

Sweet love 261

Chapter 261

Juanita was like a host, "Let's eat!"

After that, she gave Karl a prawn and one for herself. She ate it up with great gusto.

The rest of the dishes were served one after another, all with rare and expensive ingredients.

Juanita gave Karl food from time to time and took care of him, as if she was her girlfriend.

Karl was a little embarrassed and pushed back, "No, thanks."

Juanita was extremely thick-skinned, "What? Don't like the food I got for you? By the way, Officer Karl, do you have a girlfriend?"

She asked the question directly in a loud voice.

"Ahem."

"Ahem."

and Joyce

but get nervous for Juanita. Although she knew this was the way Juanita usually was, it was still a bit overly straightforward to ask men was a little embarrassed, but answered truthfully, "Not are you all looking at me for?" Juanita smiled brightly and and her cheeks puffed out, looking very cute. While eating, she asked, "What was something had inadvertently choked into his airway and was very up and patted his back hard, half teasing, "Look at you.

"Ahem."

was because of embarrassment or because he coughed too much, his handsome face turned red, adding a bit of cuteness to his usually repeatedly, signaling Juanita to his senses, he said, "Sorry, I lost my manners just now. I like mature was a

Karl, we don't know if it's right until we get along, so why don't we try dating? I think Officer Karl's sullen nature is suitable for a

Wrong marriage and sweet love (Joyce and Luther)

Chapter 262

Karl thought about it a moment and returned, "I do remember. She drugged you and hired someone else to molest you. This case was later transferred to another officer, and I was not involved throughout. What's wrong? Is there a problem?" His instinct told him that Joyce was asking this question for an unusual reason.

"Maybe. I met Lauren at the detention center and talked to her." Joyce thought about it, "I have no proof, just a feeling alone. Even if it was really Lauren who drugged me, she wasn't capable of planning seamlessly to hire someone else to molest me. It always felt like a mismatch, something wasn't right."

Karl narrowed his eyes and remembered that Officer Longman had withdrawn the case.

At the time, he didn't pay much attention to it because it was not a serious case. He also could not do every case personally.

"I got it. I'll check it out." He said seriously.

"Another thing, in the detention center, a female prison guard named Georgia once took me to the interrogation dark room in the middle of the night in private and whipped me." Joyce gave a brief statement of what happened that night.

"How can there be such a thing?! It's so dark!" Juanita slapped the table in anger, "Why didn't you tell me, it must have hurt, are you okay now?"

"Well, the wound is scabbed over, it's okay."

brow furrowed and crucial thing, I heard, Georgia disappeared the day before yesterday!" Joyce said prison guard in a management position, missing?

seriousness of the

I'll go back to the police station

nodded, and that's what Christian reminded her system in your phone. Just in case." Karl Joyce nodded, "Okay,

waved his hand, "I have to go back to

"It's not safe at

"No,

fine. Be safe yourself." He looked at Joyce worriedly, always feeling uneasy. Things could be tricky with the hand behind the scene, and its power and ability

what they were going to do yellow light was

Chapter 263

Karl's fingers froze as he prepared to press the button.

Yes, what was he thinking? He was single, but she was married. That was the bottom line for him.

It was only appropriate if they were both unmarried.

"And..." Juanita winked, paused and blurted out, "And we even kissed. It felt pretty good, so why don't we try dating and see."

"Ahem." Karl choked again as he thought about the last time he was at the police station, when he and Juanita both accidentally fell down and pressed their lips together, the soft feeling still lingering in his memory.

His cheeks burned up and he reprimanded slightly, "Don't talk nonsense. I didn't mean it."

Just as the elevator came, he hurriedly entered the elevator.

At the moment the elevator door closed, Juanita's bright and warm smile was clearly reflected in the gap.

"Officer Karl, think about it, I'll wait for your news."

After seeing Karl off, Juanita returned to the box.

Don't you confess in front of me, I'm so nervous my heart is on the prawns, "It's my confession, not yours. Why are pursue love! It's so hard to meet someone I like, I can't a man is the easiest. I think you will finally get him." Joyce sincerely encouraged, "Karl is great and worth your eyes dimmed and there was a momentary dip, but it was quickly

I'm the undefeatable Juanita! I'll get him!" Her mouth was stuffed full

the two of them chatted got a call from

"What do you and Karl talk about? Talking didn't reply in a good up, the car is parked across the street. You can see it when you come downstairs and walk across the crosswalk." Luther seemed to be in an instantly better mood and raised his tone a few me up?" Joyce was surprised that he came by

Luther was at a loss for words, not knowing how to couldn't say he just wanted to pick her up had something down now." Joyce hung up the phone as she packed her

Chapter 264

How was it possible?

Luther shook his head hard and looked around carefully. Indeed, Joyce was now nowhere to be found.

She was clearly standing at the end of the crosswalk, waiting for the red light, how could she have disappeared in a flash?

The green light was already on and people were bustling across the street. In the dense crowd, looking around, he could not find her.

Impossible, he could never be wrong.

Just now, it was really Joyce.

She disappeared before his eyes!

He hurriedly unbuckled his seatbelt, and his panicked hands pressed it twice before it was unfastened. He ran out of the car, even forgot to close the door, and ran to the crosswalk. He searched the crowd one by one, but no, none of them. None of them were her.

red steady stream of cars drove by. He could not care about anything, could not wait a moment, dodging vehicles suddenly, followed by shrill horns. Some cars were forced to stop, and some car owners lowered their windows get yourself killed? It's a red

"What the hell!"

ear to them all, dodging and finally coming across the road was not far from the bar and he indeed had seen Joyce come out of the elevator and walk down circle around the DeNox bar, dialing Joyce's number able to dial the number, but there was no

made several calls, her phone in his heart. A boundless fear almost ran, breathing heavily, stopped at the side

phone, Felix's lazy voice came. He was high at the ktv and the noise of the girls around him

Chapter 265

After Luther made his call to Felix.

He then called Juanita to determine Joyce left the bar exactly from the elevator in front of him. Juanita did not know where Joyce was going because they did not go the same direction and did not take the same elevator.

He hung up the phone and looked around while calling Karl without hesitation.

No matter how he might think of Karl, he must now inform him.

It was still less than 24 hours, so he could not just report the case to the police department but he was afraid everything would be too late if he just waited until 24 hours later.

When Karl got the call from Luther.

He was reading through the documents at the police station, looking up everything about Georgia through their internal information network, as well as the internal information portal of State Security. Surprisingly, Georgia had once been a mercenary overseas. That's incredible.

For some reason, when he saw Luther's call, his heart sank and his instinct told him that it must be something bad.

a few beats as he pressed the right to the point, "Joyce is hoping that maybe Joyce just forgot something and returned to get it back, or suddenly she needed to go to the bathroom, or maybe it was something almost 100% sure that Joyce was getting gloomy, and after listening to Luther, he could hardly relax

enough, the worst

that he had suggested Joyce to install a location

she would do

even have the time

curtain just could not wait to get out have any evidence, but intuitively, something must have happened. Karl, please investigate the surveillance on the road all the police forces immediately, and I'm at the second precinct of the police station. You can just come to responded, "I'll bring the surveillance data from DeNox and meet in touch.

Chapter 266

At the Security Central Control Room of DeNox...

Felix excitedly pointed to the surveillance screen, and rebuked, "How is it possible? Just after Joyce walked out of the DeNox, the whole surveillance system was down? It's too much of a coincidence, right? Are you all blind? Who came in this room afterwards, and who destroyed the surveillance, you do not know? What's the use of keeping you losers?"

The security chief lowered his head, not daring to breathe, "I'm sorry, Karl, but no one has really come in the security room."

Luther put his arms around his chest, his long eyebrows tangled forming a gloomy look.

Obviously, everything was premeditated, and the target was Joyce.

to get in right here to destroy the footage. It's also very likely that the security system was hacked at the time. It seems that the opponent is very capable this time. They have their plan and come here just for Joyce." She paused, "When you think about the disappearance of Georgia, the prison guard who whipped Joyce in the detention center at the time, Joyce guard who whipped Joyce is missing?

before yesterday. I just found out about the name of the prison guard was Georgia, and even know the disappearance of Georgia. Even he did now, the most important thing for him if there was anyone who provided any information and intelligence that could be used to save Joyce, and he would definitely take it to the police station immediately and see blame for being careless. I shouldn't have left." Felix regretted. He should not have gone to ktv himself. If he honestly stayed with Joyce, maybe there would not be such an accident. Now it is too with all those girls. What's the use even if you regret it now?" Vicki approached Felix, leaned

Wrong marriage and sweet love (Joyce and Luther)

Chapter 267

After he had met Vicki, he went to check Vicki's background and as it turned out, she had been frequenting all kinds of detention centers and jails in the past years. It really pissed him off that a woman like that would even look down upon him.

"Don't argue. There's no point in arguing, and it won't help. I'll go to the police department first." Luther took a copy of the surveillance footage handed to him by the head of the security team, turned around and left with a cold face.

Soon after, Luther drove to the second precinct.

Inside the office lobby, Karl was directing several police officers to get the surveillance of the road and have them carefully check each of them.

Luther came to Karl's side.

When he saw Karl's gloomy look, he had a rough idea in his mind and almost felt hopeless.

It seemed that the police department had not made much progress so far either.

his head gently and sighed, "They destroyed all the surveillance of the road at that time, thus the information we can find is very limited. Nothing has been front of DeNox, which was also damaged. I want to give it to you to see if it can long time. Right now, we can't wait. They are it involves forces outside the country?" Luther was shocked. He thought of the night when he was chased and drugged, and he hadn't found out who was behind it.

has been missing for more than 24 hours. So now we are left to our own, and we must hurry a police officer trotted over and reported, "Captain. We found a surveillance camera across the road and it was working just fine. Please come over and

Luther rushed video connection to the large across the street to where the surveillance was, and analyzed, "Yes, you can't see Joyce from this angle in trucks appeared in the video, one after

"Stop!"

Chapter 268

"Pop!"

Karl slapped the desk violently and his eyes lit up.

"That's right, that's very likely, these big trucks are just covering the whole thing up! Joyce was held hostage right at this time." Karl pointed to the big screen and instructed one of the officers, "You go check the surveillance of other roads carefully, and make sure to miss not a single trace and find out where these big trucks went."

"Yes, Captain." The officer answered and hurriedly organized his men to start checking.

Luther looked up at his watch, "Over an hour has passed, I'm afraid they're all almost out of Khebury."

Karl's face was gloomy, "Indeed, even now, it is a little late to set up checkpoints around the city. However, it is still necessary to try the best we can. The problem is that at the moment Joyce cannot yet be identified as missing and we can't get the execution documents."

"I'll try to find connections." Luther said.

"It will just be too late to wait until you've made a round of calls to the right person." Karl thought about it, picked up the phone, and dialed directly to the desk of the Director General of the Capital Traffic Police.

have an urgent request for your help. Please inform the Khebury Traffic Department to close all the major traffic lanes immediately and leave worry. Give my regards to Thanks!" Karl hung up the looked at him askance, his eyes

background that he could directly order the Khebury traffic previously suspected that Karl had a decent background, but he still underestimated he remembered correctly, Chester was the chief justice of the country, where the law overrode everything and had absolute authority. Even the Karl was such a prince in will was sent directly by Karl to the Capital Analysis Center and even Dustin

phone call, the Capital Traffic Police such a big shot was hiding in the

What a surprise.

Chapter 269

She realized that she had been kidnapped.

Her mind got gradually cleared and she vaguely recalled the scene when she was held hostage. Just in front of DeNox, she was waiting for a red light and preparing to cross the crosswalk when several large trucks drove slowly past her.

Suddenly, one of the big trucks slowed down and suddenly opened the side door in front of her, with two masked men inside, who instantly dragged her forcibly into the carriage. It happened so fast that she had no time to react.

Then later, she only felt a pain in the back of her head and lost consciousness.

Only now did she wake up.

Right now, it seemed that she is the only one in the carriage. The two masked men who previously held her into the truck were not around.

It looked like they've moved her somewhere else while she was unconscious.

Now, there was no telling where they were taking her and what they were going to do with her.

The boundless darkness, the confusion of the unknown, and the helplessness of not being able to resist put her in deep fear. Intuition told her that this was not a simple kidnapping, whoever took her here seemed to want her life.

that they

down over and with the outside world. Right now, she could only rely this moment, Luther was anxiously awaiting news from his cell

and the sudden ringing of the phone made him

was an unfamiliar

at his phone, quickly connected a cable to Luther's phone,

the answer

the other end, apparently using a in my hands now. If you dare to call the police, she will immediately become a corpse!" The woman made a

to keep her

before they could locate the exact location of want? Can I believe you? You want.

Wrong marriage and sweet love (Joyce and Luther)

Chapter 270

The woman from the other end was silent for a moment, seemingly shocked by Luther's aura, and then she hurriedly cut off.

The "beep-beep-beep" busy tone echoed in the empty air...

Luther's mind went blank.

The photo of Joyce tied up on the ground was carved into his mind and he just could never get rid of it. She was lying on the floor, her body curled up, her hands tied behind her back, her lips taped, her normally crystal-clear eyes now shut tight lifelessly.

He remembered the unhealed wound on her back, which must be hurting bad at the moment.

He clenched his fist tightly, veins popping on the back of his hand. He could not tell whether it was heartache or just rage, but he just wanted to crush the phone into pieces.

Karl stepped forward and gripped the phone in his hand, saying calmly, "Let go and give me your phone. I'm going to install a real-time tracker on your phone."

his senses, his hand loosened,

was hoarse, "Well, can you trace shouldn't be a problem," Karl his face and he understood

Joyce was his wife, and all he could do was try his best shouted excitedly,

of City A? How is it possible,

at the same time. City

Mountain is quite complex. Not to mention outsiders, even locals may not be able to map it out. Of course, it's also possible that they thin lips lightly, his eyes fixed at Karl, and he said in a deep voice, "Even if we get just a ten-thousandth probability, thought for a moment, picked up the phone, and dialed the each road in and out of Khebury but don't detain any vehicles. Just say you are having a routine inspection. If there are any suspicious vehicles, report