

No.1 Supreme Warrior by Moneto

Chapter 4167

Cavill and Lourain started to tremble in anger when they heard that.

It was always the same thing!

Lourain could not hold back as he shouted, "Can you have some dignity?! The Radiant Hall wasn't opened with your Heartblood, but the Heartblood of regular warriors! You schemed against the regular warriors, and turned them into your key to open the Radiant Hall! How dare you say we entered thanks to you?!"

Presti's lips curled up, "Of course, it's thanks to us! You were lucky enough to take advantage of it."

Lourain was so furious he wanted to rush over to fight.

However, Jack grabbed Lourain's arm, "Can you kill him if you rush over?"

Lourain's lips stiffened, and he stopped himself from being reckless. With his skills, it would already be a miracle if he managed to survive, let alone kill Presti.

Jack waved and motioned for the other two to retreat. The other two obediently took a few steps back after exchanging a look. Only Jack was left facing Presti.

Presti started to look at Jack curiously.

That person wanted to face him alone?

It seemed like that person was not as simple as he thought!

Presti might feel like something was off, but he still did not think the man in front of him would actually be able to beat him!

"Brat looks like you're really looking to die right now," Presti said calmly.

Jack raised an eyebrow and completely ignored him. He started to form seals with his hands, and a chain appeared in the air. The gray chain had dark red runes on them and looked like a chain that was pulled out of hell.

Presti had a look of surprise on his face. He was caught off guard by Jack's aggressiveness!

Presti clenched his teeth and did not dare to delay things for much longer. He flipped through seals with his hands, and mist suddenly started to rise into the air, condensing as it vaguely formed the shape of a dragon.

Shin shouted out from the ground, "His technique is very unique. It rots everything it touches! You need to be careful!"

At this point, it was already too late for any retreat, so Shin did the best he could to help.

Jack nodded at Shin, and his expression did not change much. He shot forward, and charged at Presti with the chain in hand!

Presti shouted out angrily as he formed seals again.

The vapor in the air started to condense toward the center, forming a stream that shot right at Jack. He did not even frown as he raised his hand and struck the gray chain right at the stream!

With a bang, the water that condensed around the stream was destroyed. The liquid with the rotting energy started to try and eat away at the chain, but the chain had its own rotting force as well. Waves of black mist started to rise.

No matter how strong Presti was, he was still only using an upper ultimate god rank technique.

Regular warriors were no match for him, but he had no advantage against Jack at all!