

Sweet love 531

Chapter 531

Seriously, she'd forgotten about this guy.

If Christian didn't look so identifiable, she wouldn't have remembered who he was.

In front of her, Christian was wearing his signature solid black suit, black tie, black sunglasses, and a demonic and wild look with an evil aura. His thin lips held a very thin cigarette, and he was currently enveloped by the lingering smoke around him, adding to his eeriness a ghostly atmosphere.

After reaching out to stop Joyce, he gently exhaled the cigarette in his mouth and stomped it out with his leather shoe.

Dusting off the remnants of his cigarette ash, he spoke with panache, "Joyce, I haven't seen you for a while, you've become even more beautiful."

"It wasn't that long ago that I saw you and Vicki come together at a party at Riveria Haze." Joyce glanced at him lightly, "May I ask if you happened to run into me today, or did you deliberately pick on me?"

"Don't speak too harshly. It breaks my heart every time." Christian pretended to look aggrieved.

"So, do I have beautiful eyes? Have you been charmed by me?" He smiled wickedly.

At this time, she would have to admit, his eyes were indeed very beautiful. Joyce had seen them before actually, but she never had a chance to take a close look. Now that the two of them were so close, she marveled at how unusual they really were. They were cocoa-colored at the first glance, but when she took a closer look, they seemed a bit purple in a mysterious way, and it was like they were actually two bottomless black holes that could suck her into the abyss.

"What exactly is it that you want from me? You are certainly not here just to show me your eyes. Tell me what's going on." Joyce looked impatient, "I really have to get back to work. Get out of the way."

"Work?"

Christian laughed openly as if he had heard a funny joke, "What do you want when you work so hard for Luther? I heard he's getting engaged? The invitations have been received by all the powerful people in high society. Poor you, you're still working for him? You don't look like you're out of your mind, do you?"

"It's my business, it's none of your business."

Joyce frowned. Just now Justin had asked her to think about the future, and now Christian mentioned it again.

"I warned you a long time ago. I asked you to leave Luther, and the Warner family is not for you, and Luther is no good. Look, you were first framed by Shelly, and then wrongly accused of killing Stephanie, and then you were kidnapped, and then your fake marriage was exposed, and then everyone knew you are pregnant and the baby has nothing to do with Luther. The first thing you need to do now is to get married. It would be better to be with me earlier. I'm not going to put you through this." Christian wiggled his fingers and counted them one by one for Joyce to hear.

Joyce's expression was too late to conceal and had completely revealed her true thoughts.

Christian knew that she was privately investigating Charlotte, which was shocking enough. She did follow Charlotte quietly a few times and found nothing. Not only did he know about her investigation, but he also knew about Ricky?

Of course she wanted to know, but, since she still could not find out the purpose of Christian, could his words be trusted?

Christian hooked up a wicked smile, as if guessing what she was thinking, "What, don't you believe what I said?"

"..." Joyce pursed her lips and said nothing.

"Gee, with your connections, you will not be able to find out anything about Ricky after a hundred years. And that Karl who helped you investigate. Perhaps he has got quite a strong background, and maybe he can get some information from the government and the police but there is really not much he can do other than that." Christian lazily said.

Joyce was even more shocked that Christian even knew that she and Karl were working on the investigation together.

Moreover, she knew Karl's background only yesterday. And Christian knew it easily. He was really quite extraordinary.

Christian came close to Joyce and blew softly in her ear, gangly, which seemed like he was flirting.

"Oh, that's quite something to ask. So you want an empty check? What am I capable of doing for you? I can't do killing and setting fire jobs."

Joyce snickered and dusted him off.

"Surely it won't be something difficult for you, not against the law, not against your heart, within your ability. Don't worry." Christian assured.

"OK. You tell me. What information did you get?"

Joyce had a straightforward nature and there was always a price to pay for getting anything. Whatever it was that he wanted her to do, and it's not against the law, and it's not against her heart, and it's within her ability, sure, she could accept it.

"It's not convenient to talk here with people coming and going, so you come with me." Christian hooked his little finger and threw a wink at her as he straightened up and crossed his long, slender legs past Joyce.

"Ouch, that hurts. You are so cruel, I kindly told you the information, and you still treat me like this." Christian groggily screamed in discontent.

"Come on." Joyce urged impatiently.

"Well, you guessed it, it's awm, a military sniper rifle that's impossible to get on the market. Only on the black market, and the only channel to get it ..." he mysteriously approached Joyce, "and he needs to go through my subordinates in the black market, before he could possibly get such a thing. The black market, basically, is my sphere of influence."

Joyce rolled her eyes at him. She just could not bear it to hear his proud tone when he talked about his obscene business. What a cheeky man!

"Could it be, the person who rented an awm ... " Her eyes lit up after she thought for a while, "was Ricky?"

After she thought about Christian's words before and after, this was the only possibility.

"Wow, you're so smart, what am I supposed to do with you?" Christian shrugged suavely, "You're right. Although it's been a while, my subordinates in the black market knew that it must be something quite serious when someone rented a sniper rifle for use in the territory. Of course Ricky could not have used his real identity information to rent it, he used a false identity. This made my subordinates feel even more suspicious, so they kept an extra eye out and secretly pursued. The first time I saw him, I found out that the person who rented it was the lieutenant Ricky from Charlotte's side. A military man, using a false name to rent military weapons, what a strange and unbelievable thing it must be? So my subordinates rushed to report to me."

Thomas found Charlotte, perhaps to propose a deal or perhaps just to threaten her.

Anyway, Charlotte, fearing that the matter would be exposed, asked Ricky to kill her.

This series of events were now all connected up.

Before it was just a guess, but now according to the information Christian told her, although there was no solid evidence, she was almost certain that Charlotte was the one who was behind everything.

Charlotte wanted to marry Luther and she was the biggest stumbling block, so at all costs, she wanted to destroy her completely and drove her away from Luther. It turned out to be like this after all.

Joyce took a long, long breath.

She and Karl's judgment was right. Although they didn't have deep feelings for each other, they grew up together in the same orphanage after all. She didn't expect Charlotte would want to humiliate her so much.

The more she thought about it, the angrier she became, and subconsciously she tightened her fists.

Christian was on the sidelines, enjoying Joyce's changing expressions with interest.

Joyce's heart skipped a beat, but then she thought, "So what if Luther saw it? Anyway, they were about to go their separate ways.

At this moment, Luther stood at the intersection, his long body blocking Joyce's way, his handsome features shrouded in gloom.

Close by, she could even feel a suffocating burst of negative air pressure emanating from his body.

Luther saw everything just now. At the moment he did not look at Joyce, his dark eyes stared straight at Christian, who was half leaning against the wall not far away.

Joyce swept a glance at Christian out of the corner of her eye.

The usually lazy-looking Christian at the moment turned pretty serious and his smile gradually disappeared.

It was the first time she had ever seen Luther and Christian face to face.

"Could it be, you really are in collusion with him, Shelly is not wrong, you do have an affair with Christian?!"

Joyce's eyes were wide open. The man in front of her lost his memory and now even brought up the past. The truth had long been clear that it was Shelly who set her up and leaked the program to Christian.

"Huh." She laughed helplessly, "Whatever you think."

At that moment, Christian came out of the alcove with graceful posture, and when he passed them, he threw a wink at Joyce and made a flying kiss.

"See you next time, baby. You're so sweet, I'll be back for more. Miss you!"

Then he laughed wildly and put down a harsh sentence to Luther, "Luther, the woman you desire, I will definitely snatch her from you. Well, that's what you do to me. Just wait, you will get what's coming to you."

After saying that, he ignored Luther's face that had been gloomy to an extreme and left.

That's what Luther had done to him? Christian seemed to mean something, and Joyce was confused.

All the people around them, coming and going, were envious.

A man and a woman kissing in the street, the autumn breeze, the fallen leaves, they all formed a beautiful and moving picture.

Joyce was wrapped in his arms, unable to move.

And the people all around were whispering.

"Wow, what a handsome man, it's so happy to be kissed by him, I want to be that girl so badly. It's so cool!"

"The women aren't bad either, are you half as pretty as she is?"

"Do they just have to do that in the street?"

"Ouch, too ashamed to look at it."

"So horny, so horny, can't stand it."

All kinds of comments got into the ears clearly, and the already blushing Joyce were now even more afraid to open her eyes. At the moment her brain was sober, and out of control was the temperamental man in front of her.

Shelly knew that her emotions were out of control. Gradually, she also calmed down.

She was too scared in her heart. She had lost to Joyce time and again before, and her brother was getting distant from her. Now luckily, he lost his memory and forget their previous disputes and his feelings for Joyce.

He was finally back, the brother who used to hold her in his heart and love her. She could not accept losing him again.

So, today, seeing the two of them kissing in the street, she was so angry that she lost her senses instantly.

She didn't want Joyce to get close to Luther again, and didn't want to repeat the same mistakes as before.

"Brother. Is that what you two are doing?" Shelly's eyes were red with aggression and she choked out, "Do you know where I just came from?"

She wiped the corners of her eyes and said to herself, "I just came out of the military hospital. In the morning after we left the Heath family, I learned that not long after, Charlotte was sent to the military hospital. She's having a stomach ache and placenta instability. She is now on birth control at the military hospital."
