Chapter 181 All Freaking Blind

Kathy's heartbeat was slightly messed up, and her hand was suppressed by Joseph, unable to push him away at all.

For a long while, Kathy felt like she was suffocating before the man let her go.

"Joseph, you're too much!" Kathy became even angrier, and turned her back on Joseph, looking like she didn't want to see him.

Joseph suddenly hugged her up, Kathy was carried outside to the sofa. In front of her was the tempting food that seemed to be sending her an invitation.

She swallowed her saliva, and her stomach made a "gurgling" sound.

"Mrs Joseph, you're mad at me, but don't get upset with your body, alright?" Joseph placed the fried chicken in front of her.

Kathy's eyes dropped, she opened her mouth and bit into it. The crispy taste lingering between her lips and teeth were very satisfying.

Being too hungry, Kathy almost wiped out most of the food on the table, but Joseph ate less, just a few bites of steak. The red wine next to it emitted a mellow smell.

"Joseph, you finish this." Kathy saw that he did not eat much and cut him a steak.

Joseph was looking at the documents in his hands as he raised his eyes upon hearing her, indicating for Kathy to feed him.

Kathy lowered her head, her hands trembled slightly.

The two of them sat on the sofa, slightly separated. The man was wearing a pure black shirt which is half-buttoned, revealing his perfect and robust chest muscles. Above, his handsome face with a shallow smile was enough to dazzle the world.

Kathy's sight could not help but stay focused on him as she blushed, putting down the knife and fork.

"Do you love to eat?" He turned around to return to the bedroom as soon as the words came out.

As soon as she got up, her hand was suddenly clasped by Joseph. She did not stand still, and her whole body stumbled and fell into his arms.

Suddenly, the strong masculine scent hit her, Kathy gazed at him.

"Mrs Joseph, are you seducing me?" Joseph raised his eyebrows.

"I did not."

"You kept looking at me, I'll think more to it." Joseph's voice was tinged with a bit of raspiness.

Chapter 182 Doubting My Ability

Two days later, a formal statement was issued from the Food and Drug Administration. MT Medicine had passed the verification half a year ago, and the drug was completely legit.

NCHV Medical Company held a conference in City N, announcing the entire process of the drug from research and development to releasing to the market. It was absolutely rigorous and formal, unlike the counterfeit medicines circulating in the market.

Currently, the police had been investigating the source of the malicious online dissemination of this drug, coupled with the evidence provided by NCHV Medical Company. It finally led them to a newspaper company.

The person in charge said he knew nothing about it, and had never spread any news about the fake drug at all.

BT Group.

Billy looked at the online report, his thin lips curled out with a sneering smile.

"Mr Hilton, do you think it's necessary to continue working with NCHV Medical Company?" Peter couldn't figure out Billy's mind.

"The contract had been signed, and Mr Champs wants us to terminate the contract with the BT Group?" Billy narrowed his eyes.

"Of course not, I'm afraid that this medicine's reputation is already bad and it will affect sales." Peter frowned.

Being in a high position, he had a lot of details to consider.

"That's the problem you have to deal with, do you still want me to teach you?" Billy glared.

Peter nodded his head and didn't dare to say anything else instantly.

Leaving the office, Herbert waited outside and frowned when she saw Peter.

"What's the wind that blew future Mrs Hilton here today." Billy inhaled his cigarette, a few dark smiles in his eyes.

"NCHV Medical Company has already found out about YU Newspaper, aren't you worried that they will find out about me?" Herbert was a little worried.

She was the one who used YU Newspaper to spread the news about the fake medicine. But back then, Billy promised to protect her.

However, this matter was somehow a secret.

But now Billy seemed indifferent.

"Doubt my abilities?" Billy pressed closer, and his slender fingertips suddenly lifted Herbert's chin.

After arriving at the hotel, Kathy planned to look for Alexia, but she found that Alexia was packing her luggage.

Now, BT Group had agreed to continue to cooperate with NCHV Medical Company, although some distributors still chose to break off the engagement, this did not affect MT Medicine's sales figure. Nonetheless, they were unable to achieve the sales target issued by Johnson.

"Kathy, I should go back now. The problems here are almost solved and I've tried my best too. If Johnson is still dissatisfied with the result, I will resign," said Alexia calmly.

This incident caused too much trouble, and she was the main person in charge. The sales channels were not ideal and the reputation of the medicine suffered a drastic decline. Even if all these were not because of her, she had to take this responsibility.

Kathy returned to the suite on the top floor, Joseph was not there. She quickly packed up, planning to go back today as well.

Before leaving, she called Joseph. He did not answer, so she left him a message.

Looking at Alexia who was scanty of words on the side, Kathy comforted her, "Johnson won't blame you for it."

"I think I'm very useless," Alexia said in despair. She had always believed that her professional competence and eloquence were excellent, but after experiencing this incident, she only realized that this did not seem to be the case.

Her abilities still had much room for improvement.

"You've done your best," Kathy frowned.

She knew that Alexia always had high demands on herself, but this incident was not caused by her.

Kathy's face fell guiltily. If she did not stay at NCHV Medical Company, would Herbert not do it?

"After all, this matter is because of me. Herbert wanted to retaliate against me, so she dealt a hard blow to NCHV Medical Company in this way. Johnson will understand it." Kathy patted Alexia gently on her shoulder.

"Herbert? Did she do this?" Alexia was taken aback. Currently, the police had not yet announced the results of the investigation, she had always thought that they were framed by the competitor of NCHV Medical Company.

"Yes, Joseph has investigated and found out that Herbert is the mastermind behind YU Newspaper, but the final result of the investigation has not yet come out."

That day, she took the evidence out to give Herbert a fright so that she would tell the story of the year; however, she insisted that she did not know about it, Kathy was somewhat surprised.

The evidence was naturally fake, while the real one had always been in Joseph's hands. She did not know how Joseph would deal with it in the end, but she would not interfere.

Alexia was also stunned. Her relationship with Johnson had always been confidential. Although there was some rumors about them in the company, they had no evidence.

"Go downstairs," Johnson ordered.

At that moment, he was obviously angry.

Alexia frowned, took the file, and walked out of the office. Anna was looking at the phone when Alexia walked up to her.

"You know what to say and what not to say." Alexia reminded.

Anne nodded, but her eyes were slightly cold.

In the evening, Kathy was packing her things and getting off work, but Alexia was still busy reading various documents.

Which she was not responsible for.

"Are you going to work overtime tonight?" Kathy asked her.

Alexia nodded.

"Working overtime unconditionally for Mr. Johnson?" Kathy quickly understood.

"How can it be unconditional? He must give me my overtime pay!" Alexia grunted.

Kathy smiled, "Don't be too late, you must be very tired of the flight today."

"I know, quick pick up Joseph."

Kathy looked at the text message on her phone, which Joseph had sent her three hours ago.

His plane will arrive at City N Airport at seven o'clock.

"Who said that I'll be picking him up?" Kathy slightly blushed.

"If you want to go, just go. You've been married to Joseph in secret for almost a year. Why do you still hold yourself back?" Alexia shook her head helplessly.

Kathy was always gentle, especially her emotions. When she was with Peter, she had always been conservative and passive.

As for why Peter was easily seduced by Herbert, it was because Kathy had refused to have excessive intimacy with him at that time.

"Alexia, I never held myself back when I'm with Joseph." Kathy whispered.

The fans around her gazed at her like they wanted to kill her.

Kathy involuntarily leaned against his chest and kept denying, "You're just overthinking."

Joseph was smiling so seductively that he could attract anyone in an instant.

Back at Joseph Bay, Joseph had sent a servant to prepare dinner, but the food was already cold when they arrived since his flight was delayed.

Kathy was heating the food when she thought about today's matter, and so she asked Joseph,

“Does Johnson have a fiancée?”

Joseph and Johnson had a good relation, so he should know, right?

He paused for a moment before coming in and hugged Kathy from the back.

With his jaw on her shoulder, he spoke with a low and deep voice, “Yeah.”

Kathy frowned unhappily, “As expected...”

“But he still teases other women.”, said Kathy in an angry tone.

She knew that Alexia must be heartbroken at that time. Did she even know that Johnson had a fiancée?

Joseph frowned because Johnson's private was too complicated. Even though they're friends, he had never interfered.

However, he also had his difficulties.

“What you see and hear is not always true.” he held her face.

His gaze was deep when the tip of his fingers caressed her cheek.

“So, is Johnson trustworthy?” Kathy asked.

She understood how Alexia loved Johnson as they had been friends for years. On the other hand, she did not want her to be together with a scumbag.

Subconsciously, she believed that those who could be close to Joseph would generally have good morals.

However, she couldn't help feeling suspicious with all the gossips before her eyes.

“It depends on who his opponent is, if it is someone from the business world then it is necessary for him to do some tricks”, said Joseph ambiguously.

"Of course I'll let her exercise herself. What do you worry about? You make up for the trouble that is caused by yourself." Joseph said indifferently.

Johnson couldn't retort to him and hung up the phone in a huff.

Looking at the file in front of him, Joseph dialed John's number, "What's Billy been up to the last two days?"

"As soon as he got off the plane today, he arranged for his assistant to go over to People's Hospital and visit the patients who were sick from substance abuse."

"What kind of substance abuse?" Joseph narrowed his eyes.

"I haven't found out yet. It's supposed to be a drug developed by the Hilton Group." John replied.

"Find out right away." Joseph scowled.

It had been a week since the news broke that MT Medicine was being questioned as a fake drug. NCHV Medical Company had been making various responses on a daily basis. Today's press conference was to officially clarify the news.

All the key people in charge of the development and sales of MT Medicine were there, and Kathy had been unable to reach Alexia, who still had her statement.

Johnson came in early. When he saw Kathy, he said in a deep voice, "No word from Alexia yet?"

Kathy shook her head and saw Johnson's face change.

If it weren't for him, Alexia wouldn't be missing right now.

"Does Mr. Johnson have no idea where she is either?" Kathy said indifferently.

Johnson's face sank, and irritation grew under his eyes.

"You'll speak up for Alexia later. I'll take care of the rest."

Kathy paused. Her palms kept sweating as she looked at the statement in her hand and thought of the reporters she would have to face later.

Some images from the past came to her mind.

"I didn't talk nonsense. Look at my husband, his face becomes stiff just because he takes your medicine!" The family yelled while helping the man in the wheelchair to move forward.

Immediately, reporters stepped forward to interview.

"Three months ago, we signed a drug trial agreement with NCHV Medical Company. We were very confident in this drug. My husband's facial nerve has been injured for many years. This drug was indeed effective at the beginning, but now the side effects are serious..."

The scene had gradually fallen into chaos. All the reporters' attentions had been diverted by the family. Several senior officials of NCHV Medical Company were still on the stage, but no one listened to their clarification anymore.

Kathy walked over in a hurry, but the reporters were so densely packed that she couldn't understand the situation.

Some of the reporters stepped back. Kathy was pushed by the crowd suddenly. When she almost fell down, one arm held her firmly.

Billy stood behind Kathy, with a slight smile, "Be careful."

Kathy pushed him away almost immediately. She glared at him, "You arranged it, didn't you! How can those patients and their families come all of a sudden?"

Billy narrowed his eyes, and his face was cold. "Kathy, why do you always like to accuse me? I am just an unforgivable villain in your eyes, right?"

"Then how do you know in advance that something will happen?" Kathy asked.

"I just want to remind you. As for whether there will be an accident, I just said it casually."

Kathy was angry, Billy.... It seemed that he came prepared.

"What you should do now is to deal with the problem, not question me." Billy patted her shoulder.

Being avoided in disgust by Kathy, the coldness in Billy's eyes spread.

At this time, Johnson, who had disappeared for two hours, came in from the outside. The bodyguard opened the way for him, and he walked directly to the patient's side.

Kathy widened her eyes yet she could not push Joseph away. His kiss used to be fierce and ruthless and her legs were almost unable to support her and she was going to melt in his arms.

He hugged her tight and his lips landed on her neck gently. He then rumbled. "Don't be scared." Nobody would dare publish his news without his compliance.

Yet Kathy did not have a peace of mind. She looked around and only heaved a sigh of relief when she was assured no one was around. She thought he would not come when she did not see him the whole morning.

"If I'm not here, won't I miss the good show just now?" Joseph raised his eyebrow lightly and aloofness flashed across his eyes.

"You knew that there's gonna be patient looking for trouble?" Kathy glanced at him.

Joseph kept his mouth shut and did not give her a reply and she deemed that as a yes. Anger arose in her as that would mean Johnson knew it too. "Is that arranged by Billy?"

Joseph still did not give her a response. He held her and brought her out of the hotel.

Kathy had a bellyful of doubts. The journalists were all waiting for the information at the hospital and if it was confirmed that the MT medicine did cause abnormalities in the patient's body, the medicine would have to be retracted from the market.

Joseph on the other hand was still calm and was driving the car towards the hospital. Kathy remembered that she was still his lab report recording personnel when she first came, and three months had passed with a blink of an eye.

Kathy plunged into the couch upon returning to the Joseph Bay as she did not have a good rest due to what happened recently. Sadly the housemaids did not come today and there was no dinner.

Joseph had been busy the whole day too and an indulgent look permeated him when he saw her exhausted and almost asleep look. He scooped her soft body up and lowered his head. He kissed her eye and whispered. "What do you want to eat tonight?"

Kathy's eyes gleamed and she asked, "Are you going to make dinner?" She had not tasted his cooking for a long time.

"Yes. What do you want to eat?" Joseph asked patiently. Kathy pondered and she gave up on the thought to eat home-cooked meal when she thought that he must be tired too. "Noodle is fine." She blinked.

"Alright. Stay still." Kathy nodded. She was defeated by the urge to sleep and she dozed off on the couch not long after that. She felt her body hanging in the air presently and shuddered. She then opened her heavy-lidded eyes and met Joseph's handsome face. She let out a gasp and then noticed he had carried her into the bedroom.

"You've slept enough?" He asked with his eyes flamed.

Kathy shook her head. She wanted to sleep more than she wanted to eat. "Then sleep a little longer." Joseph climbed up the bed following that and he hugged her in his arms. His incessant kisses landed on her neck, ears, nose and lips the moment she closed her eyes again. He ran his lips along the line of her lips and moved down.

Kathy moaned and she pressed his chest subconsciously. Her body curled up yet she could not dodge his attack. He was too familiar with her body and he had softened her body that easily. She could only get bullied by him.

“How could you do this...” Kathy’s voice softened and she opened her eyes after putting her arms around his neck. She thought she could have a nice sleep.

“I miss you, Mrs. Joseph.” He rumbled. He was always out of control whenever he touched her body and he craved to occupy her. Kathy could certainly not resist as they had not shown intimacy towards each other for a very long time and she actually missed him too.

Joseph was making another two bowls of noodles and Kathy’s mind gradually went blank when she

At the Boston University,

Kathy looked at the familiar school gate. It was class time at this point so the whole school was very quiet.

"I can go in by myself." Kathy said. Then she pushed the door and got out of the car.

Joseph sat in the car. He frowned his eyebrows deeply as watching Kathy walking away.

When she came to the Educational Administration Office, Kathy found her tutor, who was now the director of the Educational Administration Department. But when he saw Kathy, he immediately gave her a very cold face.

"Knowing that the diploma is important, you still dare to make a fake thesis at that time!" the tutor said coldly.

"Teacher, I promise back then I didn't copy thesis at all."

"I've heard too many promises. I remember vividly what happened back then with you. Our professional reputation for the whole major has been ruined by you. Now you still dare to ask me for a diploma? You don't deserve a diploma either for your major skills or your moral standers." The tutor's face was always cold when he talked.

"What if I can find evidence to prove that my thesis was indeed written by myself, without any plagiarism?"

"That is just your chicanery! I don't want to wrong my students if there is evidence. But Kathy, how do you want to investigate?" The tutor frowned.

Back then Kathy's grades had always been one of the best in the class. He also had high hopes for her, but he never expected she would do such disgraceful thing when she graduated.

"I want to get the thesis I submitted at that time. I suspect that my paper was replaced when I submitted it!" Kathy said calmly.

She suspected the same back then. But there were too many things happening at the same time, all her explanations were considered to be cover-ups for others. So no one wanted to help her at all.

"It's impossible. All the thesis have been locked up in the library. Even I can't find it." The tutor shook his head.

Kathy's face turned pale.

"Teacher, I'm really innocent in this matter. I will take the postgraduate entrance examination this year. The diploma is very important for me."

"Postgraduate entrance examination? Kathy, your file has marked what happened with you back then. It is impossible to enter the postgraduate entrance examination. Just give up."

Kathy didn't know how she got out of the university. All she could think of was what her tutor said: Give up.
