Chapter 371

Luther heard it and could not say a word. His gaze fell on Joyce. The pain hurt, but he could only bear it.

Anyway, tonight was not the time to get tough with Justin.

Right now, the most important thing was to relieve Joyce from the dilemma.

He gritted his teeth fiercely, held back, and did not say a word.

Shelly suddenly lost her mind and rushed forward. Before Jacqueline had been pulling her, and she finally broke free and ran to Justin.

"Justin, your leg injury is healed?" She looked at Justin ecstatically, her eyes revealing an obsessive greed, "Justin, how can Joyce be your fiancée? You know exactly how I feel about you, I've been waiting for you."

"I'm sorry, but Joyce and I have known and loved each other for over two years now. Shelly, I've always thought of you as a sister." Justin refused coldly.

"Sister?!" Shelly cried and shook her head, "Who treats you as a brother? Justin, the most hurtful rejection in the whole world is to say that I am only a sister! I don't want to be your sister! I want to be your wife!"

Justin, with Joyce, had just walked out the front door of Riveria Haze.

Numerous reporters swarmed around, flashing lights were everywhere and they could barely open their eyes.

"Mr. Henderson, is it true that Joyce is your fiancée and does the Henderson family approve of this?"

"Mr. Henderson, I heard that your father Garrett is not feeling well right now, can you reveal what exactly is ailing him?"

"Mr. Henderson, where exactly has your brother Derrick been assigned to now that he has supposedly been removed from his position? Does your sudden return after being missing for over two years have anything to do with Derrick's removal?"

"Mr. Henderson, you and Joyce have known each other for over two years and Joyce and Luther have been together for just over three months, is that correct?"

Justin smiled and patiently replied, "Yes, Joyce and I have known and loved each other for over two years."

Joyce was beside Justin, frowning and suddenly wanting to explain that she didn't want to be tied to Justin again after she had just cleared her relationship with Luther. The Henderson family was also a deep, deep pool. She and Justin had known each other for more than two years, but they weren't in love.

Joyce said suddenly.

Justin was stunned, obviously feeling Joyce's aloofness towards him.

"Reporters are all around this place, and they may be following us. If they catch you getting out of my car, it'll be all over."

Joyce thought about it and said, "Then I'll go to a hotel a little farther away. Go to the Hotel Royal on the outskirts of town, I don't think that the reporters will be able to follow me there."

Justin's good-looking eyebrows were gently tweaked.

"Joyce, we haven't seen each other for a long time. I've been thinking about you day and night. Have you ever thought of me?"

The car was lit with a yellowish light, reflecting on her beautiful face. Today, when she first appeared in the Riveria Haze ballroom, he had actually seen her. More than three months, she had become more beautiful. She had lost some of her youth, but she had more charm than before.

He had his heart set on her before, and now he could not stop thinking about it.

He gently picked up her hand, brought it to his lips, and gently kissed her fingers.

The Heath family.

During the drive in the afternoon back to the Heath family, Rodney was quite distracted on the road, repeatedly chanting, "They just looked the same! Cecelia, you must help me find her, the person I met today, she looked just the same as Mia."

"Good. Got it!" Cecelia trailed off with a long, soft coaxing voice. Now that Rodney was old, he could only be coaxed like a child. None of them had ever seen Mia, not even a picture, and with only the old man's memory, how could she look for such a woman?

When he got home, Rodney didn't even eat dinner and locked himself in his room, staring at the empty walls.

Cecelia sighed quietly, feeling very tired at heart. The old man today originally went to meet Luther for Charlotte's marriage and the result was just as she expected.

Even before today, she had been quite sure that the old man would come back unhappy. When the old man met the girl who looked like Mia, however, he had all forgotten about Charlotte, which made her also relieved.

She looked at Charlotte, who looked so upset, and sighed sadly in her heart. There were simply some things that could not be forced, and it was just her fate.

Charlotte sat frozen in the living room, her eyes wandering.

She sobbed while saying, "I never thought that Justin would fall in love with Joyce for more than two years, and Joyce is pregnant with his child. Today, in front of all the guests, my mother exposed Joyce's pregnancy. I didn't expect Justin to stand up for Joyce and admit that the baby was his, and that the reason Joyce and my brother got married under false pretenses was to help him protect Joyce. I was kept in the dark and didn't know anything. Woohoo ..."

On the other end of the line, Charlotte was stunned.

What the hell ... actually was going on?

She had heard of Justin, and since she entered the Heath family, she had known many people in the upper class circle. She had naturally heard of Justin, the son of the Henderson family bank. The elegant and noble son in the eyes of celebrity girls, who was said to be of extraordinary appearance, with a fairy aura.

Justin had been missing for more than two years, but he was with Joyce?

Was it possible? Why didn't she notice it at all?

"Shelly, don't feel bad. I'll come to you tomorrow and help you figure out what to do together."

Charlotte said a few casual words of comfort, not at all from the heart. After all, she didn't care if it had nothing to do with her. It was enough that her purpose was achieved.

The driver of the Henderson family Kobayashi parked the car in front of the hotel.

Joyce said to Justin, "I'm fine, you can go back." After saying that, under the moonlight, her slender figure got out of the car and flew into the hotel door.

"Wait." Justin hurriedly got out of the car to catch up with Joyce, "Come back with me, okay? No one else is bothering me at my residence. We used to live together in your apartment, remember? What do you mind now?"

Joyce paused, "You knew it. I was there just to take care of you at the time. Now you've recovered and don't need me anymore."

A trace of embarrassment flashed across Justin's handsome face, "You also know that my heart ..."

Joyce interrupted him, "It's late today, I'm tired and want to get some rest."

Justin took his room card, swiped it across the access control, and the room's doors opened automatically.

He said to Joyce, "Don't stand in the doorway, it's not good if people see you, go inside and talk."

He did not make it loud but it was enough for Luther on the other end of the line to hear him.

Joyce walked into the room.

With a "click", Justin closed the door behind him.

Luther's voice suddenly cooled down, "So ... are you with him?" The "he" was naturally Justin.

"If there's nothing going on, I'll hang up." Joyce didn't answer.

"Wait."

Joyce sat in the room, dazed for a while, and looked up to see that Justin hadn't left yet.

She slowly raised her eyes, "Excuse me, I want to be alone. Please, you can leave now."

Justin's thin lips lightly pursed, and his throat rolled up and down. He wanted to say something, but finally thought better of it.

He hesitated to tell Joyce that his broken legs two years ago were not actually Joyce's responsibility, but ...

Joyce carried this guilt and responsibility for him for two years in silence.

And he, too, had only recently learned the truth of the matter.

At this moment, he hesitated and retreated.

If she was told the truth, she would stay even farther away from him and she would by no means accept him.

He was torn inside for a long time before he spoke, "Okay. I'll go back first; you get some rest."

He leaned over, picked up her phone, entered his phone number, and dialed his own cell phone.

"This is my current cell phone number. If anything happens, be sure to call me."

He returned to the coffee table, opened the paper bag, took out several delicate boxes from it and opened them one by one, "You didn't eat dinner, I brought you some snacks. You must be starving."

She watched as he filled the coffee table with various boxes and snacks.

Joyce gently bit her lips, and her heart felt a current of warmth slipping through.

In fact, when Justin was there just now, she was already very hungry. However, Justin did not notice, but Luther, on the contrary, even thought of it.

However, in the next second, she denied such thoughts.

Who could possibly know the reason why Luther cared so much about her? He might do it for the shares, or he might just do it to keep her around.

"What's wrong, hurry up and eat while it's hot." He pushed a portion of rib congee in front of her, "All your favorites."

"I'm not hungry, you take it away." Joyce refused with a cold face. The snacks laid out in front of her were indeed all her usual favorites, and it seemed like he had paid attention to them, and he had indeed been quite thoughtful.

At that time, in Hill Benjamin, he found her "Wheel of Fortune" necklace hanging by the creek.

Now, she deliberately returned the "Wheel of Fortune" necklace to him, which apparently meant that she was returning to him all their memories about Hill Benjamin.

She meant to stay away from him completely.

Would he not understand?

Joyce had already made up her mind, and when he never took the necklace, she threw it directly into his arms.

"You go back, it's late, I'm going to rest."

Being hit in the chest by the necklace didn't really hurt, but at this point, it's like a drill into his heart, gnawing at his nerves.

"Is the baby really Justin's?" He asked in a gruff voice. After all, he hadn't heard her admit it herself.

Joyce froze and simply admitted, "Yes."
