

Sweet love 1161

Chapter 1161

She was already on the verge of a hypothermia.

At this rate, it would be life-threatening.

He hesitated for a moment and finally looked away. He reached out to remove her clothes and let her soak naked in the hot water. Gradually, as the warmth soaked through, she finally stopped shivering and a tinge of pink returned to her face.

Tommy's face turned red. In fact, all along, he had a hint of a good feeling about Charlotte.

Cecelia was extremely good to him, and he was loyal to Cecelia. Since Cecelia personally asked him to protect Charlotte, naturally he treated Charlotte as his new master.

Charlotte was so gentle and lovely, and her status was so noble that he usually could only look up to her. Of course he knew he was not good enough for her, and what's more, she was already Mr. Robertson's wife.

He had planned to always honor her and protect her.

But to her surprise, Mr. Robertson went on a rampage, torturing and abusing her like this.

Looking at the girl the bathtub, either new or old ones, he saw all kinds of bruises and red marks on her snow white body.

were so shocking

this to her? If he could see Cecelia again, he must tell was just got her breath back. She opened her eyes and looked asked, "Where are Tommy's voice rose up, "We're out of Military head, his ears red, "Sorry, you've lost your temperature, and I longer. The meal is ready. Please come out and have something to eat later, and you will feel much better." After saying that, Tommy was ready to get and tugged

"Don't, don't go ..."

arm from inside the bathtub, "Please come in.

like fire. Was Miss Charlotte asking him to take a bath

Was this OK?

Miss Charlotte, I can't." Tommy shook his head repeatedly; he didn't

Chapter 1162

The gloomy winter rain fell for several days in a row.

Each day, the day got colder, and the days were more and more depressing. The branches of the trees were bare, and the flowers and plants were colorless.

When it was near noon, the sky was dark and gloomy, as if the wind and snow were coming back once again, and the leaden clouds were so low that they seemed to be pressing down.

At the top floor office of Cloud Bay Tower.

Joyce and Kane, along with all the designers under them, were having a morning meeting.

The proposal for the Capital project site was finalized at the meeting.

All the details were also well revised.

Joyce looked at the three-dimensional mock-up drawings projected on the big screen and nodded her head in satisfaction.

worked hard and that's it for several days. From today onwards, you will have a holiday. Do not come to work these days until next Monday. Everyone should eat, play, party and That's great! I'm going to a beauty spa. I've been up all night and I feel like teased, "Ms. Knowles stayed up more than you

"Ms. Knowles has love for her nourishment, so her beauty is just natural, right?

never been in love." Theo retorted nonchalantly, "I have never seen you nourished to the door, "What man can be compared with Mr. Warner? The most important thing is that he is the most devoted man in the world! You see, Mr. Warner is already waiting for Ms. Knowles, from before the meeting, he has been hanging around in the doorway, and he glances over from time at Joyce and said, "Ms. Knowles, hurry up, Mr. Warner that, they all unanimously lowered see that Mr. Warner clung to Ms. Knowles like a sticker, preparing every meal himself and eating it with Ms. Knowles in they would close the door

talking privately and was full of displeasure, "Have you

Wrong marriage and sweet love (Joyce and Luther)

Chapter 1163

He was extremely upset. He had been away for only a few days, but it seemed that things had been going pretty well between Joyce and Luther and they had been together everyday.

His return to the Roberts family for a few days had created an opportunity for them to spend time together. He was so angry he wanted to stomp his feet.

"Kane, the military is still controlling the media and public opinion?" Joyce asked, "Has there been any inside information coming out of the military recently?"

Kane sighed, "The military is very strong. For the time being the country's media outlets have all been controlled. They are mainly afraid of the people from the military, so the management does not dare to make a rush move. I heard that the other day there is a well-known independent journalist, who was about to report the inside story of the overhaul, but before the draft was sent out, he has disappeared. I'm afraid that something bad has happened to him."

"Ridiculous! Are they just killing people at will?" Joyce said in surprise, "Otis disregarded international public opinion?"

"Mr. Moore of Military Intelligence stepped in, and he helped to spy on the senior leadership of the various media outlets for Otis. And he helps Otis clear the way. Just any act can be called as a threat to national security." Kane said.

Joyce stared, "No wonder, Otis is unscrupulous."

any inside information as to how the General is doing and where Ms. Cecelia that Ms. Cecelia had an unfortunate accident and is in a coma, but not in a life-threatening condition, and is receiving treatment in a secret location somewhere. Otis is not yet firmly he wouldn't have been dealt with by Otis in Joyce frowned.

not in danger at the moment she felt slightly relieved. The more critical the cruel

family, I can't help much for now.

Kane asked attentively.

her head, "Not for now. I will contact want to involve Kane again for now. The situation was unclear and too dangerous, so the and Juanita, she didn't want them to get caught up in the

Wrong marriage and sweet love (Joyce and Luther)

Chapter 1164

Outside the window, the cold world was frozen, and a thin foggy layer formed on the glass window.

In the office, the heat was on and only a thin shirt was needed.

His collar was slightly open, revealing a sexy throat. He was half leaning against the wall, arms around the chest, and his long legs folded. He looked relaxed and charming.

When he saw Joyce walk out, he withdrew his legs and his long body stood up straight, "Finished with the meeting?"

Joyce frowned slightly and glanced at him.

"You have something?" She was speechless, "You don't have anything of your own to do?"

"Yes, it's my business to keep you company." Luther had been quite bold recently.

Joyce couldn't help but roll her eyes.

There was really nothing he can do. After all, this was his place to begin with.

see you've given need. They have days off now, but I do not." Joyce pushed him away and walked out of "Mr. Warner, you're too idle. Don't you even have to work? You just let my sister do it all the more reason for me to comfort her at night. Now I'm staying with her exasperated by Staying together! They were him and at the same time declaring he felt completely

from him,

meet, their hearts

at the more reluctance, but original intention was just to make Joyce conference room, she received

Chapter 1165

He handed her a box with a black bag covering it.

Joyce took the package, and after she paid, she opened the package on the spot, "Wait a minute. I need to check it first. It would be more convenient if I want to return it."

The deliveryman stood and waited while Joyce opened the package. She pulled a black velvet box out of it and opened it. She looked inside and said with satisfaction, "Okay, you can go now. Thanks."

After the deliveryman left, Joyce took a few steps farther forward and threw the packaging into the trash bin.

In her hand she cupped the black velvet box she had just received. She walked back to her office.

It was so cold, and she felt that in just a short while, her fingers had almost frozen and become less flexible.

She stopped and breathed into her palm, and she could even see the white foggy air.

It's still cold.

Suddenly, a warm scarf came up from the back of her neck and went around to her body.

it blocked all the cold, biting

a pretty wild logo. It was a did he come down to turn around when he embraced her from were wrapped around her from behind, around her waist.

of her neck, "What are you doing downstairs in this cold weather? And you pressed against hers and they

and he held her tighter warmer?"

her head up and suddenly felt a bit cold on her face, and then she out a soft scream and the first snow of the

swept around by the wind

soft curve, and she sighed four years and never saw snow. The Capital was located in the

He turned her around and gazed deeply

Chapter 1166

Charlotte and Tommy both escaped from the Military Staff House with great difficulty.

They went over all those unoccupied thorny hills in the rainy and cold weather. Because of the loss of temperature, she almost died. She had fallen so many times that her exquisite face was not covered with a few bloody slashes and hideous scars.

She reached up and touched the hard scab on her face.

Her heart was filled with hatred.

She hated it so much that every inch of her skin, and every inch of her bone at the moment seemed to be torn apart.

She was so angry that every part of her body was twitching.

It had been so hard for them to escape. They had to stay in different places to avoid Otis's pursuit. The good thing was that Otis did not dare to make too much noise, otherwise the army would be sent to search the whole city, and they would have nowhere to hide.

Tommy got her an antibiotic injection, and after she used it, her stomach barely hurt as much as before and she finally had the strength to get out of bed.

When she was finally able to go out, the first person she thought of was Luther.

After all, before, Luther took the initiative to show her affection.

arranged a piano concert for her, trying to bring the Warner family closer thought of was to find perception, she once

Luther should help her.

the great difficulty and when she finally came to the floor of Cloud Bay Tower where Luther worked, around Zora and they most romantic movie. At the moment, he seemed drenched in warmth that he warmed her up, and had all squealed, marveling at Luther's gorgeous face, while they so angry that she almost tore the hem of this gentle to her

was like

Luther used her!

was simply

Chapter 1167

Could it be that Otis knew the truth and Joyce had revealed it?

She glared hard at the two of them, fire of anger erupting from her eyes.

It was as if she wanted to burn them both through with the fire.

Damn, all of them!

Luther even deceived her and caused her to end up in such a miserable situation.

Her body was full of bruises and scars after all the kicks and whippings. Now she had nothing but a broken body suffering sickness and pain, and she lived a life worse than death.

Long-term abuse by Otis had created a great resentment in her heart.

At this moment, she could not wait to go up and tear them both apart.

That sure included Luther, who had betrayed her. She would get all of them killed.

She hated it! She hated what she saw so much!

She couldn't look at it anymore. She turned around indignantly and bared her teeth. Her lower body began to ache again, and her trembling figure fell into the wild wind and snow.

plan formed in her

She would make fell continuously and

He gently gasped, and a

could not take his eyes

help but to lower his head, and try to kiss nudged him gently, "Lots of people are

He smiled, "Good."

between them. Houses and trees now had put on a thin layer of silver, and her snow-white coat was also covered with reached out and brushed away the snowflakes that had fallen on her eyebrows and

"Let's go in."

"Hmm."

if a delicate flower had bloomed doors kept the black velvet box she was holding and asked curiously, "You

"Oh, yeah."

in opened the black velvet face was full of

Chapter 1168

In the exclusive workroom for cleaners at Shilla Department Store.

A cleaner was squatting on the floor rummaging for something, "Hey, why is my bottle missing? Have any of you seen it? A glass bottle this size." She gestured.

"Didn't see it. It's strong acid. If someone takes it by mistake, something will happen. Why didn't you put it away?" Another janitor said, "If the supervisor finds out, you will be fined again."

"I obviously have put it away. I used it these two days to clean up the rooms, and I also used it yesterday. I have definitely put it here!" The cleaner complained.

"I don't know. You better not say too much. If you lose it, you lose it. Just pretend you don't know, and don't let the supervisor know."

"Hey, okay. That bottle is very corrosive, so I just hope nothing will happen."

The cleaner muttered, and walked out of the workroom.

must have sneak in and take it away. What's the point of stealing this? It was not worth

Meanwhile...

she had checked in and

and when he saw her holding a glass bottle in a couple use." Charlotte placed the glass bottle in the far corner under the table. She had stolen it from the cleaner and was ready to abdomen started to hurt again and she sat down on the chair holding her

white and his lips

a worried look, "By the way, Miss Charlotte. here

Charlotte nodded her head.

out, and the regular painkillers were not effective at all; she needed the higher-grade Opioid, which was only available with hospital for a high price from a black market drugstore." Tommy knew what Charlotte wanted to ask, and he poured her a her head and swallowed the

Chapter 1169

1-2 minutes

---

As soon as the matter was mentioned.

Charlotte suddenly turned so gloomy. She bared her teeth and furrowed her eyebrows.

'Luther, let's wait and see.'

Yet, it dashed her last hope.

What was the difference between her now and a bereaved dog?

What did she even have except for some big cash for her food, drink and hotel?

Her fake identity had been exposed by Otis, and in their rush to escape, she could not take away all the gold, silver and luxury goods. She could not use her bank cards either, because that would reveal her whereabouts.

Everything she once had was all gone.

also included her

the difference between her and a beggar after she used up all the money her uterus was ruined. She was

She was nothing now!

escape Otis' pursuit, and give her untold amounts of money to spend.

her surprise, Luther was just using her from start to finish. He was just using her he was back with

they all deserved to expression

girl, and after

What's happened?" He asked in who killed my mother? Do you know why Otis wanted the power? Why did he Tommy shook his head.

of a woman! A

Chapter 1170

On Friday, Joyce was getting ready to leave work.

Luther seemed to have gone out and she hadn't seen him all day. She had no idea what he was up to or who he went out to see. Anyway, she had a vague feeling that what he was doing at the moment had something to do with her.

All the employees in the office were on vacation, and only Kane was left to revise the program for their new products.

Joyce said to Kane as she packed up her things and left the office, "I'll go first. You're the only one left in the office, so check the security system again before you go."

Kane looked up from in front of his computer, "Sis, you're leaving so early today?"

"Hmm. There's nothing going on anyway, so I'll pick up Anderson from school early. It's the weekend tomorrow and I plan to take him for a good time." Joyce said back.

Kane could not help but roll his eyes in his heart. It must have been because Luther was not here that she did not want to stay in the office either. She just wanted to meet him. Just now he stole a glance at her several times, and she looked distracted and she was always looking in the direction of the door.

"Sis, let me go with you to pick up Anderson." Kane's eyes were crystal clear as he suggested.

your business, I'll go first." Joyce smiled and politely declined, flattened his mouth. He found her words so perfunctory, and he was farther and farther right." He reluctantly started declaring war military have been watching the media more closely these past two days." Kane do you mean?" Joyce stopped in Otis' power grab is not going very well, and he can't get much support internally and is at odds with other officers. He can only strengthen the control relieved, "That's a good sign. It means that there are quite a by no means deal with that easily." Kane agreed, smiled

passed calmly day by could do either and she knew she should

it would

she could do