

No.1 Supreme Warrior by Moneto

Chapter 4168

Jack was using a storm god rank technique. Even if Presti was a warrior at the peak, he was nothing in front of Jack!

The stream was completely swallowed up by the chain, and quickly evaporated! In just a moment, the stream was completely gone. Presti's smile was still on his face as he stood there, stunned and filled with disbelief.

The chain spun around the air before it shot right at Presti.

Presti widened his eyes and retreated without a second thought.

Jack quickly moved his hands, and the laws of space attached to the chain!

The chain had been a distance away from Presti, but the laws of space caused it to disappear. When it appeared again, it was right in front of Presti!

Bang!

The chain violently struck Presti's body. He felt like a whole mountain had just rammed into his back, and he let out a cry of agony!

That was just the start!

After Presti was sent flying, a wave of gray mist immediately wrapped him within.

The immense force of the black mist started to assault Presti, and it was not his body that was being affected, but his soul.

That pain that pierced right into his soul caused Presti's whole body to twitch. He started to squirm on the floor like a worm. All his earlier pride had disappeared.

Cavill and the others were completely stunned at the sight. No one expected Presti to fall to Jack so quickly. It was as if Presti stood no chance at all.

"What is this? It hurts! It hurts so much!" Presti rolled on the floor and cried out in agony.

The others went over and were speechless when they saw Presti's state. Lourain even spat out in disdain at Presti.

The match was over as Presti was in no condition to fight anymore, so Cavill immediately hurried over to help Shin up.

At that moment, Shin was in a horrible condition. His whole body had rotted, and the true energy inside was in a chaotic state. If they had not gotten there in time, Shin would probably have been beyond saving.

Cavill took a deep breath, and his face was full of sadness.

When they left each other, Shin was still perfectly fine. They were even talking about what they would do after leaving the Whirling World. Yet, things ended up like this. Shin coughed, and his face paled even more. It seemed like he was about to pass away at the very next moment.

Cavill consoled Shin, "Don't talk, it's all alright now! That guy was defeated by Jack."

Shin widened his eyes in disbelief when he heard that.

He trembled and said, "Jack? Who's Jack?"

Cavill smiled incredulously as he pointed at Jack, who was right next to Presti, "Who else could it be if not him? In the whole Whirling World, only Jack would be able to attack and defeat Presti like that."

Shin nodded.

That is true!

The warriors at the peak all worked together. Only Jack would have been able to defeat Presti and be willing to help them.

He had long since heard about Jack, and Jack's news started to spread even more in the Hunting Plains. In particular, everyone was looking out for any traces of Jack thanks to the reward.