No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4071-Jack frowned as he looked at the man in red robes again.

That person had deliberately raised his voice to attract everyone's attention.

At a time like this, the best thing to do was to make sure one's fortunes were not exposed. Yet, that guy had deliberately raised his voice and announced the Dragon's Beard Herb, attracting a lot of attention.

At that moment, the Dragon's Beard Herb was the most valuable thing around, so it would naturally attract everyone's attention and invite a lot of ill intentions.

The man in red robes raised an eyebrow before quickly ducking his head and hiding from sight. He did not want any conflict between the two of them.

At that moment, Jack was not able to say anything, because Dante and Haversham were already in front of him.

Dante looked at the herb in Lourain's hand.

Lourain frowned, naturally realizing something was wrong as well. He immediately put the Dragon's Beard Herb into his storage ring, which immediately caused Dante and Haversham's expressions to darken.

"Didn't you hear what I said just now? Who said you could keep it?" Dante was immediately much colder.

He had planned on acting much friendlier, but he could no longer hold back.

Lourain frowned and scoffed, "This is my Dragon's Beard Herb. Why do you care if I kept it?!"

If it was anyone else, they would not have adopted such a harsh tone even if they were unhappy. After all, Dante's skills were plain for all to see.

Lourain was different. After all, he was next to Jack. Even if Dante was ranked highly among above-average warriors, he was still trash in Lourain's eyes when compared to Jack!

There was no way Lourain would be happy about Dante ordering him around the moment Dante approached.

Dante was already used to giving orders, and he had looked into Lourain's skills before he walked forward.

In terms of skills, Lourain was not too bad. He could barely be considered an above-average warrior. However, in front of Dante, Lourain was nothing.

Dante had thought that someone like that would never dare to go against him, but he never expected the guy to be so bold.

Dante narrowed his eyes, "Brat! Do you know the consequences your attitude will bring you?"

Lourain immediately rolled his eyes. It was that kind of talk yet again. Each time he met someone like this, they would always have the exact same attitude. They would always warn him that a bad fate awaited him if he offended them.

Those people did not bother thinking about it properly.

If Lourain really needed to be afraid of them, then how could he possibly regard them with this kind of attitude?

If threats were useful, then Lourain would never have faced them with that attitude. Since he dared to do it, it meant he did not care about them.

Those people were already so used to being above everyone. As long as a person was beneath them, they would think that the person was challenging their dignity.

Lourain said with disdain, "What are the consequences? Why don't you tell me?"

Dante frowned as he looked at Lourain, forcing his anger down. He was not there for the sake of arguing, so he needed to compose himself for the sake of his goals.

Dante took a deep breath before he slowed himself down, "It will end very badly for you. However, if you agree to just one thing, I'll forget everything and forgive your sins."

Lourain clenched his teeth, suppressing his urge to curse at Dante. That person was definitely not going to ask for anything good from him.

However, he was still curious about what Dante was doing, so Lourain nodded, "Why don't you tell me?"

At that moment, quite a few people nearby were looking at them. Dante smirked as he put up one finger, wagging it in front of Lourain.

"I'll give you one piece of purple gold for the Dragon's Beard Herb in your hand. As long as you're willing to make that exchange, I'll make sure to protect you in the future."

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4072-After hearing what Dante had to say, Lourain was so annoyed that he laughed.

Dante actually managed to say something so absurd.

After everyone else heard it, they had strange looks on their faces, and they immediately understood why Dante had deliberately walked over.

Lourain scoffed and said, "You're asking to exchange ten million for my herb that's worth seventy million. You sure are good at counting. Do you think there's something wrong with my head, or do you think I can't do math?"

Dante's friendly expression immediately turned cold when he saw that Lourain was not acting like how he wanted, "Brat, you should just take what is offered. I'm already being very nice to you. I'm giving you a way to bow down without any harm. I can assure you, even if you don't want to exchange it, you'll have to!"

Lourain scoffed and felt incredibly exasperated.

Dante was practically robbing him in broad daylight!

Lourain raised an eyebrow before he said without any reservation, "Why do I absolutely have to do it? Are you going to forcibly steal it from me?"

Dante shook his head. They were in a restricted area, and he could not do anything. However, he still had his ways to make Lourain hand over the Dragon's Beard Herb. Dante held his head higher and looked like a proud peacock!"

"Do you not know the consequences of offending me? If you refuse to exchange it, you won't just lose out on ten million spirit crystals, you'll lose your life too. Naturally, we can't fight here. However, do you think the whole Radiant Hall is filled with restricted areas? There are plenty of chances to kill you!"

"Even if I can't find any chances here, do you think there won't be any later on? My fellow disciple is a warrior at the peak, and he's quite close to me. As long as I inform him, he'll arrange for our other fellow disciples to get rid of you! If you don't hand it over, then you'll be living in fear from now on. You could lose your life at any moment!"

Dante had practically forced out those words through his clenched teeth. His eyes were completely wide, and the viciousness was oozing out from his eyes.

At that moment, that proud peacock had turned into a venomous snake hiding in a corner, prepared to bite someone at any moment.

Dante was practically trying to force Lourain into the deal.

Anyone could see that. Most of the warriors had pretty dark looks on their faces and were cursing Dante internally for being shameless. However, no one dared to say anything and merely looked at Dante with anger.

Quite a few people silently lamented the fact that they would have probably been forced to agree if they were in Lourain's shoes.

For the sake of their future, they needed to agree to the deal with Dante. Dante did not have the dignity of someone strong at all. He could do anything.

It was far better to take the ten million and have things done on the spot. It would save them a lot of trouble!

Lourain narrowed his eyes slightly before he laughed. He did not agree with Dante right away and instead turned to look at Jack.

Jack happened to look over as well, and he nodded right at Lourain.

Lourain immediately understood what Jack meant.

Jack was trying to tell Lourain that he would support him the whole way!

Suddenly, Lourain looked like he had just been injected with courage.

Lourain turned around to look at Dante coldly, “So what if your fellow disciple is a warrior at the peak? What does it have to do with me?! Do I need to listen to you just because you’re trying to force me? Don’t think that everyone here will just let you do whatever you please!”

“In my eyes, you’re worth nothing at all! Please look in the mirror and take a good look at yourself. You’re just a shameless and despicable bandit, but you’re still acting so proudly. You’re disgusting! Why is a robber like you acting so proudly in front of us!”

Lourain was practically blurting out everything he had been holding back, and Dante was actually stunned by the scolding.

He never expected Lourain to dare to go against him and curse at him like that!

The other party even called him disgusting!

Dante widened his eyes, and his anger surged up. Everyone else around them was stunned, and they looked at Lourain with a completely different expressions.

“This guy is amazing! He scolded Dante so badly. Just look at how stunned Dante is. He couldn’t react at all!”

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4073

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4073-“This feels so good! That person is saying exactly what I want to. Dante’s actions are practically robbery. He’s even acting like everyone else here is beneath him. It’s as if he’s noble, and everyone else is trash. Even if we’re trash, we’ve never done anything so shameless and despicable!”

Quite a few people were giving Lourain a thumbs up in their hearts. Even though they felt like Lourain was completely offending Dante by saying that, Lourain still voiced out everyone's thoughts. They were definitely on Lourain's side.

Haversham stood behind Dante and had been quiet the whole time.

However, he could no longer remain silent as he frowned and took a step forward, "How dare you?! Do you know who we are?!"

Lourain scoffed and said in disdain, "Who cares who the two of you are? Quit clinging to who your fellow disciple is too. Why should I care about any of that?! You're trying to use your background to push me down? Please, just don't bother. These things that you think will shock others are worth nothing to me!"

Lourain did not want to know what kind of background Dante had, or who Dante's fellow disciple was. Even if he knew, he would not be threatened.

No matter who his fellow disciple was, he would be nothing in front of Jack.

Triton was a warrior at the peak as well, and Triton died to Jack all the same.

There were over thirty warriors at the peak. Other than the top three, the others were trash in front of Jack!

That was something Lourain was certain of.

Dante was so angry that his lips were trembling. That trash did not know his place and was crossing the line more and more. If they were not in a restricted area, he would definitely have personally ripped that man's mouth off to show him the consequences of offending Dante!

Looking at Dante huffing in anger, Lourain started to laugh, "Can you stop being so obsessed with your fellow disciple? Your fellow disciple is just as shameless and despicable as you in my eyes. I haven't forgotten what those warriors at the peak did in the Toman Battlefield."

The moment the Toman Battlefield was mentioned, all of the warriors there had a sudden change in expression.

As regular warriors, they naturally hated the warriors at the peak who did not regard their lives as anything. Those warriors at the peak viewed them as livestock, and so many of them had died thanks to the warriors at the peak!

Dante suddenly raised his voice, "Shut up! You should remember those who've helped you! Asking you to give me the Dragon's Breath Herb is just a matter of course! Do you think you'd have gotten in here without my fellow disciple?"

"Without his plans, the Radiant Hall would not have been opened at all, and you would not have had the chance to get the Dragon's Beard Herb! You benefited from it all, but you still mocked my fellow disciple! What gives you that right?!"

The moment that was said, the crowd was stunned at first, but they exploded after that!

What kind of logic was that?

The warriors at the peak helped them?

Then would they not be lowering their heads to the ones who tortured them?

When Lourain heard that, he was so angry he did not know what to say. He had never heard something so absurd before.

Jack could no longer take it anymore as he patted Lourain on the shoulder to stop.

Jack walked forward and looked at Dante with a cold expression, "So your fellow disciple schemed with the other warriors at the peak, killing regular warriors to collect Heartblood, all for the sake of others?"

Jack's words were right on point.

Those people schemed all for themselves. If they could control the Radiant Hall, the first thing they would do would have been to shut the entrance.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4074

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4074-Jack's words left the other side at a loss for words.

Dante paused for a long time before he coldly said, "Stop trying to argue! Let me ask you. Without my fellow disciple, would you have been able to enter the Radiant Hall?! You clearly benefited, but you're trying to cause your benefactors trouble! Are you sure you won't be punished for this?! Do you even have a heart?!"

When Jack heard that, he felt furious. It was not just Lourain who felt like it was absurd, he did too.

Dante was trying so hard to completely twist the truth, and he refused to budge at all.

The other participants were all absolutely furious as they listened.

At the moment, the crowd could not take it anymore and wanted to fight back. However, they found themselves unable to say anything.

It was not because they were worried about offending Dante, but because they did not know what to say. They did not know where to start when attacking Dante's twisted logic.

Jack sneered, "Benefactor? Are you sure you're worthy of being called that? So many regular warriors died on the Toman Battlefield due to your sinister plot. For the sake of Heartblood, you stopped at nothing."

"The schemes were not just on the Toman Battlefield, but elsewhere as well. You constantly plotted to kill regular warriors. Killing others would not have been a huge matter, but you didn't just kill them. Before they died, you made sure they suffered the most painful torture in their lives..."

"Only then would you have managed to gather the Heartblood. It was those regular warriors who opened the Radiant Hall with their blood, but you're taking credit for that? Please, be clearer as well! The Radiant Hall was opened to everyone, not because of you, but the rules of the Radiant Hall!"

After Jack said all of that, the crowd immediately agreed. Quite a few people started to curse in their excitement.

Originally, they had been afraid of Dante's skills and did not want to offend Dante. However, what Dante said earlier had just been too harsh to handle. It was like a needle piercing into their hearts.

These people were not very high-ranking in their original worlds, but they did hold a certain position. They only became regular warriors because the Whirling World was filled with talent. They had their own pride as well, it was just that it had constantly been suppressed.

At that moment, the suppression was completely thrown away by Dante's words. They could no longer control themselves.

"He's right! Every warrior who entered the Whirling World could enter the Radiant Hall. That's the rule of the Radiant Hall, and not yours! We'll never forget those shameless and despicable actions of yours! Do you really think we'll just take it?"

"That's right! You're just crossing the line! How dare you say you're our benefactors?! You dogs! You used the lives of my fellow disciples as stepping stones and did whatever you wanted to us, but you're calling yourselves our benefactors now?! You're just shameless and despicable dogs!"

"Dante, you should be thankful this is a restricted area. We're naturally no match for you alone, but if we work together, you wouldn't be able to deal with the numbers!"

Dante's expression stiffened as he was cursed by everyone.

He looked at everyone in disgust, and he did not bother hiding the disdain in his eyes as he scoffed, "All of you rotten pieces of trash are just trying to put on an act! You'd attack me? Do you think you're worthy?"

Even though the crowd was incredibly angry and wanted nothing more than to rip him apart, Dante acted like he did not care at all.

In his heart, he looked down on all of them. In Dante's eyes, they were not even worthy of wiping his shoes.

Naturally, he would not be able to defeat them if they had the numbers, but Dante was no idiot.

Why did he need to give them that chance?

If they could work together, could he not find help as well?

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4075

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4075-No matter how loudly everyone was speaking, Dante was not affected at all. Dante sneered as he held his head high, facing everyone's rage.

As those people cursed, Dante cursed right back at them. He did not care about their threats at all. He merely regarded everyone there as cockroaches in the sewers.

How could cockroaches challenge him?

As Dante's expression got more and more arrogant, the crowd got angrier and angrier.

There were those clenching their fists and wanting nothing more than to beat Dante up. However, everyone there had something holding them back.

They were in a restricted area. If they attacked, they would be punished by the laws. No matter how angry they were, they needed to refrain from doing anything.

After Dante finished cursing at one of the participants, he turned to look at Jack. He had complete contempt in his eyes as if Jack was a piece of trash.

He scoffed and said, "So what if you're good at arguing? Even if you have all the time in the world to speak, what can you do with logic? Are you even a match for me? All you riff-raff here, if it's a one-on-one battle, who could possibly beat me?!"

The moment he said that, it became much quieter.

At that moment, the tokens in the air suddenly fell. Those tokens seemed to have a certain sense. The participants did not need to choose the tokens, because the tokens would go to them.

Those people stood there, and the laws looked into the number of points everyone got. The tokens would fly into their hands based on their points.

A purple light flashed past, and a purple token landed in Lourain's hands.

Lourain grabbed the token and the rage he had earlier simmered down quite a bit.

That was something he had earned from his own hard work.

On the Black Path, he had given it his all for the win. After the win, he managed to get two points. Only then was he able to get the purple token.

Before he could finish being happy, a mocking voice was heard again, “I wondered how strong you could be, but you’re just a piece of trash. You were only able to get the purple token. It looks like you only managed to get three or four points from the three challenges! Your results are so bad it’s not worth looking at!”

After that was said, Lourain’s face reddened in anger. All the happiness he felt completely disappeared.

That dog was constantly angering him!

Lourain clenched his teeth and said, “So what if it’s three points? Why does it concern you?”

The purple tokens were just too ordinary among the participants. He could not compare to Dante at all.

Dante’s lips curled up as he looked at Lourain in disdain. He had some hesitation in his eyes.

Lourain was nowhere near as brave as he seemed.

The gap between them was incredibly evident. It was completely impossible to ignore it.

At that moment, a green token fell into Dante’s hands.

Getting the green token needed at least thirteen points, while seventeen points for a yellow token. Hence, it was evident that Dante’s results were between thirteen to seventeen points.

Even though that result was not that impressive in front of the warriors at the peak and not worth noticing, a lot of people were looking at Dante’s back with looks of admiration and greed.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4076

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4076-Most warriors got the purple tokens. Even those who managed to get the blue tokens were already considered quite decent.

Those who got the green tokens were even fewer, because green tokens needed ten points, and only a small number of them managed to achieve that.

Dante's lips curled up into a mocking smile. He raised his green token and waved it in front of Lourain before waving it in front of Jack.

"So what if you're good with your words? You've managed to convince everyone with your verbal assaults on me, but what of it? I can enter the fourth level of training grounds with the green token. After I've trained there for a few days, my skills will improve, and the gap between us will only widen. You'll never be able to face me!"

Right after that, there were sudden exclamations all around them.

Dante raised an eyebrow as a look of annoyance flashed on his face. Those plebeians who knew nothing loved to shout and cheer for just about anything.

Before he could even turn around to look, he saw a red token quickly falling from the air.

Dante was stunned in place when he saw that. His eyes widened dramatically.

That red token he had so coveted fell into Jack's palm.

"My god! Am I seeing things?! It's a red token! Surely I must be seeing things!"

"Getting a red token means you need to have accumulated at least twenty-seven points! That means that someone would have needed to score nine points in every single challenge before this! Unless there's something wrong with the White Abyss, this person must have gotten twenty-seven points!"

As that person said that, he was far too emotional, and started to even mumble. However, everyone heard him clearly in the end.

Twenty-seven whole points!

That was something they could not even dream about getting for themselves. It made no sense at all.

After experiencing the three challenges, every single one of them felt how difficult the challenges were.

In the Three Energy Space, they had spent all their strength only to fill up two energy vortexes. On the Path of Fate, they had been overwhelmed by the laws of nature that every single step was arduous to take.

Wanting to obtain one more point meant putting their lives in danger. The challenge on the Black Path was even more dangerous than the Path of Fate. At the very least, they were allowed to stop the Path of Fate at any time.

The Black Path was different. The moment they made a choice, they would need to complete the challenge. They had a choice between being victorious and arriving at the White Abyss or dying and becoming a corpse to be sent back to the Black Abyss.

For the sake of those challenges, many have lost their lives. Every challenge had a maximum of nine points to be earned. That would mean that person had gotten every single point that was up for grabs. It did not feel real to any of the participants there at all!

“Surely I must be dreaming! This is just too absurd! Let’s not talk about how the second and third challenges threatened our lives. Just the challenge in the Three Energy Space was already so difficult. At the time, I even assured my fellow disciples that no one could ever fill up all nine energy vortexes. Even warriors at the peak could never do it!”

“I doubt it’s that crazy. Above-average warriors were able to fill up nine energy vortexes. There should be warriors at the peak who were able to fill up all nine of them. After all, there are different levels to the warriors at the peak too. Those warriors at the peak who are ranked the highest would definitely be able to do it.”

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4077

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4077-how violent and frantic the laws of nature on the Path of Fate were. Thankfully, I’m not a reckless person. Otherwise, I’d have lost my life on the Path of Fate...”

“At the time, I saw some who didn’t know their place and decided to be stubborn and advance even though they couldn’t take it anymore. In the end, they were heavily injured by the laws of nature, and almost lost their lives.”

After he said that, he paused before continuing with a more serious tone, “The chances of dying on the Black Path are even higher. Dante’s clearly a highly-ranked above-average warrior. With his skills, he was still only able to choose the fifth difficulty. At the time, I thought that the warriors at the peak who were stronger than him would be able to pick the sixth or seventh difficulties...”

“Those that are even stronger would be able to choose the eighth difficulty! I thought that even the strongest warriors at the peak would not be able to pass the ninth difficulty. At the time, I even felt that the ninth level of difficulty was not something warriors at our age could ever attempt!”

That person was logical in his analysis.

All of the warriors who entered the Whirling World were younger than sixty years old. No matter how talented or skilled they were, there was no way anyone could get too insanely strong with the age restrictions in place. Hence, that person felt like no one would be able to pass the ninth level of difficulty.

As that person spoke about it, he did not lower his voice at all. Quite a few people heard it loud and clear. Even Jack could not help but raise an eyebrow after listening to that person’s analysis.

In truth, that person was right.

Other than Jack, the chances of anyone else managing to pass the ninth level of difficulty was incredibly low. Even he did not have an easy time challenging the ninth level of difficulty.

To him, the hardest challenge was actually not the Black Path, but the Path of Fate.

After passing a hundred and twenty-two meters, even Jack felt like he was at his very limits. He had almost failed the challenge. At the time, he had his teeth clenched tight and was ready to give up. It had taken his last sliver of strength to arrive at the finish line, obtaining nine points.

Other than him, there was no way anyone else would have managed to reach the end. Jack was completely assured of that, so that person was quite logical with his thoughts.

“Who are you?” Dante’s voice became very hoarse at that moment.

His eyes completely reddened, and he looked like he was on the brink of a mental collapse.

Earlier, he even wondered if he was dreaming. However, everything around him was just too realistic, so he quickly denied the idea of him being in a dream.

Yet, was there actually someone who was able to obtain full points in all three challenges?

He felt like it did not seem possible at all.

He refused to believe that someone actually managed to do that. He had personally experienced all three challenges, and every challenge left a deep impression on him. Even obtaining full points in one challenge felt unbelievable to him, let alone all three of them.

Dante gulped, not knowing what to say at that moment.

He looked at the person in front of him, and that person did not seem familiar to him at all. Yet, being able to obtain all twenty-seven points meant that that person was absolutely at the top of the rankings for all warriors.

Dante already knew everyone from those rankings, and those people had entered the Radiant Hall very early on. There was no way they would still be here.

So, where did another warrior at the peak come from?

As those thoughts played in Dante's mind, he suddenly widened his eyebrows.

He said with a hoarse voice, "Could you be Jack...?"

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4078

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4078-Jack was a name that constantly appeared in recent times.

Every single time his name appeared, it would cause many waves. Even Triton, who was a warrior at the peak as well, died to Jack.

It was obvious that Jack could even be ranked in the top three among warriors at the peak!

After Dante's question, their surroundings got a lot quieter.

Practically everyone looked at Jack with an inquisitive gaze.

Jack ignored Dante's question as he said in a calm tone, "What do you think I'd be able to do to you?"

The moment Jack asked that, Dante was completely speechless.

Everyone still remembered how Dante had spoken to Jack. At the time, Dante sounded so arrogant and asked the other party what Jack could do to him even if Jack managed to convince everyone else. He had said that Jack would never be a match for him.

Those words seemed all the more absurd at this point. No matter how strong Dante was, he was still just an above-average warrior.

Jack was someone highly ranked among warriors at the peak. Killing Dante was as easy as killing an ant to Jack.

Dante's lips trembled, "I didn't... I wasn't..."

Dante hurriedly tried to deny it. It was a completely different situation.

Before this, he had dared to raise his voice so much because he was sure that the person he was targeting was no match for him.

He had only spoken so arrogantly because he thought that his target was beneath him in terms of skill and background. He did not dare to actually offend a warrior at the peak at all.

It was practically suicide to do that. Jack killing him was as easy as him wanting to kill a regular warrior. It was a no-brainer.

Even if he came from an impressive background, he was nothing compared to Triton, who had already been killed by Jack.

If Jack killed Triton just like that, then how could he be any better?

Dante's lips curled as he forced out a smile.

He hurriedly lowered his head, "Sir Jack! Please just forgive me for being stupid and ignorant. Please ignore what I said just now!"

His attitude had completely changed. It was as if he was not the same arrogant person from earlier at all.

The regular warriors who had been insulted by him had looks of disdain on their faces when they saw how he was acting. However, they had to admit that lowering themselves at that moment was the best choice.

Jack was just too strong. Someone like that having their sights on him meant that things would not go well for him in the future. It was far better to humble himself. Those who were strong would usually not do anything to those who did not challenge them.

Dante's sudden change in attitude made Jack frown.

If they were not in a restricted area, he would not have let Dante off easily no matter what the other party said. After all, Dante had said so many nasty things earlier and had threatened Lourain as well.

However, they were in a restricted area, so it was not like he could do anything but talk. Since Dante had lowered himself so much, it would do him no good to continue to humiliate Dante.

Hearing what Dante had said, Lourain frowned as he looked at Dante hatefully. He had just been about to launch a few insults when the space around him started to distort.

Rays of light suddenly wrapped around everyone. The token exchange was complete, and they were about to be sent somewhere else.

Lourain frowned, telling himself Dante really was lucky. It was one thing that Jack no longer wanted to bother with Dante, but Lourain did not want to let Dante off easily after everything Dante said just now!

It was such a pity.

Just as he was about to be sent away, a thin red light wrapped around his wrist. Right after that, transportation started.

They were in a completely empty space. Other than the seven different colored stones, the space was completely distorted. The empty space was quite special because it was twisted and solid at the same time.

Even though the space was distorted, the participants still felt solid ground beneath their feet. They were not hurt by the distorted space and did not fall into any spatial cracks either.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4079

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4079-When Jack and Lourain arrived at the spot, the empty space was filled with a few dozen people. The few dozen people seemed quite average in skill and were even worse than Lourain.

They gathered in front of the seven stone doors. Some of them were chatting while some of them were resting. They did not seem particularly stressed.

The seven doors were the seven different training grounds. The doors were colored in the same colors as the seven tokens. The red door was at the westernmost end, while the orange door was next to it. It went on accordingly until the purple door.

“How many days has it been since your fellow disciple entered?” A tall man said to a shorter one.

The shorter one frowned and thought about it before raising three fingers, “It’s been about three days.”

The taller man raised an eyebrow and had a flash of disdain in his eyes, “Did you miscount the days? I still remember your fellow disciple entering the seventh training ground. Normally, two days is more or less enough for those entering the place. I’ve never heard about anyone managing to stay for three days there.”

It had been spoken with a mocking tone, which the short man could clearly hear.

He scoffed, “What do you know?! There are always exceptions! Even though he got the purple token, he managed to get four points. He was so close to getting five points...”

“Honestly, I think that he has the ability to get five points. It’s just that he hesitated and did not take the risk in the end. That’s why he entered the seventh training ground! He’s absolutely the strongest person in the seventh training ground! It’s only natural that he stays inside longer than most. I’ve been waiting here the whole time and counting the days down. How could I be wrong!?”

The taller man scoffed, clearly not believing the shorter man. He felt like the shorter man was lying to make himself look better.

The taller man said in disdain, “If you were going to brag, you should have just made it look better. Just tell everyone your fellow disciple got the red token and entered the best training ground!”

The shorter man was clearly angered.

He frowned and said coldly, “I’m not lying! You can choose not to believe me if you want to! Also, grow some brains before you try and teach others how to lie. Getting a red token and entering the top training ground? Would anyone believe that? Not even the warriors at the peak could enter the top training ground, let alone regular warriors!”

As he said that, Jack was standing in front of the red door.

He turned around to nod at Lourain. At the same time, Lourain was standing in front of the purple door.

The wordless token could ensure that Jack and Lourain were never separated, but it could not send them into the same training ground.

If it could really be used to do that, then it would clearly be cheating. Looking at someone standing in front of the red door, everyone immediately shut their mouths as they looked at Jack with widened eyes.

The shorter man widened his eyes. He had just said that no one would be able to enter the best training ground, and someone was already standing in front of the red door.

It was basically a smack in the face for him. However, it was just too absurd, so he refused to believe it.

The shorter man said to Jack, "Hey, mister! Are you standing at the wrong place?!"

Right after the shorter man said that, Jack took out the red token from Mustard Seed and slid it into a hole in the door. There were holes in every door, and anyone who wanted to enter would just need to insert their tokens.

After placing the red token in the hole, the red door let out a few cracks.

Under everyone's wide-eyed eyes, Jack walked right into the door.

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4080-Everyone stared at Jack's back, stunned.

They found themselves unable to react for a long time.

The shorter man almost bit his tongue, "Am I dreaming?! He really entered the top training ground? That's a place you need twenty-seven points to enter!"

The more he spoke, the more absurd he felt it was.

Everyone collectively thought that the first training ground out of the seven was just a dummy. It was just there to be a place everyone cast their longing eyes on.

No one thought that anyone would be able to enter the best training ground. That was because entering that place required one to get full points in all three of the challenges. It was something that seemed impossible in their eyes.

Yet, they had just witnessed someone taking out a red token and opening the red door, entering the top training ground.

Someone actually did it!

"Ouch! It hurts! I'm not dreaming!" Someone pinched himself.

The pain made him realize that he was not seeing things. Someone really did manage to enter the first training ground, the place he thought no one would ever be able to enter.

The exclamations behind him did nothing to slow Jack down.

A rumble came from behind him as the door completely shut. Only then did Jack observe his surroundings.

He was in a strange world. As he looked at the sky, he saw the colors of the rainbow everywhere.

The seven colors blended as if seven different dyes had been poured into a completely clear pond. Just like the outside world, he was surrounded by distorted space. The distortion did not hurt him at all.

Everywhere around him had a sense of emptiness to it. Only a pond in the middle that seemed to radiate a silver light seemed real. The silver pond should be the most important part of the first training ground.

Jack slowly walked to the pond and sent his senses out to feel it.

He was surprised to notice that the moment his senses touched the pond, they dissolved and dispersed. It was like a drop of water disappearing in an ocean.

Jack raised an eyebrow as he reached a finger out to gently touch the pond. Yet, the moment his skin touched the pond, he felt as if his finger was being pricked by needles.

He was shocked to notice that the part where the skin had touched the pond seemed to have dissolved. Just like his senses, as long as he touched the pond, he would be dissolved.

Jack's lips trembled as he started to doubt his earlier judgment. He had thought that the pond was the training ground, but he was hesitating at that moment.

The training ground was a place for warriors to improve their understanding, and not meant to hurt warriors. Everything that touched the pond seemed to be dissolved instantly. Jack even started to wonder if his whole body and soul would be dissolved if he stepped inside.

Right at that moment, a wizened voice was heard in the air, "Participant, immediately enter the Chaos Water. You will have nine days to train! Once nine days are up, you are to leave the Chaos Water!"

Hearing that, Jack was stunned. He even wondered if he misheard things. He really needed to enter the pond? The name Chaos Water made it sound like it could be a fruitful place, but everything that touched the water seemed to instantly dissolve!
