

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3961

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3961-Jack did not care about how tense the atmosphere was as he continued to say, "So all of you were just bragging. You were actually still afraid that we will be able to defeat you and spread the news to disrupt your plans."

After he said that, Teagan and Yeagen were stunned.

They looked like they were wondering if Jack was joking. However, Jack's expression did not change. It did not seem like he was joking at all.

Teagan sneered, "Brat! Are you trying to challenge us? Do you know the consequences of doing that?"

Jack shook his head, saying calmly, "I don't know the consequences, but I do know that the two of you are trying to avoid answering because you're worried. Even if the two of you kill us right now, it can't change how you feel."

Jack's words made it sound like it was certain that was what they felt. The two of them could no longer even laugh. That brat was really challenging their bottom line!

Teagan's lips twitched. He was just about to answer Jack's question to prove that he was not worried when Yeagen stopped him.

At that moment, Yeagen was frowning as he looked at Jack in earnest. As he held Teagan back, he looked at Jack with a sharp look. His eyes were especially inquisitive as if he was trying to see into Jack's heart.

Jack was already used to receiving looks like that.

Teagan looked at Yeagen in confusion, "Why are you pulling me back?"

Yeagen frowned and said, "There's something wrong with this guy. Don't you think his expression and what he's saying is very strange? A normal person would never say that. Could there be an ambush here?! Otherwise, why are they acting so strangely?"

When he said that, his sharp eyes were constantly darting around, not willing to let any

He was worried that he was right and that there really was an ambush around them! clues slip his eyes.

Teagan frowned. After what Yeagen said, he was on alert as well. That guy really did seem strange in every way. Everything he did and said was far from ordinary.

Could there really be an ambush around them?

Teagan started to look around his surroundings.

After a while, he could not see anything amiss.

Teagan shook his head, "Look around us, there's nowhere to hide at all. Even if there was an ambush, they should be quite far away. Didn't we already use our senses to check the surroundings? Even after using our senses for so long, we didn't notice a single thing."

"This place is very safe. They'd be very far away even if they were planning an ambush. It would take them quite some time to get here if they want to help. It's more than enough time to get rid of these three in front of us. There's no need to worry about that."

Yaegen nodded, Teagan was right. Even if there was an ambush, even if there were people to save those three, those three were just too weak.

They were not even at the level of an above-average warrior. As long as Yaegen and Teagan went all out, they would be able to deal with those three without too much time passing. Then, even if they found out about anything, it would be perfectly fine.

It was just that those thoughts from earlier really did put him in a very alarmed state.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3962

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3962-Yeagen frowned as he said to Teagan, "Whatever! Let's just stop trying to communicate with an idiot.

Why do we need to tell him anything? Who does he think he is?"

Jack sighed slightly before he started to laugh, looking at them with unbridled mockery.

At that moment Teagan could no longer remain calm! Yeagen could not even stop him.

Teagan scoffed and said, "So what if we tell you?! Both of us are from the Searing Flame Clan in Star Continent. Triton is our eldest disciple. If it comes to status, we're working for him."

Jack has never heard of Triton's name before, but he was very familiar with Star Continent. In terms of grudges, Star Continent had the deepest grudge against him.

Jack nodded slightly, "So that Triton must be a peak warrior."

When they mentioned Triton's name, both of them had a tone of complete respect.

Teagan held his head high and said, "Of course he is! You regular warriors aren't even worthy of licking his boots! You're lucky enough just getting to hear his name."

Jack raised an eyebrow, suddenly asking, "I heard that whoever managed to find any trace of Jack would be given a few million spirit crystals. Who came up with that idea?"

The moment Jack's name was mentioned, the look of admiration on their faces was immediately gone as if there was a bug on an amazing dish that was just served to them.

Lourain could not help but smirk when he saw their expressions. He almost laughed at the sight.

Yeagen scoffed, "The task was naturally issued by Triton. Jack's an enemy of Star Continent, that's something a lot of people know. That brat dared to provoke us, so he will have to pay a painful price!"

Jack felt like he had heard others saying he would pay a painful price several times a day. He completely ignored those words.

He calmly continued asking, "Since he did that, I'll definitely make sure to make him pay the price. Since the two of you aren't worried anyway, why don't you just tell me where Triton is right now? I'll go look for him in a bit."

Teagan's lips twitched as he looked at Jack like a crazy person.

Jack really was something else to dare to say that he would make Triton pay the price. He was speaking as if he was that amazing.

Yeagen said in exasperation, "Just listen to what you're saying. Triton is a warrior that stands at the peak, and what about you?! How dare you say that you'll make him pay the price?! Aren't you worried your words will come back to bite you?"

Hashem and the others were thoroughly speechless as they watched from the ground.

That stranger who was close to Lourain did seem completely crazy. Otherwise, there was no way he would say something like that.

He was saying he wanted to make a warrior that was at the peak pay the price as if he was better than that person. He really was just bragging too much!

Jack did not care what they were thinking, and quietly stood there, waiting for the answer he wanted.

Teagan was feeling incredibly frustrated.

He crossed his arms and answered honestly, "Triton's at Skyreach Mountain right now. If you want to get revenge on him, go there and find him. He's busy with something there right now."

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3963

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3963-Jack nodded, remembering the name.

Yeagen put his hands up, not wanting to continue wasting time, "Brat, we've already told you everything you want to know. It's time for you to just surrender. At least you'll suffer a bit less. Of course, you can continue fighting back too, but if you do that, I can guarantee you that things will end very badly for you."

Jack was not bothered by those threats at all, and he pretended like he could not hear them.

In truth, he still wanted to ask more questions, but the two of them seemed like they no longer had the patience to answer him even if he asked.

Since that was the case, there really was no point in continuing to waste time.

The two of them exchanged a look, and Teagan nodded to Yeagen, "It's fine, just leave this guy to me. I'll make sure to give him an unforgettable lesson so he knows his place."

After he said that, he started to form seals with his hands. Countless light-green seals danced in the air like fireflies in the night.

A violent wind started to howl, and it started to form a cyclone in just a few seconds.

The violently spinning cyclone had various green slashes within it.

Teagan coldly said, "Brat! My technique is already at the intermediate ultimate god realm. You've probably never faced a technique at this level your whole life!"

As he said that, Yeagen had an incredibly proud look on his face.

Jack raised an eyebrow in exasperation, not knowing how to answer.

Hashem felt like his heart had jumped up to his throat. Even though he already knew that his fellow disciples and that stranger would not stand a chance at all if they started fighting, he still found it hard to accept what was happening calmly.

Hashem felt incredibly conflicted at that moment, "Hurry up and run! I don't know what's wrong with you right now, but I don't care. You just need to run away right now! Those two aren't warriors that you can handle!"

Even though he did not know what that technique was called, the technique had still left a deep impression on them. He had lost to that cyclone that was filled with swords.

Earlier, he had used everything he had, but was still defeated by that cyclone without any chance of fighting back!

Lourain opened his mouth to say something but decided against it in the end. After all, there was no point to say anything at that moment. It would not calm Hashem down anyway, so he decided to just keep quiet.

The green swords were shining in the cyclone.

Jack had been incredibly calm the whole time. He did not seem to have any intention of attacking at all.

After seeing that, Teagan sneered, "I thought you would keep fighting back no matter what. I can't believe you can't even bring yourself to try and fight back after bragging so much. I really overestimated you!"

After Teagan said that, he did not hesitate at all before he pushed forward. The cyclone was quickly launched at Jack.

Just as the cyclone was shooting forward, Jack finally took action.

He narrowed his eyes slightly as his hands started to constantly form seals. A broken blade appeared in front of him, and it was surrounded by a dark gray mist.

The broken blade had dark red runes around it that glowed faintly. There was a strange form of energy to it.

Jack attacked so quickly that those two did not have the time to react at all.

He pushed forward, and the Broken Soul Blade immediately rushed into the cyclone with imperious force.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3964

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3964-The moment the Broken Soul Blade was inside the cyclone, the countless swords immediately charged right at the blade.

Teagan had thought that the Broken Soul Blade would be torn into pieces of energy, but that thought was immediately discarded. Before those green swords could even touch the Broken Soul Blade, the Broken Soul Blade unleashed a wave of gray energy that filled the whole cyclone.

Cracking sounds could be heard from within the cyclone. In just a few seconds, the cyclone was completely swallowed up by that gray energy.

The next second, the Broken Soul Blade broke through the cyclone and quickly charged at Teagan. Only then did Teagan realize that his technique had not only failed to destroy his opponent's technique, but it had been unable to stop it at all.

The moment the two techniques clashed, his own technique completely failed.

Teagan widened his mouth in shock, but he did not have time to do anything else, because the Broken Soul Blade was already in front of him.

Yeagen had reacted faster than him, and immediately raised the large sword in his hand to strike at the Broken Soul Blade with all his might, trying to stop its advance. Yet, with a crack, a large shock came from the sword into Yeagen's hands, causing him to widen his mouth in exertion.

With that strong shock, his hands had not only been injured but his weapon was sent flying as well. The large sword spun a few times in the air before falling to the ground.

Yeagen quickly retreated with a frown on his face.

He felt like he had just struck the hardest stone in the world. If his sword struck a regular stone, it would turn to dust. However, facing Jack's technique, he failed to stop it, and his sword was even sent flying.

Before he had a moment to himself, a sharp cry of anguish was heard.

Yeagen immediately looked up to see Teagan clutching his chest. Teagan was in so much pain that he broke out in cold sweat as he crumbled on the ground, constantly crying out in pain. It sounded just like a ghost from hell!

The sight caused everyone other than Jack and Lourain to widen their eyes and their mouths in disbelief. Dickens was absolutely dumbfounded.

The situation had been quite urgent earlier.

Lourain had just briefly introduced Jack. However, Dickens felt like it was just too crazy, and he could not believe that the person in front of him was Jack. At that moment, those doubts were completely gone. Only someone who stood at the peak like Jack could have done all of that!

Hashem and the others knew nothing of the situation. They had thought that the stranger who was friendly with Lourain could not be a match for Teagan at all.

They felt like the stranger would definitely lose. Yet, the results were the complete opposite.

After they fought, Teagan was the one who lost. Looking at Teagan's pathetic state, he should have been quite heavily injured. From that alone, it was obvious that there was a huge gap in their strengths. That person could very well already be at the level of a warrior at the peak.

Just thinking about that caused their jaws to drop.

Hashem looked at Lourain before examining the stranger. Various thoughts surfaced in his head.

No wonder Lourain brought Dickens back.

No wonder they had spoken so arrogantly before, not taking Teagan and Yeagen seriously at all.

Hashem had thought that they had reinforcements nearby, but it turned out that the stranger was actually an expert. He was definitely already at the level of a warrior at the peak which Hashem could not believe was real.

When the stranger had spoken just now, the three of them never thought that he might have been strong at all.

At the time, those thoughts were completely disregarded by them, warriors at the peak were not people you could find just anywhere.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3965

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3965-They stood at the top of the whole Whirling World.

They were basically children of the heavens. They had the best of resources and talents that others could only dream about.

Those people were unbelievably rare. There were millions who entered the Whirling World, but only a few dozen stood at the peak.

They were not people who could be found commonly, let alone have anyone familiar enough with them to ask for help. If Lourain had been able to befriend an above-average warrior, it would have been something to be proud of, let alone a warrior at the peak.

Normally, the more talented a warrior was, the more they looked down on those weaker than them. They would not bother sparing others their attention or glances!

Jack paid no attention to the change in attitude around him at all. His eyes were focused right on Yeagen.

At that moment, Yeagen's body was completely frozen. It was as if he had been bound by some sort of spell as he stood there, dumbfounded. His hand was bleeding, but he did not care.

When he noticed that Jack was looking at him, Yeagen's whole body shuddered.

When surprises happened, those who were involved could often not react, but after the surprise, it was easy to quickly notice the details.

For instance, Jack's technique from earlier had been incredibly familiar. It was just that things had happened too quickly for him to pay any attention to it.

At that moment, he finally had the time to think about it.

Yeagen gulped subconsciously. His breathing got quicker as his face turned pale.

His lips were very dry as well when he opened his mouth, saying with a hoarse voice, "You're Jack!"

The name was said with a complete sense of disbelief and hopelessness.

He never expected that he would meet Jack, even though he heard the name so much recently it was getting annoying, especially from Triton.

Each time Triton spoke about Jack, it was through clenched teeth. Yeagen never expected that he would be able to meet Jack in such a situation. He had even laughably exposed himself and said where he was from.

Was that not just suicidal?

They even said that Triton would never forgive Jack.

Just thinking about it caused Yeagen to be full of fear. He could not help but shudder. After all, Jack was someone even Triton would be wary of.

Yeagen raised his hands into the air, "Let me go! I'm no one important. Even if you kill me, you won't feel a sense of accomplishment. It's pointless!"

He was still young, and it had taken him a lot of hard work to get to where he was. He did not want to die just like that. Death was hard to bear for him.

Lourain could not help but say, "You're finally begging for mercy? Isn't it a bit too late? There should have been many other warriors who've begged you for mercy. Why didn't you let them go?!"

Looking at his fellow disciples who were all tied up, Lourain got even more furious.

That guy had the gall to ask for mercy. When he took the lives of others, he acted so high and mighty.

Jack shot Lourain a look, "Go let your fellow disciples go. We can talk about everything else later."

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3966

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3966-Lourain nodded before he hurriedly went over to Hashem and the others with Dickens.

At that moment, those three still looked dumbfounded. Everything had just happened too quickly. Even if they had seen a lot in their lives, they could still not process what had happened.

Just a moment before, they had been lamenting their luck, cursing at the fact that their lives were going to be cut short.

They wondered how unlucky they were to be in that situation, but the situation quickly turned, and the hunter became the prey.

Yeagen took a step back, but he immediately stopped under Jack's cold gaze. Once again, he no longer dared to make a single move.

Yeagen's initial shock had become complete fear.

That person was actually Jack. He quickly remembered how Hashem had cursed them before.

Hashem had cursed that they would suffer retribution.

He had completely ignored those curses, but they had ended up coming through in just a short moment. They had offended someone they could not afford to. If it was anyone else, he would have burned up half his blood essence to unleash his full potential. He might have stood a chance.

However, he was facing Jack. Even if he burned up all of his blood essences, he would still be no match for Jack, let alone half of it.

Warriors at the peak were like a mountain that could not be broken through for him. It was impossible.

He could not even bring himself to think about fighting back.

Yeagen clenched his teeth, "Jack! Killing me will do you no good!"

As he said that, he took out a small array from his spatial ring. He raised it for Jack to see.

"If I die, then the array will be able to sense it. The array is controlled by the Vermillion Tune Formation in one of the caves. The moment I die, the formation will sense it!"

"Then, my name will turn red. Every person who carries out a task will be in a team with someone they know. If Teagan dies with me, or if we die one at a time, the warriors there will definitely take notice. Those people all hate you right now. The moment they notice any trace of your movements, they won't let up. They will definitely pinpoint your location!"

At that moment, Yeagen was slowly calming down.

He still had a bright future ahead of him. He wanted to make sure he accomplished a lot. He could not just die there. To let himself survive, he would stop at nothing.

At that moment, Hashem and the others had already untied themselves.

They slowly stood up, and Hashem glared at Yeagen viciously. The injuries he had were all from that person. If he could, he really wanted revenge, but he did not have the guts.

Even though Jack had saved them, he still did not know the other party's relationship with Lourain. On top of that, considering who Jack was, he did not dare to make any reckless moves.

Lourain scoffed as he said coldly, "Are you threatening us?"

Yeagen shook his head, saying firmly, "I'm not threatening you. I'm just speaking the truth and trying to fight for his life."

He was being honest at that moment, voicing his true thoughts without holding back.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3967

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3967-Yeagen nodded vigorously, looking down slightly as he composed himself, "I want to survive! I don't want to die here!"

Jack continued to say, "For the sake of your survival, are you willing to do anything?"

Yeagen froze at that moment. He felt incredibly conflicted.

Was he really willing to do anything?

He was not sure about that, because he did not know what Jack wanted. For the sake of his chance at surviving, he nodded again.

Jack smiled slightly, "Then tell us all your plans without holding back.."

Yeagen was quite happy when he heard that. Lourain could tell what that meant. Jack was planning on letting that guy go as long as his answers satisfied Jack.

Lourain felt a bit anxious at that moment. After all, the two of them had injured his fellow disciples not because of any materialistic reasons, but to kill them. Not only that, they were even going to torture his fellow disciples for Heartblood before that.

How could he let that person go so easily?

Lourain did not care about anything else as he walked over to Jack and said anxiously, "Jack! That person is obviously very cunning. You can't let him off so easily! He could be answering you right now only to betray you later. He's even from Star Continent. Everyone knows of your relationship with them. Do you think he'll listen to you after he leaves?"

He wanted to tell Jack that this person was not like Marth. Marth did not have any personal conflicts with Jack.

Jack had even helped Marth before, so he letting Marth go was not that bad, but this person was different!

Jack nodded, "Don't worry, I know what I'm doing..."

Yeagen could no longer remain calm when he heard what Lourain said. That chance at life he struggled so hard to get was about to be ruined.

Yeagen immediately shouted, "Jack! If you kill me, it will do you no good, and will only cause you trouble. However, if you keep me alive, I'll be useful! You can make me do anything you want, such as searching for information. I'll be your eyes and ears. As long as there are any movements, I'll report them to you!"

Lourain clenched his teeth as he glared at Yeagen viciously, cursing at that cunning man. He really was a smooth-talker. If Lourain was in Jack's shoes, he would probably have been moved as well. Jack raised an eyebrow, Yeagen was much more quick with his thoughts than Jack expected.

Earlier, he had not killed Yeagen right away because he had other thoughts in mind. After all, with the situation they were in, if he did not fight back, then he would just be on the defensive the whole time.

He already told everyone back in Violet City that anyone who dared to target him would have to be ready to pay the price.

Those people had nothing to do with him, but they were trying so hard to kill him. If he did not fight back, then he would not be able to forgive himself.

Yeagen felt like the situation was incredibly bad, so he decided to put it all on the line for his life.

“Jack! I’ll tell you everything I know right now! However, I’m not that important, so I don’t know a lot. I’ll make sure to tell you everything I know and leave nothing back!”

Yeagen continued to tell Jack everything he knew.

He spoke slowly but in an orderly manner. He told Jack everything Jack wanted to know.

The warriors at the peak who entered the Whirling World only numbered in the dozens. There were about thirty to forty of them.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3968

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3968-Furthermore, the warriors at the peak had a big difference in skill from one another.

Those warriors had all initially minded their own business, and although they knew each other’s existence, they were not familiar with each other. However, a month ago, they suddenly got together to plan something, and Triton was one of them.

Unfortunately, Triton ranked in the middle of those warriors at the peak, so he did not have much power.

The Toman Battlefield was not the only plan being set in motion, there were several others as well. As for what the plans were, Yeagen and others at his level did not know much about it.

There were a total of three warriors at the peak of the Toman Battlefield. Other than Triton, there were Seymour and Desmond. Those two were ranked quite high among the warriors at the peak and were stronger than Triton. They were the leaders of this operation.

Triton was not the only one involved in the plans against Jack, the other two were very involved as well. After hearing what Yeagen said, Jack had a cold look in his eyes as various thoughts surfaced in his head.

Desmond and Seymour's names were names he had heard before many times. Every time they were brought up, their names were mentioned with respect and admiration. There was a deep sense of fear as well. The two of them were very famous.

Jack had nothing to do with them, but they regarded him as a thorn in their side.

Comparatively, he was not really that angry at Triton. After all, Triton had a reason to want him dead.

The two of them were different. Jack had done nothing to them, but they insisted on targeting him. It infuriated Jack!

Jack took a deep breath before he slowly looked at Yeagen.

Yeagen immediately straightened his body, trying very hard to look like he was still calm. In truth, he was in complete panic.

He was worried that Jack would suddenly change his mind and attack him. With his skills, there would be nothing he could do.

Jack raised an eyebrow, "Since you're willing to do anything to stay alive, let's sign a master and slave contract..."

The moment that was said, Yeagen suddenly widened his eyes. His expression darkened, looking like his own father had just died.

A master and slave contract was equal to selling his soul. After signing the contract, he had to do anything Jack asked him to.

The moment he went against Jack's orders, he would be punished by the laws of the world. Even if Jack asked him to die, he could not go against it.

Ninety-nine percent of warriors would never sign that contract, feeling like death was a better choice. Even Yeagen remained silent.

Jack could see that he was not very willing to sign the contract.

In truth, it was to be expected. After all, the moment he signed that contract, he would be Jack's slave. Even if Jack asked him to kill his own family, he would have to do that.

Jack said calmly, "Don't be in such a hurry to say no, listen to me first. This contract has a time limit. I'm only making you sign it because I can't trust you. I'll only be able to relax after making you sign it."

Jack really did have some matters he wanted Yeagen to do.

Just like what Lourain said, Yeagen was not very trustworthy. No matter how much Yeagen assured him, Jack knew that Yeagen would betray them in a heartbeat.

Having someone like that help him was equal to selling himself to his enemies. He would have to be crazy to trust Yeagen.

However, it would be different with the master and slave contract. The moment the contract was in effect, Yeagen would not be able to betray him unless Yeagen died.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3969

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3969-Yeagen's heart started to beat wildly.

He wanted to say something but found himself scrambling for the words.

Jack did not care about Yeagen's conflicted expression as he continued to speak, "It'll only be for seven days. I just want you to sign this contract because I need you to help me with some things. We can even add a clause in the contract that says I can't take your life. Don't worry. I don't like to torture people. After the Toman Battlefield ends, I'll set you free."

Yeagen's eyes twitched as his body stiffened. He could already guess what Jack wanted him to do. However, he was still not willing to sign the contract.

The moment they signed the contract, he would not be able to fight back even if Jack decided to go against his words.

The master and slave contract was like a lock to the soul. Unless the master was willing, he would not be able to escape.

Yeagen's hands shook, and his voice was raspy, "Even if the contract states that you won't take my life, I will still die if you make me do something I would have no chance of surviving. Wouldn't I just die if you ask me to do something like take Triton's life?"

Lourain felt like Jack was already being quite merciful with his conditions, but that guy was still trying to question it.

It was just ridiculous.

Lourain could not stop himself from rushing forward to argue with Yeagen, but Jack held him back.

Jack patted Lourain on the arm, motioning for Lourain to calm down.

He calmly looked at Yeagen, saying after some thought, "You're not someone I absolutely need right now, and I always keep to my word. As long as you do your part, I won't take your life. After the Toman Battlefield closes, I'll set you free as well. Of course, you can choose not to believe it and not sign the agreement with me, but you'll be useless to me after that."

Jack calmly expressed everything, but Yeagen felt like his was about to stop listening to it.

The other party was telling him that this was not a negotiation at all. He only had two choices, and that was it.

After understanding that, Yeagen decided against continuing to negotiate with Jack.

He slowly shut his eyes, and his heart was beating rapidly. He felt like he was walking right into his death.

After a few moments, Yeagen clenched his teeth and nodded.

That was his last chance. If he did not agree, he would die. Compared to Teagan, who was writhing on the ground in pain, he was already quite lucky. He needed to make sure he had a way out.

When Yeagen agreed, Jack breathed a small sigh of relief.

In truth, the matter was not as easy as Jack said. Yeagen was actually quite useful. Things would go much better with Yeagen.

The two of them quickly signed the master and slave contract with their blood.

When their blood merged in the air and formed a large seal, the contract was in effect. With that contract, there was no longer any need to worry if Yeagen would regret it or try to betray them.

Jack did not let Teagan remain in pain for that long as he ended Teagan's life right after the contract was signed. Teagen deserved his death anyway.

With Hashem's group, Dickens and Yeagen, made a temporary group of seven. They found a medium- sized cave not too far away to rest.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3970

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 3970-Hashem and the others were quite heavily injured.

After entering the cave, they quickly took medicine to recuperate. Yeagen sat by the corner, quietly waiting for Jack's orders.

Lourain frowned as he looked at Yeagen in alarm.

Even though he knew that Yeagen could not betray Jack, he was still reluctant to let down his guard.

At that moment, Jack was in no mood to entertain their complicated moods. He was constantly making plans in his head.

After two hours, Hashem opened his eyes. His injuries had been temporarily suppressed. It would still take him some time to completely recover, which was impossible for the moment.

Hashem looked up at Lourain before he looked at the silent Jack.

At that moment, he could still not figure out how Lourain ended up having ties with a warrior at the peak, even to the extent that Jack was willing to help Lourain. It was evident they were quite friendly with each other.

With Jack sitting right there, he did not dare to ask any questions.

At that moment, Lourain asked with a concerned tone, "Jack, do you have any plans after this? It looks like we'll have to be especially careful no matter what we do after this. For the sake of the millions in rewards, there will be those who will immediately report you the moment they find out who you are!”

It was as if there were eyes everywhere. They had to always be cautious, and not act recklessly.

Jack could change his looks, but could not change his techniques hence changing his looks was useless.

Lourain suddenly felt like the road ahead was full of thorns.

Jack nodded with a faint smile, not saying anything.

Hashem said somewhat emotionally, “Those shameless and despicable men! They’re really willing to do anything. Jack, sir! You have to be careful.”

He was not familiar with Jack, which is why he added that term of address.

Jack nodded and was just about to speak when Hashem took the initiative, “However, with things as they are, it’ll be hard for us to fightback. After all, it’s hard to go against those people if they’re together. Why don’t we hide together? We can make plans after we leave the Toman Battlefield.”

Lourain nodded.

Hashem had said precisely what he was thinking.

Lourain felt like they needed to pull back for the moment as well. There were three warriors at the peak there, however, Jack was alone, no matter how strong he was.

The moment they noticed any clues and managed to find Jack, it would be very troublesome if they worked together against him. To prevent that from happening, they would have to hide for the moment.

Jack looked at the people who were in the cave.

Other than Yeagen, who was sitting next to him, the others seemed to agree with that.

Jack smiled and said, “Am I supposed to just move to their tune? Am I supposed to just hide from them?”

Lourains rubbed his nose, coughing a bit before he said, "You can't put it like that. After all, they have the numbers, and they're all very strong. It's hard to not suffer losses if you go against them right now."

Jack smiled, cracking his wrists, "I'm someone who always does what I say. Since they dared to target me, they will have to pay the price."

The moment he said that everyone was stunned.

Jack wanted to fight back?

How?

Lourain raised an eyebrow. Various thoughts surfaced in his head.

He sat up and said, "Jack, are you planning on eliminating those who are carrying out tasks like Yeagen was?"

Killing their subordinates would definitely hurt them, even if they failed to kill all of them. Jack looked at Lourain and shook his head firmly.

Lourain was stunned.

Was he mistaken?

However, Lourain could not figure out how else Jack could fight back.