had kept it quiet the whole time, but he could no longer hold back when Brock crossed the line.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3937

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3937-When Brock heard that, there was anger in his eyes, "You're finally showing your true colors now? You even swore that you wouldn't pull any tricks just now! Look at what's happening now. When you needed us, you begged us for help. When you don't, you cancel the agreement just because you're afraid we'll take the spoils! Don't you think you're being such a joke right now?"

"Who do you think you are to make us leave just because you said so? The prey over there doesn't belong to you. Kent and I have seen them, so we naturally want them too. As for who the prey will end up belonging to, we'll see who ends up getting it!"

The moment that was said, the atmosphere suddenly turned incredibly tense.

Brock and Lenny, in particular, refused to back off. Lazlo sighed helplessly, worried that something would happen if they dragged things on too much.

Lenny and that idiot were both incredibly hot-tempered and let their emotions drive them too much.

Nothing good would come from continuing to fight, and it would only affect the current operation. Kent pretended to be mute at that moment, so Lazlo had to step up or nothing would get done.

Lazlo frowned and said, "Both of you, stop fighting. There's no point in trying to argue about who's right or wrong. We need to deal with those five first! Let's capture them before we talk about how we'll split them up!"

Lenny looked over at Lazlo and said nothing.

Brock was not happy about it because he was worried he would lose out. He wanted to say a few more words when Kent finally decided to stop remaining silent.

He reached out and grabbed Brock's arm, "Don't let your arguments affect the matter at hand."

Brock's lips twitched. He wanted to say something, but he swallowed the words back in the end. The four of them looked at each other. Even though the atmosphere was still tense, they controlled their emotions for the sake of the operation.

Brock and Lenny stood in front while Lazlo and Kent were at the back. The four of them crossed the hill quickly, rushing to Jack and the others. The two that were in front had thought that their prey would panic the moment they arrived.

At the very least, they would scramble to take out their weapons. Yet, they were shocked to see that their prey was incredibly calm when they appeared. It was as if their prey already knew they were there. The four of them were suddenly on alert.

They had planned on attacking the moment they rushed over, but they stopped themselves when they saw the strange reactions.

They stood around fifteen meters away and did not immediately attack. With Jack's earlier warning, his group was not surprised at what happened at all.

However, they were quickly confused again. They noticed that the four demons that were rushing over did not just have weapons, but were quite agile as well. They were a few times faster than normal green or crimson demons.

Furthermore, they looked more like masked humans. The few of them looked on, and Jack immediately ruled that those four were not demons, but humans disguised as demons. It was an ambush!

Jack frowned before he said to Maxcus in a low voice, "Think about it for a moment. Do any of you have any enemies that are above-average warriors?"

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3938

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3938-Maxcus shook his head vigorously, "I swear to you that we definitely don't have any enemies at that level. We're not crazy enough to fight against our betters!"

Maxcus could tell what Jack meant by that question.

Jack was guessing that those four disguised humans were enemies of Maxcus' group.

Jack raised an eyebrow as he looked at the four that were in disguise with a sharp expression, trying to guess who they were.

They were on the Toman Battlefield. Normally, there was no need to kill each other unless there were any grudges. That was because killing each other did not yield any rewards unlike in Chaos City.

If anyone met each other, they would usually just observe each other from a distance. Those with ill intentions would mostly be like Tanner, threatening to kill others unless money was given.

The four in front of them were clearly not there to rob them. They were in disguise, so they must have already planned it.

From a distance, it was impossible to tell that those were disguises. Most importantly, all four of them were quite strong.

Normally, warriors at that level would not bother attacking regular warriors unless there was a reason to. However, Jack immediately discarded the notion of revenge. Maxcus' group was all around Lourain's level in strength.

Warriors at that level would normally never make an enemy out of the strong. Other than himself, the few behind him were all very average in strength. Just two from the opposite side would be able to deal with them easily.

The most crucial fact was that those four were still in disguise.

The situation was just incredibly strange. Jack smelled the scent of a plot.

Brock could not help but say, "Did you already notice us before?"

Brock started to regret it the moment he said that because his words made things a bit obvious. However, since he had already said it, there was no way to take it back.

He held his head high, "Or are all of you just idiots who don't even react in the face of death?"

Lenny merely rolled his eyes when he heard all of that. He wondered what was wrong with Brock's head to say all of that.

Jack raised an eyebrow as he looked at Brock who was in a green demon mask in amusement, "Do you have any grudges against us?"

Brock's lips twitched. His anger immediately soared.

That guy did not just ignore his question but was questioning him back.

He looked at Jack and saw that Jack was dressed quite plainly, lacking any of the special symbols of a warrior from a second-grade world. It was obvious to him that Jack was no one worth noticing.

He would normally not bother giving someone like that the time of day, but that group was just too strange.

It made him curious, so he said, "I'm asking you if you already noticed us before this. Who said you could question me?!"

Brock was speaking in an incredibly abrasive tone as if Jack owed him a lot of money.

Maxcus and the others shrunk back a bit after being shouted at like that. After all, Brock was stronger than they were. Even with the disguise, it was still obvious.

Maxcus and the others stood behind Jack somewhat fearfully.

Jack laughed and said, "Why do I need to answer your question if you don't answer mine?"

As he said that, Jack showed no emotion other than a slight smile on his lips. He seemed incredibly relaxed.

It was as if the ones in front of him were not strong warriors, but just regular commoners.

Jack's reaction caused the four of them to feel strange.

Brock was incredibly hot-tempered. That smile on Jack's face felt incredibly glaring to him. On top of that, Jack's words made him feel like Jack was mocking him!

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3939

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3939-He suddenly raised his voice as he shouted, "Brat! You're just looking to die!"

Jack raised an eyebrow, "This is just basic manners. I don't know who you are, so why do you have to answer me the moment I meet you? If you want an answer, you should answer my question first."

Brock was so angry his veins were starting to pop out.

He clenched his teeth as he said, "Kent! This guy is just looking for trouble! I don't care anymore-I want to beat him up and show him how strong we are before anything else!"

The moment he wanted to attack, he was stopped by Kent.

Kent frowned, "Don't be in such a hurry. This guy seems like a problem. We shouldn't act rashly just to be safe."

After all, the task they had needed to be kept a secret. If they noticed anything strange, they needed to find a solution on the spot, and not act on their emotions.

The prey in front of them did not seem that special other than the one who was standing in front.

Kent took a deep breath as he looked at Jack's disguised face, "It looks like we were right. Have you already noticed us early on? It looks like your perception is quite strong. However, why didn't you leave since you already sensed us?"

Jack said calmly, "I thought you were just a few insignificant bugs. I didn't expect warriors of your caliber..."

After he said that, Jack paused for a moment before continuing, "I'm quite a stubborn person. Even facing death, I still want answers to my questions. Can you answer me first? Who are you? You're all clearly above-average warriors, so why are you ambushing us?"

Normally, as long as they unleash their auras, it would be easy to estimate how strong they were as long as one felt the auras.

The four in front of them did not suppress their auras, so Jack could clearly sense that they were strong.

They were at a level where they would be considered strong even among the above-average warriors. There was no way they would be robbing a few regular warriors.

After Brock heard that, he scoffed and said with disdain, "Ambush you? Do you think you're worthy? I..."

"Wait! This guy is tricking you! Shut up!" Lazlo shouted angrily.

Brock was a loudmouth. The moment he was provoked a little, he could no longer control his mouth.

Brock widened his eyes when he was shouted at. If Kent was the one berating him, he would not have said anything.

However, Lazlo was not his fellow disciple, who gave him the right to do that?

Brock could not hold his temper back. He turned around and said to Lazlo, "So what if it's a trick? Even if this guy knows the truth, what can he do?"

Brock felt like Lazlo's words were very amusing. It was as if there would be some terrifying consequences if he spoke the truth.

Brock scoffed as he pointed at Jack's group, "Open your eyes and see. Those peons aren't even worthy of wiping our shoes. Do you think they will be able to kill us if they work together? Do you think they'll spread the news and ruin our plans after that?"

Lazlo's lips twitched as he turned to look at Brock angrily.

The tension between them soared again. Lazlo had not wanted to bother with Brock, but Brock did not seem to know his place.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3940

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3940-Lazlo frowned, "Open your eyes and just look at them. The ones at the back are definitely regular warriors, but I'm not sure about the one in front-we don't know how strong he is!"

Unless he was holding back or far stronger than they were, there was no way they would not be able to tell how strong that person was.

There were two ways to see how strong a person was. The first was if the other party was not holding back his aura. In that situation, even if someone was weaker, they would be able to feel from the aura alone.

The second was if one was stronger than the other person, or at the same level. They would be able to get an approximate feel of how strong the other person was.

If the two conditions were not met, then it was impossible to tell how strong the other side was.

The person in front of him was looking at the four of them with a completely calm attitude. After trying to check on that person for a long time, he felt like that person's skills were very ordinary, so ordinary that they could not even be an errand boy in his clan.

Normally, he would be able to completely see through someone like that, even looking right into that person's core. Yet, he tried earlier, and he was shocked to notice that he was not able to do that at all.

All he could do was get an estimate. That person seemed to have a shroud over him that obscured any details. Lazlo had only been able to get an estimate.

Due to that fact, Lazlo was incredibly shocked. He felt like the person in front of him was no ordinary person. It was as if whatever he could see was just what that person wanted him to. He could not make out that person's real skills.

Lazlo took a deep breath and turned to look at Brock angrily, "Let me say this again! This person is not that simple. Watch your mouth. If the plan ends up getting thrown into chaos because of you, even death wouldn't be able to make up for your mistake!"

Lazlo could no longer control his temper. Brock really was annoying. It should have been something very obvious, but Brock just completely distorted reality in his mind.

Brock was so angry his face was reddening at that moment. He felt like Lazlo was deliberately targeting him and causing him trouble so he would suffer.

When had Brock ever let that happen to himself?

Brock scoffed, "Lazlo, who do you think you are?! Don't act like you're so smart. You don't have to tell me all of that. You were just trying to insult me! Don't think I don't know what you're doing. Do you think those brats can ruin the plan? How did you manage to craft such an absurd story?!"

Lenny was so angry he no longer knew what to say, his right hand shook as he reached out and pointed at Brock, "Do you think we want to talk to you? We asked you to shut up, so just shut up! You really..."

Brock scoffed, "Who do you think you are?! Why do I need to listen to you?! The more you want me to keep quiet, the more I want to talk about it! I want to see what'll happen if this guy knows the secret."

Jack raised an eyebrow as a faint smirk appeared on his face. He looked at those people quarreling with each other. He had thought that he would need to expend some effort, but he ended up not needing to do anything.

Lazlo was just absolutely furious, "Brat, you wanted to know who we are, right?! You want to know why we're here? I'll tell you, then! We're here to catch prey like you. There are many people like us around here, and they were assigned to various places to catch prey!"
