No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4091-There was a bang that sounded like a balloon being popped.

Right after that, Anders' cry of agony reverberated throughout the place.

Everyone was stunned to hear that cry of agony!

With that one strike, Carville had crippled Anders.

Anders had become a completely powerless commoner with that. Furthermore, not only was his whole body injured from the explosion, his arms and chest were pierced by the petals!

He no longer had a chance to turn things around.

Quite a few people were quite stunned when they saw what happened. He had lost so badly. Anders had clearly almost beat Carville, how did Anders suddenly lose so badly?!

Jack raised an eyebrow as he said calmly, "Carville's not that much stronger than Anders, it's just that Anders is too inexperienced in combat. Those colorful petals would definitely have accumulated energy before they exploded."

"Not only would they need to accumulate energy, but their energy would become very chaotic as well. Experienced fighters would have immediately pulled away when they felt the energy becoming chaotic."

"As long as Anders was quick enough to avoid it, he would not have been injured. He would not have lost the initiative from his injuries and continued to get wounded."

Jack's analysis was completely on point, and Lourain nodded vigorously at those words.

Anders had been too confident in himself. On top of that, he had been pushing Carville back so much earlier, which caused him to have a blind spot. He did not notice what happened at all that led to his defeat.

If Anders had enough experience with combat, or if he had not underestimated Carville, then the results would have been completely different. Yet, time could not be turned back.

The outcome was already determined.

Anders lay down on the stage. After his core had been crippled, he had become a common man. He no longer could suppress his injuries and was forced to allow them to destroy his body.

The pain completely consumed his mind, and Anders constantly twitched on the ground, letting out cries of agony!

Carville sheathed his sword and laughed out loud. He looked at Anders coldly, as if he was looking at a dead dog. He slowly walked right up to Anders and stepped right on Anders' chest.

"You wanted to kill me?" As he said that, he applied pressure on Anders' chest with his foot.

Anders' bones could not withstand the force, and started to crack as his ribs were snapped in two!

Quite a few people could not bear to witness what was happening.

Comparatively, the crowd had been hoping that Anders would win. After all, he did not insult everyone there and did not act arrogantly in front of everyone.

Carville stepped on Anders' chest as he looked at the participants beneath the arena.

He held his head high as he said, "I called all of you wimps, but you didn't want to admit it?! You weren't happy about it, right? Are you happy now? You're not just wimps, you're all trash as well! You're just mindless trash! Do you think you can challenge me with just a bit of skill? What a joke! With your meager skills, you aren't even worthy of wiping my shoes!"

Back when Anders had called him out, the crowd had sided with Anders, as if Anders was on the side of justice. Yet, that so-called justice was now beneath his feet like a pile of dog crap!

Those bumpkins who lived in the sewers could no longer use Anders to speak up against him. He had been speaking the truth, but they refused to admit it!

Carville raised his finger and pointed at the participants beneath the arena, “How dare you pieces of trash try and challenge us? Who gave you the guts to do that?! People like you should just live in the swamps where you belong!”

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4092-The more Carville spoke, the more excited he got.

He absolutely looked down on regular warriors and anyone who was not as strong as he was. Those people were not worthy of standing in the same arena as him and were not worthy of challenging him!

“If you challenge me, it means you’re doubting my skills! Do you think you’re worthy of doing that? Who do you think you are?!” The more Carville shouted at them, the more emotional he got.

He could clearly remember how everyone had encouraged and cheered for Anders. They had looked at Anders with their eyes full of hope. Those people were looking forward to Anders winning so much. They wanted to see him on the ground, defeated!

Quite a few people could no longer take it. The more Carville spoke, the more he crossed the line. He was practically pointing at all of them right in the face and cursing at them.

“Carville! You’re just a little stronger than we are! There are plenty of warriors who are stronger than you! What are you so pleased about?! All you did was win a battle!”

“There are still plenty of challenges after this one. Are you sure you’ll be able to win every single one? You called us trash, but in the eyes of the strong, you’re the one who’s trash. You aren’t much better, so why are you looking down on others?”

“That’s right! If you can, then you should show off in front of the strong. Why are you making a commotion in front of us?!”

Carville sneered before he raised his voice and shouted loudly, "That's exactly what I want to do! I want to show off in front of all of you because I'm stronger than all of you! I have the right to do it!"

"I can curse at you however I want to because I'm stronger than you! What's the point of crying about it below? If you think you're wrong, then come up and challenge me! Let's fight, then we'll see what you have to say!"

That caused the arguments against Carville to quieten quite a lot. No matter how logical they were, there was no way to refute what he said!

Carville continued, "It's fine if you're not happy with what I said, just come up here and fight me! Make sure I submit to you then I'll say that you're right! If you can't do that, then just shut up. Here, the strong is always right!"

His tone was incredibly confident, and it showed that he would not budge!

Anyone who wanted to refute him needed to beat him first! Then, there was nothing anyone could say.

No matter how angry they were, they had to admit that Carville's skills were better than all of them.

He was very strong!

Among above-average warriors, he was probably in the top ten!

Carville looked at the participants beneath him, and various emotions were shown on their faces.

There were looks of reluctance, anger, and frustration. Yet, no matter how angry or full of hate they were, they could do nothing to him!

They did not dare to step forward to challenge him!

Suddenly, Carville felt quite happy with himself. No matter how angry those pieces of trash were, they were forced to stomach it.

They could do nothing to him!

At that moment, he happened to glance at a pair of incredibly calm eyes. Those eyes belonged to someone wearing green robes.

The man was standing in the crowd and quietly observing him. The man did not show too much emotion, and his eyes were completely emotionless as well. It was as if Carville had done nothing just now.

The fact that Carville had won did not cause the man to be angry at all. It was as if Carville was just air. That calm pair of eyes stood out amongst the sea of anger!

Seeing this, Carville frowned.

He did not know why, but he felt like that person was looking down on him. It was as if he was nothing in that person's eyes!

That feeling angered him.

Who did that person think he was to look at him with such expression?

It was filled with disdain and nonchalance. It was as if he was worth nothing at all. It felt horrible to him!

He suddenly pointed at Jack in the crowd, "You! What kind of expression is that? What? Are you looking down on me?!"

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4093-Jack raised an eyebrow as he looked at Carville strangely.

There were so many people there, but Carville pointed right at him. Even if he was positioned relatively toward the front, it was not like he was alone there.

Looking at Carville's expression, the other party did not seem to recognize him either, so Jack was suddenly a bit speechless.

Jack had thought that he would be saved from a lot of trouble if he stood there quietly and said nothing. Yet, even when he did nothing, someone had come to look for trouble. Even Lourain was surprised.

"Are you deaf? I'm asking you something! Do you hear me?! Is there something wrong with your head, or do you want to challenge me?" Carville laughed as he said.

Jack scoffed.

Just like everyone else, he did not like Carville at all. That man thought that he could do whatever he wanted just because he had a bit of skill.

In truth, he had not won that earlier battle so decisively at all.

Anders had only lost because he lacked experience and because he underestimated his opponent!

The others could not see that, but Jack had clearly seen it all. He had not wanted to bother with Carville at all, but there was no way Jack would let Carville off if Carville wanted to cause him trouble.

Jack held his head high, “Even though I think there’s something wrong with your head, I have to admit that your brain still works alright. You guessed it right, I really am planning on challenging you based on the rules.”

There was another intention to Jack’s words. He did not want to challenge Carville directly but only did so based on the rules. After all, the warriors there were split into two types.

The recipients and the challengers. He was only able to challenge Carville as a challenger. Yet, in Jack’s eyes, fighting Carville was no challenge at all.

Carville did not expect the man to agree with him, but turns out the man actually wanted to challenge him!

He sure had some guts!

Either that, or he was just trying to bluff!

After all, a challenge needed both sides to be in the arena. The guy could say whatever he wanted as long as he did not step into the arena then Carville would not be allowed to step down and confront the man. Other than the arenas, the whole place was a restricted area!

Carville narrowed his eyes as he measured Jack.

He scoffed and said, “Brat! Didn’t you see what happened to Anders? Do you think that you’re stronger than Anders?”

Jack shook his head, “You sure love to talk nonsense! You should use this time to recover. After a battle, you have two hours to rest. You can’t just waste those two hours. Otherwise, it’ll be too late to regret anything...”

Carville was stunned to hear that, and even wondered if he had misheard things.

What did that guy say?

That guy wanted him to hurry up and recover, lest he regretted it?

That guy was even more arrogant than Anders!

It was as if he was a warrior at the peak!

When the others heard Jack, everyone turned to look at Jack with inquisitive gazes. There were even quite a few who thought that there was something wrong with Jack’s head.

After they observed Jack, they assumed that Jack was in between the level of a regular warrior and an above-average warrior.

Of course, that was just a preliminary evaluation.

If Jack was stronger than everyone and deliberately hid his skills, then they would have made a wrong judgment.

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4094-Jack looked at Carville meaningfully and had a sudden thought in his mind.

His lips curled up into a sneer as he said coldly, “When the masters are gone, the servants come out to play. You’re just showing off in front of everyone because you think no one here can defeat you! Your petty actions are such a joke! I’ve seen those who are shameless, but it’s the first time I’ve seen someone as shameless as you!”

Lourain was next to Jack, and he looked at Jack with a strange expression.

Jack did not like wasting time talking to others normally. Unless he was thoroughly angered, he would usually speak as little as possible.

Carville was so furious his lips started to tremble. He was practically being scolded at that point!

He clenched his teeth, "Brat! You're just looking to die right now! Do you know the consequences of offending me?!"

After he said that, he stamped down again, and Anders' cries of agony were heard as one more rib snapped.

There was the clear sound of bone cracking that everyone presents heard. The threat was evident, but it would only work on regular folk.

Jack's face was still as calm as ever.

He looked at Anders before looking at Carville and laughing, "Are you torturing Anders right now to prove how strong you are? You're trying to prove that you have the right to show off in front of everyone? In my eyes, you're just an absolute clown..."

"Anyone who has a sharp eye can see that you're not that much stronger than Anders. Anders only lost because he lacked experience, and did not notice the energy fluctuations before the explosion. If he had noticed something wrong beforehand and taken the chance to avoid it, then it's hard to say who would have won!"

Those words sounded abnormally nasty to Carville. It was as if someone had slapped him right in the face!

The more experienced or sharper-eyed people there had seen the key point of that battle as well.

Someone agreed, "This guy is right. Anders lost so quickly because he was inexperienced. Whether it's those chaotic petals or anything else, they would definitely need to accumulate energy before suddenly exploding. The energy will quickly become chaotic. Any experienced warriors will immediately avoid it when they feel it! It's clearly because Anders lacked experience."

"So that's it! No wonder they were so evenly matched before this. Even if Carville had been hiding his skills, Anders should not have lost so quickly. However, experience is still a skill, so Anders still lost."

“Yet, this means that Carville’s bragging suddenly sounds a lot less convincing. He might have won, but it’s not like he won with absolute skill. He only won so quickly because Anders was inexperienced!”

Jack sneered and said, “Did you hear that?! So many can see it. The more you act like you’re so pleased with yourself, the more you look like a clown!”

Jack’s words were like iron needles stabbing right into Carville’s ears.

Carville clenched his teeth in anger and wanted nothing more than to rush down and rip Jack’s mouth off.

That man was really crossing the line by calling him a clown!

Carville was about to explode from his anger, “Brat! Do you think you’re the only one with a silver tongue? If you have the skills, come up and fight me!”

At that moment, Carville was absolutely furious. He looked like an angered wild cat. His whole body was trembling.

Anders had challenged him earlier as well, but he had not been this angry. Carville felt like his heart was about to explode at any moment.

When Jack saw how he looked, his smile deepened. That was precisely what Jack wanted.

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4095-“Is there something wrong with your ears, or are you so stupid you can’t remember what others are saying? Of course, I’m going to fight you. Don’t think that everyone’s just going to let you walk all over them!”

“Then come up here!” Carville shouted out.

Jack raised an eyebrow and said in an even tone, “It looks like you really are stupid. Have you forgotten the rules of this place? After you accept one challenge, you’ll get two hours of rest. I told you to treasure those two hours and recover yourself. Otherwise, you might regret it after that.”

As he said that, Jack looked at Carville meaningfully.

Carville frowned, and the anger was burning in his heart.

He really wanted to say that he did not want those two hours, and he wanted to fight right at that instant. Yet, he suddenly stopped himself right before that!

Carville looked right at Jack and felt like something was wrong. He felt like he was being strung along by that man the whole time.

That man seemed to be constantly trying to anger him, and he did get angered. Yet, that man's expression was still calm and cool.

The more Carville looked at the man, the more he felt like something was wrong.

Could that guy really have some skills?

Could it be enough to fight him?

Was the man angering him so he would declare the fight immediately?

Carville had just gone through a challenge, and he had depleted quite a bit of his energy.

That man was trying to fight him while Carville was not in his best state!

Or could the man just be trying to anger him with words?

Was it possible that he would not even step into the arena after two hours?

Various thoughts flashed in Carville's mind, and words were suddenly stuck in his throat.

It suddenly got much quieter as everyone looked at Carville looking at Jack with a strange expression. It was as if he was trying to see into Jack's mind, and trying to guess what Jack wanted.

Unfortunately, no matter how hard Carville tried, he failed to do so. He felt even more conflicted at that point.

Was that man really skilled, or was there something wrong with his head?

Slowly, the others realized something was wrong as well. Even though that man's words vindicated them, it was as if he was getting bolder and bolder as he spoke.

He did not seem to care about Carville at all as if Carville was an ant that could be killed at any moment!

That person had agreed to challenge Carville in the arena, but as long as he did not step into the arena, the challenge would not be in effect at all. That man could absolutely just walk away after saying his piece. However, that man could actually be skilled enough to win. Even after Carville displayed his skills, that man still felt he had a chance to win.

The participants were all confused as well. They could not guess what exactly Jack wanted.

Right at that moment, a cold voice was suddenly heard from another arena, "There really are all sorts of people in the world. It's my first time seeing someone as crazy as you."

The person who spoke was called Silen.

He was standing in the arena next to Carville.

As a recipient, he was naturally very strong as well. He had gone through a challenge, and the other person was no match for Silen at all. The person was heavily injured before getting tossed off the arena like trash.

Silen narrowed his eyes as he looked at Jack meaningfully.

His gaze was like a poisoned hook. It was obvious that Silen was a ruthless and cruel person.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4096

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4096-Carville was already panting from his anger at Jack.

His hands were trembling slightly as he turned to look at Silen, "Silen! Remember this brat! If he runs away later, remember to never let him off in the future!"

Carville did not know if Jack would step into the arena or if Jack was just trying to run his mouth and run away after.

He would not allow it!

He would not let this guy off. He would definitely completely destroy that guy to vent his anger!

Silen nodded, "Don't worry, this guy won't be able to run away. Let's record his looks down and check his background. He won't be able to escape us forever. Then, we'll capture him and you can do whatever you want to him!"

The moment that was said, quite a few of the participants started to talk amongst one another.

Quite a few of them looked at Jack with sympathy.

In truth, a lot of them felt like Jack would probably not step into the arena. After all, Jack did not look that skilled and paled in comparison to Carville. It did not feel very possible.

He had only rebutted with such fervor because Carville had challenged all of them first. That guy was taking advantage of the fact that he was in a restricted area and the fact that there was no way Carville would run off the arena no matter how angry Carville was to run his mouth without fear.

Yet, they actually had a backup plan.

A person's looks could be recorded, then they would just need to look around with the recording. Unless that guy was from a very remote place and a wandering warrior, his identity would quickly be exposed.

Just like Silen said, he would not be able to run away forever. As long as his identity was found, it would be very easy to get revenge. If that person did not have an amazing background, then he would be in dire straits.

Jack suddenly laughed out loud as he turned to look at Silen, saying with a mocking tone, "It looks like you're just like him. When did I say I would run away?"

Silen's expression darkened as he looked at Jack with murderous intent.

Everyone was stunned again after they heard that.

That man was just far too bold.

It was one thing to offend one of them, but he had even offended Silen.

Silen was even stronger than Carville was.

Was that guy crazy?

They found themselves unable to figure out Jack's intentions.

Lourain's lips twitched, not knowing what to say at that point.

Earlier, he had wondered if Jack was deliberately angering Carville, but he was already certain it was deliberate. Jack had decided to anger Silen too.

"Brat! I guess you really are sick of living at this point!"

Those words were practically forced out of Silen's mouth. He looked at Jack as if he was giving Jack a death sentence.

Jack saw that the stage had been set, so he smiled and continued, "Since you're so angry and you think I'm no match for you, why don't you just save two hours? Just challenge me right now if you think I will run. Maybe you should just try to recover as fast as possible. As long as you're ready, I can step into the arena at any moment."

Carville had been angered by Jack so much earlier that he had almost decided to forget about the two hours, but he held back in the end. He was worried about any surprises.

If that guy really was skilled, then for him to forgo those two hours of rest would end up costing him!

Yet, Carville found himself unable to stand the guy. He really wanted to rip Jack apart at that moment.

Carville took a deep breath before narrowing his eyes and saying, "Alright! I'll rest up right now. You better remember what you said. If you run away, then you'll be a complete joke. Even if you run away, we won't let you off!"

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4097-After he said that, Carville wasted no more time. He immediately sat down on the floor, taking out his pills and spirit crystals.

If he wanted to rely on natural energy to replenish his true energy, then it would take a lot of time. However, if he had the help of pills and spirit crystals, it would save him a lot of time.

Jack's lips curled up. He had just provoked them a bit, and Carville ended up acting the exact way he wanted Carville to.

Carville was saving quite a lot of time by speeding up his recovery!

Before Silen mocked him, Jack had a plan. However, Jack's plans changed slightly after what happened.

He would leave a deep impression on those people.

Time slowly ticked away, and after fifteen minutes, Carville opened his eyes, and fully recovered.

The pills he had used just now were quite high-grade compared to the rest of his inventory, so he had recovered very quickly.

He had planned on leaving those pills for an important moment, but he decided to use them anyway!

He wanted to deal with that annoying man as soon as possible!

That small price was worth it!

In just a short while, he was already in his best state. Carville slowly stood up and stretched himself.

He coldly looked at the other party, as if wanting to convey to Jack through his eyes that Jack was about to die!

For the sake of fighting Jack, Carville decided to make things quick for Anders.

As he killed Anders, Carville even said coldly, "You're lucky!"

Carville had not planned on letting Anders go so easily. No matter what, he had planned on ruthlessly torturing Anders to vent his frustrations. However, that brat that did not know his place caused him to get impatient, which was how Anders got lucky.

Carville had a cold smile on his face as he pointed at the arena, "Alright! I've fully recovered! You can come up now!"

Everyone's gazes fell on Jack.

They were all looking forward to seeing what Jack would do next. Some people felt like Jack would probably be too scared. After all, Jack seemed to be only good at talking and did not seem that skilled otherwise.

Some thought that Jack would definitely step into the arena, but would probably lose. After Jack lost, he would need to go through endless torture.

Only a very small portion of them thought that Jack would win, and felt like Jack was hiding something. Everyone had their own thoughts, and Jack did not care what they were thinking.

He steadily walked toward the arena, and under everyone's intense looks, he stepped right inside. Only then were they certain that Jack had actually wanted to challenge Carville in battle.

The two of them were about to fight in the arena.

Jack had not just been running his mouth, he actually did have confidence in himself!

Of course, he might have been just stubborn. However, no matter what, there was no room for regrets after stepping into the arena.

Carville narrowed his eyes as he looked at Jack coldly. Even though those eyes were full of hatred, there was an inquisitive look to them as well.

Jack smiled. In the end, Carville was worried about him.

Carville's lips pursed up before he suddenly said, "It's very unlikely for a blind cat to find a dead mouse..."

Those words had another meaning to them. After everyone heard that, they immediately understood what Carville was implying.

Their conflict was all because of Carville. At the time, everyone had seen it. Their conflict was completely by random chance.

Read No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4098

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4098-Carville did not know Jack. He had just gotten too excited and did not like the way the other party was acting.

That was how he ended up targeting Jack and how this challenge happened.

Under those circumstances, the chances of Jack being an expert were very low. If that person really was an expert, then it would be like a blind cat finding a dead mouse.

However, Carville did not think he was that unlucky. Even though he could not figure out how strong his opponent was, he felt that there was no way his opponent was a match for him!

With everything already in place, Jack could not be bothered to waste time talking, "Hurry up and attack! What's the point of wasting your time right now?!"

Carville's expression darkened even more at that moment. Even in the arena, the guy was still provoking him!

Carville clenched his teeth, and the anger in his heart burned even brighter. He silently swore to have that guy begging him for mercy! With that thought in mind, he immediately started to form seals.

The colorful seals started to dance in the air and fuse. Many beautiful flowers appeared in the arena again. Those flowers were blooming, and the power of life could be felt from afar.

Bountiful Life was not just a wood attribute technique, it contained a bit of the laws of life as well.

Carville's hands started to move quickly as countless seals flowed between his hands.

Suddenly, all the petals left the flowers and danced in the air. The colorful petals looked like dancing sprites.

Jack took a deep breath and started to make his move as well.

He was quick, and seals started to condense in the air before they fuse, turning into a black chain that was as thick as an infant's arm. It was the Soul Chain.

Before this, Jack would always have reservations. After all, he was already quite famous, and the techniques he had used before would immediately be recognized.

Things were much easier for him at this point. He had managed to break through to the third stage a few days ago, mastering the Soul Chain.

Those people had never seen the technique before, so there was no way they would link the chain to him.

With that in mind, Jack was much more relaxed.

He reached out and grabbed the chain in his hand before he looked at the petals that were charging right at him!

Below the stage, the barrier had been between them, so he had not managed to feel much of Bountiful Life. Standing in the arena, he finally got a clear feeling of how impressive that technique was.

A lower ultimate god rank technique was not too much for Jack. After all, even the weaker of his two techniques, Destroying the Void, was already at the upper ultimate god rank. Lower ultimate god-rank techniques would not draw his notice at all.

Yet, Bountiful Life was different. When the petals charged over, not only did he feel the murderous intent in the attack, but also a sliver of life.

That feeling was incredibly strange. It was like having a glass of water right in the middle of an inferno.

Suddenly, the petals were already right in front of Jack. Jack raised his hand and lifted the chain before slashing it over.

With a bang, most of the petals were dispersed. However, the petals did not go away after that, but turned around and charged back at Jack again!

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4099-“Not bad! This person’s skill is pretty decent. He’s probably around Anders’ level in skill. No wonder he spoke so confidently. It looks like we were wrong. This guy is already an above-average warrior. He should be highly ranked at that! Otherwise, there’s no way he could have taken on that cyclone.”

“This person’s name is North Woods. The name feels a bit foreign. It’s the first time I’ve heard of it. Have any of you heard of it before?”

Everyone started to try and figure out where Jack came from. North Woods was just a random name Jack invented. Even if someone had heard of the name before, it had nothing to do with Jack.

After asking around everywhere, no one recognized a person called North Woods. It was as if he had appeared out of nowhere.

“Who do you think will win?” A tall and muscular man asked with his arms crossed.

The man next to him said, “If North hasn’t held back at all, then the final winner will be Carville. I hate him, but I have to admit that he’s quite strong. Not just anyone can be a match for him.”

After that person said that, quite a few people nodded around him, agreeing with his sentiment.

As everyone talked about it, the battle continued.

Jack had his hand on the chain, and constantly flicked it at the cyclone. He was trying his best to control his strength, worried that he would immediately blow up the cyclone of petals. If that happened, then it would be a waste of his efforts for the future.

Lourain stood below the arena and quietly looked on as Jack constantly used those chains. His lips were twitching as he looked at Jack's serious expression.

Those who did not know Jack would think that Jack was completely focusing on the battle and staying on full alert. They would think that he was worried his opponent would get a chance to catch him off guard.

However, Lourain knew that Jack really was on full alert, but not because he was worried about being caught off guard. Instead, Jack was trying to control his strength, doing his best to weaken his attacks.

Before coming to the Seven Death Arenas, Lourain had asked Jack what he obtained. Jack did not hide anything from Lourain, and the technique Jack was using was called the Soul Chain. It was the greatest thing Jack had obtained in the first training ground and was the strongest technique Jack had.

The Soul Chain was too strong, so Jack needed to be on full alert to suppress its power and make it look like they were evenly matched.

Lourain whispered to himself curiously, "What's Jack doing?"

There was no way Jack was just doing it for no reason. Before Jack stepped into the arena, he had not asked Jack about Jack's plans.

The battle was continuing, and everyone could tell that the two of them were evenly matched. No one could do anything to the other at that moment, however, the longer that state remained, the angrier Carville got. He wanted to completely trample over that guy!

That guy had humiliated him so much just now! He needed to personally defeat that guy and torture the guy to soothe his anger!

"Brat, don't be so pleased with yourself! You'll be dying soon!"

Right after he said that, he started to form seals with his hands again. The seals quickly condensed and submerged into the ground. The flowers that were blooming around the arena suddenly increased. It was already threatening to fill up the whole place!

Those petals danced in the air, and they let out rays of light again. At that moment, Carville was already giving it his all. A large flower bloomed behind him. With the support of his world avatar, the power of his technique increased again!

A cloud of petals shot right at Jack. There were so many petals that the participants below the arena could not clearly see what was going on inside, and could only see countless petals surrounding Jack!

No. 1 Supreme Warrior Chapter 4100-“It looks like Carville didn’t go all out in the battle before!”

Carville was only just using his full might. There were so many petals that the spectators’ view was blocked.

Quite a few people were sweating for Jack’s sake.

A man with a goatee said, “Things look grim for North. If the attack was only coming from one direction, he’d still have a way out!”

“Before the explosion, he would just need to escape. However, there’s no way he can do it now. With so many petals completely surrounding him, he doesn’t even have a way to escape the explosion. It looks like he’ll definitely be injured!”

“I thought that North would have the initiative since he saw the earlier battle. He could try and avoid the explosion the moment he felt something wrong! I never expected...” A warrior from a third-grade world said with a frown.

After he said that, someone laughed coldly and said, “Do you all think that Carville’s an idiot? Do you think he doesn’t know his technique’s already been revealed after that last battle? Warriors from third-grade worlds are just so stupid! You’ll be like this your whole life...”

That warrior from a third-grade world was suddenly very annoyed when he heard that. He had just given an opinion but was insulted just like that. He was just about to rebuke the man when he suddenly heard a loud explosion from the arena!

Boom!

Countless petals exploded in the air. The tremendous shockwaves spread everywhere. Even the stone floor that was specially made had craters on it.

This time, the explosion was far more intense than the last one. Naturally, the shockwaves from the explosion would be stronger than the last one.

The arena was suddenly a lot quieter. Everyone looked up at the arena with various emotions in their eyes. They had all already accepted that the warrior called North was definitely heavily injured. He was probably unable to fight back just like Anders had been.

Right at that moment, they suddenly heard the rattling of chains. It sounded like a gigantic chain was rapidly moving.

Everyone frowned as they widened their eyes to look at the arena. Right after that, they saw a gray chain rising into the air. There was a thin layer of gray mist around the chain. Upon closer inspection, they finally saw countless red runes around the chains that looked incredibly mysterious.

The rattling of the chain reverberated throughout the arena. Everyone witnessed as the chain started to rise into the air like a dragon. However, the direction it was moving in confused them.

The chain was North's technique, but it was not moving toward Carville. Instead, it was moving toward the end of the arena.

Just as everyone was feeling confused, the chain started to quickly fly around the arena at incredible speeds. Very quickly, the Soul Chain had the whole place enveloped.

Everyone's sight was blocked again, and all they could see was the chain completely covering up the arena.

What was happening?

When the crowd saw that, they were incredibly confused. Was the chain capable of exploding too?

The chain was moving too quickly, and in just a flash, it had completely obscured everyone's sight.

Carville found himself completely caught off guard.

Earlier, there had been a gray mist around the center of the explosion. Even though Carville widened his eyes, he could not see through the gray mist. He could not tell what state Jack was in, and whether he was heavily injured or completely unharmed.

Carville cautiously looked at the chain that was rapidly moving around the arena. He furrowed his eyes as he started to form seals again.

Countless petals started to dance around him. Those petals were not just good for attacking, they could be used to protect himself as well.

He had been very confident about the explosion just now, and felt like the explosion that he had put his all into would definitely injure North!

Yet, his intuition still told him to be on alert. If he had failed to heavily injure the guy, then he would need to be very careful!
