Chapter 191 Irresistible

It was night time, and a drizzle were starting out there.

Kathy had just left the NCHV Medical Company, and there was a black Cayenne parked at the entrance.

A man in white shirt and black pants was holding an umbrella in the middle of the rain. Although the visibility was very low due to lack of lighting, his perfect features were still very much distinguishable.

Kathy stopped in her tracks momentarily. Joseph's leather shoes were drenched in rainwater, signifying that he had been in the rain for some time.

"When did you arrive?" Kathy trotted towards him and wrapped her arms around his.

There was a calm and composed expression on Joseph's face as he stroked Kathy's hair and sliding it to behind her ears. Her mesmerizing side profile came into view.

"I have just arrived and was planning to give you a call."

"You can just let the driver pick me up." Kathy replied softly.

She knew that Joseph was always busy lately, so she had been picked up by the driver for a few times before this. It was a while since he had come to fetch her personally.

"It's raining now, so I'm slightly worried about you." Joseph continued to caress her long hair lovingly before he lowered his gaze and kissed her on her lips.

This man was often times domineering but sometimes he was gentle. He had never failed to captivate her...

"I'm going on a business trip tomorrow." Kathy leaned against Joseph's shoulder in the car while informing him of this.

"You've been going on a lot of business trips lately." Joseph couldn't help knitting his eyebrows.

"Alexia has resigned, so I'm taking over her duties for now. I'll need to go on a lot more business trips in the future." She replied.

"Aren't you going to have your exam soon? You should just resign." Joseph replied in a low voice.

Kathy frowned as she thought of her chances of participating in the exam. She didn't know whether she was qualified to take part yet. How could she resign just like this?

"She misses you a lot, so if you aren't going to meet her, she might call Angela about this."

Kathy stopped short and asked him, "Are you threatening me?"

"Not at all, I just think that you know how enthusiastic my mother is. Knowing that you will be coming here, she has instructed me to take care of you."

"I'm here for work, so I won't have any leisurely time." Kathy's expression darkened.

"I remember that you don't have any plans today." Billy lifted the corners of his mouth coldly.

"I need to rest, so I hope you won't disturb me anymore." Seeing that her taxi had arrived, Kathy headed towards it.

Billy just stared at her with a calm expression.

As expected, Kathy emerged from the taxi again after boarding it for only a short while.

The driver had refused to take her in as a passenger.

Kathy looked at Billy who was standing nearby and understood what was going on.

"Billy, that's enough!" Kathy stomped towards him angrily.

Billy continued to gesture her to board his car and his smile was still there on his face.

"You have to know that there is nothing that I can't do in all of City B." Billy's tone was very arrogant.

Kathy bit her lips while shoving herself into his car angrily.

"I just need to have a meal with Mrs. Hilton, right?" Kathy tried to persuade herself to calm down. She needed to attend this meet up because of her mother's relationship with Mrs. Hilton. It was all for her mother's sake.

"Of course, but if you wanted to stay overnight with us, my mother won't dislike your presence." Billy continued to flash a smile.

Kathy glared at him furiously, "In your dreams!"

She was really fed up with Billy at the moment.

"Kathy, you are also here." Herbert smiled stiffly.

"Do you know each other?" Jennifer asked unexpectedly.

"We were classmates." Herbert sat down beside Billy and looked at him sadly, "Why don't you call me over earlier."

"You came here, but you didn't tell me." Billy raised his eyebrows with a slightly cold voice.

"I planned to give you a surprise, but you know that I have been on business these days." Herbert was a little dissatisfied.

It was obvious that she blamed Billy for having forgotten her things.

"Okay, stop it, Herbert will stay here tonight. Billy, you should accompany your fiancée." Jennifer said sullenly.

Billy frowned and did not refute.

There was another one on the dinner table, so Herbert couldn't help looking at Kathy, "Is Kathy also on a business?"

"Yeah." Kathy said in a low voice.

"You and Billy have been so close recently." Herbert said casually but unhappily.

"I invited Kathy to come over." Jennifer stared at Herbert with a stern sight.

Herbert lowered her head, and suddenly did not dare to open her mouth again.

She took a small beef rib for Billy, "You like it."

Billy put it in another bowl and didn't eat it.

Jennifer frowned. Everyone at the dinner table had their own thoughts.

After dinner, Kathy immediately left. Billy wanted to send her out, but Herbert stopped him.

"Kathy has a driver. Does she need you to send her home?" Herbert sneered.

Although they didn't love each other, he was still her fiancé, her man.

"I worry about her." Billy pushed Herbert away slightly.

"Who are you?"

"It doesn't matter who I am. I just do it for money." After said that, the driver opened the door and went off the car.

The door of the back seat was opened, and Kathy was dragged out of the car by him.

"Don't touch me!" Kathy pushed him angrily, but the man was so strong that Kathy's knees were injured.

The pain made her unable to stand. It was so dark at night, and there was a dangerous cliff in front of her. She was pushed to the edge of the cliff.

It was dark all around, and Kathy was pushed to kneel down. Facing such high cliff, her face became pale.

The people behind... wanted her to die?

"Did Peter ask you kill me?" Kathy suddenly raised her head.

Except for that man, she didn't know who else hated her so much.

The driver's face was still cold, "I don't care."

Kathy frowned, biting her lip firmly, at this moment, there was a piercing pain in her heart.

No... She couldn't die!

The man's hands were against her back, as if to push Kathy down.

Her hands had been trying to grasp something. But there was few weeds around, she could only grasp dirts.

Kathy was desperate. In the dark night, everything under the cliff was unknown.

But if she fell, there was undoubtedly only one result.

Closing her eyes tightly, she exhausted all her strength to make a counterattack. The driver was obviously caught unawares and suppressed by Kathy.

But she didn't have a weapon at hand. The power of her hands was not as powerful as a man.

Chapter 195 This Is the End of Our Relationship

"Was it you who caused the incident last night?" Billy approached Herbert and pinched her chin with an ice-cold look on his face.

Herbert looked innocent, "What did I do?"

"Kathy was in danger last night." Billy stared at Herbert.

Herbert frowned and pushed Billy away. "Although I don't like her, I wouldn't want to hurt her."

Billy grabbed her shoulder, making her unable to move. Billy was using more and more strength, and the pain caused Herbert's expression to change.

"Billy, why are you asking me if you don't believe my words?" Herbert said angrily.

Billy sneered, "I'm still investigating. If it's really you, Herbert, then this is the end of our relationship."

"No!" Herbert immediately retorted, "Billy, we had an agreement. You can't desert me like this!"

"Nobody can stop me from doing what I want. Herbert, you are just a nonentity. Don't think that you are so important to me," Billy said indifferently as he turned around and sat down on the sofa.

The unfathomable expression on his face made it difficult for Herbert to guess what he was thinking.

Herbert bit her lips and couldn't help trembling. After a while, she approached Billy and sat beside him.
"No matter what, I will marry you."

"Don't you love Peter anymore? Have you given up on him?" Billy suddenly pinched her shoulder.

Herbert smiled and said, "I am too good for him. Billy only we are a perfect couple."

After saying that, she approached Billy, trying to kiss this handsome man beside her.

He pushed her away and said calmly, "You are a snobbish woman, but I don't hate it."

In the evening, the afterglow shone on Kathy's petite figure.

Joseph held the woman in his arms, kissing her on the forehead.

When he tried to stand up, Kathy moaned and hugged him even more tightly.

The man slowly pulled out his hands and walked out of the room. John had already been waiting for him.

Two days later, Kathy went to the BT Group.

The secretary brought her to the conference room. Peter was already waiting for her in the room.

"Should I call you Manager Kathy now?" Peter put on a smile.

Now that Kathy was in full charge of the sales, Peter could tell that Kathy had been promoted.

"You can still call me Miss Kathy as before," Kathy said calmly.

According to the previous contract, Kathy only needed to meet with the sales department in the BT Group to know about the sale of the MT Medicine.

Hence, Kathy was surprised to see Peter in the conference room.

"Are you personally following up on the sales issue?" Kathy asked indifferently.

"Another colleague will come over later. Now, we can have a nice chat." Peter narrowed his eyes and leaned lazily on the chair, looking quite relaxed.

Kathy frowned. What could they talk about?

Now the matter of her kidnapping had not been investigated clearly, he was still her first suspect.

"It seems that Miss Kathy doesn't want to talk to me," Peter said.

Kathy looked up at him and said, "Do you think I want to talk to someone who hates me?"

"I do hate you, but without you, I wouldn't be in this position now." Peter smiled coldly.

It was Kathy who forced him to become who he was now.

During the time, he had sacrificed too much.

"Peter, stop being paranoid. I told you that I have nothing to do with what happened to you." Kathy was displeased to hear that.

“Really? Kathy, I don’t believe you.” Peter chuckled with disdain in his eyes.

Chapter 197 Joseph Was Threatening Him for Kathy

When Kathy got in the car, she was surprised to see the man in the back seat. She did not expect Joseph to come pick her up.

Did he see Billy just now?

He retracted his gaze and looked at Kathy. He held her cold hands and said, "It's cold recently. You should put on more clothes."

There was a hint of reproach in his tone.

"Because I have someone to pick me up from work." Kathy smiled.

"Did things go well today?" Joseph asked.

Kathy shook her head. "People in the BT Group are not very cooperative. No progress was made today. I have to hurry back and send an email to Mr. Johnson."

"Let's have dinner first." Joseph said.

Kathy wanted to refute, but she nodded tactfully as she saw Joseph's gloomy expression.

It was quite late. Joseph arranged for a Japanese restaurant near the hotel. As soon as Kathy sat down, she immediately turned on her laptop.

"Joseph, don't be angry. I'm anxious to get a reply from Mr. Johnson about today's matter." Kathy looked up at Joseph expectantly.

His face was cold, but he didn't say anything.

However, he sent a message to Johnson, "Come to B City and settle the matter with the BT Group."

Johnson: "Didn't I send your wife over?"

Joseph: "Don't you know who is in charge of the BT Group now?"

Johnson: "... I know, but it's not my responsibility to do things like that. "

Joseph: "If I ask you to come over, then you should come over!"

Johnson couldn't take it anymore and called Joseph, "Joseph, you're kidding me! The agreement has been signed. Why would I need to go over there?"

"You don't want this position anymore?" Joseph said coldly.

Johnson paused. Joseph was threatening him for Kathy!

"You put your wife over your friend!"

"The matter with the BT Group won't go smoothly." Joseph frowned.

Kathy stood up, but Joseph grabbed her wrist and looked at her seriously, "Sit down."

Kathy frowned and heard Joseph's voice, "Lincoln, have some self-awareness. Don't be a third wheel."

"I don't know what you are talking about" Lincoln said shamelessly.

Joseph stared at Lincoln as he pressed Kathy to sit down.

"Kathy, are you my subordinate?" Lincoln looked at Kathy.

Kathy nodded.

"Are you supposed to do things for me?"

"Yes." Kathy frowned.

She noticed Joseph's cold gaze.

But she didn't have a choice!

"Do you listen to me or Joseph?" Lincoln leaned on his chair and asked.

Kathy finally got stuck. After a while, she said reluctantly, "It depends on whether it's a business or a private matter."

"I'm in charge of both business and private matters. Lincoln, please behave yourself." Gary scolded Lincoln. But Joseph wasn't angry.

The two of them were brothers, so they wouldn't really get angry at each other.

Lincoln smiled and stood up. "Alright. I just got off the plane and I'm very tired. Kathy, let's talk at noon."

Then, he carried his luggage to his room.

Kathy turned to Joseph angrily, "Joseph, Mr. Fletcher is my superior."

She knew that the boss behind NCHV Medical Company was Joseph, but he wasn't in charge now.

She should listen to her direct superior.

"Kathy, I should be the only man in your eyes." Joseph narrowed his eyes dangerously and said in a hoarse voice.

Chapter 199 He Wasn't Happy About It

The two of them also Kathy, and Peter immediately released Herbert's hand.

Herbert was very unhappy, "How come I see her wherever I go."

Peter frowned and walked towards Kathy.

His figure casted a shadow and Kathy already knew what was coming.

"Is there anything wrong?" Her tone was indifferent.

"Why are you here?" Peter said coldly.

If Kathy told others about what she saw, the consequences would be unimaginable.

It would definitely be devastating for him and Herbert!

"I'm just here for dinner," Kathy said in dissatisfaction.

The two of them were really looking for trouble.

However, wasn't Herbert Billy's fiancée? She didn't know that Herbert and Peter were still together.

None of them was good person anyway.

"What a coincidence." Peter's face darkened.

"You're here to warn me not to tell anyone about your relationship with Herbert, right?" Kathy said indifferently.

Peter paused and quietly clenched his fists.

Herbert, who was standing beside him, crossed her arms and said coldly, "It's good that you know it. Kathy, be careful what you say."

Kathy smiled mockingly. She was not interested in gossiping about other people.

However, these two people had really affected her mood.

She left the food square and wandered around the place. It was already evening. There were a lot of people in the shopping mall. She strolled around and stopped in front of a men's clothing store.

In the window, a pure white shirt with gold edges attracted her attention.

Joseph had enough white shirts, but she hadn't seen a shirt like this one.

When the shop assistant saw Kathy standing outside, she took the initiative to welcome her. "Miss, you really have a good taste. This is a limited edition this season. And this is the last one left. If you want it, you better buy it quickly."

Kathy hesitated.

Lincoln rubbed his chin with suspicion. She didn't know?

He thought they were very close!

"How about I tell you?" Lincoln suddenly pursed his lips.

Kathy frowned. Seeing Lincoln's evil expression, she looked away.

Lincoln's face turned cold. This woman was always invulnerable like Joseph.

Looking at Kathy, Lincoln said, "Coincidentally, I have some business to deal with. Kathy, follow me."

With that, Lincoln told the woman by his side to go back. He pressed the button to the first floor again.

Kathy paused for a moment. Lincoln was now her superior, she knew that. But he clearly had other intentions.

"Mr. Fletcher, what is it?" Kathy asked.

"You'll know when we get there," Lincoln said in an irrefutable tone.

Half an hour later, at City Club.

The club was brightly lit at night. Its manager, who was at the entrance, greeted Lincoln politely. Obviously, he was a distinguished guest.

Kathy walked behind Lincoln all the way through the luxurious gilded corridor to a private room at the end of it.

Inside were a few men dressed in suits and shirts. As soon as Lincoln arrived, the middle seat was cleared and Kathy sat down beside Lincoln somewhat awkwardly.

"These are all shareholders of HS Group. This is my assistant, Kathy," Lincoln briefly introduced.

They were talking about business. Kathy didn't know much about the business world, and there was no need to keep records. So she just sat quietly by his side and drank.

"Kathy, take a look at the wine we ordered. Why hasn't it been served yet?" After a long while, Lincoln ordered.
