President's Sweet Wife

Chapter 911 Weal And Woe

But at this time, Felix pointed a gun at Stephan. Although there were so many people outside, he knew Felix very well.

He had no doubt that Felix was a lunatic right now.

If he really enraged Felix, he might die here today.

Therefore, he hesitated and didn't say anything.

He tried to hold back his anger and persuaded, "I really don't know. Felix, calm down. I'm a member of the Zaccardi family. If you really kill me, what will you get?"

"Although I'm just an ordinary member of the family, if I'm really killed by you, even for the sake of the family's reputation, the Zaccardi family won't let you go."

"By that time, you will have two enemies at the same time, the Zircon Association and the Zaccardi family. Are you sure you want to take the risk of other people's lives in the Dragon Club?"

As soon as he finished speaking, the living room fell into silence.

Felix didn't let go of him because of his words but didn't go any further.

At this time, Bella walked over carefully.

She looked at the two men in panic and persuaded, "Mr. Bissel if you have anything to say, let's sit down and have a talk. Aren't you Mr. Zaccardi's friend? Can't you talk to him calmly?"

Then she reached out to touch his hand holding the gun.

However, she was stopped by a cold glance from Felix.

Stephan thought it didn't matter if Felix was going to hurt him, but when Felix glared at Bella like this, Stephan couldn't bear it anymore.

He pulled Bella over and said, "Felix, this is a matter between men. Don't get the innocent woman involved."

Felix looked at him and sneered.

"Miss Collins and you love each other very much. Naturally, she should share weal and woe with you, shouldn't she?"

As he spoke, he suddenly moved the gun to Bella's head.

"You're right. I really can't hurt you. After all, I don't want to be the enemy of the Zaccardi family yet."

"But she is different. If I'm not wrong, she hasn't been admitted by your family yet, right? If I kill her now, I believe that the Zaccardi family won't want to be an enemy of Dragon Club because of an unimportant woman, right?"

Stephan's pupils contracted.

He was always calm and elegant, but now his face changed and he suddenly became angry.

He shouted angrily, "Felix, don't go too far!"

But Felix didn't want to talk to him anymore. He just said in a low voice, "I'll ask you for the last time. Tell me whose people they are."

Stephan clenched his fists.

Bella's face turned pale with fear.

But looking at his hesitant look, she cried and said, "Mr. Zaccardi, don't care about me. This man is crazy. You just ask the guards to catch him and don't tell him."

However, the more she said so, the more sorry Stephan felt.

Then Bella turned to look at Felix and said, "Felix, you broke into our house in daylight without any reason and ask him something unnecessary. Are you insane? Just shoot. If you dare to shoot and kill me, I'll see if you can get out here today!"

Felix sneered and said in a sarcastic tone, "Mrs. Zaccardi is so brave."

As he spoke, he turned to look at Stephan.

"It's a pity that you are with a man who doesn't love you. Remember to find a good man in your next life."

Then he tightened his grip on the gun and said in a deep voice, "I'll count to three. If you don't tell me the answer, I'll shoot."

"One!"

"Two!"

"Three!"

"I'll tell you!"

The two voices sounded almost at the same time. Bella was so frightened that she closed her eyes. When she came to her senses, she found that the gun that had been against her head did not fire, and Stephan had already agreed to tell the answer.

She felt relieved.

Stephan's face was dark and sullen. He stared at Felix and said, "Since you want to know, I'm not afraid to tell you. They are all from the headquarters of the direct bloodline. I really don't know who is commanding them. If you want to know, you can go there and ask. Anyway, you are so powerful that there is no place that you can't break in and no one who you can't threaten."

His last sentence was full of irony.

But Felix didn't care about it anymore.

Hearing this, he put away the gun as he had promised.

He said in a deep voice, "You'd better not lie to me."

Then he released Bella, turned around, and strode away.

Seeing this, the security guards who had been standing against Ford at the door all looked at Stephan.

Seeing that he signaled them to let Felix go, they stepped aside and made way for Felix.

Felix strode away with a group of people.

Stephan was sitting on the sofa from beginning to end.

Looking at the direction in which the group of people left, Stephan was lost in thought. He murmured to himself, "I've already given you the clue. The next step is up to you."

Then he stood up.

At this time, he noticed that Bella was sitting on the sofa next to him, still a little scared.

He couldn't help smiling when he thought of how scared and brave she was just to save him.

He stretched out his hand and said, "Get up."

Bella was stunned. She raised her head and saw his hand. Then she looked up at his calm face. When she realized what had happened, she quickly gave him her hand.

Stephan pulled her up from the sofa.

Bella bumped into his arms. She knew that Felix wouldn't kill her.

But just now, she was shocked by Felix's merciless and cold look, and she was still a little scared. By now, she hadn't fully recovered.

Looking at her delicate and pale face, Stephan felt more sorry for her.

He reached out and tucked the hair behind her ear, smiling, "Did he scare you just now?"

Bella raised her head and looked at him. Tears welled up in her watery eyes.

However, she didn't cry out. She just pursed her lips and shook her head stubbornly.

"I'm not scared. I just..."

Although she said so, the fingers holding his arm were trembling slightly.

Stephan knew what she was thinking at a glance. He chuckled, bent down, lifted her, and went upstairs.

On the other side.

After leaving Stephan's villa, Felix got in the car and went back to the castle.????

Chapter 912 Being Blessed

Inside the castle, Archie and Natalia were ready and were waiting for him.

As soon as Felix came back and entered the hall, Archie asked, "How is Stephan?"

Felix threw the things on the table and said in a deep voice, "As we expected, this matter should have nothing to do with him. It was done by the headquarters of their direct bloodline."

Archie smiled and said, "My people have secretly caught the three people. They admit that they have indeed kidnapped Queeny according to the order. As for the person who ordered them, it is a senior elder of the Zaccardi family, called Ray Zaccardi."

Felix frowned.

"Ray?"

"Yes."

Archie put the documents that he had just received on the table, and then said in a deep voice, "There are many sects in the Zaccardi family, which are complicated. They are not as peaceful as they seem to be."

"According to the investigation, the whole family is under the command of the patriarch, York. But York has been living in another country for many years, and he seldom deals with family affairs in recent years, so the family affairs are generally handled by the elders."

"There is a total of four elders in the Zaccardi family, all of whom are the brothers or nephews of the previous patriarch. Currently, the four elders are Teil, Chell, Wood, and the last one is the person who has planned the kidnapping, Ray."

"As far as we know, although these four elders are all relatives, they are not in the same boat. Normally, Teil and Wood have a good relationship, while Chell and Ray are fighting alone."

"But there is no doubt that they all support York, the only head, so there is no big fight in usual times."

"The only major dispute happened half a month ago, a few days before Queeny disappeared. The specific content of the dispute is not clear yet, but according to their later actions, it can be seen that their dispute is related to the later part of the plan."

"Now that we have found out that Queeny's disappearance has something to do with York, we can infer that York and Chell should support the following series of activities."

"As for the reason why they caught Queeny, maybe it's just as Halley said, they just wanted to threaten you when they dealt with the Dragon Club. But there might be other reasons that we don't know."

Felix's face darkened after hearing Archie's analysis.

He said in a deep voice, "They want to deal with two enemies at the same time."

"Maybe."

Archie nodded, "They deliberately sent someone to catch Queeny and brought the fire to the Zircon Association when the Zircon Association attacked Queeny. Then they entered into the war and become the final winner when both of us were tired. After they destroy the Zircon Association and completely get the territory, they will turn to deal with us."

"At that time, we are also tired, and Queeny is in their hands, so you are under threat. It would be easy for them to defeat the Dragon Club."

Felix was worried.

Natalia was also shocked.

She had never expected that behind the missing case was such a big scheme.

She asked worriedly, "What should we do now?"

Archie and Felix looked at her.

Archie smiled and said, "Since we have already seen the truth, we will destroy their plan and make trouble for them."

So on the next day, Felix moved with his people.

He didn't need Archie and Natalia to help him this time. The Zaccardi family had a strong background, but this time, they took action in secret and had played a dirty trick.

As long as they used dirty tricks, they couldn't let them be exposed. Therefore, they didn't dare to send people to fight with Felix in daylight.

So it was easy for Felix to save Queeny.

What's more, the three men had been under Archie's control. He had already known the place where Queeny was imprisoned and the situation there.

Now those people might not know that they had known the news of the three people.

Therefore, the best way was not to start a war but to sneak in before they could react. Then Felix could save Queeny in secret.

In this way, the two sides didn't break up, and Felix could avoid another battle at this critical moment, or neither of them could gain any benefits.

Fortunately, this plan went smoothly.

Felix took a group of people to the place and saved Queeny without much effort.

When he rescued her, he found that Queeny was in a coma.

To control her, they had been injecting her with sleeping drugs, so she should have been sleeping there all the time.

Felix was excited and distressed to see his beloved woman again after half a month.

As soon as they got in the car, he quickly checked her condition.

He felt a little relieved when he found that she was fine except for being in a coma.

But even so, after being imprisoned for half a month, Queeny was still much thinner than before.

Her delicate face was pale, and her eyes were tightly closed. Sleeping in his arms, she was weak and unconscious.

Felix felt a pang in his heart.

That night, he took her back to the castle. As soon as he returned home, he called the doctor to examine her body.

The doctor gave her a thorough examination and found that there was nothing wrong with her body, except that her consciousness was in a mess. The reason why she had been in a coma was that she had taken too many sleeping drugs.

And this should be the reason why her consciousness was in a mess.

Felix was still worried.

If Archie and Natalia didn't stop him, he might have rushed to take revenge on those people.

Fortunately, according to the doctor's diagnosis, it was not a big problem. She only needed to have a good rest and take some medicine. Then there would be no problem.

Everyone was relieved.

It was late at night.

Looking at the innocent and fragile girl lying on the bed, Natalia suddenly remembered that this was the first time she had seen the girl Felix loved.

She smiled and said, "Fortunately, she has been saved. God blesses the good. Since she has come back, she will be fine. Felix, don't worry."

Felix didn't look at Natalia but nodded.??????

President's Sweet Wife

Chapter 913 Sweet Time

Since Queeny was saved back, Felix had been staying at the bedside, not even having a rest when the doctor came.

They knew that he was worried about Queeny, so they didn't stop him.

Archie and Natalia tried to persuade him, but he didn't listen. Anyway, there was no problem with Queeny. She just needed to rest, so they didn't disturb him anymore and went back to their room to rest.

The doctor gave Queeny some medicine and left the medicine she needed to take the next morning on the table.

Then, there were only two people left in the room, Felix and Queeny.

He sat on the edge of the bed and looked at Queeny on the bed, holding her hand and feeling extremely painful.

Only then did he realize how important Queeny was to him.

In the past half a month, he seemed to be confident, but in fact, only he knew how scared he was.

He was afraid that he would never find her again. He was afraid that something bad would happen to her. He was afraid that when he found her one day, she had already died.

Therefore, now seeing her lying here safe and sound, he was not only worried but also grateful.

Thank God for giving her back to him.

From now on, he would never mention the tangles and grudges in the past.

He would cherish her and never let her get hurt again.

Felix sat there silently and accompanied Queeny for a long time.

The next morning.

Natalia woke up early in the morning and came to the main building to check if Queeny had woken up.

Unexpectedly, as soon as she entered the hall of the main building, she met Donald coming downstairs.

She and Archie had lived here for a long time, and she was very familiar with Donald.

When she saw Donald, she greeted him with a smile, "Good morning, Donald."

Donald was also nice to Natalia. He didn't know Archie and Natalia well before. He only knew that the McCarthy family and the McCarthy family were enemies.

Felix would be the leader of the Bissel family in the future, so Donald also didn't like the people from the McCarthy family.

But after getting along with them this time, Donald found that the two people in the McCarthy family were both very good people.

Like Felix and Queeny, they were both respectable.

Therefore, he also put aside the prejudices in the past and began to be nice to Natalia and Archie.

Donald smiled and said, "Mrs. McCarthy, good morning. You got up so early. Are you coming to see Queeny?"

Natalia nodded with a smile, "Yes. Is she awake now?"

At the mention of this, Donald smiled happily. "She's awake. She's resting in her room. Felix is with her."

Hearing this, Natalia looked upstairs and said with a smile, "Is it good for me to go up to see her now?"

She didn't want to interrupt them and see something she shouldn't see.

Of course, Donald knew what she meant. He smiled and said, "Yes, you can go."

Natalia was relieved and said, "Then I'll go there."

"Okay."

Natalia went upstairs and got to the room where Queeny was.

She knocked on the door and heard a calm male voice, "Come in."

She opened the door and saw the woman sitting at the head of the bed.

Felix was sitting at the bedside and feeding Queeny medicine.

Although she was fine, her energy and spirit were seriously damaged because of the sleeping drug, so the doctor prescribed some medicine that could help her regain her energy.

At this time, Felix was feeding her patiently.

Seeing Natalia come in, Felix stopped what he was doing and turned to her, "Why are you here?"

Natalia smiled and said, "I'm here to see Queeny."

Natalia said as she approached them.

It was too late last night when Queeny came back, and Queeny was not in a good condition, Natalia didn't observe this girl carefully.

Now, Queeny had woken up. When Natalia looked carefully, she found that Queeny was a beautiful woman.

She laughed and said, "It seems that you are recovering well."

Queeny looked at her blankly. After a few seconds, she asked, "You are..."

Felix introduced, "She is Natalia."

After a pause, he added, "She is Archie's wife."

Queeny's eyes widened in surprise.

"Oh, I remember. You are Seven!"

Natalia nodded with a smile, "Yes, it's me."

Queeny was a little shy. She touched her head and said, "I'm so lucky to see you. You know what, you are my idol."

Natalia raised her eyebrows in surprise. "Really? I don't know."

It seemed that Felix didn't want them to talk too much. Seeing that Natalia had finished her visit, he interrupted them coldly.

"Well, now you have seen her. Can you go out now?"

Natalia paused and glared at him.

"Hey, what's wrong with you? I come here to talk to her, not you. Why do you kick me out?"

Queeny also smiled and said, "Don't care about him. I just woke up and my mind is still a little confused. When did you come?"

Then Natalia told her about her coming with Archie and what had happened these days.

Just now, she was still angry with Felix for his impoliteness, but now after a simple explanation of what had happened these days, she suddenly realized that Felix had worked so hard to find Queeny these days.

He had tried his best to find her back.

Now that Queeny was back and finally awake, he naturally wanted to spend more time with her alone.

It seemed that Natalia had disturbed their sweet time.

Thinking of this, she smiled awkwardly.

"Well, you can enjoy your time. I have something else to do, so I won't disturb you."

Queeny nodded and said, "I will come to you when I feel better."

Natalia nodded and gave her a friendly smile before she turned around and left.

After she left, Queeny turned to look at Felix.

She looked at him with disapproval and said, "Why were you so impolite just now? She is a guest from afar. It's not good to treat her like that."

Felix took a deep look at her.

There were complicated emotions in his eyes. It was hard to tell whether he was happy, relieved, or worried.

Queeny was stunned.

She touched her face and asked curiously, "What's wrong? Is there anything on my face?"

Felix answered in a low voice, "No."

Then he sent the medicine to her mouth, "Open your mouth."

Queeny opened her mouth obediently and took the medicine.

Chapter 914 Confused Mind

After finishing the medicine, Felix called a servant to take the bowl out.

He turned around and sat on the edge of the bed. Looking at Queeny, he asked, "How much do you remember about the matters in these days?"

Queeny's face turned pale at the mention of this.

She looked at Felix with a little confusion in her bright eyes.

Felix was worried.

Judging from her expression, he knew that she might not remember so much.

In fact, it was a little strange. These days, Queeny had been locked up in that place and no one had hurt her.

According to what she said, they didn't abuse her or question her.

Except for these two matters, she could not remember anything else.

She didn't know what had happened to her, and Felix didn't know what she had experienced these days, so he also didn't know what was wrong with her.

At present, he hadn't told anyone about this problem, not even Archie and Natalia.

In fact, there was another important thing.

Somehow, Queeny had come back. She was still the same as before and didn't look much different.

But Felix felt that she was different now for some reason.

It was not an inexplicable change, nor was it his own imagination. He could really feel it from her eyes and expression.

He didn't tell anyone about this because he was afraid that others would think too much.

It was also because this was just his intuition, and it did not mean anything. It was more likely that he had thought too much.

So even though he was almost sure that Queeny must have experienced something during her coma, he still didn't tell anyone about it.

Thinking of this, he comforted her in a low voice, "Nothing. Don't think too much."

Queeny nodded in confusion.

After comforting her, Felix accompanied her for a while.

At this time, perhaps the drug residue in her body had affected her, and Queeny felt a little sleepy.

Felix accompanied her and let her lie down.

After a while, Queeny fell asleep again.

After she fell asleep, Felix left quietly.

In the garden downstairs, Natalia and Archie were sitting there.

Now that Queeny had been saved, everyone was relieved, so they were also relaxed.

As for the Zircon Association, there was no need to worry for the time being.

Because it had been attacked several times and would be defeated sooner or later. They didn't need to spend much energy on making another plan.

Now their target was the Zaccardi family.

If what they guessed was true, and it was really the Zaccardi family who made the plan, then the failure of the Zircon Association should not be an end, but a beginning.

The real battle would come soon.

But it hadn't come yet, so Archie and Natalia were not in a hurry.

They were drinking coffee when they saw Felix coming out.

With a smile, Natalia waved at him and said, "Why don't you accompany your Queeny?"

Felix came over expressionlessly and said, "She just took the medicine and fell asleep."

Raising his eyebrows, Archie looked at his watch and asked in surprise, "She fell asleep again?"

"Yes."

Natalia was also a little surprised.

She couldn't help asking, "Is she not feeling well? Didn't she just wake up? Why did she fall asleep again?"

Looking at the worried look on her face, Felix frowned and said in a low voice, "It's probably because the effect of the drug in her body hasn't been completely removed. Last night, the doctor said that this symptom should continue for a few more days."

The two were relieved to hear that.

"It's good as long as she's fine. She was lucky to come back, which means she is being blessed. So, she just needs to have a good rest."

Felix nodded.

The three sat there and made a brief discussion about the current situation and the next plan.

The Zircon Association was not a big enemy now. At this point, no one would stop attacking it.

This morning, Archie had already contacted Charlie, and Natalia had also contacted Violet Group. All of them thought they should take the opportunity to destroy the Zircon Association.

Both Natalia and Archie had no objection, but for their safety, they still told them that the Zaccardi family was likely to get involved in the chaos.

Both Charlie and Pierre were surprised, but they weren't afraid.

After all, they are not alone but fighting in a team. Even if the Zaccardi family wanted to take any action, they had to consider whether they could defeat the whole team at the same time.

After the discussion, they all agreed with the plan.

So they went back to their rooms to have a rest.

At noon, Queeny woke up.

When she woke up, Felix wasn't there. The curtains were half-closed, and the warm sunshine came in, making the whole room warm and comfortable.

Queeny got out of bed and walked out.

As soon as she walked to the door, she heard a burst of clear laughter from the garden outside.

She walked through a long corridor and came to a terrace near the garden. She saw Natalia playing with Felix's two big dogs in the garden.

It was a golden retriever and a collie dog. She was playing with them with food while running.

Archie sat aside and looked at them quietly with a gentle smile on his face.

Natalia liked dogs very much. She always thought that dog was the most loyal animal in the world.

Therefore, she liked to play with them.

The two big dogs seemed to like her too. They kept chasing after the snacks in her hands.

While they were playing, Natalia occasionally raised her head and saw Queeny standing on the balcony on the second floor.

She stopped and fed the snacks to the two dogs. Then she raised her head and smiled at Queeny, "You're awake. The sun is fine outside. Do you want to go downstairs and have a walk?"

Queeny hesitated for a while and nodded, "Okay."

She turned around and went downstairs.

She didn't know where Felix was now. She didn't see him in the main building.

Queeny didn't think too much and went straight to the garden behind. Seeing the two women together, Archie found an excuse and left, in case they would be embarrassed when a man was there.

Natalia took two dogs and strolled with Queeny in the garden.

"How do you feel now?"

Maybe it was because she had slept for a long time that Queeny felt a little tired.☹

Chapter 915 Something Is Wrong

So as soon as she got downstairs, she stretched her arms and legs while walking.

As she stretched herself, she said, "I'm fine. I don't feel anything wrong."

Natalia said, "I heard from Felix that there was still some drug left in your body. It should take a few days before it is completely cleared up."

"Is that so?" Queeny thought for a while and smiled, "Maybe, but I don't have any strange feeling. I just feel a little sleepy and always want to sleep."

"That's it."

After a pause, Natalia suddenly asked, "By the way, I have a question. You were kidnapped by them these days, and they didn't abuse you, right? Have you been locked up in that place all the time?"

When Felix rescued Queeny, he called Archie and Natalia to explain the situation.

On the one hand, he asked them to find a good doctor at home in time. On the other hand, he also had to let them know the situation. Archie and Natalia were also experienced. He was afraid that those people might use some tricks on Queeny, and he didn't realize it for a while. Maybe Archie and Natalia would find something wrong.

Therefore, Natalia knew that Queeny was rescued by Felix from a strange house.

Hearing this, Queeny said, "They didn't abuse me. But I don't remember it well. It seems that... they didn't."

Natalia was surprised to see her being confused like this.

"You don't remember? Why don't you remember?"

Queeny shook her head.

"I don't know."

As she spoke, she suddenly felt a little uncomfortable and shook her head.

"Speaking of this, I don't know why, but I always feel that my mind has been in a mess since I came back. I always feel dizzy."

Natalia frowned worriedly.

"Are you feeling uncomfortable? Except for being confused, are there any other symptoms?"

"I don't have any other symptoms."

As Queeny spoke, she suddenly stopped.

Natalia also stopped and suddenly saw her face turn pale. Then she covered her head and squatted down in pain.

Natalia was shocked.

She was so frightened that she even loosened the leashes in her hands. The two dogs immediately ran away.

She didn't have time to chase the dog. She squatted down, held Queeny's arm, and asked, "Queeny, what's wrong with you? Are you okay?"

Queeny didn't say anything. She just bit her lips tightly and put her hands on her head. Her face was pale.

Natalia panicked at the sight of it.

"Queeny, don't scare me. Are you okay?"

She took out her phone and called Felix.

However, before she could dial the number, she was stopped by Queeny.

Queeny said in a weak voice, "I'm fine. Don't tell him."

Natalia paused and looked at her with a frown.

It took Queeny a while to recover.

At this time, her forehead was covered with cold sweat, and she was so weak.

She glanced at Natalia and said, "I'm fine. Don't worry."

However, Natalia still frowned and helped her up from the ground.

"What happened? You just..."

Queeny said in a low voice, "I don't know why. From last night to today, my head hurts from time to time, but every time the pain won't last too long. As long as I get over it, I will be fine."

As she spoke, she saw the worried look on Natalia's face. She smiled at Natalia weakly.

"Don't worry. The doctor gave me a general check-up last night. There is nothing wrong with my body. I guess the headache this time is just the aftereffect of excessive use of medicine. As time goes by, the medicine will not work anymore."

Natalia didn't know if what she said was true or not. Queeny didn't want to tell Felix. Natalia couldn't ignore her request.

So she nodded and said with concern, "You can't be careless about it. How about asking the doctor to check you up again?"

Queeny thought for a while and said, "Okay, I'll call them over this afternoon."

Seeing that she had agreed, Natalia felt relieved.

They walked forward together.

After strolling in the garden for a while, the two women who were not familiar with each other had got along well.

The friendship between girls was coming faster than that between men. In such a short time, the two women seemed to have become friends.

In fact, they were quite similar in character. They were both straightforward and generous.

Therefore, although they just knew each other, they were like old friends.

They had lunch together.

Felix and Archie keenly found that the relationship between the two women had improved a lot, so they smiled happily.

After lunch, Natalia and Archie went back to their room to take a nap.

Queeny had slept too much before, so she was energetic and couldn't fall asleep.

She knew nothing about what had happened in the castle these days, so she asked Felix to tell her.

When she woke up this morning, Natalia came and only told her a rough story, but she didn't know the specific details.

So she had to make it clear.

Felix didn't want to tell her, but seeing that she insisted, he had no choice but to tell her.

He had nothing to hide from her because they grew up together and knew each other well. This made them avoid many unnecessary worries and misunderstandings.

He knew that it was better to tell the truth. After all, she might be worried after hearing the truth, but if he did not tell the truth, she would always think about it and worry, and in the end, it would be easy to cause misunderstanding.

He said calmly, and Queeny sat next to him and listened quietly.

She sometimes filled his cup with coffee or she took a sip of it herself. It took him more than half an hour to finish the story.

Felix looked at her and said, "That's probably it. Before you came back, we were a little restrained. Now that you're back, the situation is different at once. Don't worry. I will take revenge on all the people who have bullied you before, even if they are the Zircon Association and the Zaccardi family. I won't let them go easily."

She looked at him who promised her confidently as if she had seen the little boy who promised her to avenge her when she had been bullied when they were children a long time ago.

Thinking of this, she smiled, feeling warm in her heart.

"I know, but it's not a small deal. I'm a little worried..."

Felix reached out and held her hand.

President's Sweet Wife

Chapter 916 Worried about him

"There is nothing to be alarmed about. They're not after you, they're after the Dragon Club. Just like when they went after Lia, their target was not Lia, but The McCarthy Family and Violet Group behind her."

"Queeny, I thought at this age, after everything I've been through, that I was invincible and had no weakness. But now I know you are my weakness. So, please take better care of yourself for me, and never put yourself in danger again, okay?"

Queeny looked up and stared at him.

For the first time she saw softness in his eyes.

She was slightly lapsed and, without knowing why, her heart was throbbing.

She put out her hand to his cheek, which had been somewhat worn lately by constant travel and toil, and said, "Okay!"

Felix then smiled with relief.

Queeny suddenly thought of something and said quickly, "By the way, I need to tell you something."

"What?"

"Ella is with the Zircon Association, and she's the reason I fell into their hands."

Felix raised his eyebrows and said, "I know that already."

How could he not investigate something as big as Queeny's kidnapping?

So, a few days after her accident, he found out that Ella's identity was fake. She's called Karida, the Zircon Association's spy inside the castle."

Queeny was relieved that he already knew.

She added, a little apprehensively, "People like Ella who have been in the castle for years are their men, and there's no telling how many of them are here. Felix, I think you should check it out."

Felix said with a smile, "What? Are you afraid?"

Queeny nodded.

He was stunned.

How hard was this woman before?! Even with a knife to her neck she didn't blink, let alone admit that she was scared.

Now, to Felix's anguish, she admitted without hesitation.

"Don't worry," he said sternly. "They can't hurt you with me."

Queeny, however, shook her head.

"I'm not worried about me. I'm worried about you."

She took his hand and looked down, "People like us live in danger all the time, and when you are surrounded by trusted men, you don't need to worry, but what if one of them is an enemy's spy?"

"It's like the last time when you went to the next city on business, and someone put a bomb in your room in the middle of the night. You got lucky and dodged that one, but what if you hadn't? Felix, I really can't imagine what that would be like."

Felix's eyes fell as she said this.

Queeny's words reminded him.

After the incident, he had ordered Ford to conduct a thorough search of everyone in the castle, but it was only a cursory one.

After all, he had too much on his plate to focus all at once.

But now, the Zircon Association was about to die out, and more people would join the Dragon Club, and more people would be stationed on the castle side.

As to the background and background of these people, he was going to do a lot of digging.

So, he nodded.

"Okay, I got it."

Queeny was relieved to see that he had listened to her.

They snuggled and talked for a while, and soon Donald brought her medicine.

Since someone had poisoned Queeny's diet before, this time all her diet and medicine were supervised by Donald himself.

Donald, who watched Felix grow up, could be trusted.

Queeny took the medicine and felt sleepy, so she went back to sleep.

When she was fast asleep, Felix left the room and went outside.

He looked at Donald and said, "I want everyone left in the castle canvassed. It must be done in secret. Don't alarm the enemy."

Donald froze and looked at him in surprise.

But he soon understood and nodded, "Okay!"

After he had left, Felix returned to the room.

In a week.

The Zircon Association's economy collapsed and all its territory was taken, including the headquarters, which was taken by Felix.

There, he saw many old people who used to be at Rosefinch Club and Dragon Club.

After so many years, when they met again, it was another scene.

But the Felix of four years ago would not relent, nor would the Felix of four years later.

Only four years ago, Queeny interceded for them. But four years later, when Queeny learned the news, she simply said coldly that her siblings had long died and that they had nothing to do with her.

She did not speak another word on their behalf.

As a result, the leaders of the Dragon Club and Rosefinch Club betrayed their bosses to come to the Zircon Association, thinking they would get a bright future.

Now, after many twists and turns, they still couldn't escape the result. They fell, one by one, at Felix's hands.

Queeny did not take part in the operation, so she did not know how Felix dealt with the men.

She didn't want to ask, because these people had nothing to do with her.

After the Zircon Association fell, its power was divided among several groups.

After this action, Dragon Club just replenished its vitality and vaguely regained its original imposing manner.

The Stevenson family remained in Othua. They started there. That was enough territory, so they had no plans to expand beyond the nearby Zircon Association.

The McCarthy Family was originally in business. After all these years, they didn't really get involved in the underground anymore.

So much of the obvious business was left to Archie McCarthy to digest.

Not to mention Violet Group.

Pierre Lafayette had hated the Zircon Association for Natalia's murder and was determined to kill them sooner or later.

After all, he had managed to find Natalia, his niece, and why would he put up with her being bullied?

So, he didn't say a word when they shared the results. When they're done, he took the rest.

The weird thing was, they always thought The Zaccardi Family was doing it for profit.

But they didn't see them jump out when they were sharing the results.

Archie McCarthy and Felix were not the only ones puzzled by this point. Pierre Lafayette, a crafty old man, was also puzzled.

In a picturesque estate on an island.

An elegant man leaned back in a recliner, listening to a low, rhythmic report, squinting slightly and waving his folding fan.

Chapter 917 The Person Behind the Scene

Next to him was a low table, on which burned a censer, in which the finest agarwood burned quietly, giving off a dark and pleasant smell.

After his subordinate finished reporting, he stopped waving the folding fan in his hand.

He said lightly, "So, they've taken over the Zircon Association's land?"

His subordinate slightly bowed his head and replied respectfully, "Yes."

He said, looking at his master as if puzzled.

"We never quite understood, Sir, that if you took on the Zircon Association, why don't you..."

The man smiled.

There was an inscrutable radiance on that handsome face.

He said, "Am I short of money?"

His subordinate was stunned.

Although he did not know how much money he had, it was obvious that he had a lot.

So, he shook his head.

The man asked again, "Does the Zaccardi Family need to other external things to prove its power and competence?"

His subordinate shook his head again.

"If we don't need anything, why should I fight with them?"

As he said this, the subordinate seemed to understand something, but seemed to understand even less.

"But all the things you've done this time..."

"I have my reasons."

The man said that he waved his hand. The subordinate saw this and did not dare to ask too much, so he retreated.

After he left, the man sat there for a while until a servant came in and whispered to him, "Mr. York Zaccardi is here."

He nodded and got up and went out.

In the quiet room, the decoration was very sedate and primitive.

When he walked in, there was already another person in the room.

The man was wearing a dark suit and looked in his fifties or sixties. Seeing him, the man bent down respectfully and said quietly, "There you are, Sir."

Clinton Zaccardi looked at York Zaccardi.

He held a string of beads between his fingers and rubbed them one by one. "Take a seat." He said.

York Zaccardi sat down quickly.

It was hard to imagine that The Zaccardi patriarch, so noble to outsiders, would grovel and bow before a man who looked at least 20 years his junior.

They sat opposite each other in front of a set of antique tea trays.

Clinton Zaccardi reached out to make tea slowly. York Zaccardi noticed that the hands in front of him were slender and white, like perfect strands of white bamboo, unlike those of a man.

He was almost dazed until Clinton Zaccardi began to speak.

"Is everything all right in the family?"

York Zaccardi replied quickly, "Everything is fine. I told them everything you told me. Everything is as you said."

Clinton Zaccardi nodded.

He raised his hand and made York Zaccardi a cup of tea himself.

York accepted it and turned pale with fear.

"Sir, how dare I bother you? I'll do it myself."

Clinton said with a smile, "We're all family. You're welcome here."

His words made York's movements stop. For some reason, he suddenly became uneasy.

He was trying to figure out why he was being so polite when Clinton said, "It must have been hard for you to run the family all these years."

Hearing this, York's eyes opened wide in fear.

His face turned white and he stood up quickly.

"Sir, that's what I'm supposed to do. I've been managing according to your guidelines, and I haven't done anything you told me not to do. I..."

He was sweating with nervousness.

Clinton, however, said with a smile, "I know. Don't be afraid. I'm just asking. As long as you do well, I won't think anything of you."

York looked at him blankly, wondering if he was telling the truth.

Clinton smiled weakly and said, "Sit down."

In desperation, he sat down again.

The atmosphere in the room was somber.

York said stiffly, "Sir, what are your orders for calling me here today?"

"No hurry," Clinton said. "Just taste the tea."

He looked cool and made tea in a leisurely manner, which was like someone coming out of a painting.

York had no choice but to take the tea and drink it.

The tea was slightly bitter, then sweet, but there was refreshing effect.

His eyes lit up.

“Nice.”

Clinton smiled, as if he were genuinely happy.

He said with a smile, “It’s new tea from Carroll. That’s all we have this year. It’s all here. If you like it, you can take some back later.”

York was shocked.

This time, however, he dared not refuse, “Thank you, sir.”

Clinton said after tea was finished, “This time I asked you to take on the Zircon Association, and you did, but I asked you not to share in the spoils afterwards, and your people must have been very critical of you.”

York smiled cautiously, “They did not understand your painstaking, so their criticism was temporary, after they know that you are also for the good of the family, there will be no more any criticisms.”

Clinton’s eyes narrowed slightly.

“But what they don’t know is that it’s me, standing behind you, making that decision. They don’t even know there’s a me behind you. How are you gonna tell them that?”

York’s expression froze.

Clinton looked aloof and unexpressive, “The Zaccardi Family has been passed down for thousands of years, and each head takes the stable and orderly development of the Family as the goal. A person of high position is liable to be attacked. Our strength, however strong, is limited. The Zircon Association is so far away from us that taking it would not only be of little benefit, but would divide our power and possibly divide us. In the end, a good family must go to the end of disintegration like other great families.”

His voice was light, slow and measured. York was shocked to hear that.

He rose quickly and bowed to him, “Thanks for your reminding and instructions. I got it.”

Clinton took another sip of tea from his cup and said, “As for why I sent you to take on the Zircon Association, it’s because they don’t know the rules. The underground order had been very good, but he was delusional to wipe out other organizations underground. His ambition is too great.”

“Since we have always been committed to maintaining order, we cannot stand idly by in such a situation. Besides, some people have already done most of the work, we are just icing on the cake, it is nothing. And we were doing them a favor by doing this, so, why not?”

York bowed his head lower, “Yes. I got it.

Chapter 918 Not Qualified

Clinton waved, “You can leave now.”

York bowed to leave.

When he left, Clinton sat there for a while longer, then got up and walked back.

It was a large, antique house with several rooms in the front and a large garden at the back.

In the garden, there were mountains and rocks, many beautiful flowers, and plants, and even several ancient trees with hundreds of years of history, which has a rare ancient charm.

Clinton walked down the garden's gravel path to a middle rockery and stopped.

Then he pressed it a few times. Suddenly, a crack in the rocky rock opened and it was the entrance to a tunnel.

He followed the entrance and went in.

It was damp and cold inside, and there was a chill in his face.

A winding stone road lay underfoot. He continued down the road for a minute or two before his view widened.

It was a large stone house, surrounded by ice, and in the middle of the house stood a transparent crystal coffin.

If anyone else had been here at this moment, they would have been surprised.

For in the crystal coffin lay an old man with white hair.

What was surprising was not that, but that the old man bore some resemblance to Queeny.

But her hair was all white and her face was lined, so she must have been at least 70 or 80 years old.

She lay there quietly, her face serene. Clinton walked over to her, looked at her sleeping face, reached out and gently stroked her hair.

"Evelyn."

He murmured.

It was a very eerie scene. A young man was calling an 80-year-old woman by her nickname, Evelyn, affectionately into her coffin.

He did not seem to be disturbed at all. He bent his lips slightly and looked at her, "Just give me a little more time, and I'll soon be able to wake you up, Evelyn."

Of course, the old woman closed her eyes as if there were no life at all.

Little by little, he lovingly smoothed her hair, saying to himself, "The thing I couldn't get, that guy can get it back for us. Evelyn, once I've collected twelve pieces of the Celestial Books, you'll wake up and I'll show you the world, okay?"

"Do you have any idea how different this world is from the one we lived in? There are many, many new things that you will enjoy when you wake up."

“Evelyn, I love you, and I will always be here for you.”

He bowed and kissed her lightly on the forehead.

Then he turned and left.

And at this point, on the other side.

Having cleared the Zircon Association’s legacy, Archie McCarthy and Natalia had no reason to stay.

Besides, they could not stay away all the time because they were busy at home, so they prepared to go back.

The McCarthy Family and The Bissel family used to be close friends, but their relationship became stiff due to interests. Everyone expected a war between the two families sooner or later.

But they did not expect that through this time of cooperation and contact, they not only did not have contradictions, there was also a strange tacit understanding between the two sides.

Natalia could tell Archie McCarthy didn’t hate Felix as much as he used to.

Felix, on the other hand, had a different view of Archie McCarthy because Archie and Natalia helped save Queeny.

As a result, these two people who could never stand together before somehow now seemed like good friends.

After all, they were two smart people who knew that they had more to gain from unity than from separation.

There was a mutual understanding, and Natalia was happy to see it happen.

That night, knowing Archie and Natalia would be returning home tomorrow, Felix arranged a party for them that night.

The place was in the castle, but this time there were more people. Not only Felix, Queeny, Natalia, and Archie, but also Charlie Peck and Victoria Kaur, who had been in Othua.

Because Victoria was also planning to return home these two days. After talking to Natalia on the phone, she learned that they were going back the next day, so she changed her flight to join them.

Since they were going back together, it was natural that they should meet first, so they went straight from Othua to Lanceham.

When the lights came on, the castle was a riot of lights.

Chandra Anderson also brought some friends, and of course his little girlfriend. There was no official announcement, but the way they got along, it was all in the bag.

During dinner, Queeny teased him by asking when he was getting married.

Chandra Anderson, it turned out, was a man of ideas.

He just said, “When you get married, we’ll get married.”

Queeny was speechless by his words. She blushed and stopped talking.

Felix, on the other hand, was quite happy.

He curled his lips and said, "Are you sure? As soon as we get married, you will get married right away?"

Chandra Anderson was all about winning and nothing else in these matters.

So, he placed his bet right away, "Of course. As a man, I meant what I say. If you guys get married today, we can do it tomorrow, okay? Felix, are you planning on getting married?"

Queeny glared at him, afraid Felix might say something surprising, then she said quickly, "That's not true. Don't listen to him."

She quickly changed the subject.

"This steak is delicious. Here, Natalia, try it."

With that, she got a steak and put it on Natalia's plate.

Natalia said with a smile, "I can't eat any more, I'm full."

Archie McCarthy looked at her, "How can you be full after eating so little? No, have some more."

Natalia was trying to lose weight because she had been feeling fat lately.

But Archie wouldn't let her. He would make every excuse to get her to eat more.

Natalia had no choice but she also couldn't refuse. As a result, she was now usually at her silliest when they having lunch together.

She pursed her lips and said, "I've eaten too much tonight. Don't do this. I'm not a pig."

Archie smiled, "I'd be glad if you could eat like that."

Their saccharine conversation made Chandra sick to his stomach.

He made an exaggerated, sickening movement and said, "All right, all right. You two are giving me goose bumps. You've been married a long time. Why are you still showing off your love?"

Archie looked at him, "A man without a wife is not qualified to say that."

Chapter 919 This is not Fair

Chandra, "..."

Victoria laughed, "Archie was right. Chandra, I think you should drink more wine tonight. You can talk to us when you're married to this little beauty next to you."

Chandra disapprovingly drank a whole glass of red wine.

Then he turned to Felix and complained, "Felix, you need to hurry. We can't get married if you don't. Look at the way these guys took us down. When you get married, I'll be right behind you."

Felix looked at him, but did not refuse.

A group of people had a noisy meal. After dinner, Victoria clamored to go out because it was her first time in this place and she did not know the customs.

But neither Natalia nor Chandra wanted to go outside. She had to be escorted out by Charlie Peck.

After she left, Natalia and Chandra played cards in the living room.

They were playing a local game here. Natalia didn't know how to play it at first, but after a few hand-to-hand lessons from Queeny, she got it right away.

Queeny came out with a trunk full of cash, saying, "Let's not default tonight. Win or lose, we will have to cash in."

Chandra looked at her suitcase full of cash and was shocked.

"Oh, my God, Queeny, have you been robbing somewhere? Where did you get all that cash?"

After all, cash was so rare these days that no one kept it around.

Just immediately, they could see there was at least a million in here.

Queeny glanced at him and said, "It's none of your business. Where's your money? Take it out."

Chandra's face changed.

"I'm here to be a guest, and I have only about $10,000 with me. I don't have as much as you do."

As he spoke, he took out his wallet.

Natalia also said, "I don't have much cash either."

Queeny saw this and frowned.

Finally, Archie spoke, "You know what? If we lose, we can make the transfer by phones instead of cash so that we don't need to count then. It's a waste of time."

Seeing this, Queeny thought about it and agreed.

"Alright then."

Then they began to play cards.

After a few games of poker, Natalia won and lost, but in the end, it was a no-win game.

Queeny, on the other hand, had been winning. Chandra, by contrast, was miserable.

He hardly won all night and was beaten every time by Queeny.

Chandra cried out, "Queeny, did you cheat on me? You must have cheated, didn't you?"

Queeny laughed, pushed his hand away, and said, "Come on! Do I have to cheat with you? I can beat you blindfolded, okay?"

Chandra shouted, "No! This is not fair."

“Come on, transfer the money!”

They laughed and filled the room with their laughter.

Not far away, Felix watched the scene and smiled slightly.

He did not disturb them, but quietly walked out.

Natalia noticed him. She gave a slight sigh when she saw him go out. For some reason, Felix seemed strange to her tonight.

But she was playing cards, and was in too good a mood to think much of it, let alone ask questions.

They played cards for hours, beginning at eight o'clock and ending at midnight.

In the end, Queeny won the most. Natalia won by a small margin. She couldn't have won by herself, but Archie was there to help her.

However, he had good habits. He never told Natalia what to do when she was playing.

He only gave her a little nudge when she couldn't make up her mind which card to play.

It was just one shot, but every one of them turned her from a loser to a winner.

After a few rounds, Queeny and Chandra were displeased. They have asked them to screen family members, do not allow family members to watch next to. They demanded that no family members be allowed to watch.

Natalia laughed and finally sent Archie off to play chess with Charlie Peck.

Charlie Peck had never liked to play with such things. Chess was more to his liking. So, they went to the chess room and never came back.

After the game, Natalia, feeling a little hungry, so she asked Queeny, “Are you hungry?”

Queeny said, “Now that you mention it, I feel a little hungry, too.”

Natalia said with a smile, “It would be nice to have something to eat at this time.”

Chandra said, “Me too. Me too.”

Queeny glares at him, “It's so late. Aren't you going home?”

Chandra tickled his teeth and shook his fist at her, “You won me so much money tonight, so it's not a big deal if I have your midnight snack! I don't care. I want it!”

Queeny, of course, was just teasing him, so she couldn't help laughing.

“Tut, just eat it. What's the point of being so self-righteous?”

With that, she went into the kitchen and asked the cook to make them something to eat.

As soon as she went in, she realized Archie and the others weren't there, so she came out and asked Natalia, “Is Archie and others eating, too?”

Natalia paused and thought about it, "I don't know. Wait a minute. I'll ask her."

Queeny nodded.

Natalia headed to the chess room next door.

But before she could get into the chess room, she saw Archie and Charlie Peck standing down the hall.

She paused slightly, puzzled, and was about to ask them, but Archie had already seen her.

He put a finger to his lips, shivered, and beckoned her toward him.

Natalia was surprised and didn't know what he meant.

But she went obediently, and when she went to look, she saw that they were looking at a vacant lot in front of them.

Felix squatted in the clearing, concentrating on something.

Natalia asked curiously, "What is he doing?"

Archie said with a smile, "You'll see."

Natalia winced at his mystique.

Felix, who seemed to have settled the contents of the floor, turned, and said, "How's that? Is the position accurate?"

Archie picked up the IPAD, looked at it, and gave him the OK gesture.

Felix then turned and walked this way.

When he reached the cloister, he found Natalia there too.

Natalia asked curiously, "What were you doing out there?"

Felix smiled, "Nothing. Just a bunch of useless gadgets, you know."

Natalia frowned.

Her instinct told her that Felix was lying.

But since he would not tell, she could not keep asking.

Chapter 920 A Surprise

So, she said nothing more.

Archie asked her, "Aren't you playing cards? What are you doing here? Are you done?"

Natalia said, "The poker game is over. We're all feeling a little hungry, and we're looking for a late-night snack, so I came by to ask if you guys are hungry, and if you are, we'll tell the cook to make more."

Archie did not hurry to answer, but looked at Felix and Charlie Peck.

She had no idea what Felix had been doing, but sweat broke out on his head. "I'll have some." he said, wiping his sweat on a towel.

Charlie Peck nodded, "Me, too."

Natalia replied, "Okay. I'll tell them."

Then she turned and went inside.

But before she had taken a few steps, Felix stopped her.

"Wait!"

Natalia looked back at him, "What?"

Felix said with a smile, "When you get there later, tell Queeny I need to see her."

Natalia raised her eyebrows.

Her eyes darted inquiringly over Felix's face, not knowing what he was trying to do, but she nodded.

When she left, she went straight to the kitchen.

Their midnight snack was simple shrimp dumplings, fresh and light, just in time for the season.

She asked Natalia when she entered, "What did they say? Do they want to have some?"

Natalia nodded, "Well, they all want to eat. You can ask them to make more."

Queeny nodded, "Oh, I see."

With that, she turned to talk to cook.

Natalia remained standing by as she was talking to the cook.

When she had finished, she said again, "By the way, Felix wants you to go out and see him. He says he needs to talk to you."

Queeny stared at her in surprise.

"Me? For what?"

Natalia said with a half-smile, "Who knows?"

She said, and then a mischievous smile came into her eyes as if she had suddenly remembered something.

"He may have some surprise for you, so go ahead, or it won't be there if you're late."

Queeny paused and smiled,

"No way. He's not the romantic type."

But despite her words, she quickened her pace and walked back into the garden.

Natalia was curious and naturally followed her.

On the way there, she met Victoria again. "What are you doing?" Victoria asked curiously as they hurried along.

Natalia said, "Watch the fun."

The fun?

Victoria was stunned, then jumped off the sofa immediately.

"What fun?"

As a result, what should have been just two people at the beginning of the scene suddenly flooded in many people.

They went out onto the grass in the back garden. Where they had expected Felix to be waiting for them, they arrived to find the garden empty and empty.

Not only was Felix missing, but Archie and Charlie Peck were also missing.

Natalia froze in surprise.

Queeny said, "Lia, you said he wanted to talk to me. Where is he?"

Natalia shook her head in bewilderment, "I don't know. They were over there in the cloister, and then they disappeared."

At that moment a low voice rang out in the castle.

"Queeny, you take 20 steps ahead."

Everyone was stunned.

They turned their heads and realized that the sound had come from the second floor.

They looked up and saw Felix standing alone on the second-floor terrace, looking down at them. He had in his hand something like a microphone or a trumpet through which the sound was amplified.

At this point, Natalia's brain suddenly lit up. Her eyes lit up as she remembered something.

Regardless of Queeny was willing or not, she pushed Queeny a step forward and hurried back down the corridor with Victoria in tow.

Queeny hadn't reacted yet.

On the terrace of the second floor, the man's eyes were deep, and when he looked at her, he seemed to see her heart through her eyes.

Her heart gave a small, involuntary throb.

For some reason, her heart beat suddenly fast up.

She pursed her lips and took twenty steps forward, as he had told her.

It was a more open meadow, and there was nothing about it. Not only was there no one, there was not even a lamp.

She noticed then that the garden was strangely dark tonight.

There should have been street lamps everywhere, but tonight they were all unlighted, and she felt as if she were in a great darkness.

Queeny was afraid. It was a familiar place, but her own fear of the dark was a little heightened by her uneasiness in feeling that something was about to happen.

However, he apparently didn't keep her waiting long.

Felix said in a hushed voice, "Go!"

As soon as he said that, with a hoot, the surrounding light up instantly.

It was not the light of a single lamp, but thousands of them, flying straight up from the surface of the earth.

Many even flew right past her and into the air.

Startled, Queeny looked up and saw that it was a huge image of numerous small drones hovering in the sky.

The picture was...

Her heart was shocked!

The multicolored lights arranged at random until they formed a picture. And it was the scene of her first meeting with Felix when she was eight years old.

Felix's deep, melodramatic voice came from overhead.

"We met when you were eight. At that time, we were all children, and we never thought that there would be so many fetters and cares in our future life."

"I remembered the day I first met you, you had two little pigtails. You were small, but you spoke with a swagger, and you had a lot of ideas. You told me that you were the granddaughter of the dean, and I was his apprentice. Rounding it down, we were brother and sister. I said I didn't want to be your brother."

"You were upset and you were crying. Although I was very calm on the surface, but I was very panic. That was the first time I knew how easy it was for girls to cry."

He smiled gently, as if recalling something long in the past.

Those beautiful pictures were like the most delicious wine in the world. They had been deposited in our memory, and as time passed, they became more and more fragrant.

With another hoot, the little point of light in the sky suddenly changed and became another
