

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3941

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3941-When he said that, Brock had a pleased smile on his face as he looked at Jack expectantly. He had thought that those ants would start trembling in fear right after he said that. That was his favorite expression.

He loved the look on the faces of those beneath him. He loved how they would be filled with fear when they realized that their fates were in his hands.

Those expressions gave him a sense of fulfillment.

Unfortunately, after waiting for a long time, Jack did not show any emotion other than raising his eyebrows and a look of realization.

Brock was stunned.

Was that guy just really brave or was there something wrong with his head?

Brock had already made things so clear, but that guy still looked calm as if it had nothing to do with him at all. Instead, the ones behind that guy had a look of complete fear on their faces after hearing what he said.

Lazlo was absolutely furious, "It looks like you really are crazy! Let me tell you, if anything happens, the responsibility is all on you. You will bear it all yourself!"

Lazlo's mouth dried as he said that. He was so angry his face was red, and he practically shouted everything out.

Even though he had said all of that, he still knew that the rest of them would be punished even though Brock would take up most of the responsibility. It was something that could not be avoided. Thinking about that caused Lazlo to get even angrier, but there was nothing he could do.

Brock's lips twitched in exasperation when he heard that, "Can you have a bit more guts?! Do you think that these people will be able to escape our grasp? So what if they heard everything? We just need to capture them! Do you need to act so pathetically?"

After he said that, he looked at Lazlo in disdain.

He absolutely looked down on how Lazlo was acting, feeling like the other party was an absolute coward, and was acting nothing like a man.

Jack ignored their argument as he calmly continued to ask, "So you're currently executing a plan to open the Radiant Hall?"

What Brock said just now had already solved the mystery for Jack. That cloud that obscured Jack's sights had been lifted.

Brock raised an eyebrow as he nodded.

Jack had a cold smirk on his face. Sure enough, they were ruthless. The ones behind Jack had already more or less guessed what was happening after what Brock said. On top of that, Jack mentioning the Radiant Hall made it easy for them.

Lourain glared at Brock and the others with clenched teeth, "How many people do you need to capture? Why do you need to be so ruthless?! Everything that has happened, including opening the Toman Battlefield, was all just a plot. That fake news you let out was also to unleash this slaughter! You wanted to collect a lot of Heartblood in one go with this! Aren't you afraid the others will take revenge if you do this?"

Lourain practically forced all those words out through clenched teeth.

At that moment, his anger had taken over his mind. Even though they had already guessed that something was up, it was still different when it actually happened. That feeling of being looked down on caused Lourain's anger to soar.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3942

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3942-Lourain raised his voice and accused loudly, "Those who you captured have never done anything to you. You clearly know what's going to happen to them. All of them were just trying their best to make their future a bit brighter. They live at the bottom, and every day is a struggle. They can't compare to all of you."

"You already took all the best resources and have all the best things in the world. Isn't that enough?! Even with that, you still don't think it's enough. For the sake of your own benefit, you view the lives of others like nothing! You torture them to death! Do you still have a heart?!"

As Lourain spoke, Maxcus and the others were moved as well.

Just like Lourain, they were not that strong. They were only slightly stronger than the average warrior, and could not compare with those that were above average at all. Their lives were not the worst but were not great either.

After entering the Whirling World, they had to be incredibly careful with each step they took. As long as they were careful, it would not be difficult to survive the Whirling World.

If Jack was not in front of them, everything they had would come to an end. They would die a horrible death and would be tortured until they reached that point.

Just thinking about it caused them to tremble.

All four of them were incredibly angered. Yet, the four assailants in front of them seemed incredibly calm. It was evident even through the mask. It meant that they did not really feel anything about those accusations.

Jack sighed as he turned to look at the four behind him.

He still had a calm tone, "Don't you think those questions are a joke? In their eyes, all of you are just tools for them to climb even higher. How could they see things from your perspective? No matter how loudly you question them, they won't feel anything at all."

What Jack said was true. All four of them suddenly shut up. They had a lot more to say, but it was all forgotten.

Just like Jack said, their accusations were quite amusing. Their opponents did not see them as humans at all, there was naturally no way their opponents would feel any sympathy for them.

Thinking about that, they discarded all the other emotions in their minds, leaving behind anger and hatred. They hated that they were looked on as fodder. They wanted revenge, and they wanted their opponents to feel that pain.

Jack turned around and smiled as he looked at Brock, "Since you told me those secrets, I'll tell you a secret too."

As he said that, there was a mysterious look on his face that successfully made Brock and the others curious.

Brock asked, "Tell me how you noticed us first, then you can tell us the secret!"

Jack nodded, "Before I answer, let the four behind me retreat a bit. If this secret is revealed, they might end up getting involved. Don't worry, I won't have them leave. They're just going to go fifteen meters back. It's not far enough for them to escape."

After Jack said that, Brock's group was even more curious.

What did that guy want?

He acted so mysteriously and revealed nothing. What he did was incredibly confusing as well. However, that guy's request was not a problem. If it was just fifteen meters, those four would not be able to escape.

However, Lazlo did not agree. That guy did not give him a good feeling in the first place. He had a feeling that the guy would cause a lot of trouble. The fact that the guy asked to let those four pull away immediately caused him to be on alert.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3943

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3943-He coldly rejected the request, "No! If you want to say something, then say it now. If you refuse, then I have ten thousand ways to force you to speak!"

Yet, the moment he said that, Brock looked at him in exasperation, "Why are you so boring? Do you think they'll be able to run if they're just fifteen meters away? Are you not confident in your skills at all? If you aren't, then it's fine. I'm very confident in my skills. These guys won't be able to run away at all!"

Lazlo clenched his teeth, feeling like Brock was going to give him a heart attack from all the anger. No matter what he said, Brock kept on interfering. He was clearly trying to be safe.

Jack did not even bother looking at Lazlo as he shot the four behind him a look.

Lourain and the others immediately went fifteen meters away.

After all of that, Jack turned around and smiled, "Alright! Now's the time to reveal the secret. This secret is very important to all of you. I'm guessing you've all been looking for..."

Brock frowned, "Stop trying to put on a show, just tell us your secret! If you weren't acting so strangely, I wouldn't be wasting my time on you!"

Jack nodded, "I don't need to say anything. You'll understand everything when you see this!"

Brock frowned. He was just about to curse when he saw that Jack was starting to form seal after seal.

The four of them were stunned.

What was that guy doing?

Was he going to attack?

Was he going to fight one against four?

The thought surfaced in their minds, but it was immediately discarded. After all, it was just too absurd.

Who did he think he was?

A warrior at the peak?

Just as they were wondering what Jack was doing, a black ring the size of a palm appeared in front of everyone. The black ring had dark red runes around it. It looked strange and mysterious.

The ring constantly spun, looking like it could destroy everything.

After seeing that, the four of them froze. That was because they were incredibly familiar with that ring. It was already deeply engraved into their minds.

They had seen the images again and again. Brock's face immediately paled, and he looked like he saw a ghost.

His lips trembled, “Y-you’re Jack! You’re that Jack!”

When he said that, he had a tone of complete disbelief.

Jack looked up and nodded earnestly, admitting to it which made Brock’s heart stop.

No wonder that person was not shocked at all when he saw them. No wonder he remained calm even after all Brock’s threats and after Brock revealed the truth.

It turned out that guy was Jack, the immensely strong warrior that had given Star

Continent a vicious slap on the face!

Jack, who was a legend in Violet City!

Suddenly, he felt like everything around him had stopped.

Lenny’s whole body was trembling, “This is the secret you wanted to show us?”

Jack nodded as he looked at Lenny with a nonchalant expression. Lenny felt like his teeth were hurting. It really was a very big secret.

When the tasks were being assigned, Desmond had even specifically told them to report the moment they noticed Jack and to not engage Jack or get too close at all. That was because Jack was too strong. Even above-average warriors were just like ants in front of Jack. They could be killed so effortlessly.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3944

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3944-They had thought that, even if Jack was around, they would only be able to find any news in the last two days. That was because Toman Battlefield would have shrunk several times by then.

On top of that, Jack would definitely be killing the demon kings, leaving some clues behind. With that, they would be able to locate Jack.

They did not expect to be so unlucky. It had only been fourteen hours into the first day, and they already met Jack. They were so close as well!

Their death was practically guaranteed!

The Soul Burst Ring was less than ten meters away from them.

They were so close because Brock was sure that Jack would not be anyone who would be able to cause them any trouble. He finally realized that he was the one not worth Jack's time.

The four of them did not move at all. They were very sure that Jack would immediately attack the moment someone took a step back.

If it was a normal warrior at the peak, they might have had a chance to survive if they worked together. However, Jack was not any warrior at his peak. Even Triton could not tell if he was stronger than Jack.

They were sure that Jack was definitely amongst the top rankings of all the warriors in the Whirling World. Someone like Jack would not have a difficult time even if another two warriors joined them. The moment Jack attacked, nothing good would be waiting for them.

The four of them looked like they had lost their whole families in one night.

Suddenly, there was a strange silence around the place. Lourain and the others merely watch on, not saying anything. Brock's group was incredibly quiet as well. It was so quiet that even their breathing was very slow, afraid that Jack would be unhappy.

The strange silence did not last for too long.

Brock was the first to lose his patience, he gulped as he stammered out, "Can you let me go? I promise you! If you let me go, I won't utter a single word about you! I'm also willing to give you my life savings. You can make me do anything. Anything is fine."

Dignity was no longer important in the face of losing one's life.

Brock did not care as long as he could survive. Everything else was nowhere near as important.

Lenny looked at Brock in disgust. He looked down on Brock immensely.

Brock was just so incredibly selfish.

Jack had not even uttered a single threat, and Brock was already betraying them. He was really despicable.

Jack smiled, "I don't need you to do anything. As long as you tell me all of your plans, I can let you go."

The moment Jack said that, Brock immediately opened his mouth.

At that moment, Lazlo suddenly slapped Brock right on the face, stunning everyone there. Even Jack raised an eyebrow at the sight. Brock was shocked as he clutched the left side of his face.

Did Lazlo actually hit him?

He actually slapped him in the face?

Since he was young, he had gone through countless battles and sustained countless injuries, but he had never been slapped before!

"How dare you slap me?!" Brock's eyes widened so much they were about to pop out of their sockets.

Lazlo narrowed his eyes, "You deserve it! You're so disgusting. It's not like I need to hold back anymore. So what if I hit you? It's not like I'll ever get the chance to in the future after this!"

After he said that, he turned to look at Jack.

His eyes were filled with uncontrollable fear. He could not control his own emotions when faced with someone this strong. However, he had to face it whether he wanted to or not.

Lazlo clenched his teeth, "You won't let us go! If I were you, I wouldn't let us go either. You don't want to let us go, but you want to know what's our plan. I already know what you're going to do. Since that's the case, you don't need to do anything. I'll just make it clean for myself!"

The moment he said that, he slammed his fist into his head before Jack could do anything.

A violent energy surged into his body, and he suddenly spat out a mouthful of blood as life left his eyes.

Everyone there was stunned except for Jack.

Lenny in particular had reddened eyes.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3945

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3945-Lazlo was his fellow disciple. The two of them were companions that had been to many places together. They had even accepted this task together. Yet, he had actually committed suicide right in front of him so quickly.

Lenny's lips twitched, wanting to do the same, but he could not.

It needed far more courage than he had. Lenny panted roughly as he stared right at Lazlo on the ground, not saying anything.

Both Brock and Kent were stunned as well. They did not expect Lazlo to be so decisive.

Jack frowned as he said coldly, "He jumped to conclusions too quickly. He could have spared his own life. I've always been a man of my word. Since I agreed that I would let you go if you speak the truth, then I would have done it."

Brock had a stiff look on his face as he summoned up the courage to stammer out, "Then can you swear on your life?"

Jack coldly looked at him, causing Brock to shudder.

He said coldly, "Do you think I'm begging you right now? If you don't ask me, I can find someone else. After all, you already told me the most important thing."

The moment he said that, Brock looked like he had just fallen into a trap and was left speechless. He suddenly remembered how he had told Jack about their plan so nonchalantly just now.

Lazlo had tried to stop him, but he even felt like Lazlo was a coward.

He finally realized how absurd he had been acting. However, it was already too late.

Jack looked at Brock and asked again, "I'll give you one last chance. It's up to you if you want to speak."

Brock's hands trembled, "Sign a contract with us first. If you go against your word, your soul will be punished. Only then will I tell you everything I know! Otherwise, wouldn't you just kill us right after I tell you everything?!"

Jack smirked as he pushed forward. The Soul Burst Ring quickly expanded and captured all three of them.

Before they could even react, Jack clapped his hands. There was a massive explosion as they were turned to dust.

Lourain and the others were stunned at the sight.

Maxcus' lips trembled, "It's already over? I thought..."

He thought that Jack would have tried to do something to force them to reveal everything they knew. Yet, Jack really did what he said he would do. That last chance really was the last.

Brock tried to negotiate again, and Jack did not hesitate at all to attack!

Lourain gulped as he walked over to Jack, "You're letting them die just like that? Isn't that being too nice to them?"

Lourain had so many questions on his mind. He did not know why Jack attacked so quickly. He felt like Jack should have killed them only after getting information from them.

Jack understood what Lourain was thinking.

His lips curled up as he said, "I told him it was their last chance, and he still tried to bargain. How trustworthy do you think someone like that would be? On top of that, I still need to verify anything they say anyway. Rather than that, it's better to just not listen and go find out the truth another way."

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3946

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3946-Behind a beach of gravel was a small cave that could fit five to six people. The cave was already full at that moment.

Jack sat near the entrance, and he had a small array in hand. He was looking at it closely.

The array belonged to Kent. He had clutched it tightly the whole time, even in death.

Jack decided to pick it up to look at it when he spotted it. At that moment, the green spot that was on the array had turned red. The number on it was still seven.

Jack looked at it for a long time, but could not figure anything out. However, he felt like it should indicate something important. Otherwise, Kent would not have held it so tightly.

At that moment, Maxcus' voice was heard, "It looks like an array, but I don't know what it's for."

Jack nodded slightly, he felt that way as well, "If they're using it here, it must have something to do with their task."

Lourain looked over with a frown, "Could it be used to determine their location? I am guessing the number on top is to note down how many they have captured?"

Lourain had just been randomly guessing, but Jack had heard it.

Jack suddenly looked up with a serious expression. After a long time, he decisively decided to destroy that array.

If it could really be used to determine one's location, then the array would just be like a tracking device if he continued to carry it.

At a cave in the center of the Toman Battlefield, four people looked at the Vermillion Tune Formation with stiff faces and unblinking eyes.

They had just witnessed a red spot disappearing. It meant that someone had destroyed a small array.

Desmond clenched his fist, "It has to be him! I was right, he really is inside!"

Pascal blinked, “Desmond, are you sure?”

He felt like it was hard to be sure without seeing it for themselves, but Desmond seemed adamant.

Desmond frowned as he said unhappily, “It’s not like you didn’t see what happened. Four green dots were together. It means that the four of us were temporarily in an alliance to hunt their prey. Yet, it didn’t take too long for one of the spots to turn red.

Right after that, the other three turned red too.

“Surely I don’t need to explain what that means. Everyone we sent in is an above-average warrior that is considered quite strong. Who else can get rid of four of them so quickly?”

“Hurry up and relay the news to Triton. Have him forget about what he’s doing at the moment and go look into the situation. The moment he can confirm that it’s Jack, we’ll act immediately!”

As he said that, Desmond had an excited tone to his voice.

Jack was like an eyesore to him. He had thought that he would only be able to get news about the other party in the last few days. Yet, Jack was found on just the first day. If they were able to deal with that guy, then things would be much easier!

Pascal sighed as he stopped himself from speaking. He felt like it was not certain that all four of them died to Jack. After all, they could not tell if those four died to a single person or a whole group.

If they had died to a group, then it was not much of a surprise.

Seymour obviously felt that way as well.

Pascal did not dare to voice it out, but Seymour did not need to hold back since he was at the same rank as Desmond.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3947

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3947-Seymour frowned slightly and said, "Don't make this too simple. The four of them working together means that the situation was complicated, or that there were a lot of people there, too many for just two to deal with. That's why the four of them worked together. Even though all four of them died, it doesn't mean they died at the hands of one person. It's possible they were killed by a number's advantage."

Seymour felt like his guess must be right.

Jack loved to wear disguises and hide his identity. There was no way he would be in a group. The four of them must have worked together because there were too many people.

Desmond clenched his teeth, getting angry that the others did not seem to agree with him, "Those four aren't idiots. Even if they were working together because their opponents had numbers, they wouldn't attack so easily. They must have only attacked after verifying how strong their opponents were!"

"They would only attack if the situation was under their control. Yet, all four of them died in the end. It means that someone that can't be controlled appeared. Who could that person be? I feel like Jack's the only one who fits that description!"

After he said that, Desmond looked at the other three seriously.

When he saw that they did not agree with him, Desmond paced around the spot impatiently.

"Why don't all of you believe me? I assure you, my guess is right! He must have appeared! It's definitely him!"

Seymour sighed and shook his head, "You're too obsessed with Jack. It's getting out of hand."

Desmond clenched his teeth, "I'm not obsessed, all of you are just taking it too lightly! Even if my guess is wrong, we have no reason to just ignore it! Just have someone go over to look into it right now. Don't let a single clue slip!"

As Desmond was anxiously trying to get his men to go, Jack was having an intense discussion.

Jack promised Maxcus' group that he would let them go as long as they kept his secret.

Maxcus' group was incredibly grateful, but they did not leave immediately. Instead, they started an intense discussion with Lourain, who was at their level.

Maxcus said emotionally, "I have to spread this thing everywhere. I need everyone to know how ruthless those shameless and despicable men are! I need to make sure their plans fail. We'll work together against them and make them pay!"

Other than Jack, everyone else nodded their heads vigorously.

Those words really roused their spirits. Everything that had happened earlier was still fresh in their minds. They knew that they were seen as livestock that could be slaughtered at any time.

Those warriors who stood at the peak wanted to squeeze every inch of value from their bodies. The truth caused their anger to rise.

They were definitely nowhere near the level of those at the peak, and would never offend those people normally, but it did not mean they would let themselves get slaughtered.

If all the regular warriors worked together, they could not be underestimated. They would make sure those people pay a price. They would show that the regular warriors would not let themselves be slaughtered.

Lourain looked incredibly emotional.

He clenched his fists tightly, "Those people plot and scheme, and use us as stepping stones! We won't let that happen! They sure love to dream! This time, we need to all work together to teach them an unforgettable lesson!"

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3948

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3948-The four of them talked for a long time before Jack finally spoke.

He said calmly, "Alright! It's been two hours. You should hurry up and leave. If that array really was used to determine locations, then this place is already exposed. They will find us if we continue staying here."

The four of them nodded. Maxcus' group bid their farewells gratefully before leaving Jack.

Before he left, Maxcus had already figured out how to spread the news. He even dreamed of a future when everyone was working together against the warriors at the peak.

It seemed like it would be a majestic sight. Maxcus and the others gave a transmission array to Lourain before they left. That way, they would be able to communicate any news they had. Jack and Lourain choose a direction to advance.

Time passed very quickly, and a day was gone in a flash.

In the last moments of that day, Jack and Lourain were surrounded by distorted space. The two of them were not surprised, since they already knew the rules by heart. As the days passed, Toman Battlefield would shrink by half. At the final moments of the day, every participant who was still in the space that would disappear would be teleported elsewhere.

Once space stabilized again, everything in front of them would change. They had been on a wide plain before, and they were transferred to a dense forest. There were incredibly large trees of unknown origins all around, and the leaves blocked the sunlight.

"It's the second day. Do you think we'll be able to see any unique demons?" Jack asked calmly.

Lourain shook his head. It was hard to be certain about anything.

To Jack, green and crimson demons were too weak for Jack to bother with.

It was good enough to leave those demons to Lourain.

The two of them talked as they advanced. Mainly, Lourain was the one doing all the talking, and Jack merely answered once in a while.

The two of them advanced for another six hours.

Lourain suddenly thought of something as he asked, "Jack, I was talking to Maxcus and the others for so long, but you never said anything the whole time. It seems like you don't really approve of what we were talking about."

Lourain had been thinking about that for quite a long time.

When Maxcus and the others were talking about everything, Lourain paid attention to Jack's reactions.

He noticed that Jack remained calm no matter what they said, and even saw traces of disagreement in Jack's eyes.

Jack sighed as he turned to look at Lourain, "It's not that I disapprove, it's just that all of you are thinking about things in too simple of a manner."

Lourain was taken aback, "What do you mean? Do you think the final results won't be like we expect?"

Jack nodded.

Lourain suddenly felt a bit anxious, "Then what will happen in the end? I feel like there's nothing wrong with how we're thinking. Things are already at this stage. If we don't work together, then we'll just be there waiting to be slaughtered."

Jack looked at Lourain and sighed, "The participants here are like dust that's dispersed all over a plate. If they find out about the sinister plan, they would naturally want to work together against a common enemy. As long as someone gathers everyone else, they will work together. However, none of you have any ties to each other. As long as someone just uses a bit of a plot, then things will return to normal."

Lourain did not really understand.

He had just wanted to ask even more when a bundle of fire appeared next to his ear.

Someone was relaying information to him.

Lourain immediately listened. After he heard everything, he was stunned in place.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3949

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3949-Jack turned around and looked at Lourain curiously, "What is it? Who sent you a message?"

Lourain coughed as he frowned in confusion, "It was Maxcus. I don't understand. He told me the news has been spread around rapidly, and most of the warriors on the Toman Battlefield should already know about the situation. However, the situation has changed, and they've all gone into hiding."

In Lourain's mind, everyone should have been working together against the warriors at the peak of the moment the news got out.

Yet, Maxcus said that the situation changed and they were in hiding. As for what changed, he did not explain.

Lourain was incredibly confused at that moment.

When he thought about what Jack said earlier, he realized that this was probably what Jack was talking about.

Just as he was recovering from his shock, footsteps were suddenly heard in front of them.

Right after that, two men appeared in their sights. One of them wore a yellow shirt and looked quite decent. The other was incredibly skinny with small eyes made for a very curious sight.

The two of them looked at Jack and Lourain when they appeared before they exchanged a happy look.

The man in the yellow shirt walked forward, "I knew the two of us are luckier than everyone else. Another million is in hand."

As he said that, particularly the last words, the man was looking at Jack and Lourain all over.

Jack and Lourain immediately understood that they were that one million.

Jack frowned.

Could they be robbing them as Tanner did?

As the two of them were looking at Jack, Jack was gauging them out too.

The two of them were not hiding their auras at all. Their skills should be at the level of above-average warriors. As long as they were not unlucky, they would be fine on the Toman Battlefield.

Lourain looked at Jack, clearly thinking the same as Jack, that those two were trying to rob them.

However, those thoughts quickly stopped when the man in the yellow shirt said, "Just don't fight back and accept your fate. Spare us the trouble. Don't worry, compared to those people, we won't be so cruel. As long as you don't fight back, I'll make sure you don't suffer too much when you die."

As he said that, the man's expression looked like he was showing Jack and Lourain mercy. It was as if making sure they would not suffer too much was a tremendous gift.

Those words completely threw Jack and Lourain's thoughts out the window.

If it was just robbery, then they would not need to die. However, those two were clearly not robbing Jack and Lourain.

The two of them said so confidently that they would not die too painfully as long as they did not fight back. It meant that they would definitely suffer.

It was just that those two would not be as cruel as the others.

Jack and Lourain exchanged a look of confusion. It sounded like those two wanted Heartblood.

Were they not supposed to act while disguised as demons?

Had they abandoned that notion already?

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3950

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3950-As the two of them were confused, someone suddenly jumped down from one of the trees.

That person had a handsome face, and his eyes glinted viciously.

The moment he touched the ground, he said sternly, "These two are mine! You two can get lost!"

The man in a yellow shirt was stunned when he heard that voice.

He turned to look and his face stiffened, "It's Chapman..."

The man's face looked incredibly sour when he said the name as if he had swallowed a fly.

The small-eyed man next to him froze as well. He had an angry look in his eyes, but quickly looked down, not wanting to show that expression.

Chapman did not even bother glancing at the other two. His sharp eyes looked like an eagle that had spotted prey as he stared right at Jack and Lourain as if the two of them were already rabbits in his claws.

"Get lost right now! For the sake of your fellow disciple, I'll spare the two of you for now. Otherwise, I'll take your Heartblood too."

When the two of them heard that, they shuddered. They turned around and hurriedly fled, leaving Jack and Lourain behind.

Chapman looked at his prey in interest. He saw that his prey's expression had been calm the whole time, and he could even see confusion in their eyes as if they did not understand what was happening.

Chapman laughed as he took out a red sword, "I've really earned a lot today. With you two, I'd have made a total of two and a half million. It's so much better than hunting demons."

Jack frowned, not understanding a thing.

He put his hand up and had Lourain fallback.

Lourain obediently took a few steps back.

When he saw that, it was Chapman's turn to be confused.

He sneered when he saw that formation and said, "What? You want to fight me alone?"

His tone was full of mockery. That person standing in front should not be too much stronger than the one behind. They were both between the level of regular warriors and above-average warriors. He could defeat warriors at that level with one hand.

Jack held his head high as he coldly asked, "The two of them just now, they said we were worth one million? You seem to be referring to the same thing too. Why are you saying this?"

Jack was already sure that this had nothing to do with robbing them. Those people wanted their Heartblood.

When Chapman heard Jack's question, he felt like Jack was quite interested to still be in the mood to ask questions about things as they were. However, he did not have the time to explain things to his prey. If they did not know, it was their fault.

He scoffed, "What's the point of knowing more? Just keep yourself ignorant. Then you'll die in peace!"

As he said that, a vibrant glow appeared on his sword that illuminated the space around them in red. His left hand started to form seals, and the cry of a bird could be heard everywhere.

A flaming phoenix started to dance around Chapman.

Chapman laughed as he said, "The two of you should be honored to die to my phoenix!"