Chapter 131 Covered With Claws

At the doorway, Kathy planned to go back by taxi, but Billy's car drove over.

"Where are you going? I'll give you a ride."

"No need." Kathy turned away her head coldly.

Billy wasn't irritated, and he just kept waiting here. When Kathy walked forward, he drove forward, and Kathy couldn't get a taxi at all.

She glared at him in anger, and eventually got into his car.

Herbert was standing at a place not far away from them, looking at Kathy's back, her face tensed.

Was Kathy going to snatch all the men she had an eye on?

Kathy told him the hotel address, but instead of sending her back, Billy drove towards the direction of suburbs.

Kathy frowned and put on her guard.

Billy smirked, "Go to have a look on a project with me, don't worry, I'll definitely send you back before dark."

"I didn't promise you." Kathy was displeased.

“If you didn’t make mistakes, why are you panicking?” Joseph sneered.

“You’re slandering me! Joseph, I’ve operated every surgery in the same way, and nothing has ever gone wrong!” Ollie refuted.

“It’s because you didn’t know how to suit to the condition of different patients, something like this is bound to happen, and this is the greatest taboo of being a doctor. Dr. Butler, it’s better for you to stop harming more patients.” Joseph turned around and left.

Ollie ran into the President’s office, “Dad...I can’t let Joseph ruin me!”

The President sighed, “I shouldn’t have agreed to let both of you performed the surgery together in the first place. Ollie, perhaps I should send you abroad to further study.”

“I did nothing wrong at all!” Ollie shouted in rage.

“Look at what you have done!” The President threw the report directly in front of Ollie.

He sat on the floor limply, and his face turned pale inch by inch.

Joseph returned to his office, and Jade came in, “Dr. Joseph, it’s been submitted to the Ministry of Health.”

Billy narrowed his eyes and accelerated.
When they returned to the resort, he carried Kathy out of the car.
She immediately pushed him away, "I can walk by myself."
She then stubbornly got off the car by herself, the manager quickly arranged a room for her. Kathy walked into the room, and looked at Billy guardedly when she saw him coming in as well.
"Do you have a fever?" Billy ignored her indifferent gaze, and placed his hand on her forehead.
Kathy subconsciously backed off and nodded her head.
Billy instructed the manager, "Prepare antipyretic and a clean set of woman's clothes."
The manager was placed in a difficult position. It was raining heavily right now, the road was blocked and the resort wasn't open yet, so he couldn't possibly prepare those things Billy requested.
Billy frowned, Kathy who was next to him said, "I will be fine after a nap."
Kathy felt so uncomfortable that she just wanted to close her eyes and think of nothing.
Billy was beside her, Kathy opened her eyes and said calmly, "Billy, you go out, I'm already married, and you also have a fiancé, we should keep our distance."
Billy narrowed his eyes, but he didn't leave the bed side. He smirked and said, "There are only two of us

Kathy frowned, she wondered why Billy seemed to be sensitive when she mentioned about Joseph.
Moreover, Joseph had kept reminding her to stay away from Billy.
Was there some kind of grudge between the two of them?
"I don't know what you're talking about." Her face sank.
"You'll know it later, Kathy, don't blame me for not warning you, but Joseph is not as simple as you think of." He said coldly.
At that moment, he looked down and saw the ring on Kathy's hand and his eyebrows knitted.
Kathy was wearing it on her ring finger, so...
"You're married to him?" Billy's eyes were intimidating.
"Yes." Kathy didn't deny it.

Although the media had reported about Kathy's marriage before, Billy had never believed it.
After all, if it was really with Joseph...How could it be!

At the hospital.
Kathy woke up after two hours, when she opened her eyes, Joseph's face came into her sight.
She stared at him, and couldn't help but sob.
Joseph's face sank, "Why were you at Western Hill with Billy?"
Kathy frowned, "I ran into him and Herbert when I visited the museum, and then Billy stopped me."
It was most probably premeditated by him.
But he didn't seem to have done anything after taking her away.

“Won’t you call me?” Joseph was angry at the moment.

However, his anger subsided after thinking of Kathy who had just fainted from illness in front of him.

“I’m afraid that I’m disturbing your work.” Kathy lowered her head aggrievedly.

But Joseph forcefully lifted her cheeks and said, “It’s fine to disturb me, you’re more important than anything else.”

Kathy shuddered, and met Joseph’s obsidian-like dark eyes.

“Are you the only one who can inherit the Joseph’s Group?”

“I’m the heir that grandpa raised, I had already been strongly opposed when I went into the medical field back then, and then I tried to cut ties completely with the Joseph’s family, but I failed.”

“So now you must inherit the Joseph’s Group.” Kathy said.

“At least by this way, I’ll be stronger, and there’s a lot more I have to do.” Joseph squinted.

Kathy didn’t get the meaning behind his words.

It was just that at this moment, her heart ached for him.

She knew how much Joseph liked his career as a doctor, or else, he wouldn’t have fought back for his dream back then.

But reality didn’t allow him to make his own choice.

“No matter what, I’ll support you.” Kathy looked up, staring at him with scorching eyes.

Joseph clasped the back of her head, their gazes met, and Kathy took the initiative to kiss his thin lips, and hugged him tightly.

The next day, Kathy’s fever had almost subsided, and Joseph helped her to settle the discharge procedures.

Billy came in, and smirked when he saw Kathy was about to leave, “It seems that Ms. Kathy has almost recovered.”

At the old mansion.

Knowing that Kathy was sick, the maid had already prepared some light dishes, with porridge as the main dish.

Kathy frowned, since she had already recovered, she didn't want to eat that...

Now that she's back, she wanted to have hotpot...

She looked at the man opposite of her pitifully, Kathy winked at him.

"Mm? Don't like the food?" Joseph was elegant as usual.

Kathy frowned.

"What do you want to eat?" Joseph put down his chopsticks.

"Hotpot." Kathy didn't say it out, but it could be read from her lips.

Joseph raised his eyebrows and said in a deep voice, "No, at least a few more days before you can eat that."

"I'm fine." Kathy leaned over and grabbed his hand to press against her forehead.

But Joseph took advantage to caress her into his arms, with his arm circling around her slender waist, "You can't let your guard down even if you're fine, stop acting capricious."

Finally, after someone done releasing his desire, Kathy was sore all over her body, lying on the sofa in the study room, glaring at the culprit.

"Joseph, you pervert! You're shameless!" Kathy turned her head to avoid his gaze.

Joseph had actually pressed her against the French window just now, what if they were seen by a maid passing by...

This man was definitely a beast with a human face! How could he do that!

Kathy looked shy right now, her cheeks were bursting red every time she thought of the scene just now...

"Don't you like it?" Joseph leaned over and hugged her into his arms.

Kathy was silent and didn't retort.

In fact, as long as she was with Joseph, how could she not like it?

However, she hid her emotions soon.

"Are you no longer going to continue the R&D of the new drug for NCHV?" Kathy asked.

After work, Kathy went home. The house was renovated, and Angela has moved in.

"Kathy, is this true?" Angela handed the tablet to her, suggesting the news of the resignation of Joseph.

Nodded Kathy.

"What happened? Is he leaving for another hospital?" asked Angela.

Kathy was only paying attention to news like this because it was related to Joseph.

"He's changing his career," replied Kathy.

"Changing his career...for what?"

"Mom, it was something about his family, and I don't know much about it. He definitely had a plan for himself."

"Well, I'm just worried about him," sighed Angela.

"A good show?" Kathy seemed to be interested, "What will that be?"

"Just come with me next week," Joseph replied and pat her head gently.

Kathy leaned over to him.

"Good girl," he kissed her forehead.

She was shy from his pampering, but she loved it too.

Now that Joseph has officially resigned from the People's Hospital, he stayed home most of the time. John would come over to his home office to talk to him, and sometimes the conversation would last until midnight.

Kathy continued to work at NCHV, and Joseph gave her a ride to work and home every day. Though she got off several blocks from where she worked, she was afraid that Joseph was always going out of his way to help her.

"Joseph, you don't have to drive me. Just let your driver do it," Kathy finally asked.
