

Sweet love 1432

Chapter 1432

Premium duplex apartments.

Although it was daytime, the floor-to-ceiling curtains were almost tightly closed, and a few golden rays of light filtered into the house sporadically.

This is a family that would rather keep the lights on during the day.

Nor do they want to let the sun shine in.

It is as if they are used to living in a world where they cannot see the light.

This is Fair's home.

Fair's nanny, Sara, has been taking care of Fair's living and transportation to and from kindergarten.

Fair was bored at home during the weekend.

You can only play with yourself, or read a book to pass the time.

Because of this, she often played math puzzle games on her own and developed extraordinary numeracy skills.

"Bang." A sound.

It seems to be the sound of a door being opened.

reading a book when she heard a commotion downstairs, she looked up from her

"Fair, come downstairs. Your

in his hand, fell

familiar and unfamiliar

the last time she saw her again, at all.

I will meet her

she was both expectant

heart, why she had always given her to Sara, never cared about her, was it because she did not like her, or was afraid because I didn't feel real about the name mother and

She stood up trembling.

from

room, a woman sat on top of a wheelchair. She was wearing a loose Japanese robe with pink cherry blossoms printed on it, and her long black hair was already above her waist, neatly combed, and only in the middle, lightly tied with a cherry

soft, at the moment

curtains."

ma'am." Sara returned respectfully, then infinite beautiful sunlight shining in, light gold will be everything around the body, are drenched

to the middle of the living room, looked

she felt a little blinding and reached out to person in front of her is her mommy? Why

her mother,