

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4041

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4041-“Even Triton, the warrior at the peak from Star Continent, died to Jack. It’s obvious how strong he is! A hundred and ten meters might be impossible to us, but to Jack, it’s probably nothing. I think he can reach the end!”

NEXT

After that person finished, quite a few people tried to argue.

A man with a messy mustache loudly said, “I admit that Jack is very strong! However, no matter how strong he is, there is still a limit to his strength. Most of the warriors here have already taken the challenge. Most of you should know how hard the Path of Fate is. Every ten meters of advancement, the pressure gets more intense.”

“The pressure at a hundred meters is already something I can’t even imagine. Even warriors at the peak can’t possibly get to the end! Even the one ranked the highest among the warriors at the peak won’t be able to get to the end! This is just too tough. I’m even wondering if anyone would be able to finish it if warriors from first-grade worlds are here!”

“I agree with what you say! It’s not that Jack is weak, it’s just that this is far too difficult. Even warriors at the peak, even those ranked highly, can’t possibly complete the Path of Fate! I feel like he’ll probably stop at around a hundred and ten meters... If he continues forward, even Jack won’t be able to handle it!”

The warriors started to talk among themselves.

Only a small number of them felt like Jack could reach the end and get all nine points. The other warriors did not feel like he was weak, it was just that the Path of Fate was too difficult.

No matter who walked on the Path of Fate, they could not possibly get to the end!

Lourain stood by the side and quietly looked at everyone discussing the matter before he looked up at Jack’s back. In truth, he was not certain how far Jack would get in the end as well.

At that moment, Jack was not affected by the discussions at all, no matter how loud it got.

Jack completely disregarded what everyone was saying. All he did was continue forward with steady footsteps. His eyes were at the final point, and he slowly got closer to that point.

It did not take too long for Jack to reach the eighty-meter mark.

Blant managed to get to the eighty-eight-meter mark during his turn. That kind of result was excellent enough in front of regular warriors, but it was clearly nothing at all to Jack. He quickly arrived at the eighty-eight-meter point.

Seeing this, Blant held his breath.

When Jack arrived at that point, he did not stop at all as he continued forward at a steady pace.

Looking at that, Blant's lips started to twitch. He remembered how much the pressure had increased for him when he stepped onto the eighty-eight-meter mark.

No matter how hard he tried, he failed to hold on. In order to prevent himself from getting injured, he had been forced to abandon continuing forward. At the same position, with the same amount of pressure, Jack did not seem bothered at all. His expression had not changed in the slightest.

That caused Blant to feel incredibly sour. From that alone, the gap between him and Jack was incredibly clear.

Jack easily walked past the eighty-eight-meter mark and entered the ninety-meter mark. After crossing ninety meters, his expression still did not change as he advanced. Even though they were already mentally prepared for that, everyone still hissed at the sight.

Someone said with a hoarse voice, "It's already ninety meters, but he's still acting like it's nothing to him. It's as if the pressure from the ninety-meter mark is nothing more than a scratch!"

Looking at that, there were even those who started to wonder if something had gone wrong with the Path of Fate.

Otherwise, how was Jack still calm?

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4042

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4042-Could the pressure from the laws of nature from their challenges be different from Jack's?

Of course, those thoughts did not last on their minds for that long. After all, it was an absurd notion. No matter how skilled Jack was, there was no way he could change the rules.

It only proved one thing, Jack's skills were far stronger than they thought!

If they had stepped into the ninety-meter mark, their bodies would have immediately been destroyed by the laws of nature. Yet, the strength of that level was nothing to Jack. It did not stop him from advancing at all.

Jack's steady advance did not stop the entire time. Every step he took seemed to cover the exact same distance. Just like that, he slowly walked to the hundred-meter mark.

At that moment, everyone took a deep breath as they looked right at the Path of Fate, not willing to miss anything. Even Jack started to feel the pressure when he walked past the hundred-meter mark.

The energy was crashing into him from everywhere. The pressure was more than twice the pressure he had felt earlier. With every step he took, over ten waves of energy from the laws of nature would violently crash into his shield made of soul energy.

Every strike would cause the gray mist to dampen a bit. However, the gray mist would quickly be replenished again.

Jack raised an eyebrow. He was already starting to feel the pressure so quickly which caught him off guard. He had thought that he would only feel actual pressure after a hundred and ten meters. Only then would his shield made of soul energy start to waver.

Yet, the moment he entered a hundred meters, he started to feel the resistance. However, the gray mist was quickly replenished even if it was slightly dispersed by the laws of nature, so advancing did not affect Jack too much.

Of course, that would depend on the power of the laws of nature not increasing, which was obviously impossible.

The more he continued, the more powerful the laws of nature got. Jack had thought that he would be able to reach the end easily, but he was quickly losing his confidence. The Path of Fate really was too hard of a challenge. Even Jack was not a hundred percent confident.

Jack stopped at the hundred-and-one point before he continued to advance again. However, Jack started to walk slower this time, despite not stopping at all.

At that moment, everyone was incredibly drawn in by what was happening. No one was discussing anything at that moment, and everyone was just looking right at Jack.

They wanted to see how far this warrior at the peak who had gained so much attention would be able to reach in the end!

After five minutes, Jack arrived at the hundred and fifteen meter mark!

At that point, everyone was willing to admit that he was strong. Even Blant had to concede defeat.

Everyone who had stepped onto the Path of Fate before knew how hard this test was. The further they advanced, the more pressure there was!

For them, even being able to get to sixty meters was quite impressive. Yet, Jack had already gone past a hundred and ten meters.

At that moment, even Jack was starting to find it hard to hold on. The energy of the laws of nature was violently assaulting him like wild animals.

Jack was forced to slowly activate his true energy to maintain the soul mist as he advanced. He needed to make sure that he was not struck by the laws of nature.

After another fifteen meters, Jack finally arrived at the hundred and twenty-meter point.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4043

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4043-The moment he stepped inside, the violent energy increased again.

Jack could hear loud banging from all around him as if there were countless people using hammers to violently smash into his shield made of soul energy.

The mist that was on the surface rapidly started to thin down. Holes started to form in certain areas. Jack did not dare to delay things at all as he immediately formed seals. Countless seals condensed in the air, turning into pure soul energy to fill up the gaps!

Jack clenched his teeth as sweat fell off his forehead.

The warriors standing below the Path of Fate were all looking on in interest.

Jack was close to his limits. His result of a hundred and twenty meters was already far above everyone else's.

However, most of the warriors there did not want Jack to get to the end. That was because they did not want to admit that the gap between them and him was that big, even though Jack was already so ahead of them.

A warrior in green armor clenched his fist and said emotionally, "He's finally losing his control! He's finally at his limits!"

"If he stubbornly tries to advance, there's no way he can hang on. The holes in the gray mist would start to get larger and larger, and the violent natural laws would slam into him viciously. Even Jack would be heavily injured. His life might end up in danger! Wouldn't that be such a joke?!"

A warrior who stood at the top five lost his life because he was too stubborn during a challenge.

If word got out about that, it would definitely attract a lot of mocking laughter!

Lourain looked at Jack with concern. He could feel that Jack really was almost at his limits.

If Jack continued, it was possible that Jack could end up heavily injured. It could even threaten his life!

He took two steps forward and opened his mouth to advise Jack, but nothing came out in the end!

Jack had always been someone who did things at his own pace. If Lourain said something at that moment, it would only annoy Jack, so he forced himself to shut up.

Just as everyone thought that Jack would not advance anymore and would stop at a hundred and twenty meters, Jack took another step forward despite the pressure.

The moment he stepped forward, Jack stopped again.

The power of the laws of nature was slamming heavily into his soul mist, and two holes immediately appeared. He was forced to stop in his tracks, forming seals with his hands to condense even more to fill up the gaps. After the warriors below saw that, a discussion erupted among them.

“Is he still refusing to give up? His results are already enough to stand above everyone. He’s just three meters away from the endpoint. Even if he can’t get all nine points, he’s definitely going to get eight points!”

“Is he trying to force himself to get to the end? That’s just too risky. It might only be three meters, but each step forward means the energy will be even stronger!”

“If he forces himself to continue, his body might end up getting hit. The energy at a hundred and twenty meters will definitely be several times the strength from before. Just one wave of energy might be lethal! Continuing forward like that is just too risky!”

Quite a few people agreed with that. It really was too risky.

Jack was just playing around with his own life for the sake of that one final point. It was so risky, and not worth it at all. Eight points was already a lot.

If the energy ended up striking his body, then he would end up losing everything. In their eyes, it was not worth it at all!

When they saw the sight, they did not know what to say. They even felt like Jack was acting too recklessly. The happiest person there was definitely Blant.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4044

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4044-His fists were clenched up tightly, and he was mumbling to himself, cursing Jack the whole time, "Die!"

It would be best if Jack was heavily injured by the laws of nature, and either lost his life or end up in a state where he was close to dying!

That was the best result. He constantly prayed and cursed Jack!

At that moment, a gray mist suddenly rose behind Jack's body. That gray mist did not look the same as the mist that was surrounding his body. The mist was even denser and contained the laws of nature as well.

After the mist rose into the air, it formed a human figure. Upon closer inspection, the figure looked just like Jack.

When everyone saw that sight, they took a deep breath as they recognized it!

That was his world avatar!

Jack clenched his teeth as he used his world avatar to help maintain the soul mist. At that moment, Jack was using everything he had, summoning up all his power to face the assault of the torrent of energy!

With the help of his world avatar, the gray mist solidified and hugged his body tightly. Jack did not dare to delay things at all. Even getting to that point had spent most of the true energy.

If he delayed things, it would only cause him to spend all of his true energy. Then, there would be no way he would be able to continue advancing.

With the last of his strength, he started to walk toward the end!

Jack's world avatar was frantically being used. Wave after wave of energy entered the soul mist to sustain it. He still heard loud bangs all around him. The laws of nature were violently clashing into the mist around his body.

At the last moment, the waves of energy were like thousands of meteors crashing onto the mist violently. The mist was getting thinner and thinner until just a bit remained!

Jack's sweat started to wet his shirt.

At that moment, Jack could hear nothing else other than the beating of his own heart and the energy clashing around him. He could hear nothing else.

As he spent all his energy, he even started to tremble. The only thing he had to rely on was his willpower as he advanced!

He could feel the mist getting thinner and thinner around him.

It was about to falter!

Jack took a deep breath. He did not want to force it. He knew what the consequences of forcing it were. Even if points were very important, his life was more important.

The moment his mist could not hold on, he would not hesitate to jump off the Path of Fate!

Just as he was about to reach his limits, and the fog was about to crumble, he could hear Lourain shouting, "Jack! If you can't do it, then you should just stop..."

He could even hear Blant shouting out in excitement, "He's at his limits. He can't hold on anymore! As long as that thin mist is destroyed, then this guy will be crippled if he doesn't die!"

Jack took a deep breath.

Was he really at his limits?

How many steps away was he from the end?

At that moment, he felt the pain coming from all his joints. It was the sign that his true energy was about to be expended. He really was at his limits!

Right at that moment, the energy that was violently assaulting him suddenly disappeared!

The pressure on the thin layer of mist around him was gone!

Jack widened his eyes abruptly. At that moment, he noticed that he was already at the finish line!

The violent energy was all gone. He had managed to do it!

Jack could not stop himself from violently coughing. He clutched his chest, and his clothes were completely wet. It had been a long time since he felt himself being spent to his limits. He had reached the end in a stupor.

If it had just been a moment more, he would have been forced to give up.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4045

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4045-Jack had even been ready to give up. After all, he knew better than anyone that there was no point in forcing himself to continue.

His hands trembled, and his breathing started to speed up. Only then did he start to calm down as he turned around to look behind him.

At that moment, the whole place was entirely peaceful. He could not feel any energy around him at all!

Only by stepping inside could one feel how violent that raging storm was. Even he had been forced to spend all of his true energy before he reached the end!

That had been so different from his expectations. Jack had thought that the Path of Fate would be like the Three Energy Space, that he would not need to expend too much energy to successfully attempt the challenge. He seemed to have underestimated the Radiant Hall.

Jack wiped away the sweat from his forehead.

Suddenly a golden light appeared in the air and completely surrounded him, but Jack did not fight back at all. He could feel no murderous intent from the light.

Before the crowd could recover from their shock, they saw the golden light surrounding Jack. All of them widened their eyes.

The golden light only lasted for a moment before it disappeared.

When it did, everyone could see a box in Jack's hands. Even though they were far away from Jack, they could still feel the energy coming from the box. Anyone could clearly tell that the box contained an amazing treasure.

Everyone found themselves at a complete loss for words at that moment.

Jack had managed to reach the end. That result was practically a miracle in their eyes. There was no way the reward Jack got would be anything ordinary.

The moment Jack received the reward, his name appeared on the massive scroll as well.

His name was undoubtedly in the first place.

The number nine appeared right behind the name, signifying that Jack had managed to get nine points.

Quite a few people stared right at that moment, and they felt themselves breathing even quicker and quicker. However, all they could do was watch.

Jack had used his skill to get those points, while it was not possible for them at all!

"I thought I would never get to see that number, but I really witnessed a miracle! Is this the power of a warrior at the peak? The difference between us is just insane! I've only heard of it before, but seeing it for myself, I finally realized how big the gap is between them and me," A man in black robes lamented.

White bit his lips, and he had a complicated expression on his face as he stared at Jack's results.

After he had finished his challenge, Lourain rushed up behind him. Lionel had rushed up to the Path of Fate for revenge as well. There was also Adler, but all of them had been attacked on the Path of Fate and did not truly complete the challenge.

Jack was the only person who actually did the challenge after White, but Jack had performed a miracle, going from the start to the end. Meanwhile, White was already completely spent after reaching the sixty-meter point. Jack managed to achieve double his results.

The gap between them was clear. All White could do was lament the fact.

White clenched his teeth and sighed before he said, “I took such a big risk to enter the Radiant Hall because I wanted the chance to become a warrior at the peak! Yet, I never thought about the gap between me and them!”

“I finally know how big the gap is. I’d thought that I would just need to take a big step forward to become a warrior at the peak. Now I know that, even if I take two or three steps forward, I’ll not even be able to scratch at their heels!”

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4046

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4046-After White finished saying that, quite a few people around him nodded.

Every participant there had completely acknowledged Jack’s strength. They were just so far away from him in terms of skill. His results were something they could never obtain!

“He managed to get nine points in one go, while we’re stuck here with two or three. Those points are obviously going to be very useful! He’ll definitely be able to obtain some amazing treasures, and they will help him improve even more!”

At that moment, he paused, frowning before he continued, “Isn’t the Radiant Hall supposed to be a place where you can change your destiny? Even regular warriors can find a chance to turn their lives around! Yet, it seems like the rules still favor the strong! The strong get more of the rewards, while the weak can only get the worst!”

After that person spoke, everyone seemed to agree with him.

They could not stop themselves from wondering if the information they had on the Radiant Hall was accurate.

Rumor had it that the Radiant Hall could allow regular warriors to turn their lives around and become warriors at the peak. Yet, after they entered, they found that every challenge and every test inside was no different from the outside world. No one had seen any chances to change their fate!

“Could the news be fake? Could it be something those warriors at the peak crafted to accomplish their own goals?”

Most warriors no longer had any goodwill toward the warriors at the peak. After all, those warriors who stood at the peak never treated them as humans. They were slaughtered casually and were basically treated as livestock.

For the sake of collecting Heartblood, they had spread so much misinformation.

They fooled everyone into thinking that the Toman Battlefield would not be open for another two months after that one time. That was not the only time that kind of false information had been spread.

At that point, everyone started to wonder if the news of the Radiant Hall being able to turn the fates of regular warriors around was purposely spread out.

After that person asked the question, it was quickly answered.

A man in purple robes shook his head and said, “This isn’t false news. It’s something that’s already been spread around even before the Whirling World opened. They’ve put many plans in place for the sake of their schemes, but there’s no way they would have set the plans in motion hundreds of years ago. I’ve heard about this since I was born. It’s not something they fabricated...”

“There really should be a way for regular warriors to reach the level of a warrior at the peak in here! Don’t be too impatient. We’re not even that far into the Radiant Hall. We still have even more challenges ahead of us. I think that the chance is probably closer to the end.”

After the man said that, he paused before he turned to look at every one.

He said calmly, “I would advise you against having too much hope. There have been people who managed to reach the peak from the Radiant Hall, but the numbers are incredibly rare. You can count them with one hand! If you are too obsessed with the idea, you might end up walking right into danger, and even lose your life.”

After that man finished speaking, everyone was in silence again.

The crowd glinted in their eyes, and no one refuted the man. No one continued with what he said either.

They had to admit that what the man in purple robes said was true. It was a kindhearted piece of advice, but not many actually bothered to listen. Even though those who actually managed to leap in their abilities were able to be counted with one hand, there was no way to say that they would not be the ones to make that leap.

Most of the warriors who entered the Radiant Hall were taking such a big risk because they had such hope. Becoming a warrior that stood at the peak was just too alluring to them.

Because they could not forget about that notion, they entered the Radiant Hall.

After obtaining his reward, Jack walked off the Path of Fate.

Lourain rushed over with excitement, "I knew you'd be able to do it!"

In Lourain's heart, Jack was the strongest person. Yet, even Lourain wondered if Jack could reach the end.

The results showed Lourain that his concern had been completely unnecessary.

Jack had managed to get all of the points!

The others were only able to look on in admiration.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4047

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4047-Jack's lips curled up as he patted Jack on the shoulder. He did not say anything.

Both of them had already attempted the challenge, and could no longer step on the Path of Fate. They could only wait for the remaining time.

Jack did not want to listen to all the idle chit-chat, so he found a quiet spot with Lourain, and they waited for everyone else to complete the challenges.

Blant had already lost his earlier calm. He clenched his fan tightly and was glaring at Jack the whole time.

At that moment, he could not say anything. Various emotions flashed on his face. There was envy, hatred, and anger!

However, Jack was in no mood to pay any attention to Blant at that moment.

After Jack and Lourain found an empty place, Jack immediately sat down and tried to recover. The earlier battle had completely wiped his true energy clean. He was taking the chance to recover his energy before anything happened.

Time slowly ticked away.

After another half an hour, the space around them suddenly started to distort. Jack suddenly opened his eyes. He had already recovered ninety percent of the true energy within his body.

When he felt the space starting to twist around him, he immediately took out the blank token and pushed his true energy inside. A thin red line came out of the token, wrapping around Lourain's wrist.

Jack was already used to it at this point. As long as the space started to distort, it meant that the challenge had already ended.

After a few moments, everyone was warped up by the distorted space and sent to the next challenge.

Thanks to the blank token, Lourain was not sent away alone and came to the next challenge with Jack. They were at a massive plaza. The plaza was made with pitch-black bricks, and each brick had special symbols engraved on them.

The plaza had a special name. It was called the Black Abyss. It was not the only plaza there.

Right in front of the Black Abyss was the White Abyss, which was made with white bricks. There were nine paths between the two plazas that were called the Black Paths. Each path was about a hundred and twenty meters wide.

After the transfer ended, the two of them were in the black Abyss. The round token sent information about the challenge into their heads again. At that moment, there were about seventy to eighty people in the Black Abyss, and all of them had very serious expressions on their faces.

About two-thirds of the participants were frowning anxiously. They were discussing things with everyone, and their hands were wildly motioning around as well.

After Jack and Lourain gained their footing, they did not look at the other participants, but the surroundings inside.

Lourain took a deep breath, "This time, the challenge is on the Black Paths, and the rules still favor the strong. The points will be given based on the difficulty. In the end, the weak won't be able to get that many points."

After understanding the rules of this challenge, Lourain felt a bit miserable. Jack had consoled him before, saying that the challenges were just starting, and his change would be closer to the end. However, after two challenges and understanding the rules of this challenge, Lourain started to feel frustrated.

The challenge this time was incredibly dangerous. If one completed the challenge, they would be able to enter the White Abyss.

Those who failed would be tossed back to the Black Abyss as a corpse. There were nine levels of difficulty on the Black Abyss, and the challengers could choose which level they wanted to attempt.

This time, the challenge was not only testing a person's skill, but their mentality as well. Those who did not know their own place could very well lose their lives.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4048

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4048-Lourain was so frustrated because this time, the rules were the same as the past challenges. To get more points, one would need talent that was better than everyone else's. In the end, it rewarded the strong over the weak.

He had yet to see a single challenge that was meant for the weak. All the challenges favored those who were strong.

The weaklings did not have access to many points. If this continued, the regular warriors would not get the chance to change their destinies at all.

Jack looked up at the Black Paths and the White Abyss before saying calmly, "This time, there will definitely be a lot of warriors who attempt higher difficulties for points..."

Lourain nodded, "Going past the Black Path and entering the White Abyss, one will be able to get tokens based on their points. The different colored tokens will send you to different training grounds. The better the training ground, the more promising it will be. Everyone can see the benefits. There will definitely be many who will struggle over the training grounds!"

The White Abyss was different from the Black Abyss. It was an isolated space there and was considered the middle point of the Radiant Hall.

The White Abyss had tokens of various levels there. The levels correspond to different colors. Based on the points the participants had, they would be able to change their round tokens for them.

The more points they had, the higher level their tokens would be. The higher level their tokens were, the better the training grounds they entered were. The better the training grounds, the faster they would improve. It was very beneficial to the warriors.

After entering Black Abyss, the round token sent the news into the heads of all the participants. Once they found out about the White Abyss, everyone immediately started to covet the points.

The challenges they had already been through were already in the past, so they pinned all their hopes on this challenge. They wanted to get even more points so they could get better tokens.

This time, the choice happened to be on them as well.

If they wanted more points, they could pick the relevant difficulty. However, if they failed, then they would die.

This was an incredibly difficult problem for all the participants there!

Since the choice was in their hands, then picking a harder challenge would mean a great time if they managed to win. If they lost, they would lose their points. It was no wonder that so many of the participants were so serious. They looked incredibly conflicted.

Lourain took a deep breath, “This really is torture! If it were me in the past, I’d definitely be feeling incredibly conflicted right now.”

The feeling was hard to describe. The choice was right in front of them.

One step could lead to heaven, while the other could lead to hell. Unless one was already incredibly confident, it was impossible to choose a difficulty with great certainty.

“Mitchell, are you crazy? Do you not know your place?” An angry shout was heard.

Jack and Lourain turned around to see two men in green robes arguing with each other anxiously.

Those words earlier had been shouted out by the man on the left to the one on the right.

From their conversation, Jack knew their names. The one on the right was called Mitchell, while the one on the left was called Smeil.

Mitchell shook his head, “Smeil, listen to me! I’m only four points away from getting a green token. If I pick the level three difficulty, I’ll only be able to get three points if I win. On top of what I got before, I’d have nine points!”

“Nine points looks like a decent number, but I’ll only be able to get a blue token! I’m just one point away from the next level. I’m being forced to pick the fourth level. If don’t try, then the best result I’ll get will still be one step below!”

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4049

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4049-Smeil’s expression was very sour.

Naturally, he knew about that, but increasing the difficulty in such a situation was just too dangerous. It was very possible that he could lose his life. Even if he managed to successfully pass, it was possible that he would be too heavily injured in the end.

Even if he managed to get the points, the price to pay was just too big. Smeil felt like it was not worth the risk at all.

Those two were very close to Jack and Lourain, so both of them heard the full conversation.

The White Abyss' rules on the tokens had already been sent into their minds, so Jack and Lourain naturally knew what was being talked about. The rules for the token exchange were very simple.

Those who only had one point or two points did not even have the right to get a token.

Getting the lowest level token needs three points at least. Every level had its own color associated with it.

Three points would get a purple token, five points would get a blue token. Ten points would get a cyan token while thirteen points would get a green one and so on. The highest level was the most valuable red token, which was worth twenty-seven points.

In the earlier challenges, Mitchell had gotten six points. If he was in between five and ten points, then he would get the cyan token.

Yet, if he managed to get four points from the challenge, then he would have ten points in total. It would allow him to get the green token.

One point made a whole level of difference, so it was hard to blame Mitchell for wanting to attempt it.

Hearing this, Smile sighed. He knew how helpless Mitchell felt, but this was not a risk that should be taken.

He patted Mitchell on the shoulder and said seriously, "I don't want to nag either, but you need to think about it properly. Your skills are at the third level at most. The fourth level is too much for you..."

"You might be an above-average warrior, but you're only barely at that level. Only those warriors who are in the middle of the above-average level can take on the fourth level of difficulty. This is just too risky!"

Mitchell nodded. He knew that taking on the fourth level of difficulty was a risky move, but it was something he felt like he needed to do. Otherwise, he would regret it for the rest of his life.

One point meant a whole different level. He wanted to fight for his future.

Mitchell nodded, "I know you want what's good for me, and I know that it's a big risk for me to pick the fourth level of difficulty, but there's a saying. Danger and opportunity come hand in hand. If I don't take this risk, then I'd lose the chance to continue getting stronger..."

"We warriors are born to fight against our destinies. Everything we do is full of danger. It's just that this time, the danger is greater than before!"

After he said that, Mitchell paused for a moment, taking a deep breath before he continued, "Don't worry, I'll definitely move carefully. The fourth level of difficulty might be dangerous, but as long as I'm careful, I won't get myself heavily injured, even if it's going to be hard!"

He was quite confident in his own skills. Even though it would not be easy for him, he felt like he should be able to pass as long as he gave it his all and was incredibly careful.

If he got injured, it was probably not going to be a fatal or heavy injury. In the end, he would be entering the White Abyss after completing the challenge in the Black Abyss.