

No. 1 Supreme Warrior - Chapter 4179

There was a heavy rumbling as the door slowly opened. A boundless sense of energy seemed to come from it.

A few of them looked inside. Other than the green light, they could see nothing. The light completely obscured their sight. If they wanted to look inside, they would have to step in themselves.

On the way there, Jack had already talked to Lourain about it.

Lourain wanted to see what the legendary Valley of Enlightenment was like. That was why Jack asked for two spots.

The three of them exchanged looks with each other, and they did not hesitate to step forward together, entering the door.

The power of distorting space suddenly pulled the three of them in. The space around them started to spin rapidly.

They did not know how much time passed, but it felt like a whole century before the space slowed down in front of them. Then, the sense of weightlessness disappeared as their feet landed on solid ground.

The three of them had not been sent to different locations and arrived at the same place. They were on a huge altar, and there were broken statues everywhere. It seemed like a very desolate space.

There were no warriors from first-grade worlds and no resources for them to fight for. Emptiness and defeat seemed to resonate in the whole place.

“Why is it like this?” Lourain could not help but ask.

Even Jack was stunned. It was a huge difference from what he had imagined. It did not even seem like the same place!

Was the Valley of Enlightenment not supposed to be a gathering place for geniuses?

How did this happen?

At that moment, a wave of thought appeared in Jack’s head, and he slowly understood. No wonder first-grade worlds communicated with second and third-grade worlds so rarely.

Ten thousand years ago, a massive disaster happened in the first-grade worlds, and practically all the warriors died in that disaster. A place of prosperity had turned into a place of death.

It was shocking!

That wave of thought was sent from a hero of the Divine Void Realm, and all three of them received it.

Jack looked up at the altar to notice something lacking there. He seemed incredibly familiar with it as well. He immediately walked to the altar.

Lourain shouted out anxiously, "Jack! What are you doing? This place is very strange... Don't..."

Before he could finish, Jack took out the soul-gathering crystal from Mustard Seed.

That crystal was Jack's treasure. Without the crystal, he would not have managed to achieve everything he did.

On the missing part of the altar, there was a spot that fit the shape of the crystal perfectly. Jack rushed over to try to put the crystal in. Even though he was wary, something urged him to try it out!

The moment the crystal was placed on the altar, a vibrant purple light shone through, completely wrapping itself around him. Then, an unending surge of energy shot into his body!

He felt like the realm he had been stuck in for so long started to break through. The divine solidifying realm, the golden energy realm, the heavenly energy realm!

He stopped only at the god realm!

Lourain and Zayne were both stunned, not expecting something like that to happen. Jack's prowess was practically unrivaled at that point. No one could ever face him!

At that moment, the altar crumbled. A transfer gate slowly appeared in front of them. The door between first and second-grade worlds had been opened.

Jack clenched his fists and surged with ambition!

First-grade worlds would be reborn under his hands!

He would be the god of this first-grade world!

COMPLETED.
