

No.1 Supreme Warrior by Moneto

Chapter 4164

Jack and Lourain were both stunned when they heard that. They wondered if they had misheard.

The warriors at the peak were sending out their subordinates to rob the regular warriors?

That was just crossing the line! It was downright shameless.

Lourain turned around and walked over, saying incredulously, "Is that true? Have they really become so shameless that they'd rob regular warriors?"

Those warriors at the peak were always claiming a noble status for themselves and always looked down on regular warriors.

Every time they looked at a regular warrior, their faces were full of arrogance. Yet, they were using such despicable schemes at that moment!

Cavill nodded angrily. He had already been in the Hunting Plains for two days, and he had met quite a few other warriors. He learned quite a lot from them. The regular warriors had already started to group up to fight against the oppression.

Jack frowned, "There has to be a reason why they're acting so crazily."

As for what the reason was, Jack could not figure it out at the moment. As things progressed, he noticed that he had more and more questions.

Everything seemed to be a complete mess, and he could not figure it out at all. However, Jack believed that he would be able to make things clear if he had enough time. No matter what schemes they were plotting, things would be exposed in the end!

"They're really shameless! After the Radiant Hall closes, I want to see if they would still have the guts to face the regular warriors. They put themselves on such a pedestal and set themselves apart from regular warriors."

"In the end, they're sending their subordinates out to rob them. For the sake of resources, they've already discarded any honor they have!" Lourain said with clenched teeth.

Jack nodded. He looked up into the distance and felt like things were progressing toward a confusing path.

At that moment, a bundle of flames suddenly appeared in front of Cavill.

It was a transmission!

Seeing this, Cavill frowned.

After he heard the contents, he suddenly had a defeated look on his face.

He clenched his teeth, "These dogs!"

Jack turned to look at Cavill, and Cavill happened to turn back to look at Jack as well. He took a deep breath and walked over to Jack before he knelt in front of everyone, which caught Jack off guard.

Jack looked at Cavill, "What is it? Get up now and then tell me what happened!"

"Jack, please save my fellow disciple! A younger disciple of mine is in grave danger right now! Those people are pursuing him, and he'll probably be captured soon. He's heavily injured right now."

"If I went over with Soare, we probably won't be of much help, because he's facing a warrior at the peak!" After he said that, Cavill started to sob and tremble.

When Soare heard that, he started to panic, "Cavill! Who sent you that message? Who's in danger?"

Cavill took a deep breath before he looked at Soare, "It's Saunders, he shouldn't be too far from us right now."

Soare's expression changed as well.

He lunged over and knelt in front of Jack as he looked at Jack with a pleading expression, "Jack! Only you can help him! I'll do whatever you want of me in the future!"

Lourain did not know what to say at that moment. Even though he wanted to help those two, he could not say anything. After all, he was just a burden to Jack in the end.

There was no way his opinion was worth much.
