

No.1 Supreme Warrior by Moneto

Chapter 4111

However, an injury to his soul was no small matter. Even at this point, that strange energy was still devouring his soul. It was no small expense, but it was absolutely necessary. The more he thought about it, the more he felt like slapping himself in the face.

Why did he have to provoke an opponent like that for no reason? North had just been randomly picked out from the crowd, but he never expected himself to be unlucky enough to choose a warrior at the peak just like that.

At that moment, Carville felt someone looking at him. He looked up to see Silen with a venomous gaze.

Carville sighed helplessly. He did not lie on purpose. It was just that he was forced. If he had not chosen to do that, then he would have ended up in a worse state. He did not want to be tortured.

Silen's whole body was trembling as cold sweat soaked his clothes.

He looked up at Jack, "I admit defeat!"

Jack sneered.

What was the point of surrendering?

Nothing would change even if he did not.

Jack slowly looked around at the other recipients in the arenas. Those people had been silent the whole time, so he had no reason to go after them. However, the challenges were still necessary for the sake of points.

He said calmly, "Are you going to surrender, or do you want to fight me?"

When the other recipients heard that, they immediately shuddered and surrendered.

They would be crazy to fight a warrior at the peak. They would only have dared to fight if they were already a warrior at the peak as well!

That scene silenced all the spectators below.

Only after a long time did someone say in a shocked tone, "Thirty-five points! All of them admitted defeat! It means that North managed to get thirty-five points in one go!"

There was chaos the moment that was said.

Warriors like them needed to try so hard to get a few points, and they were happy about it. Meanwhile, Jack had just gotten thirty-five points.

In the challenges before, a warrior at the peak like him would definitely have done very well, and definitely obtained at least twenty points.

On top of those thirty-five points, that man had at least fifty-five!

Just thinking about that caused them to turn green with envy.

Fifty-five points!

That was something they could not even dream of. They would already be happy with fifteen points, let alone fifty-five points.

"Sure enough, we can't compare ourselves to these monsters. Earning points is as easy as drinking water for them, while we struggle so much just to get a few points! Wasn't the Radiant Hall supposed to be a chance for us regular warriors to change our destinies? Why is talent and ability still the key in the end?"

Those people felt more and more frustrated as they spoke.

After the others heard it, they started to feel frustrated as well.

Those regular warriors rarely got the chance to see warriors at their peak. After all, warriors at the peak would never bother with them.

This time, they finally got to see the gap between them for themselves.

They finally felt how wide the gulf was between them and warriors at the peak, and how hard it would be to cross it.

Some of them started to feel miserable thinking about it, but some got excited as well. They dreamed of being at the top and looking down on everyone else.
